AS FOR crab-fishing for 'em, we know an old gent who gets all he wants out of the same Pigeon Lake and he uses a simpler method than tying a crab to a hook. Knowing the vanity and curiosity of the female of the bass—yeah, they have millions of large bass there, too—he simply lets down a hand mirror on a string to the required depth, waits several minutes and then slips down a dip net (a lawbreaker he is!) and scoops up the fish around the mirror. He is a very disappointed man if he doesn't get half a dozen a dip! This may sound like a bit of an exaggeration, but he showed us the mirror and net and told us himself of the catches he gets. And he has no upkeep in the way of food for a trained crab.

ASKED SOME of the verbs sports writers use to describe a man hitting safely, Bob Newhall, WLW sports announcer, replied: "He stung, smote, slugged, lined, smacked, spanked, slammed, scorched, knocked, crashed, clubbed, lammed, laced, burned, bored, flayed, pelted, punched, hammered, pronged, thumped, pounded, pummelled, walloped, banged, shot, whacked, whaled, splashed, spilled, dumped, plunked, plastered, planted, plumped, plugged, swept, laid, whipped, thrust, carved, caromed, careened, uncorked, produced, discharged, put, cut, ejected, pickled, aimed, registered, heaved, rolled, poured, scratched, sizzled, skimmed, slipped, jammed, trundled, trickled, dribbled, clicked, bounced, glanced, flipped, bumped, peeled, crowded, sailed, soared, lifted, lobbed, arched, popped or pushed a hit to centrefield!"

THOUGH OSHAWA GM-men are scheduled to play here this Saturday, the two teams agreed to switch the game to Oshawa so as not to have the same team coming here twice in two weeks. It is the only Saturday game listed, but one of the postponed C.O.B.L. tussles may be arranged. Tonight sees Belleville at Oshawa and Kingston at Napanee. A week from Saturday, Kingston comes to Peterborough. The locals' schedule ends Aug. 19th but they have a postponed contest with Kingston yet. The Petes have been in a decided slump lately with five straight losses. They will have to get in there and hustle plenty the next two weeks to earn a playoff berth—but they should do it. A shortage of pitchers, loss of a regular outfielder, lack of competent reserves, and a hitting slump of regulars, have all contributed to their sorry showing the past few weeks.

ACCORDING TO the Kingston scorer, nearly all the loop regulars have slumped lately in hitting. Mathews of Oshawa leads now with .413, and Foley and Starr are the only Peterborough .300 or better clouters. Oshawa leads in club bingling with a mark of .274, Napanee has .265, the Petes and Ponies are tied with .245, and Belleville is down to .223. Oshawa is also first in fielding, Kingston next, then the locals, followed by the Naps and Bellevilles. Biddle heads the twirlers with five wins and two losses, and Whitehill has seven wins and three reverses. The Petes are second in double-plays, getting 14 as the Motor City crew lead with 17. Yeah, figures give us a headache, too.

• • • • • • •

THERE WILL be two minor league baseball playoff games in Riverside Park this Saturday. The local Rotarians and Oshawa Juniors clash in the third game of that bitter Lakeshore Junior League final series, with our squad down two in the five-game setup. Another loss will eliminate them but they should win this one and still pull the fat out of the flame. Herb Ralph's team is better but they were jinxed out of one game and bullied out of the other by a hostile crowd. Our Tigers also meet Oshawa in the first of the O.B.A.A. juvenile playdowns, two out of three, first game here Saturday. Bill Murphy has a good juvenile outfit lined up and he thinks his team will go quite a distance. Both games should be worth seeing—and the kids rate some support from fandom here.

UP AND down Sports' Rialto: Swartz dropped a 9-6 exhibition softball melee in Havelock last eve . . . . And Cards beat Payne's in a Junior Southend Loop game . . . . Girls play lacrosse in Vancouver . . . . The umps in the various local loops are coming in for real razzing now—must be playoff time again . . . . The Rotary-Oshawa junior baseball winner will likely be sent in against the Napanee-Belleville victor . . . . Lindsay rugby moguls are bestirring themselves and having a meeting . . . . The Belleville and Kingston scribes feel right merry over the week-end senior results; the Oshawa and Peterborough gees have little to say on the subject . . . . When do the junior softballers swing into action? . . . . It might be a good idea for the Petes and Rotarians to have a practise game or two this week as they await their Saturday fixtures.

Soccer Notes

There will be no soccer game here on Saturday afternoon, owing to the Canada Packers playing a return game in Oshawa against the Hungarians of the Motor City; while the Canadian General travel to Bowmanville to be the guests of the soccer aggregation of that town.

On Thursday evening, the Canadian General plays the C.C.F. on King Edward Park. Kick-off 6.45; referee—J. Buchan.

At the banquet held on Monday evening, when the Toronto Kimberlays played the local association team, William Robb, for many years associated with the Canadian General soccer team, was presented by his fellow teammates with a handsome travelling trunk as a token of esteem in which he was held. Best of good luck and best of health in Bonnie Scotland!

Canada Packers made a formal request that they be instructed to play no games this week. It was stated by the club representative that they had three men on the injured list, and one in particular was Jimmie Buchan, who reprots a bad rib injury that he received in a recent game. They intend travelling to Oshawa in a bus along with many friends, and they have been assured of a royal welcome by the Hungarians.

J. Hills was the accredited representative for the C.C.F. at the meeting of the executive board last night.

ODDS AND ENDS ON OLYMPIC FRONT

HOWIE McPhee is the best rope-skipper on the Canadian squad. When the boxers took out the ropes to keep legs limber and develop wind, McPhee snapped up one and outclassed the boys who are supposed to be even better skippers than the kids on the street. It seems Howie does a lot of skipping as part of his training routine.

Percy Wyer, Toronto's midget marathoner, is all for this Olympic team and its management. The 52-year-old runner, who has taken in Olympiads and British Empire games before, said he never saw such a good spirit among the troops.

Uniforms— The track air field team dresses in white trunks and shirts which bear a giant Red Maple Leaf. Boxers wear red silk trunks with Canada inscribed on them in white. Wrestlers wear red tights. Fencers have all-white uniforms. Swimmers have a white maple leaf on the breasts of their silk suits.

Those white-trimmed crimson blazers worn on parade by the Canadians didn't cost the Olympic committee a dime. They were presented to the team by a knitting company. Nickel Canadian Olympic badges also were presented. So were sweat clothes for the track team and various other bits of equipment. "We chiselled everywhere we could," grinned General Manager Sam Manson, "and believe me we didn't draw any color line. Look ata those red blazers!"

The Windsor-Ford basketball team, official Canadian Olympic entry, includes a party of 22 persons. Several players brought their wives. Gordie Fuller, coach of the Dominion champions, had his team working outdoors three weeks before sailing. The basketball tournament here will be staged on outdoor tennis courts.

Paavo Nurmi, thin but still nearing 40, isn't competing in these games because of his disbarment by the International Amateur Athletic Federation. Maybe it's just as well for the peace of mind of some marathoners. The Finns tell the story that old Paavo recently outran a relay of 15 men composed of the Diet and Helsingfors Chief of Police. Not bad for an old man.

STARS ARE DRAWN FOR THIRD ROUND

64 Survive Second Round Of Canadian Amateur Golf Tournament

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5.—(CP)—Luck of the draw brought headline matches into the early play today as 64 survivors in the Canadian amateur golf tournament swung into the second round.

Five of the most promising pairs were drawn to start the parade of shotmakers fighting to gain the third round this afternoon in the annual quest for the Grey Cup won five times by C. Ross Somerville of London, Ont., the defending champion.

Archie Grimsditch, Toronto, meets a formidable foe in Allan Boes of Winnipeg. H. W. Phelan, another Torontonian, engages W. M. Johnson of Rockford, Ill., and the Ontario champion, J. G. Adams of Toronto, meets George Heffelfinger, Winnipeg.

The most promising engagement of the round comes fifth in the list with Phil Farley of Montreal, former Ontario amateur ruler, in combat with the Ottawa Chaudiere star, Frank Corrigan.

Somerville, given a bye into the second round along with 39 others, meets his first test against J. G. Mundle of Winnipeg, a comparative unknown. Somerville's fellow townsman, Jack Nash, also encounters a newcomer in major competition, G. H. Lobb of Winnipeg.

Lawn Bowling
By HERB MARTIN

To-night's mixed tournament will commence at 7.30 p.m. Be sure and get your name in—and be on time.

We believe that we are to have as our guests on Friday night, a number of rinks from Port Hope.

There are a number of names posted on the blackboard in the singles competition. These games must be played this week. Look up your partner and get busy.

The draw is made for the club doubles and the bowlers are asked to become acquainted with the idea. See who your partner is and also look at the dates on which you play. It will be a three game series.

A Song From the Lawn Bowl.

I'm only a lop-side piece of wood,
But I come of rare old stock;
My pedigree runs back countless year,
And still stands firm as a rock.

I play my part in an honored game,
A game whose record is clean;
Just try a roll up the green.

I'm oft addressed in flattering terms,
As up the turf I'm rolled;
But the words I like best, as I come to rest,
Are those cheery words: "Well bowled!"

Then slacken with graceful curve,
Till reaching my place, I slacken my pace,
With a gentle finishing swerve.

I'm sturdily built of solid stuff,
I last year in and year out;
I come from the fray with never a scratch,
Though I get full many a clout.

Then play the ancient game of bowls,
A game free from care and strife,
And purchase me (and my brotheres three),
And we five will be pals for life!

Results.

Protest E.P.L. Game

Second game of the E.P.L. softball playoffs went to the local Growlers by an 11-3 score last night at the Oval, but the game will be replayed Thursday there. The Warsaw team protested a decision by the umpires, which occurred with two Warsaw players out, none on bases and the home team (Growlers) leading by a 3-2 score. The incident was when the batter hit a grounder and it was picked up and thrown to first ahead of him. However the first sacker juggled the ball without letting it drop as the runner crossed the bag. After the game, it was decided to replay it Thursday when Warsaw protested the umpires' decision that the runner was out.

Editor's note: The umpires were mistaken as, according to the 1936 O.A.S.A. rule book, in Sec. 9, Rule 40 "The ball must be firmly held by the fielder after touching the runner. The ball cannot be juggled, even though the fielder may retain possession of the ball and prevent same from dropping to the ground").

SWARTZ IS BEATEN BY HAVELOCK TEAM

Score Is 9-6 For Villagers In Exhibition Tilt Last Evening

Swartz Clothiers lost a 9-6 exhibition softball game in Havelock Tuesday evening, the homesters having a big eight-run third frame. Brunton pitched the whole game for Havelock and was in trouble a good part of the time because of wildness, passing 11 men. His support was good. Abbott took the mound for Swartz but was knocked out in the third inning with Butcher finishing out. The teams:

Score by innings:

Famous Jersey Herd Wins Championship

In addition to providing the Champion, the "Ovaltine" Herd gained no fewer than six first, five second and four third prizes.

Thus this famous Jersey Herd continues its remarkable record of success. Entries from the "Ovaltine" Dairy Farm never fail to figure prominently in the prize lists at all the important shows throughout the country.

Similar "Ovaltine" success was gained in the Poultry Section of the Hertfordshire Show today. Ten awards were taken by hens entered from the "Ovaltine" Egg Farm, which is reputed to be the most up-to-date Poultry Farm in the world.

All Olympic Attendance Records Are Due For Blasting Before Current Games End

BERLIN, Aug. 5. —(AP)— All Olympic attendance records appear due for a blasting before the current games end.

More than 1,500,00 persons, it is estimated, will have witnessed the events in the main stadium by Sunday. The final total probably will be close to 3,000,000 in all competitions.

Tickets are at a premium. Many families and visiting groups are compelled to share the pasteboards under a relay system. Germany's country-wide organizing machine seems able to produce capacity crowds just as if someone had pressed buttons labelled "10,000 spectators" or "100,000 spectators."

Nobody knows where the gate receipts, which may total 20,000,000 marks, are going, but the profits wouldn't begin to pay the cost of constructing the plant and conducting the biggest athletic show ever.

The pageantry embellishing this spectacle is unprecedented in Olympic history. Upward of 20,000 persons participated in dazzling manoeuvres, while a battery of 18 searchlights formed an overhead dome of white.

Hotels, night clubs, restaurants and other amusement spots are doing a boom business. Despite contrary announcements, prices have been jacked up and thousands of visitors are unable to get accommodations.

Everywhere obvious attempts are being made to impress visitors with the "new Germany" which is the keynote of numerous official speech-makers.

He is paying half the cost and Columbia the remainder. The profits also will be shared.

PETERBOROUGH GOLF CLUB

O.L.G.U. Day and again a good field of contestants, some very good scores were returned especially by Miss A. Wood, who won the spoon with a nice 76; the point winner was Miss M. Rush, who aggregated 14 on the three sealed holes. Other scores were:

Mrs. O. A. Degraw, 77; Mrs. J. Marshall, 78; Mrs. C. Graham, 79; Mrs. J. H. Vernor, 79; Mrs. J. J. Hall, 87; Mrs. B. D. Hall, 81; Miss M. Rush, 82; Mrs. R. Turner, 82; Mrs. L. Scott, 83; Mrs. C. Westbrooke, 83.

Mrs. Franks, playing in the Aylmer Hill Trophy, played a brilliant game against Mrs. A. G. Howson, who also played a very fine game. Mrs. Franks netted a 66 against Mrs. A. G. Howson's 73 net; both standout games.

Cricket Notes

LONDON, Aug. 5.—CP Cable)—A brilliant second-innings stand enabled Derbyshire, leading county, to defeat Essex by a slim 20-run margin in the feature match of English county cricket championship games concluded yesterday.

Held to a first-innings score of 80 runs against the 218 posted by Essex, Derbyshire compiled 240 in its second stand while Essex was held to 51. Arthur Mitchell starred for the winners, taking six Essex wickets for 85 runs.

The second place Nottinghamshire eleven also won a close decision. Playing at Manchester against Surrey, the winner compiled totals of 174 and 118 against 117 and 130, to take maximum points by 45 runs.

In other games concluded today Middlesex defeated Sussex by an innings and 105 runs and Glamorgan downed India by an innings and 12 runs. First-innings triumphs were registered by Yorkshire over Lancashire; Leicestershire over Northampton; Hampshire over Kent; Gloucestershire over Somerset and Worcestershire over Warwickshire.

The scores:

Lancashire 202 and 174; Yorkshire 246 for nine, declared and 10 runs for no wickets.

Cards Beat Payne's

In a fast Junior South-end Softball League game last night, the Cardinals defeated the league-leading Payne's team by a 15-12 count. The Cards had superior hitting and fielding while the losers were weak in both these departments. Hatton and G. Maloney starred for the winners, while James and Clifford weer best for Payne's. The teams:

PAINTS COUGHLIN TYPE OF ANTIDOTE ANTI-CLERICALISM

SAYS DETROIT BISHOP

ROME, August 5 (CP).—Bishop Michael J. Gallagher of Detroit described to-day the work of Father Charles E. Coughlin as a type of antidote to anti-clericalism as it prevails in Spain.

"If the priesthood all over the world had begun 40 years ago to preach these principles of greater justice and opportunity for the common man, it might not to-day be subjected to such odium as it suffers in Spain," the Bishop said.

"Unfortunately the majority of them in places where these principles are most needed to be preached were subject to control of monarchies.

"Autocratic governments controlled both their property and their salaries. They could not raise their voices for the common man with inviting their own destruction."

For this reason, the Bishop said, he told Father Coughlin to "go right on with his work" with a due regard for moderation in his language.

Urged Moderation

"But," the prelate added, "I told him that before I left the United States, I urged him not to use expressions such as calling the President a liar because it fails to show respect for an office which deserves respect.

"After I had discussed this with Father Coughlin he apologized to the President."

He said he might find occasion to explain the Father Coughlin situation in Vatican circles when he has an interview with the secrtary of the congregation counsel which has jurisdiction in matters of church discipline.

He added, "My only purpose will be to present an accurate picture of Father Coughlin's work, so it will be understood that he is only spreading the precepts set forth in Pope Leo's and Pope Pius' encyclicals."

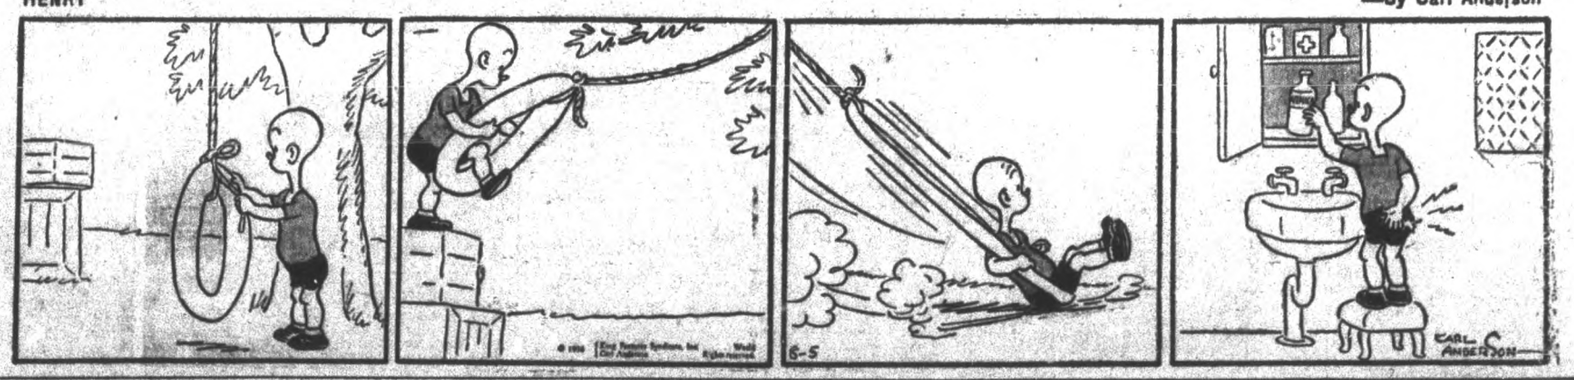
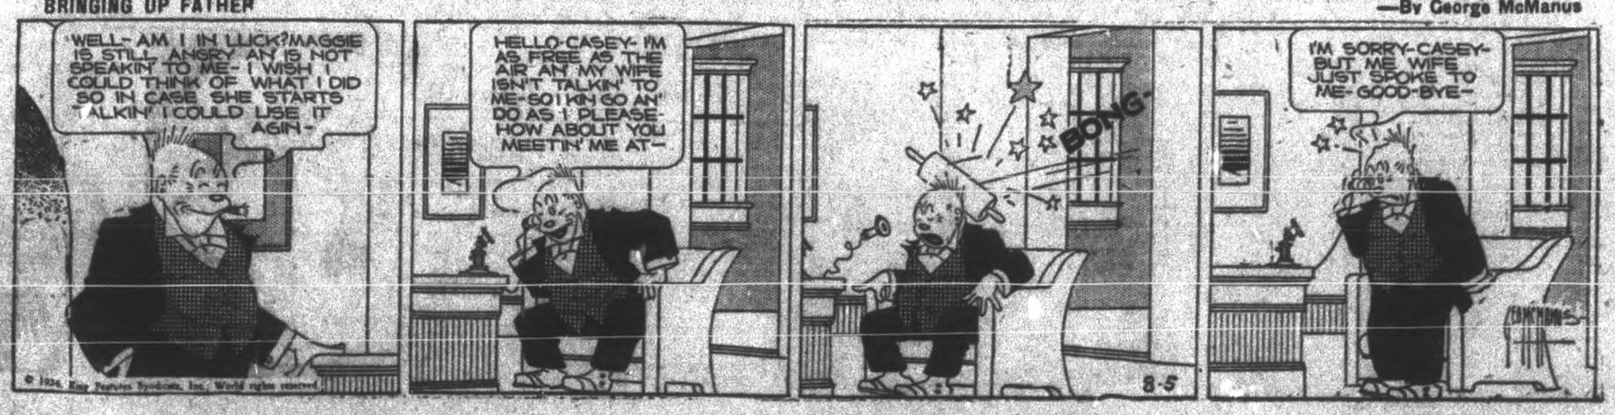
HENRY —By Carl Anderson



BRINGING UP FATHER —By George McManus



Love isn't Important

By Louise Jerrold

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club, meets a number of social elite when she fills in at a dinner party at the request of Dr. Wilson, a club member. One of them is Breck Carter, who, a few evenings later, takes her to a speakeasy and gambling house.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 7

"YOU HAVEN'T touched your drink!" Breck's voice interrupted Gay's thoughts about buying new clothes with the $100 she had just won at roulette. "I'm a mile ahead of you, already. This is mighty good Bourbon—but maybe you'd rather have Barcardi, or something?"

He drained his glass, and poured himself a straight.

"S'alright with me. If a girl can't hold her liquor like a little gen'man, she's smart to leave it alone. Hate to see a girl tight, myself. Now, with a man it's different." He leaned confidentially across the table. "I can carry amazing quantity—never get drunk. S'miraculous!"

"You're cute, Gay. I'll tell you a secret. I'm nerts about you. Ab-s'lutely nerts. You like me, honey?"

"Of course I like you, Breck."

The quart of Bourbon was slowly and steadily disappearing. And in the same ratio, Breck's speech grew more uncertain, his eyes more bright.

"There's something about you that's got me, Gay. Sure 'nough. You've got more sex appeal in a minute, than most girls'll ever have."

He had pushed his chair back, now, and was standing beside her. She evaded his kiss.

But Breck was no longer so good-natured. He swept her into his arms and held her breathelessly close. His whispered words made her flush, angrily, and she strained away from him, disillusioned, but not at all frightened. As she had told Jean, she felt perfectly capable of taking care of herself. No part of her now responded to Breck Carter.

A look of surprise came into Breck's face. "I don't get you, Gay. I'm not used to this 'innocent' line. What do you mean, acting like this? You aren't a cheater, are you, honey? We're going to have a good time—nice li'l party—"

Sudden panic swept over Gay as his caresses grew bolder. She struggled away from him with all her strength, and not until later felt the searing burn from his cigaret across the palm of her hand. She only knew she must get away, and again she tried to wrench herself free; tried to brace her body against the wall—

"Try and get away!" Breck was gripping her shoulders under the thin satin. She felt her dress tear. "Just try it, Baby. See where it gets you"!

A knock, and the waiter entered.

Gay instantly understood. In the scuffling, she had pressed against the electric button. Quick-witted, she seized the opportunity.

"Must fix my hair—dressing room—" she murmured, and fled into the hall.

Down a dark flight of stairs, and out into a night of blackness and streaming rain.

As if ghosts were at her heels, she ran wildly across the sidewalk and down the block to the corner. There she stopped, gasping, soaked to the skin, trembling from head to foot. Her hand, where she had burned it against Breck's cigaret, felt like red-hot fire.

Then she remembered, and made a sound that was half laugh, half sob. She had left her purse and evening coat in the dining room!

A roadster appeared suddenly out of the downpour and darkness, slowed up at the corner, rolled past, then backed up to the curb where she stood shivering in the diagonal slashing of rain.

For a moment she thought it was Breck—it looked something like his car. But the door opened, and Wayne Adams' quiet voice said, "Get in. Where's Breck? What's happened?"

"Get in," he repeated impatiently, as Gay hesitated. This is no time to argue! You're soaking wet." He leaned forward and hauled her unceremoniously into the roadster.

"Did you and Breck have a bad crackup? Noisy? Was there trouble?"

She made no answer. He went on, as though holding his temper in check. "Tell me what happened. It's very important right now that Breck shouldn't get in any jam. I'd intended to round him up hours ago, but I couldn't get away. Breck's a wild man when he drinks too much. Was he—er—rough with you?" There was unexpected sympathy in his tone, and Gay longed to rest her head against his shoulder and cry like a hurt child.

Instead, she sat stiff and withdrawn in her corner of the car. But, she told herself, though she thoroughly disliked Wayne Adams, she had to admit his quiet reserve of strength, his understanding directness of speech and manner.

"I gather from all you've been telling me," he went on, smilingly, "that you left Breck, for excellent reasons, on the spur of the moment. Am I right or—am I right?"

Gay said nothing.

"I'm glad to see you still have most of your clothes! Breck had a playful habit of snatching his girl friend's dress, as a souvenir of a pleasant evening."

Impulsively, Gay broke her silence. "This cheap little thing doesn't matter! Breck did tear it, but with the money he's going to give me—"

Wayne's laugh cut her short.

"Oh, I see," he said quickly. "So that's the way it is."

And as the car rounded a corner, in the light of an arc lamp, she smiled down into her uncomprehending eyes a smile of amusec contempt.

Gay's hand, burned by Breck's cigaret, throbbed so painfully for the next few days that she feared it was infected. As she punched the club time-clock as eight-thirty Wednesday morning she felt feverish and irritable. Her heart sank still lower when Jimmy, the bell-boy, told her that Mr. Carberry, the assistant manager, wanted to see her in his office.

"Maybe I'm going to be fired," Gay thought, nervously.

But Mr. Carberry merely wanted to inform her of a change in workings hours. They were trying a new system in the coat room— alternate weeks of day and night duty. Jean Briggs had already been notified by telephone.

"You'd better rest this afternoon," said Mr. Carberry, "and go back on the job around six. Then, for the rest of the week, you'll be on night shift, only."

Mr. Carberry was a pale young man, with a wisp of black mustache and a slightly self-important manner. Gay listened attentively while he talked.

"At midnight, you may go for supper to the help's dining room. Don't be away more than 20 minutes. We fired the last coat room girl because she hung around the halls at night, fooling with bus boys.

"I don't fool with bus boys!"

When Mr. Carberry's eyes twinkled, he looked almost human. "Reports on your behavior have been excellent. One of our guests told me that you are a very efficient young person."

The telephone on his desk rang, and he waved Gay out of the office with all the dignity of a young assistant house manager, who hopes some day to grab his chief's position.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE LAZY DUCK

Spot, the fire dog, was showing Uncle Wiggily how fast he could start for fires.

"I'd be lying back in the station house," he was saying, "like this," and he went to the corner of the porch of a hollow stump bungalow and lay down. "Maybe I'd be sort of dozing," he went on, "but I'd always keep one ear open."

"No, indeed, I mean one ear, so I could hear the fire bell, like this," and he showed Uncle Wiggily how one ear was flopped and the other was up straight in a listening position. "And then, as soon as the bell rang—will you be the bell, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I'll try," Mr. Longears chuckled. "Tell me when you want me to ring."

"Oh, any time at all," said Spot.

"Woof!" barked Spot, and like a flash he was up and leaped toward the steps. But something happened—at that moment Jiggle Flatpaw was coming up the steps, and Spot and Jiggy, the honey bear, got all tangled up and rolled over and over down the steps into the front yard!

"Whoa!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Jiggy, you must be on fire, because Spot certainly put you out! Are either of you hurt?"

New Little Ducks

"I'm not," Jiggle panted, and Spot said he wasn't either. "But," Jiggle added, when he had gotten his breath, "I came here to tell you something interesting. There are three new little ducks at Mrs. Wibblewobble's house!"

"That's fine!" Uncle Wiggily exclaimed. "I'd like to go over and see them!"

"It would be a good idea!" Jiggle declared. "Because one of them has a funny notion that he doesn't want to swim. And Mrs. Wibblewobble doesn't know what to do with him."

"We'll have to see to that," Mr. Longears said. "Come on—we'll visit that duckling that won't swim."

The three of them hurried to Mrs. Wibblewobble's house. And surely enough, when they got there Mrs. Wibblewobble was on the pond in front of her house saying to the new duck: "Merton, won't you please move your feet and swim, instead of just floating about like that?"

"But its easier this way!" Merton, the new duck, answered. "I can just float, and the wind will take me across the pond. What's the matter with that?"

So Lazy

Mrs. Wibblewobble sighed, and turned to Uncle Wiggily. "What am I going to do with Merton?" she asked. "He'll never learn to swim, he's so lazy!"

"Hum," Mr. Longears murmured "I think I can cure that." And then he said in a low voice to Spot: "Will you pretend you're going to a fire, Spot, and go get Bully No-Tail, the frog boy? Bring him here on your back!"

No sooner said than done. Away went Spot, and in a few minutes he was back with Billy. Uncle Wiggily took the frog boy aside and whispered:

"Bully, you hide under the water. And when Merton comes floating by, you grab him by the leg! And then see what happens!"

So Bully did it. Merton was drifting over the water, letting the wind blow him and not swimming at all, when Bully, beneath the water, seized his leg.

"Oh, my goodness!" Merton cried. "I'm caught! A big fish has caught me! Help, help!" And he started to move his legs, and then you should have seen how fast he swam! He went around that pond like a boat full of steam!

"He's learned to swim!" Mrs. Wibblewobble exclaimed happily. "Thank you, Uncle Wiggily, and you too, Bully! That was a fine idea."

When Merton found out it was Bully, and not a big fish that had his leg, he laughed and laughed. And ever after that he was one of the best swimmers on the pond. And tomorrow night, if the sausage doesn't get tangled up in the electric fan and think it's a windmill, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the cherries.

Constipation* Causes Discomfort, May Lead to More Serious Troubles

You may have days, perhaps even weeks, when you feel below par. Not sick enough to go to bed, but certainly not at your best. The trouble may be with your diet. Poorly balanced meals can affect your physical condition.

Meals which lack proper "bulk," for instance, may lead to common constipation. Continued neglect of this condition causes discomfort, may lead to headaches, poor appetite, listlessness.

Guard against common constipation.* Make sure the meals you eat contain plenty of "bulk." Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a generous source of effective "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, and gently cleanses the system.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN softener. Serve ALL-BRAN either as a cereal, or cooked into muffins, breads, etc. Eat it regularly for regular habits.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk"

SUDDENLY... No Salary

Imagine Your Household With—Suddenly—No Income. No Salary! Is That What Would Happen in Case of Your Death?

That first dreadful year after the death of the bread-winner is one of the most difficult a family ever has to face. The customary pay checks are stopped—the future is uncertain—the family is face to face with the necessity of making an immediate readjustment in all living expenses.

Wouldn't you be glad to know that if anything happened to you, your salary would go on just the same as ever for a full year—so that your dependents could adjust themselves gradually to another scale of living? A year in which to "turn around," to decide what to do . . . What a boon that would be to the family!

The Imperial Life Salary Continuance Policy, providing for the payment to your family of $100 a month for 12 months after your death calls for a saving on your part of only about 10c a day. It is an admirable supplement to any other insurance you may carry.

BLAZE THREATENS BOLSOVER VILLAGE

Second Outbreak Occurs Near Lindsay—Volunteers Gain Control

LINDSAY, August 5. — Two fires, one of which threatened the village of Bolsover, near here, and the other just north of Lindsay, were extinguished yesterday after assistance, in the former case, had been given by volunteers.

Spread Prevented.

Starting from what was believed to have been a carelessly thrown match or cigarette stub, the disastrous fire for a time threatened Bolsover and the buildings of Tim Collins.

The fire started near the town line between Eldon and Mara Townships on the property of James Steele, and spread rapidly across the ranch belonging to the Duncan Graham estate and the Martin ranch, north of the village, crossing to the Second Concession.

By this time a large crowd of men had gathered, due to rapid telephone calls, and small fires were started in advance of the main fire, which served as fire guards and prevented it spreading in the long grass.

Starts in Dump.

The timely arrival of the local fire brigade prevented the spreading of the other blaze, that originated in the dump north of the town yesterday afternoon.

Fanned by a strong north-west wind, the flames were leaping rapidly toward dwellings in the district, and it looked for a time as though the whole northern section of the town might be wiped out.

Aroused by the sound of the fire bell and the appearance of huge clouds of smoke, citizens rushed to the scene of the fire. Fortunately the brigade was able to stem the advance of the flames, although it was called on to put up an hour's battle with two lines of hose.

MARKETING BOARD HAS C.C.F. BACKING

Convention Also Debates Ten-Year Housing Program—Climax Near

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—(CP)—The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation entered the final session of its national convention here today with resolutions before the delegates concerning national housing, agriculture and relationship of the C.C.F. to other political organizations.

A vigorous debate was anticipated by the delegates on the latter issue in light of J. S. Woodsworth's keynote speech opening the convention Monday in which the national leader warned against united front action and close political cooperation with the Communist party.

The resolution on relations with other organizations presented by the national council stated "The C.C.F. is the best instrument by means of which Canadians may achieve their Socialistic objective. Any individual or group desiring a united or popular front should accept the manifesto and constitution of the C.C.F. and join its ranks."

In regard to agricultural policy the establishment of a growers' national marketing board to regulate farm prices was recommended by the national council.

The convention today heard also the proposal for a 10-year housing program to be supervised by a permanent federal housing authority responsible to a cabinet minister.

Present housing accommodation available to poorer people in urban areas was termed "utterly inadequate and of a standard degrading to public health and decency."

HARVESTING WELL ON AT PONTYPOOL

Raspberries Yield Only About 30 Per Cent. With Outlook Poor For Potatoes

(Examiner Correspondence.)

PONTYPOOL, August 5.—Harvesting in this district is well under way, fall grain is nearly all in the barns, spring wheat and barley are cut, and some farmers have threshed.

The raspberries have been about a 30 per cent. crop and are selling from 15c to 18c per quart. This has been a disappointment to many farmers who are growing raspberries in large quantities.

The early potatoes are about a 50 per cent. crop. The late potatoes and corn are looking very well so far, but if rain does not come in the near future there will be a very light crop of potatoes.

The pasture fields are dried up, and many wells are dry. Farmers are forced to feed their stock in the stable, and many are drawing water.

MILLBROOK W.M.S. CONDUCT SERVICE

Miss Estella Hetherington Gives Inspiring Talk At St. Andrew's Church

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, August 5. — The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary was responsible for evening worship in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday, August 2, the second vice-president, Mrs. J. McKnight, presiding.

The service opened with the singing of several hymns, Mrs. D. Lunn offering the opening prayer. The young people formed the choir, and Marjorie and Beatrice McDowell sang "Anywhere with Jesus," the lesson following read by Jean L. Burnham. Misses Marie Douglas and Madeline McDowell, Mission Circle members, took up the offering, and Miss Estella Hetherington gave an inspiring talk on "Life's Satisfactions," based on the verse, "He satisfieth the longing soul and filleth the hungry with good things," with special emphasis on the thought, "We are a soul—we have a body, which is naturally second in importance to the things which have to do with our souls."

Points developed along the line, "How are we to judge of true values as we go through life?" included (a) Whether through our accumulation of anything others may be made poorer; (b) Whether the things we gather grow as we divide them, such as duty, truth, beauty, and love; (c) Material things may be stolen, but the things of greatest value, such as spiritual fruits, no one can take from us; (d) The things that survive grow richer with the passing years. This is not true of superficial values which lose the power to please in time, the prodigal son being an apt illustration.

"Spiritual values satisfy here and now, and are ours by faith in Him who will not fail to honor His own word."

JOBS ARE FOUND FOR 12,722 MEN

No regular employees of the railways have been displaced. The men from the camps are employed on extra gangs doing work which has been accumulating for several years. The railways, in fact, have taken on 2,000 additional men who were not in camps.

The experiment has proved so successful that it has attracted attention in the United States, and investigators have been sent to Canada to secure information which may be useful in initiating a similar scheme over there.

$3,000,000 Contributed

Parliament appropriated $3,000,000 as a contribution to the railways to induce them to absorb about half of the inmates of the camps, which had cost the Dominion Government $22,000,000 since their inception four years ago.

It cost $62.50 a month to keep a man in camp, so the Government will save considerable money if the single homeless men who are now working for wages have sufficient from their earnings this summer to keep them through the coming winter. The task of transferring the men from camps to jobs on the railways and elsewhere has been under the direction of Humphrey Mitchell, former M.P. for Hamilton.

DELORO SAFETY OFFICIALS MEET

Twenty-Four Suggestions Are Received And Six Awards Given

MARMORA, Aug. 4. — The monthly meeting of the Deloro Safety Committee was held in the electric shop on Monday afternoon under presidency of R. A. Elliott.

Twenty-two suggestions were reported as having been received during the past month. Six of these were allotted an award.

The star again goes to the general division. Prone method practices were held in the oxide plant during July, and practices will be held in the metals department during the current month.

W. M. Regan brought in the report of the inspection committee, N. A. Kilpatrick was appointed floating member for August. The monthly statement of the benevolent relief fund was presented by C. H. Buskard, and D. Robertson reported for the publicity committee.

PRODUCE PRICES UP TO LATE CROP

Dealers No Likelihood Of Sensational Jump Following Drought

TORONTO, August 5. — "Beets are just twice as dear as last year, the green beans are more than twice as high. Carrots are almost three times as dear as last year," F. Y. Lister, Toronto produce man, reported yesterday. "We are now importing some of this line from Quebec. As for next winter, much depends on the late crop."

It was the homely product, he said, which had had its prestige changed by the heat madness of last month, but prices had not sky-rocketed enough to embarrass everybody.

While a good, plump price pleased dealers, real shortage in any line would not make them throw their caps in the air, he pointed out. They did not want a repetition of this summer's lemon situation. When the price of lemons had gone very high, retailers had become shy and housewives had given the family cold tea instead of lemonade.

Raspberry prices, dealers reported, had not been affected so much as was expected at first. This year's price of 8 to 10 cents a pint was not too sensational as compared with 6 to 9 cents on the same day at the beginning of August last year. Tree fruits did not seem to have figured much.

In general, the produce man saw no omens of public sensation in the market or too unbalanced diet in households.

WEDDINGS

DOOHER—NICHOLSON

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5. — A quiet wedding took place at St. John's United Church parsonage on Saturday evening, August 1st when Eva Mae, third daughter of Mrs. Nicholson and the late Mr. Albert Nicholson of Campbellford was united in marriage to John Carlyle Dooher, second son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. FITZPATRICK—O'NEILL

DOWNEYVILLE, Aug. 5.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's Church here on Tuesday morning, at 9 o'clock, when Miss Adrienne O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Neill, was united in marriage to Mr. Alphonse Fitzpatrick, son of the late William Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Fitzpatrick. Rev. Father McFadden performed the ceremony and also said the nupital mass.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. Walter Herlihey. Her gown was of white duchess satin made on princess lines with Chantilly lace trimming, full skirt forming a slight train. Her veil was of Tuscan lace held in place by seed pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of Talisman roses, lily-of-the valley and maiden-hair ferns.

The bridesmaid, Miss Hazel O'Neill, sister of the bride, was gowned in pale pink sheer chiffon with pink picture hat and matching accessories and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Patrick Fitzpatrick acted as best man for his brother.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. O'Neill welcomed the guests in a gown of flowered chiffon with French grey hat and corsage of Talisman roses.

After the dinner, served to about thirty guests, Mr. Fitzpatrick and his bride left on a motor trip to Montreal and Quebec and on their return will reside in Emily. The bride travelling in a blue chiffon dress with hat, hose and gloves and wearing a fox fur, the gift of the groom.

FIRES IN ONTARIO MAINLY IN CONTROL

Worst Situation Reported Near Sault With Crews Battling Seven Outbreaks

(By the Canadian Press.)

With the exception of a new blaze in the Sault Ste. Marie district, the majority of forest fires in widely separated parts of Ontario remained under control to-day as weary fighters looked back on several days of strenuous work. One large fire and six smaller ones continued to make the situation critical in the vicinity of Sault Ste. Marie, however.

Two fires joined into one near Oiseau Bay yesterday to roar down a nine-mile front, 170 miles from the Sault. Men and supplies rushed to fight it with headquarters at Frants, on Lake Superior. Six other fires burned with less intensity in the same area.

An old fire near the Sault Ste. Marie summer resort at Pointe Aux Pines jumped its fire lanes late yesterday and raged with renewed intensity. It burned away from the resort, however, and rangers said there was no danger to cottages.

Camps Wiped Out

Fires blazed near Schreiber and Walker's Lake in the Thunder Bay district, but a change in the wind was believed to have lessened the danger. Small camps at Harkness Hayes Mines, Gold Range Mines, and Highway Camp, Mileage 116, had been reported destroyed and late last night no word had been received of a party of rangers believed cut off by flames near Schreiber.

Near Glenora, two companies of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment remained on guard last night to prevent spreading of the flames in that vicinity. All danger to buildings had passed, fighters said, unless a sudden shift of wind changed the picture once more. The fire entered eight farms before it was subdued.

A grass fire in the Peterborough district was brought under control yesterday after threatening farm buildings for a time. Several other blazes in the district remained under control.

Writes Of Edward As Being Just a Boy

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—(CP)—A correspondent of The Mail and Empire, J. W. Barry, writes from London:

"I saw the King reviewing troops at Wellington Barracks in the rain. For 20 minutes I was less than 25 feet from him, and no one between except an iron fence. He was the most youthful figure for 42 ever I saw, the sort of prima donna type possessed by our musical friend Stokowski—all grace, charm and wholesomeness. I could have cheered my head off. As he arrival he looked up at the clouds and, believe it or not, said to his equerry, 'It aint agoin to rain no' more,' and laughed as he spoke.

"Fair bronzed, healthy, all graciousness, I don't wonder everyone falls for him. And think of his activities—one day he flew 300 miles inspecting troops in six camps, yet looked as fresh as a daisy the next morning. Just a bit of a boy yet is the King."

Autopsy Disclosed Mrs. W. D. Sargent Had Dislocated Neck And Fractured Skull

An autopsy performed by Dr. T. W. H. Young and Dr. J. M. O'Brien disclosed that Mrs. W. D. Sargent, 55, of 73 Lansdowne street died as a result of a dislocated neck and fractured skull, according to medical testimony offered at the preliminary inquiry into circumstances under which the woman met her death.

The inquest opened Tuesday afternoon, and was adjourned by Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young until 8.30 p.m. Monday next, after the jury had been taken to view the section of Highway 28 three miles north of Young's Point, where Mrs. Sargent was fatally injured when the car in which she was riding jolted over a culvert, on Monday evening.

Prior to adjourning the investigation the coroner heard the evidence of the two medical men who performed a post mortem examination, while evidence of identification was provided by William D. Sargent, husband of the dead woman.

Police Arrest Helper At Old Mining Shack North Tweed Village

Victim Crazed By Bullets Claims He Fainted—Given Wild Ride Through Bush

ESCAPED NEAR CLOYNE

Says 15 Shots Fired At Him—.38 Calibre Rifle Found With Accused

TWEED, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—Abraham Sommerberg is undergoing treatment here for gunshot wounds which grazed his body, and for the effects of a bad beating, while Joseph Sharkey is held in custody.

Sharkey was arrested yesterday by Constable Clair Hayes of Tweed in an old shack on the property of the Star of the East Mine, after Sommberg had notified Provincial Police. Police say a .38-calibre rifle and several rounds of ammunition were found in the shack.

Sommberg told police he fainted when several bullets grazed his body but came to when Sharkey allegedly started pounding him.

"He shook me by the throat and said, 'aren't you dead yet?' Sommerberg told police. "He then put me in the truck and drove 60 miles an hour through the bush. I turned off the switch and escaped across Marble Lake to Cloyne, where I called police. Fifteen shots were fired at me, some of them tearing holes in my clothes."

Sommberg, a second-hand dealer in Belleville, was removing some machinery and scrap iron from the old mine and had engaged Sharkey as a helper, police reported. Tweed is about 25 miles north of Belleville.

BLAMES MOSCOW FOR SPANISH WAR

British Press Sees Nations Forced To Intervene To Block New Red State

LONDON, August 6 (CP Cable).—The Daily Mail, under the caption, 'Should Britain Intervene," today says: "While the deadlock continues in the struggle between Spanish patriots and Communists there are indications intervention by European powers in the cause of civilization and Christianity may soon become imperative. A murderous Moscow tyranny is trying to install itself. No one expects Germany or Italy to tolerate another Communist state in Europe and decent British feeling would favor the idea of joining hands with them to save the Spanish people from utter destruction. Any other course may well mean the triumph of Communist savagery in the south of Europe."

The Daily Mail quotes the statement of German refugees from Barcelona, that nuns were beheaded and their heads affixed to the bannets of motor cars of Reds, and that Communists raided a convent and forced the nuns to walk stripped of all their clothing before a mob who hurled stones at them. The Mail continues: "Can the British Government sit with folded hands while such atrocious scenes are enacted within a day's steaming of our shores? Have ministers not remembered the fact that the Roman Catholic community counts millions of adherents in Great Britain Canada, Australia and elsewhere in the Empire. . . . If Blum and his ministers assist the Communist regime in Spain, the last traces of sympathy in this country may well turn to

AIRWAYS PLANE PLUNGES EIGHT TO THEIR DEATHS

Craft Cracks Up Only Four Miles Out From St. Louis Airport

SIX PASSENGERS VICTIMS

ST. LOUIS, August 6 (A.P.). — Eight persons, including six passengers, the pilot and co-pilot, were killed last night when a Chicago and Southern Airlines plane crashed on a farm a few miles north of Robertson Airport near the outskirts of St. Louis.

Carleton Putman, president of the line, said the ship took off at 9.56 p.m., and crashed a short time later. It was not discovered until several hours later.

The dead:

Carl Zier, pilot, Chicago; Russell Mossman, co-pilot, New Orleans; W. S. Borthwell, Chicago; C. B. Wright, Hinsdale, Ill.; D. R. McDavitt, Chicago; George Ilshaber, Oak Park, Ill.; A. R. Holt, Boston, Mass., and Vernon Omile, Memphis, Tenn.

Air line spokesmen said they had no idea what caused the crash and could draw no conclusions pending an investigation by the Commerce Department's Bureau of Aeronautics.

The weather, they added, was clear at the time of the tragedy.

Saw Ship Turn Back

Ralph L. Sharp, Fairfield, O., visitor at a farm near the scene of the crash, said he saw the plane bank steeply and turn back towarq the airport, from which it had taken off a few minutes before en route from New Orleans to Chicago. He heard the plane crash a moment later after it went over a knoll and was obscured from his view.

Searchers found the bodies of the pilot and co-pilot, their arms locked about each other, about 50 feet from part of the wrecked cabin.

Bodies of the passengers, many of them badly mangled, were scattered about the twisted main fuselage.

Carleton Putnam, president of the line, said the ship was checked at St. Louis and was in perfect condition.

"It was one of those things that can't happen, but still did," he declared.

STIFF BAIL SET IN RELIEF FRACAS

Ontario Gov't Takes Serious Attitude Of Farmers' Attack On Official

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—The Ontario government takes a serious attitude toward the relief disturbance at Hanmer Tuesday it was indicated today when Col. J. A. S. Plouffe, K.C., was named special crown prosecutor in the case.

Three Hanmer farmers, A. Gascon and Orphir and Honore Lalonde, brothers, are charged under section 450 with forcing Lorne Hennessy, relief inspector, to sign $40 worth of vouchers in their favor. Appearing before Magistrate J. S. McKessock today, they elected trial by judge and jury.

Bail of $1,000 each was set by the bench when Mr. Plouffe pointed out life imprisonment could be given in the case of a conviction. Preliminary hearing will be given next Wednesday.

Mr. Plouffe said Orphir Lalonde is also charged with assault alleged to have struck Hennessy "12 or 15 times, causing the man to fear for his life."

DUNDAS CITIZENS PROTEST LOUDLY AT CANAL WATER

Claim It Unfit To Drink As Town Tries It To Aid Low Reservoir

LITTLE SIGN OF RELIEF

DUNDAS, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP).—Hamilton and provincial health authorities kept a close eye on Dundas to-day as the water famine continued without early hope of relief. The mains were filled last night from the town reservoir, but the supply is so limited the flow can be kept up for but a few hours only, it is feared.

The water is scarcely fit to drink and it is planned to pump water from the old Desjardins Canal to fill the pipes for sanitary purposes. When it became known this would be done, citizens protested loudly, some vowing they would leave town before they would put up with such a supply.

The situation was further complicated early to-day when a water main burst. The pipe had been empty, and when the pressure came on the main was unable to stand the strain. Workmen started immediately to tear up the road and the whole area was again deprived of water, several blocks of houses being without service.

Last night the Utilities Commission approved the $48,000 water main which will connect the Hamilton water system with the Dundas system.

PLAN AMENDMENT SCHOOL TAX LEVY

Will Be Introduced Next Session Of Legislature Says Hepburn

TORONTO, August 6 (C.P.) — Premier Hepburn to-day announced it was the intention of the government to introduce an amendment to the school tax legislation at the next session of the Legislature. "Where there is already existing an amicable and satisfactory agreement between the Public and Separate School Boards as to the division of corporation taxes for school purposes, the government does not wish to interfere," he stated. "As a result we may amend the Act to provide that its provisions will not apply in such cases."

In stating the amendment was receiving consideration, the Premier said it was intended to apply chiefly to what are known as "company" towns.

The Premier cited as an example the fact E. G. Odette, chairman of the Liquor Control Board, when head of the Canadian Auto Top Company, [illegible] between the two schools. "When the business was taken over by the Hudson Motor Car Company the same arrangement was carried on, said the Premier.

"Ninety per cent. of the stock in the Auto Top Company was held by Catholics, but the division was equal," he stated.

"Does that mean that any future mutual agreements will be considered in the same light," the Premier was asked. "Yes," was the reply.

Onion Breath Cure Mystery to Science

The only way to stop "onion breath," two doctors reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, was to quit eating them.

Mouth wash was no help, they said, because the onion eater breathes deeply from the lungs.

It took a lot of scientific sniffing to decide the question, the two physicians, Dr. N. A. Blankenhorn and Dr. C. E. Richards of Cincinnati, declared.

SECOND WOMAN VICTIM OF SMASH

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 6. — (CP)—Mrs. Celina Sequin, 73, of Alfred, Ont., died in hospital early today from injuries received in an automobile accident yesterday that claimed the life of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edward J. Sequin, Detroit, Mich.

Her son, also injured in the crash between Michigan and Ohio cars 14 miles west of Brockville, was in a serious condition today. He received cuts on the head, legs and feet and at first was given a good chance of recovery. His condition became critical during the night.

A third victim, Mrs. Peter Fluge, Toledo, Ohio, was said to be resting comfortably. She suffered lacerations and shock. Mrs. Grace Detzer, mother of Harry Detzer, driver of the Ohio car, James Detzer, his brother, and Peter Fluge, 10, son of Mrs. Peter Fluge, were bruised and cut, but were not confined to hospital. Harry Detzer is held by police pending investigation.

SPANISH REBELS OUT TO BUY PLANES

"Travelling Salesmen" Offer To Finance Campaign In Return Trade Concessions

By Robert B. Parker
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

AT REBEL HEADQUARTERS, Burgos, Spain, Aug. 6. — Spanish Fascists notified airplane salesmen today they were in the market for good fighting planes.

Already a horde of "travelling salesmen" have descended on the insurgent headquarters. Three foreigners arrived by plane to try to sell their goods to the rebel forces.

Some were described as "jobbot peddlers of armaments," others were reported [illegible] in return for contracts and trade concessions in the event the rebels win.

One of the biggest prizes for the rebels—if they are victorious—is the Spanish oil business.

Fascist officers declared many of the "travelling salesmen" were trying to exact rebel promises for generous slices in the oil trade if the insurgents assure power after a victorious campaign against the present Leftist governments.

GRAVEL TRUCK IS STRUCK BY TRAIN DRIVER ESCAPES

Leo Phillips Of Tweed Has Narrow Escape At Indian River

TRUCK IS WRECKED

Hurled from a gravel truck by the C.P.R. noon express to-day at Borland's Crossing, one mile west of Indian River Station, Leo Phillips of Tweed escaped with a few minor cuts and bruises.

Phillips said he did not hear any warning bell or whistle as he approached the crossing with a load of gravel from Spring & Beatty's pit for delivery on No. 7 Highway. The hood of the five-ton truck was almost astride the north rail when it was struck by the engine of the east-bound passenger train, which is due at Indian River at 11.40 a.m.

The truck was tossed into the ditch, and Mr. Phillips emerged from the wreckage with a cut on his right elbow a few scratches on his face, and various bruises. It was reported that the truck was extensively damaged. The speed of the train may be surmised from the fact that it was not brought to a stop until it had travelled nearly half east of the crossing. It was delayed half an hour in its schedule by the accident.

Alberta Sends Its First Certificates Out To Work

Social Credit Minister Buys Shirt And Tie "To Start Ball Rolling"

GETS CHANGE IN CASH

EDMONTON, Aug. 6.— (CP).—First issue of Alberta Social Credit Government prosperity certificates was circulating throughout the province to-day. The little slips, about the size of a dollar bill, were issued as wages to men employed on highway construction projects inaugurated to relieve unemployment.

To start the ball rolling, Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister in charge of social credit, went into an Edmonton departmental store and purchased a shirt and tie, tendering in payment two of the $1 certificates. He received coppers and a nickle in change—the purchase amounted to $1.87.

Must Add Stamps Each Week.

The certificates are six inches long and 3¾ inches wide and will be valid only when stamps are affixed for as many full weeks as have elapsed since the date of issue of the certificates. These stamps are sold for one cent. There is room on the back of each certificate for 104 stamps—covering 104 weeks.

They carry this notice:

"The Provincial Treasurer will pay to the bearer the sum of one dollar on the expiration of two years from date of issue hereof provided there are then attached to the back hereof one hundred and four certificate stamps."

Mr. Maynard has announced a definite arrangement for cabinet ministers would be made whereby they will receive part of their salaries in certificates. This arrangement will go into effect by the end of August, he said.

HIGH OFFICIAL AIR MINISTRY IS DISCHARGED

Premier Baldwin Takes Action Almost Unprecedented In British History

AIRWAYS JOB INVOLVED

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(CP Cable)—A high civil service official today stood dismissed from the service after Prime Minister Baldwin had taken a step almost unprecedented in British political history.

Sir Christopher Bullock, permanent secretary to the air ministry and a member of the air council, was removed from office as a result of the findings of a special board of enquiry which investigated conversations between the permanent secretary and two officials of Imperial Airways, Limited.

In the discussions with Sir Eric Geddes, chairman of the airways firm, and Major G. E. Woods-Humphrey, managing director, Bullock was alleged to have pressed the subject of his own future association with the Imperial Airways board.

"While we are not criticizing his desire to link his future with that company," said the board whose findings were published in a white paper, "We think that the special intimate relations subsisting at all times between the air ministry and the company make it intrinsically improper for him in any circumstances to initiate conversations with its chairman or other representative of the company in furtherance of that desire.

"Unwelcome Suggestions"

"We cannot but think," the report continues, "that it was the official position he held that provided him with the vantage ground from which he was able to press upon the representatives of this company his personal suggestions which were as unwelcome as they were embarrassing."

The report told how in the spring of 1934 when negotiations were in progress between the air ministry and the general post office and Imperial Airways for the carriage of first class empire mail, Bullock approached the secretary of state for air, the Marquess of Londonderry, and suggested some honor be conferred on Geddes. Lord Londonderry asked what

"SPEC" TOWNS WINS

German Champion Throws Javelin 235 Feet Eight Inches

By Elmer Dulmage
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—(CP Cable).—Paced by Jack Lovelock as the blond New Zealander captured the classic 1,500-metre run in world record-breaking time, the track and field hosts to the 11th Olympiad to-day continued to topple the accepted standards like ten pins.

Both Lovelock and Glenn Cunningham of the United States, who trailed by five metres in second place, ran the metric mile under the listed record of three minutes 48.8 seconds. The Briton was a full second under, while Cunningham shaved the standard by 4-10ths second.

Luigi Beccali of Italy, defending champion, was third; Archie San Romani of the United States fourth, and Canada's veteran, Dr. Phil Edwards, fifth. All five of these stars were under Beccali's Olympic record of 3:51.2.

Equals Olympic Mark

Continuing the impressive American sweep, "Spec" Towns raced off with the 110-metre high hurdles in 14.2 seconds, equalling the listed Olympic mark he had bettered by 1-10th second in his semi-final.

Larry O'Connor, of Cobourg, joined Edwards in adding to Canada's point total by finishing sixth in the hurdle-sprint. Don Finlay of Britain and the American, Fitz Pollard, were second and third, respectively.

The huge throng of 105,000, including Reichsfuehrer Hitler, went wild with joy when Germany's Bernhardt Stoechk won the javelin throw with a toss of 71.84 metres (235 feet 8 13-42 inches). As the big Teuton was crowned with the Olympic laurel wreath, the crowd rose and sang the National Anthem.

Jimmy Courtright, Ottawa collegiate student, failed to get into the javelin final. His best effort in the preliminaries was a toss of approximately 199 feet.

Betty Taylor of Hamilton was awarded third place in the women's 80-metre hurdle final after a finish so close the judges had to call for a photograph to separate the first four. Trebisonda Valla was the winner, with Anny Steuer of Germany second.

Canadian Weakened

Betty, 19-year-old co-ed of McMaster University, was in front over the last hurdle, but weakened down the stretch and was in a four-way blanket finish. Claudia Testoni, Italy, was fourth. Time for the first three was 11.7 seconds. The time equalled the Olympic record Babe Didrikson set in the 1932 games.

Sammy Richardson, Toronto negro, got through the hop, step and jump preliminaries with a performance of 11.7 metres (47 feet), but in the next stage of the competition he made only one fair jump in three efforts, and that was not good enough to earn him a place in the final.

During the progress of the finals, Naota Tajima of Japan set up a new world record of 16 metres (52 feet 5 13-16th inches) for the triple-jump. This eclipsed the listed mark of 51 feet 8½ inches.

O'Connor's feat marked the first time a Canadian had reached the hurdle finals since 1920, when Earl Thomson won the 110 event for the Dominion.

Bill Pritz of Toronto reached the semi-finals of the 400-metre flat race by placing third in his second trial of the day. Blaszejzak of Germany won the trial in 48.2 seconds.

Girl 5, Took Baby "Just To Play With"

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—(CP).—Toronto police to-day found the five-year-old girl who Tuesday evening took Baby Danny Harbison for a go-cart ride that proved a short-lived "kidnapping" mystery.

Sergeant William Holmes saw the girl, answering a description given police. She was questioned at the police station and said she "didn't want to steal the baby, but just wanted to play with him."

She was then taken home, where she denied she had taken the baby.

Where They Get 'Em.

A 48-inch maskinonge weighing 22 pounds and measuring 18 inches in girth was caught by A. H. Martin of Brighton on the holiday. Hope Wanes For 57 Men In English Mine Blast

Twenty-One Bodies Recovered —Falling Rock Blocks Way To Remainder

ONE RESCUED, DIES

Barnsley, Yorkshire, Eng., Aug 6.—(CP Cable). — A subterranean explosion early to-day entombed 57 miners in a coal pit and hope was virtually abandoned for all of them. The blast was in the colliery of the Wharncliffe, Wood, Moor Company. In an official statement the company said 21 miners were dead. The others below ground were listed as "missing."

One man, Alfred Brown, was brought to the surface alive. But he was so badly injured he died in hospital later. Brown was three-quarters of a mile away from the affected area, indicating the force of the explosion.

Rescue workers searched frantically for bodies, hampered by falling rock. Large crowds assembled with drawn faces outside the hospital, hoping to learn the names of the men involved, but the company said it did not plan to issue the names of the missing men until they were identified to-morrow. Other thousands lined the road leading to the colliery.

Cause Unknown.

The company's statement said: "We deeply regret to say there has been an accident, the cause of which is unknown at present, resulting in 21 deaths. It appeared so far as can be gathered about 3.30 a.m.

"The general manager, His Majesty's inspectors and rescue parties have been down in the pit since early morning and steady progress has been made. The whole workings have not been travelled yet, but so far no trace of fire has been found.

"The number missing is 57." (This figure, it was explained, included the 21 listed as dead.)

Definite Diagnosis Is Awaited In Case

Fears that a little nine-year-old girl resident on Monaghan road south in North Monaghan township is an additional victim of infantile paralysis here were confirmed overnight by Dr. J. A. Morgan, township M.O.H. A spinal test revealed the existence of the disease.

The case of an eight-year-old boy in the north end of the city who is also feared to be a victim of the disease is being watched closely by Medical Officer of Health Dr. G. Murray Fraser. A definite diagnosis of the case had not been made to-day.

THREE CANADIANS ARE SUCCESSFUL IN 400-METRE RUN

Marshall Limon And Bill Fritz Finish Second In Their Heats

LOARING IS THIRD

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—(CP Cable,) — All three Canadian entrants in the 400-metre run whirled successfully through preliminary heats this morning as the fifth day of Olympic track and field competition opened in chill winds and under a canopy of threatening clouds.

Marshal Limon of Vancouver, and little Bill Fritz of Toronto, finished second in their heats, while Windsor's Johnny Loaring, a second-place in the 400-metre hurdle finals already to his credit, ran third in the flat event.

Fritz, former Queen's University trackman, who is 23 years old, had the best time of the Canadians, as he ran second to Archie Williams of the United States. Williams was caught in 47.8 seconds, as against the Olympic record of 46.2. The 135-pound Canadian's time was 49 flat.

Another American, Harold Smallwood, won the heat in which "Mush" Limon was runner-up Smallwood sped the route in 49 seconds with the University of British Columbia student 2-10th second back.

Strong Contender.

Loaring was third to William Roberts of Great Britain and the Swede, Danielson. Roberts is considered a strong British bidder for the event. He ran his trial in 48.1. The 20-year-old Loaring's time was 49.1.

In addition to Smallwood and Williams, Johnny Lu Valle also won a heat, giving the United States a strong trio for the quarter finals. Smallwood's victory showed he had fully recovered from an appendicitis attack suffered en route to Berlin.

Roberts, Godfrey Rampling and Art Brown formed a seemingly potent British challenge. Since Stan Wooderson's staggering failure in yesterday's 1,500-metre trials, the final of which features this afternoon's program, Britain's last chance for a flat racing gold medal appeared to rest in the 400.

Despite the cold, cheerless morning, 60,000 well-bundled spectators populated the concrete bowl for the 400 trials, javelin throw and hop, step and jump.

Tossed Javelin 219 Feet.

Matti Jarvinen, Finland's defending champion and all-record holder, tossed the javelin 67 metres (219 feet 9 27-32 inches), although the qualifying requirement was only 60 metres.

Overnight the biggest topic in the United States camp concerned the demonstration of whistling which accompanied the pole vaulting final last night. Berlin newspapers advised the fans a lusty whistle was an American sign of approval.

The vaulters themselves said the noise didn't disturb them, but Head Coach Lawson Robertson was more outspoken.

"The demonstration was more like what we get in the United States from baseball bleacherites," he said.

Mussolini's Fortune In Excellent Shape

VENICE, Italy, Aug. 6.—(CP-Havas)—Little Romano Mussolini, Il Duce's youngest son, yesterday had assurances from his illustrious father that the Mussolini family bankroll was in good condition.

The Premier took Romano to the exhibition of eighteenth century art at the Casa Rezonigo here. When Mussolini stopped to admire a particularly fine canvas and told the boy he would like to buy it, Romano chirped: "But, papa, with what money would you buy the picture?"

Il Duce, highly amused by his son's query, was quick to assure him that the Mussolini family fortune was in such a state as to permit acquisition of almost any painting on exhibition.

McKay, Ingersoll dentist, live only 10 miles apart, but they had to meet thousands of miles from home, before they became acquainted. Mr. Utting, just returned from a trip to England, said he was looking for a room in London one night. The hotel clerk said he could have one if he was willing to share it with another occupant. The other occupant was Dr. McKay.

TOWN OF DUNDAS IS HAULING WATER SUPPLY IN CARTS

Town Reservoir Goes Almost Dry—Only Enough Supply To Fight Fire

TWO PAILS TO EACH HOME

DUNDAS, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP).—Residents of this Wentworth County town attempted to conserve their almost negligible water supply today while Town Council in special session discussed plans for the construction of a pipe-line to meet Hamilton's city main.

Details of the proposal will be negotiated with the Hamilton Board of Control later in the day if Town Council ratifies the project.

Cost to Dundas, it is said, will be about $31,000, plus a gallonage charge to Hamilton, while that city will have to spend $17,000 extending their main to the city limits if the proposal is accepted.

The situation in Dundas was somewhat less acute today although water was still at a premium. For several hours last night, the town mains were turned on again after a 24-hour shut-off. Then they were cut off again to preserve what little water was left in the town reservoir for use in case of fire. By that time, most residents had drawn a supply sufficient to last them for a short time at least.

2-Pail Limit.

With water shut off altogether yesterday, city of Hamilton carts hauled water to the town, distributing two pails full to each household. Only 1,000 gallons could be taken in this way, however, compared with the 250,000 gallon daily average use in Dundas. Adults and children augmented the supply somewhat, trouping a mile from town to a spring in Binkley's Hollow and up the steep Greensville hill to a supply above the golf course.

Water via the cart method will continue until the town's supply over the Greensville dam is back to normal or until a permanent supply is obtained from Hamilton, authorities say.

Carts are loaned by Hamilton, and horses come from Dundas, following an agreement made yesterday with W. L. McFaul, Hamilton engineer. Pumps loaned by Hamilton were busy last night pumping out what little water remained in pools along the Greensville dam, and sending it back to augment the limited supply above the structure.

WRITER RECALLS MESSINES RIDGE

Troops Who Stormed Heights Unmentioned—Attack One Of War's Highlights

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(CP Cable).—The weekly social paper Truth prints this week a letter from its former war correspondent in part as follows:

"I yield to none in deep admiration for the glorious valour of Canadians who stormed and carried Vimy Ridge. It was my job to follow the fighting and I was fairly well able to appreciate the full meaning of that accomplishment. But I also witnesed another supreme feat, declared by the French General Staff to be the most perfectly organized and splendidly delivered assault of the entire war—the taking of Messines Ridge. This was a British effort and we war correspondents were forbidden to mention a single unit which surged up those heights. On the other hand that great political opportunist, Lord Beaverbrook during the Vimy operations in the words of the chief intelligence staff at general headquarters, which I can verify was 'on the warpath to insist upon even more publicity work for Canadians.'

"War correspondents did as they were asked what was the result? Northcliffe, then in America, cabled general headquarters to warn them, 'The Canadains are beginning to say their young men are being sacrificed and British troops spared'."

Vimy, adds Truth, "is a little bit o' Canada all the time and a most glorious bit, but it can suffer nothing from our remembering Messines. Our nearest kith and kin suffer a grave ingratitude by its not being so remembered."

Bruce And Hepburn Seek Housing Sites

TORONTO, Aug. 6 (CP).—Lieutenant Governor Herbert Bruce, accompanied by Premier Hepburn, toured Toronto suburban areas yesterday to select sites for houses which the Ontario Government will erect as an experimental housing scheme.

Two houses are to be built in each of seven suburban municipalities on land to be donated by the municipality. Designs were chosen from plans submitted in the government's recent architectural competition and as soon as the sites are chosen construction of the houses is to start.

COMMUNITY HEALTH

A Column Conducted by the Department of Public Health, Peterborough, in the interests of Peterborough Citizens.

FACTS ABOUT PASTEURIZATION

There are 31 dairies distributing milk and cream in Peterborough, five of which are large plants selling only pasteurized dairy products.

About 70 per cent of milk sold in Peterborough is pasteurized. Pasteurized milk and raw milk sell for the same price. Of the 26 raw milk distributors, six are residents of Peterborough. Four of the five pasteurizing plants are located in Peterborough, one on the outskirts. There are 82 persons employed by these plants.

Ontario municipalities which have passed by-laws requiring all milk sold to be pasteurized are: Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, St. Catharines, Carleton Place, East Windsor, North Bay, Sudbury, Timmins, Kapuskasing, Walkerville, Whitby, Sandwich, Forest, Barrie, Iroquois, Iroquois Falls, Kirkland Lake, Leamington, Richmond Hill, Kingston.

Pasteurization is a process by which clean milk is made safe. It consists in heating the milk to a temperature of 142 to 145 degrees F. for 30 minutes following by rapid cooling to a temperature of 45 degrees or less and holding at that temperature until delivered to the consumer.

Pasteurization destroys all disease producing germs in the milk. These germs cause the following diseases in human beings:

(a) Originating in the cow: 1, Bovine tuberculosis; 2, Undulant fever; 3, Septic sore throat.

(b) Originating in human being and transferred via milk during the handling: 1, Diphtheria; 2, Scarlet Fever; 3, Typhoid Fever; 4, Paratyphoid Fever; 5, Dysentery; 6, Infantile Paralysis.

Compulsory testing of herds for tuberculosis and Bang's disease is not a satisfactory substitute of pasteurization. Such tests are not 100 per cent. reliable. They do not remove the possibility of human contamination during the handling of the product.

Since pasteurization was introduced in Toronto in 1915 not one case of bovine tuberculosis has originated within the city. Any cases found in the Hospital for Sick Children have been non-residents.

Last year a case of Undulant fever occurred in a farmer who was delivering raw milk in Peterborough. He contracted the disease from one of his own cows. He immediately discontinued the local sale of his product. For several months he was extremely ill and has only recently been able to continue his work on the farm. Subsequent test of his cattle revealed that 14 out of 18 had Bangs disease, the germs from which are transferred to human beings via the milk, causing Undulant fever.

Pasteurization improves the digestibility of milk for infants.

Pasteurization does not destroy any food value of milk.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 1936

A Real Championship

This district used to pride itself upon possessing large numbers of experts with the buck saw and the old timers tell stories of the prowess of the champions of yesterday year as if there was no possibility in these modern days of the feats of the old masters ever being evenly remotely approached.

The Examiner has an idea they are wrong. We refuse to believe that buck sawing is a lost art and we are satisfied that in Peterborough County today there are scores of experts who can make a saw sing a song of speed as it tears through a log. What's more we are going to find out and in the course of so doing we are also going to provide a lot of fun and excitement for town folk and their friends who will be in Peterborough during the Industrial Exhibition.

That is why we are promoting a log sawing contest for the mornings of August 20 and 21, to take place on Simcoe street between Water and George streets, the winner of which will be the 1936 bucksawing champion or champion bucksawer if you prefer it that way. With the honor will go some worthwhile prizes and the whole affair promises to be a red-letter occasion.

Every section has its outstanding saw expert. Now is the time for these local champions to show what they can do against real competition and we expect them to go into rigid training at once and to lineup two weeks from now to demonstrate their prowess to the world.

An Unfortunate Proposal

The clamor that has arisen for another route for the proposed No. 7 cut-off from Highway 28 suggests that the folk who are advocating this change in the original program have not benefitted by the experience of Northern Ontario which differed so vigorously in opinion as to the routeof the trans-Canada highway that the interested governments threw up their hands in despair and the whole project so far as that section was concerned was held up for years.

The Port Perry-Cavan route was the one agreed upon and recommended to the Ontario government when the scheme of linking up Highways 12 and 28 was first launched and it was not until recently that the suggestion came to the front that the road through Millbrook, Burketon and Pontypool farther south than the original route should be taken over in preference to the Port Perry-Cavan link.

The whole undertaking may be jeopardized by this new proposal and on that account, and because the alternative route has obvious disadvantages it is to be hoped that something can be done to head off this attempt to change the program before the government decides that the best way out of the thing is to do nothing at all.

Officially Peterborough as represented by the city council and the Chamber of Commerce is committed to the Cavan-Port Perry route and can see no reason for favoring the new proposal. It is pointed out that the suggested southern route would be more expensive, that it is nine miles longer, that it runs for the most part through very sandy country, with the necessary gravel beds few and far between and that the district it would tap is not as thickly populated as the area that would be served by the northern route.

Under these circumstances it is unfortunate that the proposed change in plans has bobbed up just at this time when, unless wise counsel prevails, it may throw a monkey wrench into the machinery.

We've Missed The Boat

Peterborough has apparently missed the boat so far as an opportunity to entertain any of the units of the British motorcade this year is concerned, information having been received that the itinerary of the organization has been completed and that a change now would be impossible.

The first group of visitors from the old land were in Toronto this week, with thirty-three British motor cars and two baggage trucks and later passed down Highway 2 to Ottawa and Montreal and it seems a pity that when they were so close to us that Peterborough did not have an opportunity of playing hosts to this group of outstanding Britishers.

We have much here that they would have been interested in and that we would have been delighted to show them and yet the motorcade was allowed to pass just a few miles south of us along No. 2 Highway, without an invitation to drop in and partake of Peterborough hospitality. We are sure they would have been glad to have accepted just as we are sure we would have welcomed the opportunity to entertain these distinguished kinsmen from the Mother country.

The Examiner was hopeful that even though we lost out on the first section of the cavalcade from Britain we might have better luck with the second and third groups that are to follow within the next few weeks, but even that pleasure has been denied us. It is something, however, that the city authorities should keep in mind. There will undoubtedly be more of these tours and on another occasion we want to make sure that our kinsmen from the Mother country are given an opportunity to look us over and that we have a chance to at least extend them a whole-hearted welcome. They're the kind of folk we are always glad to have drop in. And Ald Juby, interested both as an executive of the Motor League and a member of the City Council was aiming in the right direction when he brought the matter to the attention of council.

A Team In Himself

This colored speedster from the United States who has captured three Olympic championships and filled the German air with fragments of shattered records seems to be an extraordinary machine. Other men have won three events at Olympic games, but their victories were along one particular line, that is they were either track or field experts. Jesse Owens on the contrary has not only established new speed records in winning the 100 and 200 metre sprint events, but he has in addition invaded the field competitions and jumped farther in the running broad jump than any human being ever did before in organized competition.

That is a most unusual feat and it stamps this American negro as an athlete of remarkable ability! For the same man to run faster and jump a longer distance than anybody else has done is a performance that cannot be duplicated in athletic history and it justifies the thought that an athlete of such speed and stamina could undoubtedly excel in many other events on the Olympic card. In fact, this Mister Owens might easily have been developed into a one-man track and field team, capable of holding his own against the mass competition of other countries. Incidentally his outstanding success accentuates the sudden rush into prominence of colored athletes for Owens while the star of the troupe is only one of a number of negro athletes who have astounded the world by their speed and skill. In fact without them the United States team would have fallen far short of the total it has compiled at Berlin for the black athletes have predominated throughout the entire program.

Drowsy Drivers

Magistrate John R. Blake of Kitchener has held that when a man in charge of a motor car falls asleep at the wheel when driving on the highway he is committing a reckless act that is endangering life and property and it is difficult to find fault with the logic of the magistrate's ruling. Drowsy drivers are a threat to themselves and to the safety of everybody else and the motorist who realizes that he is falling into a state of langor is taking chances when he keeps on driving in spite of the warning that such symptoms should flash to him.

A magazine writer who discussed this subject recently pointed out that there were many devices drivers resorted to when they found themselves in a drowsy condition. Some depended upon chewing or smoking to do the trick, others turned on the windshield wiper, sucked a lemon, hummed a tune or tried to keep up a conversation with a companion.

Unfortunately all too few of them try the very thing that will do them the most good, that is to do a little sleeping. The wise motorist who discovers he is growing too sleepy to pay full attention to the road and to his job of driving knows the safest course is to park his car for a half hour or so and enjoy a refreshing nap that will enable him to resume his journey again in a wideawake and alert condition. To ignore the symptoms and keep on trying to drive when the sandman has a hammerlock on you is a very dangerous practice; and it is not only risky but illegal according to the ruling of the Kitchener magistrate.

It is worthy of note that the lawyer for the defendant in this particular case tried to maintain that falling asleep was not recklessness or carelessness but the court refused to give any weight to the contention.

Should Be An Incentive

Congratulations are in order to Joseph Tully of Otonabee upon the showing made by some of his Holsteins in qualifying against Dominion-wide competition in the R.O.P. tests and in capturing the leadership of two divisions and running well up in another. The performance of these splendid cows, all fed and owned by Mr. Tully places that young farmer high up on the ladder among the coming Holstein breeders of the country ,and should be a source of encouragement to farmers generally, especially to new breeders who are just now entering their herds for record of performance.

The fact that a young man, under thirty has been able to accomplish such results under ordinary farm conditions leads to the conviction that it should be within the reach of every real dairy farmer in the county to produce cows that will at least qualify in record of performance, even if they do not all lead their divisions. What Mr. Tully has done without any special advantages can be done by other farmers and The Examiner will be disappointed if this very fine showing does not work out as an incentive to other dairy farmers in the district to emulate the example set by this successful young breeder who evidently believes that a thing worth doing at all is worth doing well.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Two Rover Scouts at Chatham saved five lives when a boat capsized. It is a handy habit Scouts in all parts of the world seem to possess.

Thousands of bees escaped from a hive on a farm wagon on a Quebec street and the buzzing that followed made the political oratory seem tame.

New Zealand's labor government has decided to spend $1,250,000 more on defence and the move in such a quarter is not without its significance.

Different to some other athletes it looks as if this fellow Jesse Owens has saved his stepping out for the time it would do him the most good.

The man who smokes in the timber country these days and is careless about his matches and cigarette ends is qualifying for the title of Public Enemy No. 1.

We don't like to remind you that summer is definitely headed for the exit, but we must point out that the opening of Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition is only two weeks away.

The common carrot is a proud vegetable these days. Usually the Cinderella of the market gardeners' crop, carrots are bringing three times their usual price today.

A cargo of $50,000 worth of school books has arrived at St. John's, Nfld, for free distribution among the school pupils but so far no wild elation has been noticed among the latter.

At Liverpool, N.S., a 1,000 pound shark was landed with a rod and line. The man who caught that monster should tackle some of the big lunge in the Kawartha-Trent waters.

Only the janitor heard the official returns of Manitoba's election given out in the Winnipeg law courts and the story does not say just how he received the tidings.

Five cows wandered on to a railway crossing and were killed by a train. It was too much to expect the bovines would show more intelligence in this respect than a lot of human beings do.

A Windsor man has been fined for being drunk in charge of a bicycle. He can have the satisfaction of knowing that he was the central figure in a case that was something of a rarity in police court circles.

The Canadian Cooperative Federation is to invade Quebec next, but it would be making a mistake to think that the movement will make much of an impression upon the people of that province.

An Arizona man, celebrating his 105th birthday attributed his long life to "meanness." On that theory there are some folk around this part of the world who can look forward with some assurance to the day when they will reach their 100th anniversary.

Alberta legislature may hold a fall session to deal mostly with Social Credit, Premier Aberhart announces. There will undoubtedly be some super-critical folk who will hasten to point out that statement lacks a certain amount of definiteness.

There is a certain amount of luck in these Olympic contests. Stan Woodersson, the sensational English miler, found himself forced to battle for the 1500 metre honors with an injured ankle and it gave out on him in the stretch. He is one of the world's best but the handicap was too great to overcome.

Dawn.

Awake and hear the bird-songs greet the dawn,
When angels bear to earth her summer dress
In emerald folds bespread upon the lawn
And dewy flow'rs serene in loveliness.
Sweet bird-notes, linked in one ecstatic choir
Of harmony and rhythm, bring to you
The cheery robin's theme-song of desire:
"Wake up and happy be the whole day through."
The sky is patterned o'er with magic lace
As if, in benediction, morning's tune
Had blended into colours that embrace
And bid farewell the guardian angel moon.
Thus comes the dawn in majesty—to praise

Sense of Speed Has Been Lost

(From the Washington Star)

FIVE years has done things to traffic everywhere.

One of the worst things it has done has been to deaden the sense of speed increase.

It has been such a gradual growth that no one, in the large sense, has noticed it at all.

Only a trip to a section of town which one knew intimately years before, down to the very "feel" of the streets and their traffic, suddenly reveals to most, this increase.

The only vehicles which have not increased their speed are the buses. The drivers say they are running as of old.

In addition to the sheer speed, the thing that impresses most is the seming recklessness of it all.

What is the increased speed for, and what does it get the drivers?

Then why so fast?

* * *

The spirit of the age, of course, and a modern motor car.

These are the answers, but the consequences are often dread.

The belief continues to grow that speed is the real cause of the accidents. Every time this is mentioned, ready answer is that lessening it would not stop accidents.

Behind the speed, however, is the spirit of recklessness, apparent to any one who is willing to use his eyes and tell himself honestly what he sees.

Ask almost any taxi driver.

"I don't know what this city is coming to," one of them said the other day.

The latest consideration of the traffic problem lies in a book called "Sense and Safety on the Road," published by Appleton-Century. The authors suggest that if the entire driving population of the United States were willing for a single month to reduce its speed to 20 miles an hour, it would be safe to believe that traffic fatalities would be reduced from 3,000 a month to less than 100.

The answer apparently is: No.

They won't, and that's that, as the saying is.

These cars are here, with their great possibilities, the very peak of what has been striven for all along.

So what?

Nobody knows.

If any one could solve this thing he would be the hero of the day.

The solution, it would seem, is to reduce speed, and nobody wants to reduce speed.

Nobody intends to go slow.

It is going around in a circle, the remedy known, or thought by many to be known, with only a few willing to give it a trial, however.

* * *

Just a few, in fact, cause trouble.

Probably a better idea, would be to get every car driver to promise to do his best to cut down on his own speed, even if only a little.

Thus the man in the habit of driving as fast as he dared would be willing to go a little slower. A little slower, all along the line, might bring about some change for the better. It woud cultivate a national habit of going slower, instead of going faster.

It would have to be in people's mind and hearts, however, and not just on paper and signs.

And all the time, what about the man afoot?

PAPERS SCORE AGAIN.

(Windsor Star)

FURTHER evidence that newspaper advertising is daily growing more effective is to be found in the report of a recent survey conducted by the magazine, "Printers' Ink." Returns from this source of advertising, the report reveals, are greater now than they have been for years and far ahead of returns received from advertising in magazines.

Comparative figures supplied in the report are illuminating. Taking a 10-year average base, newspapers in 1935-36 had an average efficiency of 416, while the average efficiency for magazines during the same period was held to be only 144. The newspapers gained much ground on the magazines over the previous year when their average efficiency was 286, against 113 for the magazines.

NOT FOREIGNERS.

(Providence Journal)

PRESIDENT Roosevelt's felicitous address to the Canadians at Quebec was replete with sentiments of friendship and good will which all his compatriots deeply feel. The relations of the United States and the Dominion are in every way extremely cordial and pleasant. And no one on either side of the international boundary can be oblivious of the fact that this friendship between the two countries grows stronger and deeper as the years pass. One likes especially the President's reference to the term "foreigner." "When I have been in Canada," he remarked, "I have never heard a Canadian refer to an American as a 'foreigner'. He is just an 'American'. And, in the same way, in the United States, Canadians are not 'foreigners', they are 'Canadians'." This splendid mutual attitude explains why there are no fortifications along the three-thousand-mile border and why, also, no passports are required when citizens of the two countries are passing to and fro across the border.

A Fairy Tale Memorial.

(From the London Daily Mirror.)

NEVER again, while roses bloom in England, need the wild birds in the heart of London go hungry.

It was summer. The windows of her bedroom overlooking the Embankment Gardens were open; wild birds perched on the balcony.

During her long days of convalescence those pigeons and sparrows became the joy of Mrs. Angus' life.

Every day she would walk across to the Embankment Gardens, with crumbs and tit-bits for them and soon they became so tame that they flew into her room for their afternoon feed.

August came, and Mr. and Mrs. Angus went back to America, but every summer since then they returned to London and took their old room at the Savoy.

Mrs. Angus never failed to go to the Gardens to feed her birds and the birds just as regularly waited for her coming.

Early tis year Mrs. Angus died in New Jersey, aged about sixty.

June arrived, and the London birds waited for their friend to come out of the hotel at feeding-time. They did not wait in vain.

Mr. Angus has created a trust fund making an allowance to two of the Savoy waiters for feeding them every day between June and August as his wife had done.

Punctually at 2.30 yesterday the waiters came out of the Savoy with napkins laden with crumbs. In the Embankment Gardens they kept the tryst of the woman who lies buried 3,500 miles away.

So it will be every day during June, July and August for all time.

Price Control Invalid.

(From the Montreal Star.)

IN view of the appeal to be heard by the Privy Council regarding the reply of the Dominion Supreme Court to the references submitted by the Federal Government regarding the legality of various measures passed by the last Parliament, it is of great interest to note a decision just delivered by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in an appeal from Australia involving similar legislation.

It appears that the Commonwealth Parliament, acting under the Dried Fruits Act, made regulations which imposed restrictions on interstate trade in dried fruit products. The decision of the Privy Council is absolutely against such legislation, and indirectly it is held to invalidate as unconstitutional any similar legislative attempt by the Commonwealth Parliament to control prices and establish a marketing system.

Even though the people of Australia favour such a policy, and even though it may be in the best interests of the country to put such a policy into effect, under the Constitution Act of 1901 as it now stands this cannot be done, according to the Privy Council's judgment, unless a referendum is held or some ingenious method of evasion not yet devised is brought into effect.

The decision was based largely on the use of the word "absolutely" in a section of the Constitution Act which declares that "trade, commerce and intercourse...shall be absolutely free." The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council took the viewpoint that in ordinary language "free" trade meant freedom from tariffs, and that the word "absolutely" was employed to overcome any veiled infringement of the Act.

The net result is that price control and marketing regulations are barred in Australia unless and until the people of the Commonwealth by referendum decide to amend the Constitution. The decision will doubtless be read with keen interest throughout the Dominion while we await the result of our own appeal to the Privy Council upon a similar point. It seems to indicate that the written Constitutions of the Dominions have disadvantages similar to those in the United States, but from which the elastic, unwritten Constitution of the Old Country is free.

The First Take-off.

(From the Christian Science Monitor.)

AFTER our great steel bird had guzzled a hearty meal of baggage and a salad course of United States mail, portable steps were wheeled up to the door of the plane, and the passengers entered. There were of us—just a full load. The cabin was wide enough for a comfortable reclining chair on each side of a narrow aisle—with lots of room to stretch out, fore and aft—and the ceiling was high enough to clear the average man.

The pilot and co-pilot of course, were ahead in their compartment, which was filled with so many dials and gadgets that small wonder two pilots are necessary on each plane—one man couldn't begin to watch them all! Each was equipped with headphones; and the chief pilot wore an ugly looking six-gun.

The last person aboard was our trim little stewardess. She drew our attention to the electrically lighted notice up in front which cautioned passengers to adjust their seat-belt while the plane was taking-off; and also warned against smoking while taking-off or landing.

The twin motors suddenly let out a roar; and in another second we were rolling. I took out my watch to note the number of seconds before our United Air liner left the ground. The pilot was apparently making a fizzle of the getaway — surely the plane could never leave the ground at this slow rate! And I began to look ahead to see what we might hit, in case—. I am thankful I didn't shout out to the pilot that I doubted if he could miss that building; for all he was doing was taxiing along to the far end of the field for a take-off into the wind.

We stopped. The motors let out another roar—a roar not unlike the one your car makes when the mechanic "opens her up." We swung around. Another roar—a sustained roar this time. We could feel the plane straining to get away; but we were held by the brakes in the giant wheels. Finally the brakes were released—and we were off! I was busy trying to take the second before we were in the air; but I had to keep looking out my window to note when we left the ground—so smooth was the going.

After racing along for about 25 seconds our plane took a little bounce...and then another...and then the barest kind of caress of the earth. We were off the ground just saw my second hand touched 30. At last I was flying—and loved it!

MUST PAY PRICE.

REDUCTION of taxes through reduction of expenditures of government can be brought about only by lessening the demands on the various governments.

Political promises and sectional demands on government treasuries have gone a long way towards bringing taxes to their present high levels. The public must realize that for every new demand it makes on the government an increase in taxes is necessary.

Those who insist that the fiddler play should not object when he presents the bill.

BARN FIRES.

(Oshawa Times)

USUALLY at this time of the year there are numerous barn fires throughout the country, and Ontario County has not escaped. The recent epidemic of fires in the Township of Darlington should set farmers thinking, and impress upon them the need for the utmost care. Losses from now on will be greater as barns are filled up with the season's crops. It is always well to remember that no matter how much insurance a farmer may carry his losses are never fully covered, and these are times when any amount of loss would constitute a serious loss to any farmer.

There are many contributory causes to barn fires and these have been set forth on many occasions not only in this paper but by well known local organizations like the Maple Leaf Mutual Farmers' Insurance Company which carries many risks in this county. In many local organizations of this kind the farmers themselves are the stockholders so that when they have a fire they sustain a double loss.

CORRECTING THE BOY.

(Chatham Daily News)

A Chatham girl travelling in the United States was surprised to learn that many people in the country know very little about Canada.

It recalls an incident which happened at a neighboring port of entry not so many years ago.

A citizen of the States stepped off the ferry boat with his young son, who had evidently been hearing things about this country.

"Why, Dad," exclaimed the youngster, "I don't see any Eskimos!"

The bystanders laughed, and the father was quick to cover up the boy's mistake.

"Why son," he explained in a loud voice, "We won't see any Eskimos until we get to Montreal!"

Final prices were lower for a majority of the interlisted group but strength in the foods, beverages and miscellaneous issues partly neutralized the declines. International Nickel recovering a morning loss and Smelters finished the day with a moderate setback; Ford 'A' was a feature of the interlisted group, advancing more than half a point on good volume. Walkers common and Canada Malting ruled slightly higher while Brewing Corporation common touched a new low for the year. TORONTO, August 6 (C.P.). — Concluding three days of succeeding declines, the mining list of the Toronto Exchange turned about this afternoon and pushed higher. The early session had seen a continuation of the decline. God's Lake was a feature of the recovery as it climbed to around 1.26 on heavy volume on news of ore developments. Some of the base metals also firmed and the silvers had a slightly better tone.

Bullock then approached Geddes in the matter and the latter indicated a certain honor would be welcome if bestowed in recognition of his services in linking the Empire by air. Bullock is then alleged to have asked Geddes' advice in regard to his own future, and said what he would like would be to succeed Geddes as chairman of Imperial Airways.

Drops Discussions.

At the next interview on the mail contract Bullock told Geddes the honor would not be conferred until the agreement was signed. Geddes replied, "If it was to be a reward for negotiating the agreement, it was out of the question," and the whole matter was then dropped.

In a statement issued last night Bullock did not dispute the main outlines of the conversations as given in the report. He said, however: "What a world of difference is there between give-and-take living talk and the stale dead ashes of conversations raked over and microscopically dissected after many months. The resuscitation in cold print from three or four out of three score conversations in the years under review, in which I never raised the issue at all, inevitably distorts the whole focus."

The statement added that in considering himself being associated with the airways firm at some future date he had been influenced by the fact that civil aviation seemed a field in which his "experience might best be utilized, not only for my own advantage but also in directions likely to be of service to the state.

Eight New Fires Reported Wednesday In Sault Area—Northbrook Saved

Eight new forest fires in the Sault Ste. Marie district, added to a dozen serious blazes already burning and lesser fires around Kenora, Fort William and Kingston, made Ontario's fires problem a serious one to-day.

Men rushed from Sault Ste. Marie battled the eight new fires in the district, one of them near Lower Island Lake, eight miles from the city. The older fire in the Oiseau Bay District, up Lake Superior, still burned stubbornly with no estimate of its size possible because of dense clouds of smoke. Six other fires burned in the Frank area, with ashes falling 70 miles away.

Rangers and volunteers on all fronts searched for signs of incendiarism as they fought flames to-day, spurred on by the offer of a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of those alleged to have set fires purposely. Premier Mitchell Hepburn made an official offer of the reward yesterday.

Ask Aid by Air

Hemmed in by flames, residents of Isle Royale appealed to United States authorities for aid in evacuation yesterday. Chicago authorities asked Port Arthur officials for an airplane to assist the inhabitants of the island off the shores of Lake Superior from Port Arthur and Fort William. As soon as authority is received from Washington, Al Chessman, pilot for Sir Hubert Wilkins in his Artactic expedition, will take off for the island.

The Kenora region situation appeared troublesome but under control to-day, although rain was urgently needed to quell several outbreaks, including a big blaze in the Deer Lake lumbering district, 90 miles south of Kenora.

The village of Northbrook, 65 miles north of Kingston, reported all fires in the area under control last night. More than 50 men plowed a firebreak before the flames were halted.

1500-METRE RUN

gave Canada another semi-finalist by finishing third in a heat Archie Williams of the United States took in 48 seconds, apparently under wraps.

The other Maple Leaf bidder, Marshal Limon of Vancouver, was eliminated when he finished fifth in a heat the American Jimmy Luvalle won at the fast clip of 47.6 seconds. Limon, student of the University of British Columbia, had reached the quarter-finals with a second place in his preliminary test.

William Roberts, British star, captured the first quarter-final in 47.7 seconds, pulling away from Haro'l Smallwood of the United States in the stretch to win by nearly six metres. Mario Lanzi of Italy was third, shutting out the South African star, Denis Shore.

REWARD OF $1,000 OUT FOR FIREBUGS

Ontario Will Also Prosecute For "Criminal Negligence" In Ravaging Of North

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—The Ontario Government last night offered a reward for the arrest and conviction of unknown persons who are alleged to have deliberately set some of the recent forest fires which have been ravaging the North of the Province.

The reward is for $1,000, and will be advertised today. The advertisements indicate that the promised prosecution will be directed at "criminal negligence" as well as deliberate arson in the northern timberland.

The arson charges indirectly set out in the Government reward announcement were amplified by Premier Hepburn.

It is common knowledge in the Northland, said Mr. Hepburn, that each year's crop of forest fires contains a fair percentage that are the direct result of arson. This year, he added, was no exception to the rule, but the results were much more disastrous because under-dry forests permitted the flames to spread fast, far and destructively.

"Definite Evidence."

The Premier said that "definite evidence many fires were deliberately set led us to post the reward.

Yesterday's move is reported to be the first big Government action against alleged arson in the Northern forests in many years.

Charles W. Cox, Port Arthur lumberman and M.L.A., hinted in the Legislature last spring that there was some incendiarism in the Northern timberland. When fires began to lap up the timber during the conflagrations of this July more arson charges were made in the North. These finally culminated in yesterday's announcement at Queen's Park.

Shop Girls, Young Workers Rally as Spanish Government Arms Citizens

When the government of Spain decided to issue arms to loyal citizens, it was the youth of the land who responded. Shop girls and young workers rushed to the defence of the People's government against the Fascist rebellion. The pictures ABOVE show, LEFT, young "Popular Frontists" operating machine-guns and automatic rifles near Madrid. CENTRE, an automatic revolver stuck in her belt, this woman leader of the women's militia presents an excellent character study. RIGHT, shop girls who rallied to their government are seen leaving Montana barracks in Madrid after they had received arms from military authorities. They joined the government army which attacked rebel troops in the mountain passes north of the capital.

Players Have Just As Much Natural Ability But Don't Play Game

BLAMES OUTFIELDERS

DETROIT, Aug. 6—Ball players of today may have just as much natural ability as those of twenty years ago, but they don't play the game up to the hilt. The age of hustling seems to have passed.

"When I was managing in the minor leagues, I used to tell the boys that if they did not run out batted balls, or if they missed a bit and run signal they never would be accepted in the big show," says Del Baker, Detroit Tigers coach.

"They won't tolerate that kind of stuff up there,' I told them. I believed that I knew what I was talking about because I remember having seen players fined, reprimanded, and released for missing a signal or loafing on the way to first.

"You can imagine my surprise, when I came back as a coach in 1933, to see how lax big leaguers had become. Now they miss signals every day and do all manner of loafing without anything being said about it. It's all taken as part of the game."

Blames Outfielders.

Baker also finds a difference in fielding alertness between 1915, when he caught for the Tigers, and the sluggish and oftentimes bored-some present.

"I recall seeing a play at Fenway Park, Boston, that never happens and more,' asserts the Oregon farmer who is expected to permanently succeed the incapacitated Cochrane as field marshal of the Navin Field forces in 1937.

"Oscar Vitt, then playing third base for the Tigers, was on second with Ty Cobb at bat. Ty Taked a bunt to draw in Larry Gardner, the Red Sox third baseman, and make it easier for Vitt to steal.

"Forest Cady was catching for Boston. He started to throw, but when he saw that third was uncovered, he tried to hold the ball. It slipped out of his hand and carried into left field, but Duffy Lewis, playing left field, picked up the ball and threw him out at the plate.

"In those days outfielders backed up every play. Now, partly because of the lively ball and partly because of laziness, they lay back and let base runners go to town."

Get Base Hits

Charley Dressen, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, agrees with Baker.

"Ball players are base hit crazy today," declares Dressen, "All most of them think of is their batting average. If the average player hits .300 or more, he has had a good year in his own estimation. That is all he talks to you about. He conveniently overlooks fumbles, poor throws, and skulls."

With major league material as scarce as it is, managers can do little to change the attitude of the athletes. Yearly it becomes more evident that the prime repulse of a field leader is his ability to baby his stars. Joe Cronin's problem with the collection of high-salaried temperament assembled by Eddie Collins in Boston is a concrete example.

"They're still trying to get that important money," explains Cronin, discussing the surprising showing of the Washington Senators and the Chicago Sox this season.

WESTERNERS LEAD FOR GOLF TITLE

Twelve Men Of The Sixteen Entering Fourth Round Come From West

WINNIPEG, Aug. 6 (CP).—Western Canada tossed the gauntlet into the golf ring to-day, sending 12 men into the fourth round of the National Amateur tournament as the field narrowed to 16 contenders for "Sandy" Somerville's title.

The London Hunt Club Scot continued in search of his sixth Dominion championship, but he was deserted by most of the figures prominent in eastern links forums. Only "Sonny" Adams of Toronto and Joe Thompson of Hamilton, Ont. remained to support Somerville's in the east's bid for continued golf rule.

Completing the list of challengers for the Grey Cup was the lone surviving American, regarded a dangerous contender, Fred Haas of New Orleans, fifth ranking in United States amateur golfdom, cut par to pieces on the St. Charles Country Club course yesterday as he smashed through two rounds. He had a 69 in the afternoon, four under the standard.

Black and his fellow townsman, Stan Leonard, stand as two of the outstanding threats to Somerville's reign. Leonard's 69 in the second round was too much for Bill Taylor and the Montrealer went out, 3 and 1.

Because a family in Dundee, Scotland, insisting on having 15 cats and a pigeon in the house, neighbors compelled the landlord to order it to vacate.

CITY OF CADIZ SAID CAPTURED BY LOYALISTS

No Quarter Shown By Either Side In Bloody Engagement

AERIAL WAR REDOUBLED

Eight Nations Now Agree In Principle To Keep Hands Out Of Conflict

By Ramon Blardony
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

MADRID, Aug. 6.— The city of Cadiz, in extreme Southern Spain, unofficially was reported to-day to have fallen before a bitter attack by government forces against some of Gen. Francisco Franco's shock insurrectionist troops.

As loyalists prepared for what they hoped would be a final crushing blow to the Fascist cause in the Guadarrama mountains north of Madrid, disclosures of an astounding nature as to the plan for the revolution were made in the capital.

Government officials, puzzled by the strength of rebel positions in the Guadarramas, said they had learned of indications that Jose Gil Robles, as Minister of War, had laid plans last fall for the military strategy of the revolution. The officials said he had ordered manoeuvres in the Guadarrama area to acquaint troops loyal to him with every inch of the ground. They added bomb proof gun emplacements had been started during the manoeuvres.

(Gil Robles at the start of the revolution, from Biarritz, France, insisted he was on vacation and had no part in the attempt to overthrow the government.

2,000 Rebels Surrender

AT REBEL HEADQUARTERS, Burgos, Spain, Aug. 6.—Surrender of 2,000 rebels on the Aragon front today opened the road for a loyal advance on the rebel strongholds of Zaragoza and Barcelona advices said.

Simultaneously the Liberal government announced the launching of a war by air "without mercy" against the revolutionaries.

Government troops were reported within 11 miles of Zaragoza in their drive to smash the Fascists in Northern Spain and crush the threat of a rebel advance on Madrid from this area.

Governmet air forces, loaded with dead-dealing bombs, will carry on a relentless warfare against Pamplona, Vitoria, Burgos and other rebel strongholds throughout Spain, the newspaper "Prente Popular," official organ of San Sebastian Liberal authorities, announced.

The government plans to put into the air no less than 300 machines to crush the revolt.

The Fascists, too, are preparing for a war in the air which their commanders believe probably will prove decisive in quelling the revolution or overthrowing Madrid's Leftist government.

LONDON, Aug. 6 (CP Cable). — The international pact on hands-off-Spain is broadening its scope. Eight countries are now agreed in principle not to supply arms and munitions of war—France, Great Britain, Germany, Soviet Russia, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Czechoslovakia. The accession of Portugal is expected. The original French appeal was addressed only to Great Britain and Italy as Mediterranean powers.

France, it is intimated this afternoon, received the Italian acceptance with the greatest satisfaction.

Sources close to the government said the French Foreign Office, agitated for days over the possibility of a general European conflagration growing out of Spain's bloody civil war, would try immediately for a practical application of the neutrality policy.

Asks French Suggestions

Italy in her acceptance raised the question of possible methods of guaranteeing the neutrality pledge and asked for French suggestions. She also inquired as to wether such a pledge would bind not only the signatory government, but also their private industries.

Russia imposed two conditions in announcing her limited acceptance of the neutrality proposal. They were:

1.—Portugal must be included in the agreement.

2.—"Certain States" must halt immediately "all assistance given to the rebels."

The second Soviet limitation was interpreted in French official circles as a flat charge against Germany and Italy.

REV. D. M. SOLANDT TAKEN BY DEATH

United Church Book Steward Started Ministerial Career At Maynooth

TORONTO, August 5 (C.P.) — Rev. Donald M. Solandt, since 1932 book steward for United Church publications, died in hospital here to-day.

Dr. Solandt, born at Inverness, Que., was connected with Presbyterian Church publication for several years, continuing with the United Church after the union and succeeding to the stewardship in 1932.

Sixty-five years old, Dr. Solandt was educated at Inverness Academy and Queen's University, Kingston, Ont. He received a Doctor of Divnity degree from Manitoba University in 1905, five years after his graduation from Queen's.

In his college days, Dr. Solandt was an outstanding athlete, winning the all-round championship while at Queen's. He was ordained in 1902, and started his ministerial career in the mission fields of Maynooth and New Liskeard, Ont., later becoming pastor of the Firsh Congregational Church, Kingston.

In 1908 he went to Winnipeg as associate pastor to the late Rev. Dr. Duval, a Moderator of the Presbyterian Church. During the Great War he was managing secretary of the Manitoba Patriotic Fund and was responsible for the distribution of more than $6,000,000. He subsequently became temporary pensions commissioner for Manitoba and directed the expenditures of the Federal emergency budget there during 1930-31.

In 1920 he was appointed provincial inter-denominational organizer of the Forward Movement. He was also deputy chairman of the Council of Industry which aided in clearing the Winnipeg strike situation.

Dr. Solandt is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Edith Young, Ottawa; and two sons: Dr. Donald Y. Solandt, and Dr. Ormond M. Solandt, Toronto. The funeral service will be held Saturday, with Very Rev. Dr. George C. Pidgeon officiating.

NO TRACE OF GOLD

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(CP).—The glittering $20 "gold pieces" which Alex. Krunschy found in the East River yesterday were given a thorough going-over by a secret service operative who dashed any hopes of sudden wealth with the verdict of "counterfeit." "There probably isn't a trace of gold in the lot," said Henry Rodney, secret service man.

WEDDINGS

WALKER—WELCH

A wedding of considerable local interest took place at St. Thomas' Church, Balsam Lake, on Saturday, August 1st, when Enid Doris Welch, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Welch, of Minden, Ontario, was united in marriage to Donald James Walker, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, of Orillia. The bride is a niece of Mrs. C. Brownlee, of Stewart street, Peterborough, attended Normal School here and taught at S.S. No. 3 (McIntosh's School), in North Monaghan.

The ceremony, which took place quietly at ten o'clock in the morning, was solemnized by the Rev. R. Bonis of St. Paul's Church, Minden. Attendants were Miss Carol Welch, sister of the bride, and David Walker, brother of the bridegroom. Mrs. R. Quinn, of Orillia, sister of the bride, played the wedding music.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Walker left on a short motor trip to the Muskoka and Parry Sound districts. They will live at the Theobald apartments, Water street, Peterborough.

Y., solemnized at Mount Horeb Presbyterian Church in Rochester by the Rev. Robert J. Drysdale. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Lynn Callander, of Aylmer street north, Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. Callander and their daughter Ruth attended the wedding.

DUCKS PASS

Lad Carries Pet to Beach as Flaw in Law Falls to Bar Them.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(CP).—Life guards at the municipal beach in suburban Kenilworth pointed to the sign, "No pets allowed," when Bobby Moss showed up with Imogene, his duck.

But Imogene continued to enjoy her daily swim just the same, because, referring to the village ordinance, the guards learned the no-pet regulation mentioned dogs, but not ducks.

And the village board couldn't change the law until the regular September meeting.

Mrs. E. Thompson Returns From Two-Year Stay At Chesterfield Inlet

BANCROFT RECEPTION

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BANCROFT, August 6. — Mrs. E. Thompson, Douglas, Ont., returned home on Saturday after an absence of two years spent in Chesterfield Inlet, N.W.T., with her brother, Dr. L. D. Livingstone, F.R.G.S., and his wife (nee Miss Mabel Anderson of Campbellford).

There was a re-union on Sunday at Mrs. Thompson's cottage, Lake Dore, to welcome her home. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Joynt and family of Bancroft, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Moore and family, Pembroke, Mr. and Mrs. L. MacGregor of Douglas, Misses Eileen and Marguerite and Mr. Alvin Bowes, Bresaylor, Sask., Mrs. H. Livingstone and N. H. Livingstone of Douglas, and many others were present.

"In August, 1934, when I first saw Chesterfield I though I had never seen a more drab landscape," Mrs. Thompson told The Examiner. "Rolling hills composed of bare rock with no trees or shrubs as far as one could see inland and behind us the cold waters of Hudson Bay. However, in this small place, with only a few white people, it did not take long to become acquainted. Everyone was so glad to see a new face that we were invited out every night and had to tell everything we could remember about Ontario.

In September, Miss Mabel Anderson came in on the Fort Severn, and she and Dr. Livingston were married by the Anglican missionary from Baker Lake. As it was the first wedding he had ever conducted, he was rather nervous, and it is rarely that there is a wedding among the white people, so it was quite an event, and occasioned many celebrations. The winter is very long and cold. Storms come up suddenly and in a blizzard you can easily pass 50 feet from your house and never see it. The first winter I was there a priest from the mission got lost in a blizzard and was never found.

The spring is beautiful and even more joyously welcomed than here in Ontario. The summer is very hot, days 22 hours long, with plenty of mosquitoes, and the growth is very rapid. You can notice the difference day by day. There are many varieties of flowers and plants, many of them quite familiar. There are daisies, dandelions, and buttercups which appear the same as their southern brethren except in size. I have a collection of 50 different Arctic plants mounted.

In winter evenings the men played bridge at Woodrow's (the operator) and the women (four of us) gathered at our place. This helped to pass the time. Saturday night was one to which we looked forward as on that night our messages were received. We would all gather at Woodrow's and everything would be absolutely quiet while we picked up this connecting link with the outside world. Of course, we had wireless connections all the time via Churchill, but the longer newsy messages given by the Radio Commission seemed to bring us nearer home.

At Christmas all the white population gathered together for their dinner. Each one donated something toward the feast. At Christmas and New Year's the natives, with their howling dogs, gathered from miles around to be treated and feted at the parties given by various citizens. We got our mail on the Severn during August and September, and its first trip was eagerly and impatiently awaited.

The ice went out of Hudson Bay about the first week in July, and the Pope Pius, mission schooner, came up to Chesterfield, and on the 22nd we left for Churchill—Mrs. Woodrow, the radio operator's wife and her two children and myself. We reached Churchill on July 24, and on July 28 left for the East."

Mrs. Thompson brought many souvenirs and gifts from the North, among them being novelties carved from ivory, deer horns and musk-ox horn, slippers of deer skin, and a genuine Eskimo kyak (canoe).

Mrs. L. D. Livingstone expects to come down on the Severn on its first trip on August 5.

BUILDING PLANE FOR STRATOSPHERE

New Type Passenger Craft Expected To Cruise Over 20,000 Feet Up

CHICAGO, August 6. — A new type airplane designed for passenger flights through the "sub-stratosphere" was almost completed today.

It was being built by the Transcontinental and Western Air Lines for tests in the rarified air layer in which the late Wiley Post was experimenting before he and Will Rogers fell to death in Alaska a year ago.

The ship was designed for travel at altitudes between 20,000 and 30,000 feet. Most air passenger transports now fly at 6,000 to 12,000 feet.

At the higher level, airmen said, there is no "weather." Clouds are far below. Storms do not go that high. Air resistance is less, so that a ship which could travel 200 miles an hour at 10,000 feet could speed up to 250 miles at 25,000 feet.

Vibration is also reduced and passenger travel would be much smoother.

ALL CREAMERY BUTTER GRADES TO BE MARKED

Department Of Agriculture Gives Merchants Till Sept. 1 To Sell Present Stock

FOUR CLASSES

Ruling Makes Ontario Fifth Province With Practice In Force

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP).—The Department of Agriculture announced to-day all packages of creamery butter sold to consumers in Ontario must be marked with grade numbers starting next Sept. 1, bringing to five the number of provinces in which the practice is in force.

Grade-marking of creamery butter, effective for more than a year in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, is provided for in regulations 27 and 28 of the Dairy Industry Act of Canada. Ontario implemented it at the last Legislature session, and the law was proclaimed in the last issue of the Canada Gazette, fixing the effective date as Aug. 15th.

The Department of Agriculture, however, decided to postpone effectiveness of the law a fortnight to give merchants a chance to clear stocks of unmarked butter and to become familiar with workings of the law.

The grade marks must be printed on the packages in letters at least one-quarter inch high. The grades are first, second, third and no grade.

It is expected the four provinces in which creamery package butter is not sold by grade will pass later the necessary legislation to make the regulations effective.

About 25 per cent. of the creamery butter made in Canada last year, a total of 238,864,600 pounds, was produced in Ontario.

FATIGUE DIET

New Culinary Routine Has Hollywood Stars Interested.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., August 6 (A.P.). — And now it's the "fatigue diet" that has Hollywood's movie stars interested.

The routine calls for fruit juice every day; a mixture of sauerkraut juice and tomato juice every third day; not less than one raw pear per day, and preferably three, unskinned; only one cup of coffee per day, taken black, with plenty of sugar.

"And no solid food at all," she added.

ABERHART SENDS COVENANT FORMS TO MANUFACTURERS

Ask Pledge To Reduce Cost Of Production—Get Gov'ts Fullest Co-operation

GIVE VALUABLE SURVEY

EDMONTON, Aug. 6.—(CP). — Copies of the forms and the covenant to be signed by manufacturers or processors—final phase of the Alberta Social Credit Government's projected registration of citizens preparatory to payment of basic dividends—were released here to-day by Premier Aberhart.

The form or questionnaire, similar to those already given out for individuals, farmers or producers and retailers, will discover for the province information about manufacturers' or processors' business, and the province in planning supply of goods and produce required.

Guarantees given each other by the manufacturer or producer and the Government are contained in the covenant which will be retained by the manufacturer or producer.

Manufacturers or producers signing the covenant will promise the Government "to make every effort to reduce cost of production wherever possible, and also to produce as much as possible of goods or products for consumption in Alberta."

Another promise they must make is "to deposit, in case a bonus is given in any sale of surplus products, the proceeds of the sale together with the bonus in the credit house of the Alberta Government."

They are asked also "to co-operate with the Alberta Government in planning the supply of goods and produce required for the province as efficiently as possible."

Government Assistance.

The Government in return promises to assist the manufacturers or processors in many ways, including granting "interest-free" loans, organization of agencies and commission merchants, principally outside the province, to facilitate purchase of goods and raw materials, and granting of bonuses so the manufacturer or producer may compete in the world's markets.

Premier Aberhart said the form would disclose the volume and capacity of firms operating at present in Alberta, and also show what goods they can produce so the Government will know what goods are not produced in the province. Thus the Government will realize what firms it should encourage to establish plants in Alberta.

The questionnaire asks the source of the manufacturer's raw material and the amount bought in Alberta and outside the province. Destination of the finished product and the percentage inside and outside the province is requested.

No More Piles

Get Quick, Pleasant Relief.

Probably not one person in ten knows the cause of piles is inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about piles and is the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give more than temporary relief—they do not remove the cause.

Your piles can not be relieved until you have corrected the condition which causes them. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who early in his professional life made many tests to relieve piles by correcting the cause. His medicine succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, eases the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

So if you have failed to get the relief you want from your sore, painful piles, and would like to give HEM-ROID a trial, you have our promise to return your money, if just one bottle of this prescription does not give pleasing results. McDermid & Jury and Pond's Drug Stores or any druggist can supply you with the genuine HEM-ROID.

On Monday a chimney fire in the village gave the residents an uneasy half hour, but was extinguished without any damage. On Tuesday a grass fire west of the Sixth Line gave many people a bad scare. With a very high wind blowing and no water available, it looked bad. It was conquered by the first few men who arrived after a desperate fight. MILLBROOK W.A. HOLDS MEETING

Society Will Cater For Officers' Mess Banquet On September 11th

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Aug. 6.—Mrs. J. Albert Brown kindly gave the use of her home for the August meeting of the Woman's Association of St. Andrew's Church on Tuesday, the president, Mrs. F. J. Smith, occupying the chair.

Mrs. George Fallis, who was responsible for the "travelling shirt" during July, reported the territory covered. Last year the society realized fifteen dollars from this means of raising money each member being asked to sew on a patch with her contribution underneath. Communications were read by the secretary from Mrs. J. Hatherly, Mrs. H. C. Argue and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, acknowledging cards of sympathy sent at the time of bereavement in their respective families.

The president notified the members that the society has been asked to cater for an officers mess banquet to be held in the Armouries on September 11, at fifty cents per plate, and on motion of Mrs. J. McKnight and Mrs. J. Rowland, it was decided to carry on with the undertaking.

Cards of sympathy will be sent Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Jones, of Cardinal, formerly of Millbrook, who has recently lost a sister, and also to Mrs. J. H. McKnight, a new member, who has likewise suffered bereavement in her family connection.

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 1936

King Edward At Vimy Memorial

Ceremonies last many hours, but each one has a fleeting few seconds in which a single action or a few words epitomize all the symbolism and richness of the occasion. Such a moment is this. King Edward, on the speaker's platform at Vimy Ridge, has pulled the cord. It dangles in the air like a strand of a woman's hair. The flag of Great Britain unfolds from the heroic memorial to Canada's war dead, on the site of one of the most memorabl battles of the World War. France later deeded the hallowed ground to the Canadian Government.

Too Many Being Trained For White-Collar Jobs

McArthur Claims Millions Wasted Trying To Fit "Square Pegs In Round Holes"

ONTARIO SYSTEM WRONG

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—(CP).—Dr. Duncan McArthur, Deputy Minister of Education, told teachers attending summer school at a banquet here last night, millions of dollars were being wasted in Ontario's school system through trying to fit "square pegs into round holes."

"Basically," he said, "the waste can be attributed to mistaken public attitudes on the meaning of education and on the place it should occupy in public life. Universities are forced to adopt lower standards because there are hundreds of students in attendance who should not be there. It is in the public schools that some selection should be made.

"There is nothing so detrimental to the cause of education in Ontario as the utterly false social standard which says there is something demeaning, degrading in manual labor. We are training too many for white-collar jobs."

Nova Scotia City Ask Airway Terminus

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 (CP)—Official comment was withheld to-day on a request from Sydney, N.S., that the Canadian terminus of the proposed trans-Atlantic air service be established there, but from usuall well-informed sources it was learned Sydney was not among the points being considered for a terminal airport.

It was said while nothing had been decided, Montreal's St. Hubert airport probably would be used as a terminal point during the early stages of the service, at least, owing to its quick accessibility from New York, Detroit, Chicago and other large aviation centres.

MOUNTAIN BATTLE RAGES UNBROKEN WITH FEW GAINS

Both Loyalists And Rebels Speed Reinforcements For "Crushing Blow"

ACTION IN STRAITS

By Ramon Blardony
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

MADRID, Aug. 6—Loyalist troops thrust lines of steel into defensive mountain passes today for a "final crushing blow to Fascist enemies."

The government sent reinforcements into the Guadarrama mountain gateways in expectation of a three-way advance to halt the rebel march to Madrid.

The government announced the deathof five rebel generals and capture of 11 others. Officials hope was expressed the military rebellion would soon be suppressed.

On the northern side of the mountainous front, rebels moved men and arms into position in an equally vigorous preparation for prospective battle.

Few Advances.

Frsh force was reported for the rebel drive in reinforcements from the south. Advices from Gibraltar described the landing of 2,000 Fascist soldiers on the mainland after a running sea-and-air fight from Ceuta, Spanish Morocco.

An insurgent destroyer engaged a loyal destroyer in the foggy Straits as war planes accompanying the rebel troops attempted to bomb the government vessel.

Cannon from Ceuta forts added their missiles to the clash. One shell from one of the ships was declared to have landed on a racetrack in British territory The loyal craft eventually retired and the troops disembarked.

On the dawn of the 20th day of the Fascist revolt, the Government asserted it had captured the provinces of Catalonia, Valencia, Murcia, Malaga, Ciudad Real, Guadalajara, Badajoz, and the northern resort city of San Sebastian.

HEAVY SMOKE PALL BLANKETS NORTH

Parry Sound Forestry Officials Report Situation Worst In History

PARRY SOUND, Ont. Aug. 6.—(CP). — A heavy pall of smoke hangs over the town to-day as the result of more than 25 bush fires burning in the district. It is one of the most serious situations in the history of the Parry Sound branch of the Ontario Department of Forestry, requiring the services of 250 extra firefighters.

Chief Forest Ranger A. E. Whytall expressed the belief many of the 25 fires, ranging in size from one to 3,000 acres, are of incendiary origin and one man is now under arrest charged with setting a 1,000-acre fire in Conger Township, near Barnesdale. Other arrests are expected shortly.

"Indications are that many small fires have been set," said Mr. Whytall, "and it is our intention to make a thorough inquiry into this phase and punish the offenders severely."

In Mowat Township, near Pakesley, a 2,000-acre fire is raging under control, while in Blair over 3,000 acres of bush are burning out of control. At Byng Inlet and Britt are several bush fires.

Near Mactier and Moon River, Freeman Township, two fires are reported covering over 3,000 acres.

HOLLAND'S QUEEN RUMORED READY ABDICATE THRONE

Said Ready To Give Daughter Crown On Event Of Marriage To Swedish Prince

CHARLES DENIES IT

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(AP). — Democratic, thrifty Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands may end 36 years of ruling her country next year.

The end of her reign was predicted by the London Daily Herald and will "probably" occur after the projected marriage of her buxom daughter, Princess Juliana, to Prince Charles of Sweden. The prince himself flatly denied he was engaged to marry the Netherlands princess.

The London newspaper declared the queen "has decided to abdicate" and at the same time forecast announcement of the engagement of Juliana and Charles.

The way for the royal marriage has been cleared, the Herald asserted, by a proposed amendment to the Dutch constitution. This new law would reduce the queen's civil income by approximately $135,000 annually in favor of any prince consort.

The prediction of the newspaper added Juliana will succeed to the throne, taking Charles as her consort.

In Amsterdam neither official confirmation nor denial could be obtained to the declaration. Informed quarters asserted the belief such action, however, was unlikely.

Wilhelmina, daughter of King Wilhelm III. and Princess Emma, his second wife, succeeded to the Netherlands throne in 1890 when she was but 10.

Juliana is the only child of Queen Wilhelmina and her prince consort, the late Prince Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. He died July 5, 1934.

Fuel Head Says Adjustments Made When He Proposed To Import Own Coal

QUEBEC, Aug. 6 (CP).—Patrick Gingras of the National Fuel Syndicate, told the Tory Royal Commission today he obtained price adjustments between his company and Canadian Import Company by threatening to import his own coal. The commission headed by Dr. H. M. Tory of Ottawa, is probing the Canadian anthracite situation.

Mr. Gingras said adjustments in prices were between himself and Canadian Import Company. These were made from time to time and he obtained them by threatening to import his own coal. He declined to say whether he obtained lower prices than other competitors.

Ask by Commission Counsel Bernard Bissonette if he would make money by importing his own coal, Mr. Gingras said he thought so.

C.C.F. VOTES DOWN POLITICAL HOOK-UP WITH COMMUNISTS

Approves However Co-operation With Them And Others On Economic Issues

CONDEMN SALES TAX

TORONTO, August 5 (C.P.) — The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation subscribed to-day to a two-fold national policy opposing political allegiance with the Communists and other groups, but approving co-operation on economic issues.

The national convention of the party, which ended here last night, endorsed the two resolutions presented by the national council on the United Front issue concerning relations with other political organizations.

The delegates were almost unanimous in their decision rejecting political affiliation, when they upheld the resolution recommending such action by vote of 88 to 7. There were no dissenting votes on the motion for economic co-operation for protection of civil liberties and defence of the unemployed.

Formulating a public finance policy, the convention declared for a debt redemption levy on accumulated wealth over $35,000 in order to reduce the principal of government debts in Canada.

Sales Tax "Outrageous Levy"

Opposition to the sales tax was voiced and condemnation was levelled "at outrageous levey on sales imposed by the present Federal Liberal Government and the Social Credit Government of Alberta, a levy designed to soak the consumer."

Amendment to the British North America Act was recomemnded with the resolution stating "the plea of lack of constitutional power must cease to be an excuse for the toleration of shocking conditions in farms, factories and offices."

The foreign policy resolution urging neutrality was passed, as were the resolutions on banking and credit control, unemployment, agriculture, and housing.

Fried Speckled Trout Real Vacation Treat

GIVES RECIPES

By MARY MOORE

If I tell you that a little one got away too, maybe you will believe I hooked a big fish, too—but I did not land him.

We were trout fishing—brook trout fishing—my very first venture with a trout stream. I was forewarned about the mosquitoes and that there would be mud and marshy spots. We were up at dawn. I wore slacks with my husband's woolen socks pulled over them at the ankles—rubbers over running shoes—the heels did not fit—one of those thick while pullover sweaters (the one I wear swilling in the winter) and leather gloves and a green fisherman's hat. A female Ichabod Crane if there ever was one. I thought my armor was osquitoproof but I lacked a mask. They bit my ears and cheeks. I had to let them too, many a time when I felt a nibble and had to be still, but I cannot blame the mosquitoes for the trout I lost.

I was bending low under some branches and had my line below soe scum-covered water behind a fallen log—when I felt the tug and quickly jerked my line—my pole was stopped sharply by the overhanging branches and the big beauty flopped off. I could have wept for a moment, but there was a lot of satisfaction in even seeing him.

The saller one I landed but I was not enough in grabbing him, and he flooped back into the water.

Never mind—next year those sorry lessons will land me one—for I certainly am going back.

But we did have two, to divide among five of us—I did not catch them but my considerate companion did, and generously gave them to e.

Should I contain my ecstacies over their flavor—is there one of you who has not tasted brook trout? They are beautiful to look at too with their rows of magenta speckles. We merely rolled them in corn meal and fried them in butter over our camp fire (if the minor business of cooking them has any place on a cookery page!). Everybody had two delicious bites.

Those fish came from a mountain stream—but the other fish we had on our trip were ocean fish and we did not catch them. Being inlanders, The Head of the Caravan suggested that we eat as much sea food as possible when we were on the sea coast—so the feeds of crab, both a soft shell friend in deep fat and au gratin; scallops; steamed clams from the shell, and friend swordfish will never be forgotten.

My experience with clams fresh from the water was all theoretical. But I did know if I was near enough to a sandy beach when they were accessible we would have a clam bake—well we did, and they were grand, but I think I like the steamed clams best—maybe I was hungrier.

STEAMED CLAMS

For four people buy 2 quarts of "steaers" (small clams), wash them in several waters until they are clean of sand and sea water. Put the in a large kettle and add ½ cup of boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt, and cover and quickly bring to boiling point. The liquid in the shells boils out and it all bubbles to the top of the plot—lowers the heat and let them boil up like this three times, when the shells will have opened about ½ inch, and clams have a cooked opaque appearance. These must be server immediately—using the fingers to loosen the dark looking neck and headpiece. Dip in butter and sprinkle with salt and eat as many and as fast as you can. That is not the etiquette of clam eating—but practical, and how we did it. The broth left in the pot should be strained through double cheesecloth and drunk at the same meal.

SWORDFISH FACTS

I have seen moving pictures of swordfish being landed by strong and expert game fishermen, but did not know that they were such delicacies to eat. On the New England coasts in the shining clean fish soup where we bought the clams I saw these large steaks of fish about 12 inches long that look like breast of chicken meat—and enquired about them. The chap told me in a soft New England voice, that "It's sword, Madam—45 cents a pound." Well, if price means anything it should be good. So next day we went back and purchased two slices nearly an inch thick. Tomatoes are a good accompaniment for almost any other fish so I served them with it and fried it rolled in cornmeal and in bacon—for we were still camping you know. Everybody in the party said it was the best meal yet. The fish had the texture of fine salmon, but the flavor was delicate and a little like tuna. Certainly a discovery.

We ate mainly fish and fruit in New England—their blueberries and raspberries being the largest and finest I have ever tasted and I dislike being disloyal to our own fine berry crop.

I do think that Vermont maple syrup and maple sugar products are over-rated though, for they certainly seem insipid when compared to our Quebec and Ontario products.

Out of duty to my profession I still manfully struggle with Avocado Pears every time I see a number of them to choose from—this time being my fifth attempt, they tasted better than ever before—they are no doubt an acquired taste. Liberally dessed with mayonnaise they almost tasted good. Be sure, if this tempts you to try them again—to select one that is ripe enough to peel. They are quite distasteful when the flash immediately under the skin is green. They should be icy cold.

I hope your vacation was as happy, or if it is still to come will be, as happy as mine and that your coat of tan is as brown.

One great satisfaction in visiting the sea coast is that if you are only a middling swimmer the salt water makes you feel so buoyant you imagine you are getting actually good. (I describe myself.)

Fashion Service

You'll love this frock with its pretty tied neck and buttoned shoulders. It's just one of those cool delights for summer in town or in the country.

There are hosts of other mediums for this simple to sew frock. Take for instance, dotted swiss, one of the sheer cotton voile prints or tub silks would be charming.

Style No. 3127 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3⅞ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 35-inch contrasting for belt.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

"Teacher to Teachers"

IS SMALL SLAM POSSIBLE

An Elkhart, Ind., inquirer asks if East can make a small slam at hearts. The opening lead being the Ace of clubs, which was followed by the 9 of clubs.

Bidding went: South, 1-No Trump; West, doubled, intending to support either minor suit bid by partner, to support hearts, if bid or to show diamonds in case partner responded with spades; East, 2-Spades, as might have been expected; West, 3-Diamonds; East, 3-Hearts; West, 6-Hearts — an amazing jump; South doubled. Neither side was vulnerable.

The opening lead was the Ace of clubs. To insure entry to his own hand, declarer underplayed dummy's J. Probably that was disconcerting to the doubler, but he led his 9 of clubs, having nothing better to do. Declarer was in with his 10. So far East played the hand perfectly. Somewhere later he fell down, and failed to fulfill his doubled contract. We will play the hand in the normal way it should have gone after the second trick.

Lead the J of hearts. Probably the doubler will not cover. For the moment we will assume that he passes the trick, and that the J holds. Lead the only diamond. Finesse the Q. It will hold the trick. Lead back a small diamond and ruff in declarer's hand. Lead the 8 of hearts. If South covers with the 9, win with dummy's 10. Lead a low diamond and ruff with declarer's K. The diamonds are now established. Lead the K of spades. Whether or not South plays the Ace, ruff with dummy's lowest trump. Lead dummy's winning trump, picking up South's last trump. All the cards in dummy are good. These consist of two good diamonds and two good clubs, giving declarer his 12 tricks total.

Suppost that South covers the J of hearts, with his Q, at the third lead. That will not in the least interfere with the general order of play. It will only slightly alter the next few plays. Win with dummy's Ace of hearts. Lead back a low trump from dummy. Win with declarer's K. Lead the 2 of diamonds. Unless South plays his K, win with dummy's Q. Lead a low diamond back. Ruff with one of the two trumps left declarer. Lead a club. Win in dummy. Lead a low diamond. Ruff with declarer's last trump, leaving dummy's diamonds established. Lead the K of spades. Have dummy ruff with its lower trump. Lead the 10 of hearts, picking up South's last trump. The two diamonds and K of clubs left in dummy will win the last three tricks and give declarer his 12 tricks, as before.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

IT is not until we have passed through the furnace, that we are made to know how much dross there is in our composition.—Colton.

Dear Friends:

Have you ever thought of the many things that have to be refined before they are any good? The oil that comes out of the ground is of no use to anyone in its crude state, but when the refining process has got in its work, then how many uses there are for it.

Flowers, when allowed to grow wild, do not attain their full beauty, neither can they live long when they are cut or plucked, but, when they are cultivated or refined, how much nicer they are.

None of us like a vulgar person, because as a rule they are loud in speech, having no restraint on their tongues, and also speak about things that should never be mentioned. They also are unrefined because they are untrained. We cannot let a child grow up without a certain amount of training, pruning away their bad habits, learning them how to control their tempers and their emotions, in other words refining them.

And so it is with us as we go through life. The One who made us wants us to be clear of the dross that is part of the things we have accumulated during our journey through life, and so he refines us with one thing and another.

Sometimes we think that this refining is carried a little too far, that we might have been just as good without all this sorrow and tribulation and tears. But we could have shown no signs of refinement else we would not have had to go through the mill.

All of us have a tendency to take the easiest road, to lean back and look for praise when we have done a little good, not realizing that life is a battle from the day we were born, and so He sends us something to test our mettle. It is no detriment to go down, where the trouble begins is when we stay down.

What we must do, is to clear our eyes of tears, shake our shoulders free of the burden of discouragement, and stand up to life, unashamed and unafraid. We will never do it if we are continually looking backward. All things in life tend to go in a forward direction, never can the clock turn backward, and when we do not keep our thoughts from straying back to the past, then we are holding ourselves and the rest of the world back.

And so, if life has been refining you, if tears and loneliness and sorrow have been your portion for awhile, just think that the Great Architect has work for you to do, that you cannot do in your unrefined state.

A horse must be broken to the harness before he can be used, a dog must be trained or housebroken, a cow who will not let itself be milked is soon sent to the butcher, and a child who is unrefined is not welcome anywhere.

Just as a rosebush must be pruned, so must we also be pruned of the habits that are holding us back. A car must have brakes else we have no control over it, and it is very evident that a great many people have no brakes as far as temper and habits are concerned.

So let us not be like a puppy on a leash, digging our feet into the ground and becoming stubborn and unruly because this refining of our lives is going on. One day we shall know all about it, so let us do the best we can, realizing that God never bothers with any but the worthwhile people, and that to do the things He wants us to do, the dross must be cleared away.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

"SAN FRANCISCO"

The romance of a country parson's daughter with a nightingale in her throat and the "selfish, sinful, adorable scoundrel" who runs the Paradise Cafe, a famous honky-tonk of San Francisco's Barbary Coast, in the days when the mighty earthquake wrecked the Golden Gate city. Here is Jeanette MacDonald at her glorious singing best, and Clark Gable, the sceen's gift to women, playing opposite her, in a picture that reaches the heights in emotional appeal, dramatic interest and thrills.

The earthquake pictures are terrifying and magnificent. Into the ribald gaiety of the cafe comes the rumble of thunder and the crash of lightning, as a prelude to terrific scenes when chasms in the earth open, buildings topple and fire adds its scourge of torment, while fear-maddened crowds race through the streets.

Jeanette MacDonald is superb in the role of Mary Blake, the girl with the golden voice who comes to the great city and can secure a job only in the cheap dive run by Blackie Norton (Clark Gable). Then Jack Burley (Jack Holt), impresario of the Tivoli Opera House, finds her and offers her a contract, under which she makes her first appearance as Marguerite in "Faust." From singing "San Francisco" in a get-up like a lampshade in Norton's cafe, she graduates to opera under Burley's guidance, and accepts his offer of marriage, after his mother (a great old lady played wonderfully by Jessie Ralph), tells her that her love for Norton is only a mirage and a menace. Again, however, romance triumphs over reason, and she goes back to the Paradise, after Blackie speaks of marriage. But Father Mullin (it is doubtful if Spencer Tracy, that grand actor, ever had a better role than this), takes her away from Norton.

Then comes the earthquake and the finale, with the homeless crowds singing the Battle Hymn of the Republic led by Mary's glorious voice.

It is a magnificent picture that will linger long in the memory. It follows the new fashion of length, being nearly three hours in the making, and it is decidedly a picture for juniors as well as seniors. There is nothing unsavory about "San Francisco," with its romance and drama and thrills."

Miss Ruth Hamilton To Marry on Saturday.

Of local and district interest is the following note from the Toronto press regarding Miss Ruth Hamilton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Hamilton of Bethany, whose courageous conduct during a recent fire at the Aklavik Hospital excited public interest.

"A northland romance which started in the tiny hospital at Aklavik, N.W.T., close to the Arctic Ocean, will be culminated in Edmonton, Alberta, Saturday, with the marriage of Miss Ruth Hamilton, nurse at the hospital, and George Patterson, a patient.

"Graduate of a Toronto hospital, Miss Hamilton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Hamilton of Bethany, Ont., cared for Mr. Patterson when he was brought to the hospital with leg injuries. While he was there, the late Will Rogers, screen and stage comedian who was touring the north, presented to him a $100 cheque because the visitor admired the courage of the patient, whose leg had been amputated because of an injury suffered when it was caught in the hawser of a northland boat.

"Following the marriage, the couple will reside at Waterways, Alta. Miss Hamilton has been visiting in the east since a fire destroyed the Aklavik Hospital last April."

The mock wedding which was an interesting part of the program was carried out by small children. Little Donald Fitzsimmons, attired in regulation "tails" and high hat, with a smart boutonniere, was the bridegroom, with small Barabara Hall as the bride, wearing a pink frock, white veil and orange blossoms, and carrying a pretty nosegay. Three tiny girls were the bridesmaids: Shirley Fitzsimmons, Dorothy Carr and Jeanie Workman of Lindsay, dressed in pink with large pink hats and lovely bouquets of flowers. Miss Mary Carr acted as the clergyman.

Later, a program was provided by the children, with tap dancing and guitar playing by Shirley Fitzsimmons, and songs by Barbara Hall, Donald Fitzsimmons and Jeanie Workman. Refreshments were served later.

Napanee Defeats Kingston Ponies 4 Runs to 2

TOMMY POINTER STRIKES OUT 12 IN CLOSE GAME

Napanee Scores Two In Opening Frame When They Get To Jamieson

ONLY TWO ERRORS

NAPANEE, Aug. 5.—(CP)—Hanging tenaciously to a chance of gaining a playoff berth, Napanee Gibbards advanced closer yesterday when they defeated Kingston Ponies 4 to 2 in a Central Ontario Baseball League senior game here. Tom Pointer, Napanee left-hander, was almost unbeatable in the pinches, striking out 12.

Napanee scored a pair in the opening inning when they got to Jamieson for three hits, including a triple by Prout. Kingston had their best scoring chance in the ninth when they had the bases loaded and one out, but Pointer steadied to retire the side.

Prout and Brennen, each with three safeties, including extra base blows, led the Napanee hitters, while Compeau and Arniel had two each for Kingston. The score:

Foley And Starr Only Ones Hitting More Than .300 At Present

SEVERAL IN SLUMP

The official batting average of the local club to date—after 19 of their 24 C.O.B.L. scheduled games have been played—show the Petes down to a .250 mark. After playing six games, they were hitting a .241 clip, and this was swelled to .275 when 12 games were completed. But in recent weeks, the club average has shrunk to .250, back of both Oshawa and Napanee in club hitting. The only ones hitting above .300 are Foley with .395 for nine games, and Starr with .339 in 15 contests. Such regulars as Kearns, Whatley and Burton have slumped considerably since the halfway post. The up-to-date averages, compiled from official box scores, follow—with the exception of players taking part in three games or less:

Player	G	AB	H	Av
Foley	9	38	15	.395

SHAG HAS QUIT MANAGERSHIP

Team Has Failed To Live Up To Expectations Of Manager

MAPLE LEAFS SPLIT

(By Associated Press.)

The miracle men of last year's International League season are just two managers out of a job to-day.

Frank J. (Shag) Shaughnessy, who piloted the Montreal Royals to their first pennant in 37 years, resigned yesterday because his team wasn't living up to expectations and the resignation was accepted.

The Royals are the second International club to get a change of managers this season. Harry Leibold, who led the Syracuse Chiefs from sixth place to second in 1935 and then went on to beat Montreal in the playoffs for the Governor's Cup, gave way to Bernard (Mike) Kelly last month.

Bears Get 17 Hits in Game.

The Newark Bears shellacked three Montreal pitchers for 17 hits and an 8-6 triumph.

The fast-stepping Buffalo Bisons swept a three-game series with Albany, taking both afternoon and night contests by scores of 7 to 4 and 6 to 5 to run their victory streak to seven. There was an orgy of home-run hitting. With Eddie Boland coming through with his 17th, other four base drives were blasted by Bert Fletcher and Ed Phillips in the matinee and by Frank McGowan with the bases loaded at night. It was McGowan's 19th. Homers accounted for nine of the Herd's 13 runs.

Sparkling twirling by Leroy Herrmann, who turned in a one-hitter, enabled the Toronto Maple Leafs to split another twin bill with the Syracuse Chiefs. Syracuse took the first game 2 to 1. Babe Dahlgren driving out a triple, double and a single, the only blows the Chiefs got off John Berly. Herrmann's slab work and the slugging of George Blackerby, who poled a triple, homer and single to drive in six runs, gave the Leafs a 9 to 1 win in the second game.

The league-leading Rochester Red Wings set back the Baltimore Orioles 4 to 3. A late Baltimore rally fell short by one run of tying the score. Ab Wright belted a round tripper for Baltimore.

NIGHT BALL AT OSHAWA

OSHAWA, Aug. 6.—Oshawa will [illegible] night baseball Thursday when the house of David nine play the Perth entry in the Canadian-American pro baseball league here. The players from Benton Harbor are bringing their own floodlight equipment. Oshawa fans are anxious to see the Perth team to compare them with the senior teams seen locally. Perth won the independent baseball championship of Ontario last year, playing semi-pro ball.

NOTED GOLFER TO COME HERE WED., AUG. 12TH

Plays Wm. Fairweather Match At Pterborough Club Links In Afternoon

SHOW TRICK SHOTS

Joe Kirkwood, famous Australian-American pro golfer, will be at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club next Wednesday, August 12th. On a tour through the Northern States and Ontario, he accepted an invitation by the local club and will perform on the links that afternoon. Besides playing an 18-hole match with William Fairweather, Peterborough Club professional, Kirkwood will give an exhibition in trick snooting and a short lecture. The match is slated for 2.30 p.m. and the exhibition for 4.30. Joe performed here two years ago—the summer he won the Canadian Open—with Gene Sarazen, and drew a large and appreciative crowd. The crowd is expected to be larger this time. There is a charge of one dollar with tax.

The U.S. golfing star is one of the leading tournament players in the world. He has long been in the headlines for his play and for his uncanny trick shots. They are both amazing and humorous and have earned him a world-wide reputation among golfers. He can grind a ball into the turf and dig it out cleanly with a shot; he can drive off hard with so much back-spin that the ball falls behind him; he can drive off six balls so fast they are all in the air at once; he can shoot and slice from all angles. And he can imitate a duffer so well that even the duffer laughs.

Oshawa Girls Tie With Cobourg Ladies

OSHAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP)—Oshawa Consols and Cobourg ladies battled to a 13 to 13 deadlock in a thrilling 10-inning Lakeshore Ladies' Softball League play-off game for the right to enter the provincial ladies' playdowns. Oshawa outhit their opponents by a 22 to 15 margin, but the Cobourg team played stellar ball in the pinches forcing Oshawa to come from behind in the 10th frame before darkness halted the game. The Oshawa team, who were provincial finalists last year, had several glorious opportunities to take a commanding lead, but sensational fielding stopped them on every occasion.

Sunderland Defeats Port Perry Outfit

BLACKWATER JCT., Aug. 6.—(CP) — Sunderland, 1935 O.B.A.A. intermediate 'C' champions, defeated Port Perry 8-1 here yesterday to take the first game of the playoffs. "Lefty" Junkin, Sunderland's ace southpaw, was never in difficulty and would have had a shutout but for a misplayed fly in the first inning. Ham did the pitching for the losers and the Sunderland boys nicked him for twelve hits, including two two-baggers and a three-bagger.

Ted Johnston played a great game at second base and Fred Kitchen also played well at first base, it being his first try at that position this season. Tompkins played his usual good game at third base and Wilson and Clay gave Junkin real support in the outfield. For the visitors the best were Rodman, Wallace and Gibson. The second game will be played in Port Perry on Friday.

MEL OTT HITS TWO HOME RUNS FOR SECOND DAY

Giants Have Won 17 Games In Their Last 21 Starts

CUBS STILL SLIPPING

Chicago Makes It Two In Row Over The Chicago Champions

By SID FEDER.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

All because little Mel Ott has found the range again, pennant fever is spreading over Coogan's bluff.

The young old man of the majors has picked up his habit of parking those home run balls into the far away right field stands at the Polo grounds, stirring hopes for another subway world's series between the Giants and Yankees.

He has belted four homers in the last two games, and, with him as the sparkplug, the Giants are travelling at a clip that may yet overtake the Cub and Cardinals and grab off the National League pennant.

Broke Up Game.

For the second straight day, Ott crashed out two homers yesterday to break up a ball game with the Boston Bees and give the Giants an 8-4 decision. The victory was the New Yorkers' 17th in their last 21 starts and enabled them to move up 3½ games from the second-place (and still slipping) Cubs.

The Cubs' hitting situation became more alarming than ever as Roy Parmelee limited them to five hits and the Cardinals made it two in a row over the Chicago champions with a 4-1 win that boosted the gas house gang two full games in front of the pack.

The Dodgers reached the last rung before climbing al the way out of the National League cellar by hitting timely behind Ed Brandt's nine-hit pitching and knocking off the Phillies 7-3 for the second straight day, leaving the Phils with a slim half-game hold on seventh place. The Pirates and Reds battled it out in a tight night-game duel at Cincinnati, the Bucs losing out 6-3 through a four-run Red rally in the seventh.

Browns Win Opener.

Over in the American League, the lowly St. Louis Browns, ruined Vernon Kennedy's ten-game winning streak by belting out a 15-4 victory over the White Sox in the opener of a double-header. Rain called a halt to the nightcap in the seventh inning, with the score knotted at 9 all.

The Yankees, paced by comeback Joe Di Maggio's homer and double, driving in two runs, maintained their 11-game league lead with a 7½ margin over the Red Sox—their ninth straight win over the gold-plated Bostons this season.

The second-place Indians managed at last to save something from the wreckage of their current series with the Tigers, landing on Elden Auker for three runs in the tenth inning and a 6-4 decision.

Catching the staggering Senators again, the Athletics made it two in a row with a 9-6 win, Bob Johnson pacing the 14-hit attack with a triple and two singles, accounting for three runs.

BOWMANVILLE TIED WITH COBOURG

Port Hope Is Eliminated In The Lakeshore League

PORT HOPE, Aug. 6.—(CP), — Port Hope intermediates were eliminated from the Lake Shore Baseball League when they were defeated here last night in a twilight fixture by Bowmanville Royals, 8 to 4. Lanky Dave Osborne went the route for the Royals, striking out nine and allowing five hits, one a home run by Crossett with two on in the fifth inning that accounted for three of Port Hope's runs.

The Royals hammered Percy Kinsey from the box in the second inning, and Wakley, who succeeded him, was touched for nine hits and six runs. The win gives Bowmanville a tie with Cobourg for first place in the league standing with Picton in third place. A win for Port Hope would have given the locals a tie with Picton.

IN THE VIRGIN ISLANDS... TREASURE HUNTERS USE AN ELECTRO MAGNETIC RAY WHICH "SEES" DEEP BENEATH THE SURFACE OF THE GROUND TO DETECT HIDDEN PIRATE GOLD

AS CLEARLY as the X-ray reveals broken bones in the human body, Gillette's electro-magnetic tester discloses the slightest hidden flaws in blade steel. Instantly the story is flashed to a trained metallurgist, and the steel is rejected. With such scientific care, no wonder Blue Gillette blades give matchless shaving comfort. OWENS BROKEN FIVE RECORDS

Equalled Two Other Records And Also Two World Records

BROKEN WORLD RECORD

BERLIN, August 6 (CP).—The Olympian accomplishments of the great Jesse Owens provide considerable grist for the statistician's mill.

First of all, he's the first to win three gold medals in one Olympics since Paavo Nurmi of Finland did it in 1924.

So far he has broken five Olympic records and two world records. He also broke the world record for the 100 metres on Sunday, but that was disallowed by the International Athletic Federation on Monday because he had the aid of a strong following wind.

Sunday: 100 metres preliminary heat, 10.3 seconds—equals Olympic and world records.

100 Metres quarter final heat, 10.2 seconds—betters Olympic and world records.

Broad jump final, 8.06 metres—26 feet 5 21-64 inches—new Olympic record.

Wednesday: 200 metres final, 20.7 seconds—betters world record around one turn and lowerz Olympic record by four-tenths of a second.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C. J. P.)

TONIGHT AT seven in Central, the Quakers and Westclox tangle in the second game of the men's softball semi-finals. Westclox took the first and a win tonight will send 'em into the finals against Swartz. A loss for the Clockmen will sew up the three-game series. Third game, if necessary, will be Friday eve. The City Loop finals calls for four out of seven games just like the world series in baseball—not hardball. Can't say who will do the heaving this p.m. but Beacock is liable to be sent right back against Westclox. The last game was close enough and tonight's should be worth seeing.

TWO LOCAL soccer teams have exhibition matches out of town this Saturday, Packers going to Oshawa and C.G.E. to Bowmanville. Which leads up to the question: Why not a Central Ontario Soccer League next year? Two or three teams from here, a couple from Oshawa, Trenton, Bowmanville, Deloro and Orono. At present, we have just a city and district circuit and it is many long years ago since there was the old Midland League. An eight or 10-team Central Ontario League would boost soccer in a big way in this part of the province and be a break for fans. Split it into two sections, if necessary.

THE PETES' batting averages are run today and they are nothing to brag about this time. The club has slumped from .275 seven games ago to .250 at present. Foley and Starr are well over .300 but the rest are well under it. With three regulars the only Petes who haven't missed a game all summer—in a decided slump recently, it is not surprising. Kearns, Burton and Whatley make a big difference when they are clubbing up to form. The locals are getting pretty fair pitching and are fielding okay as a rule. So, it is only in the hitting department that the Johnston gang have slipped. We will not go into detail on the players' marks—they are plain to be seen. With five tough games ahead of 'em yet, and Napanee threatening to shoulder them aside from a playoff berth, some hard batting practise is indicated.

BOTH THE Belleville and Kingston columnists—and no doubt some local fans—have been wondering why we don't comment on Foley's absence from the lineup the past couple of weeks. We are not afraid to do so, but have felt all along that we could do no good. There is a disagreement between the club and the player and it is up to them to work it out themselves. Both would like to get together and we believe if each would compromise a bit, the difference would be ironed out. But it lies between these two parties alone. The return of Tommy would bring an added punch to the locals offensively and would help them considerably defensively with a regular centre gardener and a regular right fielder in their proper positions. We are confident of an early agreement.

AND THE Limestone City key-pounder is very sore indeed at the work of Umpire Fair last Monday. He asks: "How long is it going to be before President Swanston comes to life with some remedy?" The main reason he is angry is because ye umps ejected Manager Joe Daley. We might again point out that the loop prexy cannot change the umpiring system in the loop. It is voted on by the clubs each spring and they voted this year to use umpires within the league as they felt they could not afford to bring in outside ones at additional cost. Kingston voted for this, too. We didn't holler a few weeks ago when a Kingston arbiter chased Shiner Johnston out, so why yell when Daley gets the gate? Any scrappy manager takes that risk—and even an umpire will take only so much.

* * * * * *

KEENE GIRLS defeated Bailieboro, 10-0, in Keene last night. This cinches a playoff berth for them, but now we are informed that Omemee hasn't got one cinched yet. Seems they have to replay a game with Bailieboro, one that was disputed. It was played some time ago in Bailieboro with no official umpires or scorer on hand. There was a disagreement over the final score—so the loop has ordered a replay. It is up to the club to see that official umpires are on hand, and the umps can then appoint a scorer. And now these games remain to be played: C.G.E. in Bailieboro tonight (Thursday), and Bailieboro vs. Omemee (in that replay) Monday at the Bowl. Four teams still have a slim chance. Playoffs will start about next Wednesday.

* * * * * *

SATURDAY AT three in Riverside Park, Oshawa Juniors and our Rotarians resume that bitter playoff series. The Motor City crew have won two and need but one more victory to advance into O.B.A.A. playdowns. But Herb Ralph is quite confident his gang will take 'em here this week-end. He expects to start Gee Clark on the hilltop. It shapes up as another hardfought tussle with no love lost. A win for Rotary will force another game Wednesday in Oshawa—and the locals will insist this time on police protection. A big crowd of fans will likely see the juniors battle it out here.

NAPANEE COPPED a 4-2 win over the Ponies in Gibbardsville last e'en to sort of crowd us more in the standing. They are two and a half tilts behind us while we are one game back of Kingston. Tommy Pointer—who seems to hurl his best games against the Daley clan—was unbeatable yesterday and held Kingston to seven hits while fanning a dozen. Yammy Jamieson went fair for the losers. It was in the pinches that Pointer went best. Those Naps are fighting hard for a playoff berth and will be tough to shake. The Petes have one more game with them and that is in Napanee next Wednesday. The Oshawa-Belleville scheduled game yesterday was shifted to a different date.

HITHER AND yawn: An E.P.I. softball playoff between the local Growlers and Warsaw is billed for tonight in the Oval . . . . Oshawa and Cobourg gals went to a 13-all draw in 10 frames in their playoff last night . . . . Dope on the local girls' softball draw—to help defray expenses of winning team in P.W.S.U. playdowns—appears elsewhere tonight . . . . Sports writers are giving "Little Stormy" Weatherly, outfielder, credit for keeping Cleveland in the running . . . . When is the next lacrosse game here? . . . . Bert Bailey may yet have an intermediate "B" team in O.B.A.A. playdowns . . . . The Petes had a swell workout last gloaming in preparation for their game in Oshawa this Saturday . . . . That juvenile playoff game here has not been settled definitely . . . . Al Robertson, King street, suffered an injured leg last night while playing for the Package Dept. against the Office in the Quaker Oats Loop at the Quaker diamond last eve; someone slid into him . . . . Petes and Rotarians have a practise game together tonight in Riverside.

Leafs Win From Cogs In Southend League

In a Southend Softball League last night, Maple Leafs copped a 12-7 win over Cogs. The Cogs outhit the Leafs 11 to 5, but lost out by walks and errors, being guilty of nine of each. Cavanaugh went the route for the winners, while Heal replaced Todd in the seventh for the losers. Meredith and Callan led the Maples in hits with three for four and two for three respectively. The teams:

Cogs	021	000	400	7

VERNON KENNEDY, the White Sox pitcher, was the national decathlon champion eight years ago, but missed the Olympic boat, . . . The trials Vernon went through were thrown out on a technicality and in the next ones he finished —fifth. . . . Twenty years ago the Dodgers used only three balls per game. . . . Now it takes more than two dozen. . . . And at $1.25 per throw, so to speak.

Lawn Bowling
By HERB MARTIN

When there are bigger "home" tournaments staged in this district it will be done by the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

Twenty mixed rinks came out last night to make the biggest mid-week entry of the season. . . . Just two rinks less than our "big" mixed tournament of Aug. 29. . . . and that one was advertised all over the circuit.

And then we believe it would have been still bigger if some of the regulars had not been absent.

Now, what is the answer? . . . Is it because the games are all confined to the evening? . . . Is it because of the small entrance fee? . . . Is it because the draw is made from the board? . . . Is it because the competition is just as sharp here as any other place? . . . Whatever is the reason or reasons it was one swell turnout . . . You will have to figure the answers out for yourself.

These mixed tournaments are rapidly coming to the front in lawn bowling when you consider it was just ten years ago when the first ladies' tournament for Eastern Ontario was held on our old greens down on the corner of Aylmer and Brock streets.

It is many a long day since no Peterborough rink took part at an outside tournament on a Wednesday.

Girl Softballers Having Prize Draw

The local Girls' Softball League—consisting of five teams—is running a draw to help defray expenses for the team advancing into the P.W.S.U. playdowns as these trips are expensive. Some excellent prizes are offered and the tickets will be sold for a dime apiece. The draw will take place at the Bowl at one of the playoff games within a few weeks. Five or six hundred tickets may be sold, if possible, in the meantime. The local winner will be drawn first in playdowns against the Oshawa-Cobourg winner, and, if successful in this series, will be sent on a much longer trip in the second round—possibly Western Ontario. Local playoff gates will not suffice to cover these expenses, so hence the draw. Fans are urged to help out.

Among the prizes to be drawn for are these, listed with their donors: An excellent sandwich toaster, presented by the Canadian General Electric Company; an expensive alarm clock, to be given by the Western Clock Company; a 100-pound bag of sugar, given by the Bailieboro supporters; and two bags of potatoes, donated by the Keene Club. Tickets will be available at once and may be purchased through any of the league players or officials.

Junior Teams Meet Here This Saturday

The Lakeshire Junior Baseball League playoffs will be resumed here this Saturday afternoon when Oshawa plays the local Rotarians at three o'clock in Riverside Park. It is the third game of the three-out-of-five series, with Oshawa having won the first two. A win for them on Saturday will eliminate Rotary, but a win for the locals will force another contest in the Motor City next Wednesday. These teams play well-matched baseball and are bitter enemies. The locals claim they were robbed of the second play-off game on the Oshawa diamond. They are confident they can defeat their rivals here on Saturday and ultimately win out to advance in Junior O.B.A.A. playdowns.

Herb Ralph said to-day he expected to start Grant Clark on the Rotary pitching slab. He would have McIlmoyle and Todd for reserves. O'Toole will catch and the infield will likely see Thorburn at first, Thornton on second, Caccavella at short, and Webb on third. Armour will be used in the outfield probably with Connelly and Webb. It is uncertain which Oshawa twirler will be used. Fans are urged to attend, see a good game, and give the Rotarians plenty of support.

SOUTHPAWS, say big Al Simmons of the Tigers is just about the toughest man in baseball for a lefty to pitch to. . . . He crowds the plate. . . . He pulls inside pitches to the right, whams a groove ball far and wide in centre, and sends outside flings to left and left centre. . . . A chance meeting on a train led to the forming of one of the greatest tennis doubles in history—George Lott and Les Stoefen. . . . Lou Gehrig played his 1,756th consecutive game for the Yanks yesterday. . . . Ho hum! Just another iron man.

BIG ERNIE LOMBARDI never played a game of golf in his life, but he uses the interlocking golf clip to hit around .315 for the Reds. . . . Sometimes it pays to give the boys a hearing: Chubby Dean, one of the best pinch hitters in the majors, quit Duke University last February to go looking for a baseball job. . . . The Yankees wouldn't listen. . . . Neither would several other clubs. . . . Old Connie Mack did, and look what the wind blew in. . . . In more than 100 times at bat, Chubby is clouting over .300.

LABOR FACTIONS SHAPE UP RANKS FIGHT TO FINISH

See Lewis, Suspended With 1,000,000 Followers, Forming New Federation

A. F. OF L. MAY GO UNDER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP).—A tremendous fight to a finish between two huge factions of United States Labor Unionists with countless factories, shops and mines as the scene of action, threatened today after American Federation of Labor leaders decided to suspend John L. Lewis and 1,000,000 of his followers for "rebellion."

Already there was talk in the Lewis camp of forming a rival federation. Informed labor circles saw the possibility the two formidable groups would compete fiercely for each other's members and for new recruits.

There was varying speculation as to whether the A.F. of L. might go under in such an evolutionary struggle, as the old Knights of Labor did decades ago, or whether it would emerge triumphant over the "rebels" who dared to defy it.

The decision of the A.F. of L. executive council, announced last night after a three days' "trial," was that the Lewis group, comprising the United Mine Workers and nine more of the strongest and richest unions, should be suspended indefinitely unless they repented within 30 days.

Thus there was still time to restore peace within the divided ranks of Labor, but bitter pronouncements from both sides gave no hint that peacemakers would be successful.

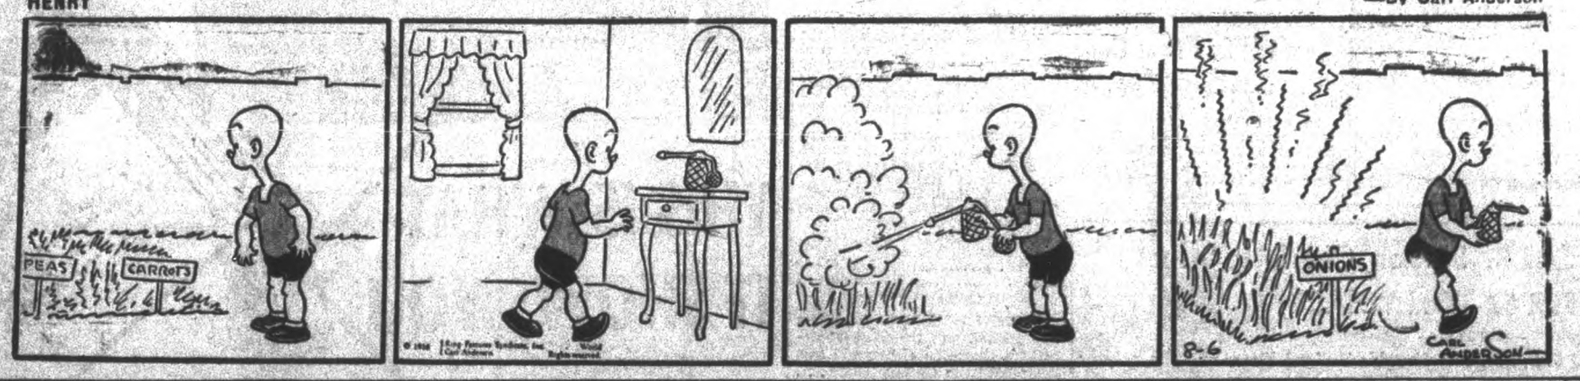
HENRY —By Carl Anderson



BRINGING UP FATHER —By George McManus

Love isn't Important

by LOUISE JERROLD

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club, meets a number of social elite when she fills in a a dinner party at the request of Dr. Wilson, a club member. One of them is Breck Carter, who, a few evenings later, takes her to a speakeasy and gambling house. Breck becomes intoxicated and tries to force his affections on Gay. Trying to repulse him, her hand is badly burned by his cigarette and she leaves him hurriedly.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 8

GAY, AGAIN in her place behind the check counter, wondered who had praised her to the management.

Wayne Adams? Hardly. Breck Carter? She didn't think so, somehow. Doctor Wilson, perhaps. It would be quite like him, to go out of his way to say a kind word for someone.

She hadn't seen the doctor since the night of the dinner, nor had he sent the promised $10. Maybe he'd forgotten. Maybe she'd displeased him by her sudden, disclosure to his guests, that she was only the check girl. But what else, Gay thought, could she have done!

As for Breck, Gay hadn't set eyes on that impetuous young man since their disastrous evening together.

He had sent her forgotten evening wrap to the Pontchartrain by special messenger, and with it a note, enclosing the money she'd won at roulette. Gay had the bills tucked safely away in her shabby suede bag.

"Hello, you!" (Breck had written, in a hurried scrawl.)

"Sorry our little party took a nose dive. It's all rather vague to me, this morning, except that you won a hundred bucks, which I didn't get a chance to pay you. I'm enclosing it right now before I forget.

"I can't quite make up my mind whether I owe you an apology, or you owe me one. If I played too rough, I'm sorry. Even so, I think it was poor sportsmanship, your running away as you did. It put me in an embarrassing spot, and I still feel pretty sore about it. How ever, I'll be seeing you some time, and we'll talk things over.

"Yours, more or less affectionately,

Gay hadn't answered the note, nor had she telephoned. The memory of that wild struggle with Breck rankled in her mind. Their evening together had been a total loss as far as she was concerned, and she had no wish to repeat it. Petting parties in second-rate speakies had no place in Gay's campaign for a husband!

That afternoon, she took advantage of Mr. Carberry's suggestion, and lay down for an hour's nap in the dressing room. But she couldn't sleep. The pain in her burned hand was torture, and when she returned to the coat room for the long hours of night duty it was worse than ever.

The elevator girl who had taken charge in Gay's absence, greeted her excitedly, "Look, Miss Elwell! Something came for you, while you were downstairs!"

Gay opened the square cardboard box, marked with the name of Detroit's most expensive florist, and gave a cry of delight. There, against a background of ferns, were the most exquisite gardenias she's ever seen. Inside an envelope was Doctor Wilson's card.

"To little Miss Smith—with many thanks," he had written. Attached to the card was a $10 bill.

Gay thanked him for the flowers.

"They're too divine! I've never had gardenias sent to me before, and I simply adore them!"

The doctor repressed a smile. "You'de have heard from me sooner, but I've been out of town. Got back this afternoon." Reaching for his check, he noticed Gay's clumsily bandaged hand. "What's this? Cut yourself?"

"Bad one?"

"It hurts a little."

Ignoring her protests he came round the counter, and removed the bandage. When he saw the burn, he gave a grunt of surprise.

"You've got a nasty infection here, youngster. Get it cleaned up right away. Who's your doctor?"

"I haven't any, here in Detroit. But I'll find someone in the morning, if they'll let me have the time off."

"This can't wait till morning." BRECK.

The doctor considered for a moment. "When are you through work?"

"Not until two."

He frowned, thinking. "I'll be playing contract with the boys till late. Meet me at 10 minutes past two, in the garage across the street. My car's there. We'll run over to my surgery, and I'll open that hand for you."

Gay winced. "Will it hurt much?"

"You bet it will. But blood poisoning hurts a lot worse. See you at 10 past two." And he was gone.

Gay had been waiting in the Pontchartrain garage only a few moments, when Doctor Wilson came dashing in, brushing rain from his coat, and cursing Detroit weather with good-natured profanity.

"Judas Priest, what a night. Wish I could have stayed at Tryon, with Marian. But too many confounded patients have to get cut up and I'm the only man in town to do the cutting." He swerved round a corner. "How's the hand feeling now?"

"Much better, since you said you'd take care of it for me," she smiled.

"How'd you get the burn?"

"From a cigaret."

"Ha! Serves you right. Nice little girls like you shouldn't smoke."

"It wasn't my cigaret," Gay told him. "It was—"

She stopped short. Somehow she didn't want to tell Doctor Wilson she'd been out with Breck Carter; that she'd been burned in her frantic effort to escape his drunken love-making. It would sound so cheap!

Fortunately, her companion asked no further questions, but drove in silence. Gay noticed that they had turned east, and were leaving the downtown secton behind them. They continued along East Jefferson avenue, passed the Belle Isle bridge, skimmed by the splendid apartment hotels of Indian Village, then turned at a corner and slowed up before an imposing house set well back from the street.

"Here we are!" announced Doctor Wilson.

He raced up a curving side drive and came to a complete stop inside a garage where two other cars were already standing. A sleepy-eyed chaffeur appeared and switched on lights.

"Pardon, sir." The man held open the door for Gay to alight. "Should I stay up to drive the lady home sir?"

Gay wondered whether her imagination was playing tricks. Or had the chaffeur really given her a peculiar, insinuating glance?

"You needn't stay up. I'll call a taxi," Doctor Wilson was saying. He took Gay's arm. "Come inside and get carved, young woman!"

He led the way inside the house, down a wide hall, up a flight of steps, and into a white-tiled surgery.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CHERRIES

It was cherry time. On the trees that grew near Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow the fruit was ripening and Mr. Longears said to himself: "It won't be long now before I have a fine feast! Nurse Jane can make a cherry pie—mm, I can almost taste it now! Tomorrow, or the next day, I'll start picking the cherries. I'll get the other animals to help me. I'll have a fine crop, all right!"

And when he went to bed that night he dreamed of eating the red fruit. But when he got up in the morning, and went out to look at the trees, he gave a loud yell.

"Hey! Get out of there! Get out of there!"

Can you guess what was happening? Well, I'll tell you. The birds were eating the cherries — and Uncle Wiggily knew, unless he could make them go away, he wouldn't have any cherries left for a pie, or anything else!

It made a loud "bang!"

"Shoo! Scat! Go way!" he shouted, but those birds, once having tasted how good the cherries were, didn't shoo worth a cent. They kept right on eating the cherries.

"Oh, dear," Uncle Wiggily sighed, 'this is too bad! All my nice cherries will soon be gone! What am I going to do?"

Baby Bunty Appears

"What about, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Baby Bunty, who came out of the bungalow just then. "Is something bothering you?"

"It certainly is," said Mr. Longears, and pointed to the birds. "They won't go away. They're eating all my fine cherries!"

"Why don't you scare them away?" Baby Bunty wanted to know.

"Because they won't scare! I tried it!"

"I'll bet I've got something that will scare them away," Baby Bunty chuckled. "My pop gun."

"My pop gun won't hurt them," Baby Bunty explained. "It just makes a loud noise. Wait, I'll get it!"

So she did. She showed Uncle Wiggily how it made a loud "bang!" but it didn't really shoot anything.

"This is just the thing," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I can lie under the tree and make bang noises. Let me try it!"

Baby Bunty gave him the pop gun. Uncle Wiggily lay under the tree, and when a bird lit on a Uncle Wiggily pulled the trigger of branch and started to eat cherries, the pop gun. "Bang!" it went, and away flew the bird!"

"Fine!" the bunny chuckled. "The best part of it is I can rest while I'm scaring the birds away! Thank you, Baby Bunty!"

Real Comfort

He got a pillow for his head and lay there banging away, scaring the birds. But you can guess what happened now, can't you? The sun was so warm, and it was so nice under the tree, that Uncle Wiggily fell asleep!

While he was asleep the bad Fox sneaked up on him.

"Ho!" he growled. "Here's my chance! Uncle Wiggily asleep!"

Then Mr. Longears woke up, and saw the fox. At first he didn't know what to do, but then he remembered the pop gun and made it go "bang!"

"That's not loaded!" laughed the Fox. "You can't scare me that way!"

It looked pretty bad for poor Uncle Wiggily. He was about to give up and let his ears be nibbled, when all of a sudden a cherry stone hit him on the paw. Then another, and another! The birds, seeing what was going on, were dropping the cherry pits to Uncle Wiggily!

He knew how to use them, too! He put them in the gun for bullets and when the Fox came close, laughing because he thought the gun wasn't loaded, Uncle Wiggily pulled the trigger—and the cherry stones flew out, and hit that bad fellow right on his soft nose!

"Wow, oh, wow!" the Fox cried. "Oh, my nose! I don't like this at all!" And he ran away as fast as he could!"

So you see the birds did Uncle Wiggily a good turn. For that he let them eat part of the cherries—they promised not to eat them all. He had plenty left for his pie. And tomorrow night, if the robin will sing an evening song over the radio so baby goes to sleep smiling, I'll tell you of Uncle Wiggily and the bees.

LINDSAY MAYOR PRAISES WORK OF COUNCILLORS

Declares Merchants Are Not On Council For Own Gain

WANT BUSINESSMEN

LINDSAY, August 6. — Lindsay merchants who are members of the Town Council were congratulated by Mayor C. G. Frost and Chairman of Finance Dr. H. D. Logan on their efficient and conscientious discharge of their duties to the public without thought of personal gain.

The matter came up for considerable discussion when Alderman A. E. Walker, chairman of Public Welfare, stated that there had been reports that Aldermen A. T. Claxton, W. Langdon, J. Bawer, and himself, as merchants, had entered the Town Council for what they could get out of it in relief orders.

"The taxpayers wanted business men in the Council, and we came. I don't think it is fair that we should have to take all this dirt. We are not here for graft," he said. Ald. Walker then read a list of the moneys which have been spent among the various grocers and butchers of the town up to the end of July, which showed that the members of the Council had received no more than their fellow-merchants.

Ald. Logan congratulated the merchants who are serving on the Council. "In the past three years I was disappointed because we could not get the merchants to serve, and I don't think any sane citizen of Lindsay has any idea that these merchants are serving on the Council for what they can get out of it," he said.

He pointed out that relief business is not in the same category as ordinary town business, because 75 per cent. of the cost is paid by the Federal and Provincial Governments. "I would ask the merchant members of the Town Council to pay no attention to the talk that is getting around the town," he pleaded.

Fire which destroyed some fifty acres of pasture and endangered the North Ward of the town on Monday was blamed on a local fruit dealer who dumped inflammable refuse in the town dump, contrary to regulations, by Fire Chief H. McCallum in a report to the Council. He urged the Council to install signs warning trespassers at the dump.

ALL the year round you can enjoy this delicious combination. Crisp, golden Kellogg's Corn Flakes, sliced bananas, and milk or cream! The oven-fresh goodness of Kellogg's brings out the flavor and adds wholesome nourishment. Insist on Kellogg's for quality and value.

Britain Steadfast In League Confidence

ORILLIA, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP).—Lord Snell, Labor leader in the British House of Lords, will give the final discussion of his series on "British Empire Foreign Policy" before the Canadian Institute on Economcs and Politics here to-day.

In his second talk yesterday, Lord Snell said the British people believed with complete enthusiasm in a course of peace by covenant through the League of Nations. Europe, he said, was passing through a deep and dangerous crisis, more lasting and confusing than any she had faced before, and the people of England realized the situation was "decidedly dangerous."

Men were losing the ability to be morally indignant because a "kind of paralysis" was creeping over the world. He believed, however, the State could still "do wonderful things and freedom, the right of man to go and erect his altars where he would, is still the right of the individual."

Anxious Europe Watches Berlin's Next Move in Spain

Nervous France Works Feverishly To Cement Pact Banning Arms

London Fires Broadside Warnings To Both Spanish Factions

REGARDING HER CITIZENS

Gibraltar Witnesses Sinking Of Gunboat And Crippling Of Warships Off Algeciras

(By the Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 7.—(CP).—The eyes of Europe anxiously turned from war-split Spain to Berlin to-day. While the French Government worked feverishly to solidify an eight-power agreement to prevent shipment of war munitions to Spain, a Nazi official described the execution of four young Germans at Barcelona by Leftists as "murder."

Their nationals and commerce perilously caught in the whirl of the civil war, Great Britain and Germany vigorously protested, London's diplomatic broadside was directed at both Fascist rebels and Government forces, and particularly dealt with the endangering of neutrals in the Gibraltar sector. The Reich protested the shooting of its four young men and the reported shelling of the German ship Sevilla.

Revolt in Third Week

In Spain the struggle went into its 21st day without giving evidence of a conclusion. Within view of the people of Gibraltar, the Government warship Jaime I. set fire to the rebel gunboat Dato, but was herself struck while shelling Algeciras and moved off a badly wounded craft.

Another Loyalist advance in the Guadarrama Mountains guarding Madrid for a gain of four and a half miles was claimed by the Government, as well as successful assaults against the rebels in the south.

No confirmation was obtained of a broadcast that the rebels were in the outskirts of Madrid.

German Shells For Rebels?

The diplomatic correspondent of the London News Chronicle says it is sincerely believed in responsible circles when the German warships "paid their strange visit of courtesy to Spanish Morocco "they landed explosives."

BLACK LEGION TRIO ARE FOUND GUILTY

Convicted Of Reduced Charge —False Imprisonment For Flogging Fellow-Cultist

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—(AP).—Three of six men charged at the first Black Legion trial with kidnapping and flogging a fellow member were convicted to-day by Judge Joseph A. Moynihan of false imprisonment. The other three defendants were acquitted of all charges.

The statute governing false imprisonment, the reduced charge on which the men were convicted, provides for a fine of $2,500 or five years' imprisonment or both.

Acquitted were Charles D. King, former village trustee of suburban Ecorse; Wilbur Robinson, who admitted he was a brigadier-general in the Black Legion, and Harold Lawrence, a steel worker and cult official.

The trial had lasted more than a week.

The men were accused of forcing Robert Penland, a fellow cult member to go with them to an open air Black Legion meeting on Oct. 5, 1935, and flogging him—tied to a tree—for not attending meetings.

Where They Get 'Em.

FRED HALLOWELL is having a hard time making his friends believe this fish yarn, but it's true. He was trolling in Thompson's Channel on the Trent River on Wednesday when he hooked a big musky. A stiff battle followed and the musky got away, but when Mr. Hallowell pulled in his line he found a good-sized tooth he had pulled from the mouth of the fish wedged on one of the hooks of the bait.

And here's another one from the same area: Mr. and Mrs. Hassard and Mr. Foster of Toronto, holidaying at the Bowler Log Cabin, were fishing near that resort this week and saw a big bass floundering around in the water in distress. They rowed over and one of the party reached out and caught it by hand. A smaller rock bass wedged in the big fellow's throat was found to be the cause of his distress. The big one tipped the scales at four pounds.

A party of Americans guided by Charlie Dunn landed the biggest lunge caught in the Trent River district so far this season, this week. Their catch weighed 25 pounds.

He predicted a long series of rains would push river over their banks from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada, washing out the drought.

CLAIM GREEK KING BROKE PROMISE WITH DICTATORSHIP

Liberals Predict Uprising That May See Once Exiled Ruler Again Ousted

SEE NAZIS' PLOT

By Alexander Sedgwick
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

ATHENS, (Uncensored) — (By Air Mail to London) Aug. 6.—(AP)—King George II broke a solemn promise of preserving constitutional government when he established Premier John Metaxas as military dictator, Liberal Greek circles charged to-day.

The breaking of his promise, members of the Liberal party formed by the late Eleutherios Venizelos declared, will never be forgiven by a majoity of his subjects.

These circles predicted a convulsive upheaval might result under the military dictatorship. They even expressed the belief the once-exiled king might be lifted from the throne again because of his connections with what they said was an unpopular dictatorship.

As political circles argued events following the government's exposure of a "communistic plot," martial law continued to rule the country, express the views of their editors, express the views of their editos. Censorship was unprecedented. The military regime clamped down with severity on foreign correspondents.

Unrest Growing.

VIENNA, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Widespread unrest and dissatisfaction was reported in Greece today in dispatches reaching nearby capitals.

While the military regime of Premier John Metaxas tightened its grip on the country, the populace —especially in the north—was said to be uneasy.

First reports said all Communist deputies in the dissolved parliament had been arrested, except one.

Belgrade heard from a variety of sources members of the Greek political opposition have linked the administration measures with the recent visit of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht German minister of economics and president of the Richsbank.

Truck Comes Off Second Best In Railway Crossing Smash

The above layout shows Jesse Leo Phillips, 44, of Tweed who had a miraculous escape from death, when the 5-ton gravel truck he was driving was struck by the Canadian Pacific Railway Toronto-Montreal express train at Borland's Crossing, a mile west of Indian River station Thursday noon. The driver crawled from the wrecked cab of the truck in which he was hauling gravel from Springer and Beatty's gravel pit onto Highway 7, practically uninjured. He suffered minor scratches to his nose and a superficial cut on his right forearm, which is indicated by the adhesive plaster which can be seen in the picture. The photographs were taken by The Examiner at the sence of the crash a short time after the accident. P. Holloway of Toronto was the engineer at the throttle of the train, while Sam Cross of Toronto was the conductor in charge.

CROPS IN ONTARIO AT CLOSE OF JULY WORST ON RECORD

Spring Grains Down 20-50 P.C.—Potatoes, Roots, Alfalfa Poor

MANY CATTLE ON RATIONS

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—(CP).—The monthly crop report of the statistics branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture to-day reported crop conditions at the end of July were the worst indicated for Ontario since records of condition figures have been established.

The report said intense heat from July 9-15 and an entire absence of rainfall over about two-thirds of the province during the first three weeks of the month caused severe injury to all crops.

In Elgin, Essex and Kent Counties of Southern Ontario, and in the Ottawa valley counties east of Kingston, moisture supplies were generally sufficient and the best crops are situated in these counties.

Spring grains will be reduced in yield an estimated 20 per cent. for the province as a whole, with the loss in the Niagara Peninsula counties of Brant, Welland, Wentworth and Haldimand averaging close to 50 per cent.

Buckwheat, potatoes, roots, pastures and second growth alfalfa are in poor condition, throughout most of the province, the report continues. The milk flow is considerably below normal, except in Eastern Ontario, and many farmers are feeding winter rations of hay and grain.

FUGITIVE'S BODY FOUND IN WOODS BELIEVED SUICIDE

Half-Breed Been Trailed Three Days Since Fatal Party Melee

DOUBLE SHOOTING

ELK POINT, Alta., Aug. 7 (CP) —The body of Jimmy Chiskum, sought for the fatal shooting of John Fitzsimmons and the wounding of Jeremiah Cardinal, was returned to this Northern Alberta hamlet to-day.

Three-day search for the 25-year-old Indian ended late yesterday with the discovery of his body in dense brush a mile west of here; authorities believed he had committed suicide.

Ejected from the home of Walter Johnson, following a party, Chiskum was alleged to have returned later with a small calibre rifle and wounded Cardinal as he emerged from the Johnson home. Attracted by the shooting Fitzsimmons was shot down as he came into view.

Edmonton Accepts Its Relief In Scrip

EDMONTON, Aug. 7. — (CP). — Other channels for circulation of prosperity certificates issued by Alberta's Social Credit Government were opened here to-day when Edmonton City Council accepted an offer from the Government which involved $86,500 worth of the certificates.

The special council meeting passed a motion last night instructing city commissioners to take necessary steps toward putting into operation the province's offer which suggested holding back Edmonton's $56,500 relief grant for August and giving the city instead $56,500 in certificates.

ONE SCHOOL BOARD PLAN SUGGESTED NORTH MONAGHAN

Unite The Four Existing Sections Under Central Board

DR. MACDOUGALL HERE

Seeking to have the four existing school sections in North Monaghan Township operated under one central school board, to avoid duplication of work and effort, and to bring a more equable school tax assessment, which they now believe to be unfair, ratepayers of School Section No. 2 are in process of organizing an association.

Declaring himself to be one of the prime movers in getting the Association underway, with a view to electing a council favorable to the passage of an equalising by-law, which would declare the whole of North Monaghan as a "township school area" under authority of an amendment to the Public School Act, R. E. Knox declared, "We have between now and nomination day in the New Year to wage our campaign."

Dr. MacDougall Here

Following a conference which he and other ratepayers of School Section No. 2 had with Dr. J. B. MacDougall, assistant chief inspector of the Ontario Department of Education, who stopped-off at Peterborough Thursday afternoon on his way from Toronto to Ottawa, Mr. Knox stated, a circular letter is being sent to all the ratepayers of the section.

Dr. MacDougall interviewed at his hotel where he was awaiting departure of the eastbound midnight C.P.R. train declined to comment on the situation in North Monaghan, stating, "My visit here is just incidental to a trip I am making to Ottawa. I was passing through here and in view of some recent correspondence I had received from North Monaghan I thought I would drop off here and discuss some business. The business was initiated by certain people in the township and I do not feel at liberty to discuss the matter."

The letter sent out by Mr. Knox as one of the organizers of the proposed Association of ratepayers in School Section 2, is self explanatory. It is worded in part, as followes:

Letter to S.S. 2 Ratepayers

"At the present time we have four different school sections in the township, with four different boards of trustees. In the city of Peterborough there is one school board. Why in a township the size of North Monaghan should we have this du-

MONTREAL, Aug. 7.— (CP) — Provincial police announced today Thomas Finnissey had admitted taking part in a hold-up of the Lachute, Que., branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in April.

Finnessey, arrested in Ottawa, appeared on a hold-up charge in St. Jerome police court yesterday and was remanded until Aug. 12 for preliminary hearing.

Chief of Detectives Louis Jargailes said Finnesey had admitted "Red" Ryan, shot to death in May during a hold-up at Sarnia, Ont., was in the plot. The loot, he said, amounted to $3,567.

EULER SHAPING TRADE TREATY WITH GERMANY

Result Of 10 Days' Discussions Will Be Placed Before Cabinet This Fall

RAW MATERIAL OUTLET

Says Hitler Uneasy Over European Situation—Sure He Wants Peace

By Elmer Dulmage
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

BERLIN, August 7 (C.P. Cable).—A new trade agreement between Canada and Germany will be placed before the Cabinet in Ottawa this fall by Hon. W. D. Euler, Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, as a result of his discussions here with officials of the Reich.

The minister said to-day he expected to conclude 10 days' discussions of trade either late to-day or to-morrow and then wind up his European Commercial mission by conferring with members of the Dutch Cabinet at The Hague.

The proposed Canadian-German agreement which would replace the treaty signed in 1932 by the Bennett Government has been the subject of talks between Euler and several Reich officials including Chancellor Hitler, Herman Goering, and Rudolph Hess.

Raw Materials Main Need.

"Hitler in the interview I had with him emphasized Germany's desire to obtain raw materials," the minister said, adding he hoped any new trade agreement would have the result of increasing Canadian exports of manufactured goods as well as raw materials to Germany.

The 1933 treaty, he said, was unsatisfactory because the Reich had assumed control of exchange and the trade balance was heavily against Canada. Under the treaty Germany gave Canada most favored nation treatment; Canada gave Germany the intermediate tariff rate.

Euler flew here from Moscow, where he talked trade with the Soviets with a view to resuming normal commercial relations. He will report to Ottawa in September.

Well Received

"In both Russia and Germany my reception was most enthusiastic. I am confident progress has been made," he said.

"Hitler impresses me greatly as a leader with an extremely active mind. He strongly emphasized his desire for peace. I am convinced Germany does not want war. But the Fuehrer is distrustful of the present state of relations in Europe, he told me, and the German militarization is designed to prevent Soviet Communism being forced on Germany."

But Euler said he found the U.S.S.R. busy with a gigantic building program and he was confident the Soviets had no warlike intentions.

The minister plans to leave Berlin Sunday, spending two days in Switzerland before going to The Hague.

Mother, Child Stricken Others Reported Sick While Council Debates

Quads Near Quints Prove Only Rumor

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 7. — (CP)—North Bay and nearby Callander experienced a brief hubbub of excitement yesterday with reports quadruplets were born to a farmer's wife 15 miles from the home of the Dionne quintuplets. The reports that came from several sources were found incorrect when a visit was made to the little farm house.

The farmer was as surprised as his visitor but admitted a birth was expected before morning — and he hoped a single birth.

ALL SPRINTS WON BY UNITED STATES IN OLYMPIC GAMES

Archie Williams Makes American Sweep Complete In Berlin

400-METRE RACE

Fritz And Loaring Of Canada Are Fifth And Sixth

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(CP Cable)—Archie Williams made the United States sweep of the Olympic sprints complete by winning the 400-metre championship today.

Like the peerless winner of the other dash events —Jesse Owens, who took the 100 and 200 metre medals—Williams is a Negro.

Canada's contestants, Bill Fritz of Toronto and Johnny Loaring of Windsor, finished fifth and sixth, respectively.

Arthur Godfrey Brown of Great Britain run a smashing second to Williams whose time was 46.6 seconds, 3-10ths second off the Olympic and world record set by Bill Carr of the United States in the 1932 games. Jimmy Luvalle, another American colored runner, beat out Britain's Bill Roberts for third place with the Canadians trailing in the six-man field.

Determined Challenge

Brown roared away from the marks into the lead and held a four-metre margin through the first half of the route. Stretching his legs as though they were elastic, Williams closed in on the fleet Briton and entered the home-stretch two metres in front. However, he had to stand off determined challenges by Brown and Luvalle before taking the championship.

Fritz was caught in 47.8 as against the winner's 46.5, while Loaring's time was 48.2.

Williams' victory, gained by 2-10ths second, represented the sixth gold medal captured by American Negroes. Previously, Owens won the broad jump in addition to the two short sprints, John Woodruff triumphed in the 800-metre run and Cornelius Johnson captured the high jump.

Canada's 400 metre relay team was

Crew Begins Pumping Last Of Marshy Fluid From Dam Into Reservoir

FIRE RESERVE LOW

Conditions Rapidly Approach Crisis With Supply Completely Off

DUNDAS, Ont., Aug. 7 (CP). — While officials debated the proposed connection of Dundas water mains with the city supply in Hamilton conditions rapidly approached a grave crisis in the valley town today.

An appeal was made to the City Corporation today when the water behind the dam above the town fell below the level of the exits, shutting off the supply completely from the reservoir. A crew was sent from the city engineer's department equipped with a large power pump which will lift the marshy remains of the fluid over the dam walls and send it down to the town reservoir. When this comparatively small amount of water is used, the town will be without any supply.

The level in the reservoir which held about 800,000 gallons was down two feet this morning, and as about 700,000 or 800,000 gallons is required for fire protection, it is expected a shutdown may come at any time.

Sickness broke out on Brock Street and King Street today when a mother and her child were stricken with dysentery, in one house, and in another further cases of illness were reported. Investigation of the cases is proceeding.

Dr. Inksetter, assistant medical officer of health, said he was inclined to classify the illness as common summer complaint. He advised, however, that residents boil water until the present troubles are over.

FLINTON TRIO FINED ON HUNTING COUNT

Caught With Venison--Slaughter In Hastings Out Of Season Stirs Complaints

TWEED, Aug. 7.—Charged with the shooting and destruction of deer during the closed season, Jessie Orville, and James Pringle of Flinton, father, son and nephew, appeared in county police court held before Magistrate Lloyd at Northbrook on Thursday. The trio were found guilty as charged, and a fine of $20 and costs assessed in each individual case. The fines were paid.

The cases arose following an investigation made by Game and Fisheries Inspector H. McCabe of Belleville, who testified in court he found a quantity of venison at the homes of James and Jesse Pringle last week. The investigation was the result of numerous complains being received by Inspector McCabe regarding the alleged wholesale killing of deer in North Hastings and Lennox Counties, out of season.

When two cars, one driven by Elesium Treaudeau of Stoco and the other by J. H. Caskey of Metcalfe, collided at Chapman's Corners, Mrs. David Trudeau received serious head injuries when she was hurled partly through the windshield of her brother-in-law's car. It appears that Mr. Trudeau was returning to Stoco after visiting Tweed.

Dentist Finds Beethoven Aids In Extracting Molars

DEVICE ON HEAD REST

CINCINNATI, August 7 (C.P.). — A Cincinnati dentist told the National Dental Association "Beethoven's Fifth Symphony can be of great assistance when the dentist tackles a stubborn molar."

Dr. J. H. Sharon, addressing 200 negro dentists attending the convention yesterday, disclosed for some time he had entertained patients with music, literary discourses, and reports of ball games provided by means of devices attached to the head rest.

He said the "talking chair" could be manipulated so only the patient heard the program or so all within the ofice heard it, he asserted.

Norway to Probe Trotzky's Activities

Aberhart Administration Believed In Sight Of Goal

Prosperity Certificates First Major Step In Plans Being Accepted In Widening Circles

DIVIDENDS COME NEXT

EDMONTON, Aug. 7.—(CP).—A 57-year-old evangelist who, as Premier of Alberta upset economic traditions to launch a system of social credit, pushed steadily forward to-day toward his objective—establishment of a "just price" and payment of basic dividends.

Just one year ago this month William Aberhart's newly formed party swept the province in provincial general elections. His platform included plans to cut deficits, decrease taxation, overcome industrial hostility, raise from $120,000,000 to $150,000,000 in new social credit and give to the people a "cultural heritage."

The "cultural heritage" would be made operative by payment of $25 monthly basic dividends. Residents of the province would not be required to pay it back. They were asked to co-operate, not to be impatient, and warned the system might take 18 months to put into effect.

Gaol in Sight

To-day the administration set up by the evangelist-economist believed it was in sight of its gaol. Registration of citizens as a first step towards dividends was under way throughout the province. Business men, farmers and individuals were asked to fill in a form and subscribe to a covenant that would enable the Government to speed production and adjust consumption through increased purchasing power.

Early this summer the Government announced plans to alleviate

Hitler Chiefs Demand Satisfaction Of Spain For Shooting of Nazis

Charge Also German Steamer Shelled By Loyalist Destroyer

BRITAIN SENDS WARNING

Fear Grows In International Circles Neutrality Agreement May Collapse

By Edward Kennedy
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

PARIS, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Germany was accused today by the Leftist French press of aiding Spanish rebels with planes, munitions and men.

These charges and reported German demands for "expiation" of the alleged killing of four Nazis at Barcelona by Spanish Liberals quickened French fears of possible collapse of the projected international neutrality agreement.

The planes, arms and men were designated for the Spanish rebel forces, the newspaper reported the British foreign office had learned.

Alfonso to See Hitler.

The Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Paris Midi reported former King Alfonso of Spain was to arrive in Berlin tomorrow, ostensibly to attend the Olympic games but also to confer with Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Two international incidents, meanwhile, complicated the German position on France's original proposal to bind European nations together in a "hands off" agreement in the Spanish civil war.

The first was the reported execution of four young Germans taken into custody by Spanish Leftists at Barcelona. The Germans were declared to have been shot after a brief courtmartial.

The second was the reported shelling of the German steamship Sevilla by the Spanish destroyer Almirante Valdes off the coast of Laroche, Spanish Morocco.

Protests also were made to Madrid with a request the Lefist Government keep its ships clear of Gibraltar and avoid endangering British life and property.

SPYING ON G-MEN 2 SECRET SERVICE OFFICIALS DEMOTED

Treasury Secretary Blames Action To Inter-Departmental Jealousy

PUBLICITY RESENTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (UP). — Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., yesterday demoted two superior officers of the Secret Service after confirming an amazing story of interdepartmental jealousy that caused them to spy on J. Edgar Hoover's G-men.

At the same time Morgenthau apologized formally to Attorney-General Homer S. Cummings for their "irresponsible" inquiry into the activity of justice agents in rounding up members of the John Dillinger gang.

The Secret Service officers involved are Assistant Chief Joseph Murphy and Chief Agent Grady L. Boatwright of the St. Paul office. Each was demoted one grade. Murphy will return to command a city office and Boatwright, who was a member of the White House detail during President Coolidge's administration, will get a field post.

Morgenthau did not reveal complete details of the incident, but the demotions gave formal confirmation in part to recent reports that investigators of other departments have been spying on the G-men, as agents of the Justice Department's Federal Bureau of Investigation are known.

Resent Publicity.

The incident supposedly developed out of proposals for consolidation of all Government investigating units. Both treasury agents and postal inspectors are understood to resent the publicity the G-men's anti-gang campaign has brought them, and to feel that Hoover agents often got credit for captures when agents of other departments did most of the investigating work up to the actual point of arrest.

What fostered these jealousies was the multiplicity of Government investigating units, and their frequent overlappings of jurisdiction. The secret service, a treasury unit, is charged with guarding the life of the President and preventing counterfeiting. Capture of narcotic smugglers is the province of the narcotics squad, also a treasury unit. The post office has its own detectives to capture criminals who misuse the mails. The G-men have a more general field in combating crime. Sometimes the paths of two or more of these units cross.

According to report, this is what happened when Alvin Karpis was captured. Postal inspectors complained privately that G-men made the arrest and took all the glory. Similarly treasury agents say off the record that when "Count" Victor Lustig was captured recently at Pittsburg, their own agents had actually located him and G-men merely took him in custody.

Fear of Merger.

Fear that a merger of all Government investigating units would submerge their own work under the direction of Hoover and his G-men is supposed to have prompted the two Secret Service officers into attempting to secure information on the Dillinger case activities. For some time there had been criticism that the G-men were too indiscriminate in the use of guns.

"'Is Honor The Mayor' As a Drink"

The lord mayor of Plymouth stars in the observation of a custom that has been carried on annually in Plymouth for 350 years. It is called the "fyshinge feast." Part of the ritual is the quaffing of a cup of water from Burrator reservoir, which supplies Plymouth with water. The cup used, solid gold, was once owned by Sir Francis Drake, England's great sailor, who built the first lead from the reservoir to Plymouth.

Charged With Wounding Four On Passing Boats After Waves Rock His Craft

USES SHOT GUN

ISLIP, N.Y., August 7 (C.P.). — Thomas F. Ward, 23-year-old Brooklyn resident, was held without bail for the Suffolk County Grand Jury here to-day on two charges of first-degree assault growing out of the shotgun wounding of four speed boat passengers on Wednesday night.

An afidavit submitted at a court hearing by Sergeant Daniel Glasheen of the State Police stated twice in an hour Ward had emptied both barerls of a 12-gauge gun at boats which passed close to the mooring of his cabin cruiser in the Great River, Long Island.

DOWN TO SUMMER ZERO

WHEN the weather gets hot, stifling hot, many men and women are down to zero. Zero means "nothing"—just what many people feel like in hot weather—nothing. Why are so many enervated by heat while I glory in the heat just as I disregard the cold, going about in zero weather minus underwear, vest or overcoat? Am I a superman that I can do so? No! It is a matter largely of blood, building a fluid vitalizing bloodstream out of the right foods. Much of civilization's foods are denatured, devitalized or "dead" and demineralized. Such foods cannot build normal blood. It must be viscid and thus cannot do the work of a vital and normally fluid blood.

If you wilt or are "all in" on hot days it is certain your foods are building for you a viscid blood. Try making one-third of your food intake Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy or Lishus, one-third fruits, vegetables and milk, the other third almost anything but sugar, starch or fats, and note how you can stand up under any degree of heat. Note also that constipation, so serious in hot weather especially, will also have completely vanished. Feed yourself thus and drink water, or far better, Kofy-Sub, richer in iron than anything known to me, and you will be able to stand winter's cold and summer's heat as well as I do. I laugh at both. So may you. I will be glad to send you absolutely free my bulletins on health and foods, address Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., 547 Vine Ave., Toronto 9, Ont.

SHORTER HUNTING SEASON FOR DUCKS

Baiting, Live Decoys Prohibited In Dominion Step For Conservation

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—(CP).—Hunters of Canada's wild ducks and geese to-day faced new stringent regulations including reduction in the length of the season and bag limit and prohibition of baiting and live water fowl decoys.

Taking steps to save from extinction the Dominion's wild water fowl, its ranks seriously depleted in recent years by drought, over-shooting and failure of eel-grass, the Interior Department yesterday announced the new regulations.

They provided a maximum season of two months; bag limits not to exceed 12 ducks per day and 150 for the season and five geese per day and 50 for the season, and prohibited sale of water fowl, except in the extreme north.

A closed season will protect Brant, an Atlantic coast type of wild goose which has been depleted past the danger point by a failure of eel-grass. Some epidemic disease which scientists have been unable to control has plagued eel-grass.

For months the Interior Department has been investigating conditions throughout Canada and found the decrease was so heavy for some species that more drastic

Amsterdam Denies Abdication Rumor

LONDON, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Reports circulated yesterday that buxom Princess Juliana of the Netherlands was engaged to wed—but the Dutch Government would have none of such talk.

On the heels of a story the democratic thrifty Queen Wilhelmina might end 38 years on the throne in 1937 with the marriage of the Princess to Prince Charles of Sweden came an official denial from Amsterdam.

Any reports of that nature were absolutely unfounded," it was said.

The Prince himself in a statement denied he was betrothed to the Princess.

LONDON, Ont., August 6 (C.P.). —Police to-day were looking for a man giving the name of S. A. Dodds who presented cheques, said by the police to be forgeries, for more than $100 to three London grocers. Small purchases and change were given in exchange for the cheques.

Let Courtesy on Land Equal Courtesy on Water

A FRIEND OF MINE told me that in his twenty-five years of active sailing, canoeing and power-boating in a large boat club of over a thousand members, no man had ever been lost or even seriously injured. I asked him for the explanation and he replied that it was "because of the great courtesy that exists on the water between one sailor and another—a courtesy and comradeship that makes boating so highly enjoyable". "Sailors and their ships," he said, "are one big happy family and one grand fleet."

And I thought what a truly great and life-saving achievement it would be if we could inspire motorists to think of, and act towards, each other in the same kindly and considerate way as sailors do!

- If, instead of embarrassing each other by selfish and inconsiderate driving, motorists would "try courtesy".
- If, instead of regarding and treating the other fellow as an enemy warrior in a tank, the motorist would regard him as a friend and "try courtesy".
- If, instead of heckling each other by horn-blowing, "weaving" and failing to dip or dim headlights when meeting, they would show more consideration for each other.

I ask you to join with me in accomplishing one of the great tasks of my department—that of making "courtesy" the new spirit of the road.

Practise and preach the golden rule of the road—"Show to others the same courtesy that you would like to have shown to you".

You know and I know that it will pay handsomely by preventing broken bones, wrecked property and broken hearts.

Sincerely yours,

RE-UNION IS HELD AT WHITE CHURCH NEAR RUSH POINT

Two Hundred Members And Former Members Of Congregation Gather

INSPIRATIONAL SERVICES

(Examiner Correspondence.)

RUSH POINT, Aug. 7.—The invitation, "Come to the Church in the Wildwood," for an old boys' and girls' reunion, which swept suddenly over and around Rush Point and vicinity last Sunday, was joyfully received and almost unanimously accepted by all those who had been in any way associated with church work in the dear old White Church during the past forty-five years.

The present superintendent of the Sunday School, Earl Pollock, welcomed the audience which filled to capacity the spacious country church.

Former Choir Members.

By special request, as many as possible of the former choir members were persuaded to take their old places in the choir, and a former choir leader and organist, Mrs. Charlie Spencer, presided at the organ.

The majority of those now reside in other districts and had come back from places as far removed as Niagara and Trenton to be present for Sunday service. Those choir members present included: Mrs. Arthur Beatty (Jennie Embleton), St. Davids; Mrs. Andy Buchanan (Stella Alley), Trent River; Mr. Harry Balfour, Havelock; Mrs. George Spencer (Rose Lewis), Brighton; Mrs. Simonds (Myrtle Lewis), Belleville; Mrs. Charles Spencer (Jennie Lewis), Havelock; Mrs. Jim McMillan (Annie Lewis), Havelock; Mrs. John Menzies (Mabel McArthur), Havelock; Mrs. Thomas Menzies (Mary McArthur), Rush Point; Mrs. Leonard Keene (Nellie McArthur), Havelock; Mrs. Bernard Smith (Amelia McArthur), Havelock; Mr. Charles Harnden, Havelock; Mrs. William Hubble (Maud Harnden), Norwood; Mrs. John Seeney (Maggie Harnden), Rush Point, Mr. J. Seeney, Rush Point; Mr. Fred. Hilton (who married Florence Keating and now resides in Smith Falls); Mrs. Walter Lewis (Gertie Keating); Mrs. Fred. Toms (Minnie Newton), Cottesloe, Ont.; Mr. George Newton, McGill's Settlement; Mrs. Wesley Petherick (Annie Gray), Rush Point; Mrs. Ernest Curtis (Cora ...ilock) and Mr. Ernest Curtis, McGill's Settlement; Mrs. John Cochrane (Esther McArthur), Havelock.

The opening hymn, "Blest be the Tie That Binds," seemed especially well chosen as suitable for the occasion. Mrs. John Cochrane (Esther McArthur), of Havelock, lead in prayer. The scripture lesson, read by the superintendent, was the selected verses for the regular Sunday School lesson.

Mr. Pollock called upon a number of former Rush Point workers to express some thoughts they considered suitable to the occasion.

After a minute of silence, during which the congregation stood with bowed heads in memory of the workers who had passed away, the following spoke: Miss Mary Seeney, Mrs. Jim McMillan, Mr. Jim Seeney, who responded with splendid talks on Sunday School work. The subject of Mr. Jim Seeneys talk was, "Never Let the Old Church Down."

Several hymns were sung by request in memory of former members, and Mr. Pollock then called upon Miss Corinne McArthur to read a poem, "The White Church on the Hill," composed by Mr. Manley Wannamaker, of Round Lake Settlement.

Miss Luella Keating sang a beautiful old hymn.

Mrs. Ernest Curtis spoke in memory of the late Hugh McArthur, and his father Mr. Sandy McArthur, both superintendents of the S.S. in former years, and requested the singing of the second stanza of the hymn "One by One" in memory of these faithful leaders.

Mrs. Andy Buchanan and Mr. Fred Hilton completed the speakers for the morning.

As lunch hour was at hand the congregation dispersed, some to the dining room at the rear and others, especially the younger set to the shade of the nearby trees where all enjoyed a good dinner and much friendly chatter.

Afternoon Service

As the strains of some of the dear old hymns floated again from the church organ the people sauntered back to the familiar pews for the afternoon service.

Mr. Jim Seeney, one of the oldest members present, astonished the young people when he recited perfectly a lengthy poem.

Everyone joined in singing some of the old numbers. A favorite hymn of the late Hugh McArthur was "Lord Plant My Feet on Higher Ground" and Mr. Johnston Blakely sang this for the congregation by special request.

Mrs. Walter Lewis gave a reading of beautiful thoughts for mothers whose joys increase as they climb together with their children the ...p trail of life teaching lessons of courage, strength, patience, love and faith.

Mr. Pollock requested all White Church Sunday School teachers present to stand, and the list was comprised of the following names as representative of the teachers past and present: Miss Mary Seeney, Mrs. John Cochrane, Mrs. Jim McMillan, Mrs. Manly Wannamaker, Mr. Jim Seeney, Mrs. Jennie Spencer, Mrs. T. Menzies, Mr. Fred Hilton, Mrs. George Newton, Mrs. George Spencer, Mrs. Arnold Keating, Miss Luella Keating, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Buchanan, Mr. Walter Lewis, Miss Celestine Seeney, Mrs. John Seeney, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Toms, Mr. Gordon McArthur, Mrs. Ernest Curtis, Miss Jean Pollock, Miss Corinne McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pollock, Reg Barton.

Some verses entitled, "Do I Get Paid for Teaching?" were repeated by Earl Pollock and were happily chosen and splendidly illustrative of the worthwhile purpose in Sunday School teaching. Another happy choice in verses selected for the service was "A Diamond in the Rough," recited by Mrs. John Cochrane.

A point of interest noted at the re-union was the fact that Mrs. Stevens (formerly Mrs. George Harnden) who was eighty-one years old, was the oldest member present, and occupied the seat of honor at the head of one of the long tables in the dining hall during the dinner hour.

Married 34 Years Ago

Mr. John Seeney who spoke briefly during the afternoon service called to mind the fact that he and Mrs. Seeney had been married on July 9th, thirty-four years ago, in this little white church on the hill by the Rev. Mr. Howard and intimated that it was time some of the young people took the hint that another church wedding would be a great occasion in the community.

Mr. Manly Wannamaker and Mr. Jim Seeney spoke briefly, and then Miss Jean Pollock sang "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" as a very special request number.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Wesley Johnston, and all those who had contributed to the success of the reunion. Mrs. Johnston was chosen leader to form a committee to arrange for next year's reunion.

FRENCH LEFTISTS BOO PRINCE JUAN

Young Spaniard Deplores Rebel Refusal Of His Proffered Aid

PARIS, Aug. 7.—(CP Havas)—Don Juan, prince of the Asturias heir presumptive to the vacant Bourbon throne, today described the Fascist uprising in Spain as "a new stateof affairs which has been born in Spain, based on ancient principles of the 16th century and completely correcting the false democratic ideas of the 19th century which have poisoned the life of Spain."

The prince and his mother, the former Queen Victoria of Spain, were at Cannes today after undergoing a hostile demonstration at Cape Martin by a crowd of French Leftists who booed and hissed Don Juan and his entourage.

His statement, published in Le Journal, purported to be an explanation of the prince's recent trip into Spain. It was reported Fascist leaders at Pamplona had told him his services were not wanted.

"I went to Spain July 31 as a simple Spanish citizen, living abroad, desirous of offering my strength and my life for the defence of the Spanish nation and religion," Don Juan said. "The trip was altogether without any political basis. Unfortunately my offer was refused. I am the only son of Spain who has no authority to defend his country."

Plenty of Good Water

The unhappy experience of the town of Dundas in finding that its water supply has petered out and rationing is necessary serves to draw attention to the good fortune of this community in having at its service such an admirable water system as Peterborough is blessed with. Commissioner Shirley describes it as the finest in the country and while that may be regarded as covering considerable territory the fact remains that this city possesses an unlimited supply of pure water and is not in the slightest danger of running into the bad luck the people of Dundas have encountered.

That being the case it is unfortunate that the fact that a certain amount of bacteria was found in recent tests of river water was used as the basis of a report in an outside newspaper that suggested that Peterborough's city water was unfit to drink and that steps were under consideration to seek other sources of supply.

The story was of course absurd. The water that comes through the municipal filtration plant and is treated there before being pumped into the mains for use in Peterborough's homes is absolutely safe and there is not the slightest reason in the world for any apprehension as to its quality. The idea that some other water supply should be provided existed only in the imagination of the man who wrote the story and would have been a cause for laughter were it not for the fact that it libelled a city service that will stand comparison with the best in its field anywhere. The simple truth is Peterborough has plenty of water available and better than that it is safe, pure water.

A Warning From the Gatineau

There is a blunt warning for our own district in the announcement of the Fish and Game Protective Association of the Gatineau and other adjoining counties that that district is getting none of the increased tourist business reported by the Travel Bureau because "the lakes and streams have been depleted of fish and the woods of wild life."

That statement carries its own moral. Fish and wild life are the magnets that attract tourists in greatest numbers and the section that allows its resources to be depleted by illegal fishing and hunting is taking the surest and quickest way to removing itself from the tourist map. That is what has happened in the Gatineau; for years the fish and game laws have been more or less openly violated, netting fish has been a common practice all over the district and it is charged that fish illegally taken and partridge by the wholesale have been sold on the markets of Ottawa and Hull, without any interference by the authorities.

The shortsightedness of such a policy is surely obvious. To throw away the prospects of a sure tourist business year after year for the sake of the paltry profits accruing from illegal traffic in fish and game stamps the farmers and the settler who are guilty of the practice as being among the country's worst business men. They had a district that was known as a sportsmen's paradise, with assets in the wild life of the section that carefully preserved and nursed, would have ensured a steady annual revenue from the tourist trade — and they have thrown the whole thing away for a mess of pottage.

The Gatineau is not the only fish and game area in which the same mistake is being made. Right here in Kawarthaland we have men who are just as blind to their own interest as the folk in the Ottawa sector, men who either go out themselves in the spring and net or spear spawning game fish or provide a market that encourages the poachers to continue in their illegal raids. If their activity is not curbed sooner or later it will put the Kawartha district in the same plight as the Gatineau now finds itself.

The somewhat general feeling that conditions are on the mend and the fact that recent official reports indicate a noticeable improvement in the unemployment situation do not necessarily mean that we are out of the woods. The relief situation here and elsewhere remains as the biggest problem with which municipal governments have to deal and the skies in that direction are a long time in revealing a rift in the clouds.

Relief Officer A. G. Metheral's report to the council the other night left no doubt that the taking care of those whose incomes have been cut off through the enforced idleness of the family bread-winners still remains a formidable task, in spite of the improvement shown when compared with earlier figures. A situation that sees nearly $10,000 paid out in a month when relief costs should be about their lowest and that finds nearly 400 families and over 1700 persons dependent upon the public purse for the wherewithal to keep body and soul together is certainly not indicative of anything approaching a return to normal conditions. And behind these figures is the knowledge that in many respects the plight of those on relief is worse now that when first they had to seek assistance. That is inevitable for many of them started into this era of depression with reserves of clothing and with their household effects in good shape and the passing of the years has completely altered the picture. Clothes have worn out, bedding has outlived its period of useful services, dishes have broken and kitchen utensils have got beyond repair. There is need of many things that are not included in official relief lists and as time passes this need will grow greater, and constitute itself a still more serious problem.

It will be a long time, alas, before we can say we are through with the relief question.

The Other Side

The other day Canadian newspapers contained a story that made good reading. It told of more than 12000 single unemployed who had been transferred from the relief camps in which they had been sheltered to jobs in railway construction work all over the country. Such a movement, on the face of it, appeared to be a manifest improvement over the old policy of taking care of these men in camps and there has been general editorial commendation for the step taken by Canada's minister of labor.

However, there seems to be another side to the thing and one that was not so readily apparent. It has been disclosed by the announcement that Mayor Clarke of Edmonton has found it necessary to protest against twenty-eight Vancouver Island men being "dumped" into railway jobs near Edmonton when hundreds of unemployed Edmonton men are available for the work that is being done. The mayor is so stirred up over the situation that he has wired the Canadian National heads "to please make arrangements to take all these men back to their homes at once."

It is easy to appreciate that municipal heads, who are finding it a difficult matter to meet their own relief costs and who realize that a greater share of the burden is being constantly placed on their shoulders, are not likely to find much satisfaction in seeing work in their districts that might take up the slack of local unemployment being given over to men brought in some cases hundreds of miles and given jobs. The absorption of camp men into these railway berths may be a good thing for the men themselves but the municipalities in the sections where they are working can be pardoned for not being enthusiastic over a scheme that puts it up to them to go on taking care of their own unemployed while jobs that might have lifted some of the load are being filled by outsiders.

Big Tourist Business

D. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Travel Bureau estimates that tourists will spend between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 in Canada this year and that approximately one-half of this sum will be spent in Ontario and Quebec.

We can well believe these figures because every day in our own business section we can see for ourselves what the tourist business means to the folk who have goods or services to sell. Peterborough's streets are full of automobiles with American licenses these days and the occupants of these machines are to be found in numbers in the city's stores. Interviews with merchants discloses the fact they are heavy buyers who want the best in blankets, and linens, men's hose and other articles, but while the largest purchases are in these lines, the visitors from across the border put money into circulation in many other quarters. They patronize hotels and restaurants, they supply business for garagemen and service stations, they buy groceries and fruit and other supplies, and their dollars roll all over the place, not only in Peterborough itself but throughout the whole district.

The increase in the number of tourists this summer as indicated by the Canadian Travel Bureau's figures is an encouraging sign because it shows that the interest of United States folk in Canada as a vacation land line is growing and that is a most cheerful development. Our cousins to the south are sold on the Dominion as a paradise for holiday-makers and a continuance of this year's influx can be confidently expected in other years. Yet the fact remains that the districts who will get the most benefit from this annual trek northward are those which persistently and intelligently advertise what they have to offer. There is big business in sight for the vacation areas that have the enterprise to get out and hustle for it.

Those Rural Fires

On a number of occasions within the last few days the assistance of the Peterborough fire department has been sought and men have been sent out to fight grass and bush fires in the neighborhood. This community is glad to be neighborly and to extend a helping hand to adjoining municipalities but there is a danger of the thing being overdone, with the country in its present dry condition and fires almost certain to occur in all parts of the district. The city department is none too large to give adequate protection at home, where the drought has produced fire hazards almost as bad as those existing in rural districts and to keep on sending a man or two out into the country-side when trouble arises is to run the risk that the local force may find itself short-handed at a time when the services of every member is urgently needed.

The solution seems to lie in the hands of the rural municipalities themselves. There is available today a handy form of fire-fighting apparatus in the gasoline fire pumps now on the market that give admirable service wherever a water supply is at hand and this apparatus has been used to advantage in fighting a number of fires in the district. It should be good business if the various townships would invest in one of these engines so that it would be available in case of need. A pumper of this kind stationed at some central point in each township would supply considerable protection and enable fires to be fought without necessitating the Peterborough department weakening itself by despatching firemen to outlying points.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A white ground hog has been shot near Hastings and it is presumed that the animal was bleached through overdoing the sun-tan routine.

Dry lightning is said to have been responsible for a number of forest fires. Careless humans however have been the cause of most of them.

Another sign that summer is on the wane is the fact that Canada's travelling cabinet ministers have all booked their passage home from Europe.

According to American doctors the only way to stop "onion breath" is to stop eating onions. That's a sure cure but the trouble is few people are likely to accept it.

John Lovelock's triumph in the 1500 metre race at Berlin demonstrated the ability of the New Zealander to arise to the heights when a supreme effort is needed.

The C.C.F. has unanimously decided to maintain its political independence and it is not expected that other groups will protest this decision very vehemently.

Inspite of Owens' spectacular triumph all negroes are not good runners. There must have been moments not so long ago when Joe Louis wished that he were.

That Long Island tourist whose plug became tangled with the Islinda need not feel bad about it. It is a lot harder to catch a steamer in Kawartha waters these days than it is to catch a lunge.

Perhaps the electors of The Pas where Premier Bracken has to seek election in a deferred contest may do something to settle the present political deadlock in Manitoba by rejecting the Liberal-Progressive leader.

When people speed on them through streets lead directly to the cemetery in the opinion of a Toronto magistrate and he probably would have no difficulty in digging up figures to show some ground for his statement.

According to Premier Hepburn very little valuable timber has so far been destroyed by forest fires. But then Mr. Hepburn has expressed the opinion that Ontario has more trees than she knows what to do with and that may account for his idea that the fire loss has not been great.

I Have Come Back.

I have come back at last to my home-land mountains:
I left their peaks and forests long ago,
Forsaking their cold, sweet springs for garden fountains,
Their groves for orchards in the valley below.

These wild-grown paths and mossy ways are kinder
Than smooth wide valley roads to a hillman's tread.
Walking in sun-steeped plains, my eyes were blinder
Than in these aisles with twilight overhead.

Better the cry of the wind in the pines and birches.
Than roar of traffic under city lights,
Where always the ear of the mountain-nurtured searches
For one lost echo of his forest nights.

I have come back to the upland glory, praying
Never again to hear the valley call,
Save as a far-borne farewell message, saying,
"Rest, for to you the heights are best of all!"

Many Ohio Folk Now In Ontario

(By Morris Ackerman in The Cleveland Press)

THOUSANDS of Cleveland and northern Ohio people are enjoying peaceful vacations along the cooling waters of Ontario.

From the Soo to Ottawa cars from the Buckeye state are parked in the yards of nearly every resort, large or small. On the main arteries of travel from the Niagara to Timagami there's an Ohio car to match every car on the highway.

This summer Ohio has "gone Ontario." And the underlying reason is fishing. The caterers to the wiles of the baitman, flyman, troller and still-fisher are reaping an unprecedented reward. For in 30 years of ramming around the waterways we have seen no better bass fishing than in 1936

While fishing is the main spark to attract our vacationists the matter of clean lakes and streams holds an especial appeal After all it is nice to bathe and swim in a new kind of water—one free of this and that pollution The forests themselves, dotted with thousands upon thousands of lakes, are green and beautiful at this season of the year Then, when you add good fishing in those forest waters, it is no wonder the angler packs his wife and youngsters in the car and heads north

And the wives are falling hard for Ontario Resorters tell us that during the past five years the number of women arriving on the fishing grounds has doubled And they go fishing—and catch fish. And, in moderation, tell about it Improved highways, with improved back roads has opened up hundreds of lakes that have seldom felt the barb of a fishhook. And daily these wilderness trails tap undisturbed haunts of the bronze-back and red-spot, with the completion of every new mile.

Another appeal to the visitor to the province of Ontario is a fair charge for resort accommodations, guides, boats and equipment. The top price in the finest of these fishing camps is $35 per week while $2 per day, including board and room prevails in scores of nice camps.

But, getting back to the fishing. Ohio folks are strong for bass fishing. And why not? For the best of bass fishing is no more distant than Sturgeon Lake, less than 400 miles from here—where you can catch your supper fish the day you leave home.

And, from there on, north, east and west the bass fisherman will not go empty-handed. And muskies. These fighters habitat the Kawartha Lakes—and 500 miles from here will take you to the extreme eastern end, with 400 miles to the western limit.

Ontario has been wise in the matter of fish conservation. The season is closed for bass and muskies Oct. 15 to July 1. While this long closed period may seem a hardship to the resort owner, the reason for it is proved by millions of dollars spent annually by fishermen from Ohio and other states.

Our fishermen are glad to exchange United States currency for the privilege of a good catch. (And this year Canadian official estimates anticipate we will leave 250 million dollars.) The combination of fishing, rates, scenery, roads, freedom and quiet is a lot for the little we pay, at that.

When you get to Ontario you will find the country alive with Ohio visitors. The fishing is the thing that takes them there and keeps them. During the alleged dry era it was said beer, wine and liquor formed the magnet that charmed us. But, with more vacationists in the province now than ever, and this country dripping wet, there is no answer —but FISHING.

And that, dear reader, is sufficient!

WANTS THEM GAYER.

(Vancouver Sun)

IT is announced that the color of British Columbia's motor license plates has been chosen for 1937 and that during that year of grace we will sport a nice, cheerful black on cream.

It is a wonderful combination for funerals. But surely it does not suggest the youthful exuberance of a vigorous young province whose chief city has just been celebrating a Golden Jubilee.

Indeed, the general crumminess—if we may say so—of our British Columbia license plates, year after year, has been the subject of considerable comment among visitors from other provinces and states and wherever our touring natives have carried them abroad.

We do not wish to criticise the good taste of the mysterious gentleman who picks these colors and designs our plates.

But while the cars from other sections of the country come in here bearing plates of graceful shape, artistic lettering and bright, pleasing colors, our plates are ugly, clumsy and drab.

For the sake of our artistic reputation, cannot Victoria do something about it?

Cannot we get some new, graceful plate shape to conform with streamlined bodies and flowing lines?

Cannot we get bright, pleasing colors?

Our present and past plates look so cheap it is pitiful.

PUBLICITY.

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

PEOPLE who make a practice of finding themselves in trouble, as some people do, need expect little consideration from either the press or the courts. Such individuals, given one chance on their first offence, have returned to this office seeking additional immunity from the standpoint of publication. They ought to know better than to ask for it. It rests with them, and them alone, as to whether they shall find themselves in the daily line-up of the magistrate's court and if they cannot exercise sufficient curb upon their appetites or their emotions to keep out of additional trouble, they should not ask the newspaper to assent to their shortcomings.

A JOB FOR MOTHER

"You come put the harness on this horse, Maud. You're used to dressing the children."—Humorist.

Canada and London.

(From the Printed Word.)

ONTARIO voters do not as a class visit Threadneedle Street, Cornhill, or that "Bank" corner which is possibly as busy a spot as there is on this earth. If Ontario voters did talk with men there who watch the flow of money in this direction or that, the present Ontario government would not be quite so sure that the course it followed in 1935 with respect to the Hydro contracts was precisely the correct course.

The manager of the London agency of one of the Canadian chartered banks had told us that up to the end of 1934 the buying of Canadian dollars with sterling was an activity of his branch which was assuming boom-time proportions. The London representative of a bond house reported that the final quarter of 1934 was the biggest period in sales of Canadian securities in London which had been experienced by his firm in 25 years of London operation. But the next 6 months was the worst.

First there was McGeer with his proposals re forced conversion, or whatever you like to call it, of Vancouver debentures. Then the passing by the Ontario government of the Hydro legislation, caused further declines. And in August Mr. Aberhart was elected on a promise to pull purchasing power out of a magician's hat.

Canadians in London appear to think that the Hepburn-Roebuck policy did more harm to Canadian credit than either of the other 2 incidents. The reasons for this are that Ontario is the largest and most stable of the provinces—the province where opinion would generally be less alien to British views—and because the Hepburn government was on the surface a government subscribing to the principles of an old and great party which normally could be trusted to govern intelligently. Mr. McGeer, it was held, might be a political accident of a kind likely to occur in hard times, while Alberta was known previously to observant City people as a region of political experiment. Neither McGeer nor Aberhart was shocking. But for Ontario in its sovereignty to repudiate a contract was as startling as it would have been for the Women's Christian Temperance Union to renounce its abhorrence of beer.

Investment funds follow neither the flag nor any other sentiment. The British investor, above all, is impassive and is never vindictive. At present he is inclined to view the Canadian field as one which, takng one consideration with another, may well be passed over for fields where at least the old parties have not been taken over by political radicals. Some day, of course, the flow of British money will again come in this direction. But we could have used more of it in 1935 and 1936—at least the refunding of maturing government obligations in London might have been profitable from the point of view of the taxpayer.

Paderewski Plays Again.

(From the Vancouver Sun.)

THE great Paderewski will take his favorite and well-loved piano into the heat and glare of a London motion picture studio to make a film in which his playing will be featured.

At the advanced age of 75, he comes from his retreat in Switzerland to bestow upon the world again the rare magic of his music.

It must be a tremendous sacrifice for a man of his years to surrender the placid quietude of a Swiss villa for the hurly-burly of a movie studio.

It must be a sacrifices for him to subject his famous instrument—which he loves so well—to the tender mercies of property men and scene shifters.

Surely it is not money that tempts him from retirement. He has plenty.

Surely it is not the thirst for fame. For Paderewsik has tasted all the acclaim that the human palate can encompass.

He has looked down from countless rostrums into the wet eyes and quivering lips of hundreds of thousands of people who have sat silent and amazed in the enchantment of his playing.

He has thrilled to the bursting applause of every spoken tongue.

And in the field of public service he has proudly held the highest gift within the giving of his own countrymen.

What more could one small man ask of life than that?

Yet satiated with approbation, surfeited with money, he comes from the home of his old age beside the blue lakes of Switzerland to sweat and labor under the hot lights of a studio.

We feel that the divine gentility, the unbounded generosity of Paderewski's nature was never so bountifully exemplified as in this last act of his magnanimous and magnificent career.

For he comes to make music for the people.

This time he appears upon the stage, not to play for those who could afford concert prices or the plush seats of exclusive recitals, but for the tired mothers, the weary clerks and the wistful urchins who will creep into a cool movie house through the lengthening shadows of a hot and dusty afternoon.

He will play as he never played before to those humble persons who had dreamed in their heart that God may have made such music—but had never hoped to hear it.

He will lay his sublime artistry at the feet of the poor and the meek and the lowly something after the manner of another Man who sought to serve these very same folk a long time ago.

And somehow we feel as though the great Paderewski, hero of this country and immortal legend in the world of music, will never achieve a greater artistic and spiritual height as, when in the corner of some shabby and obscure theatre, the rare cadences of his music will thrill the heart and exalt the hungry soul of some poor man or woman or little child who did not know that such delight could be.

Beautifully, splendidly, Paderewski plays again.

An Abrupt Stop

"I hear Bill Jones 'as stopped smoking."

"Why?"

"He emptied his pipe into a barrel of gunpowder yesterday."

It Was a Good Number

"Sorry I gave you the wrong number," said the polite telephone operator.

"Don't mention it," answered the man, who had made up his mind not to lose his temper. "I'm sure the number you gave me was much better than the number I asked for, only it just happened I wasn't able to use it."

A Real Miner

Drummer: "Why, hello, Rastus, what are you doing away out here in the west?"

Rastus: "I's in de minin' business, boss."

Drummer: "You don't say! What kind of mining—gold mining, silver mining, copper mining?"

Rastus: "Calcimining."

A DOG'S REASON.

(London Spectator)

NEARLY all dogs, as we know well, are fond of driving in motor-cars. They all like the speed; they like the succession of smells; but they behave differently. Some will sleep peaceably; some keep their nose to the draught or look out continuously.

A certain mongrel spaniel of high intelligence, adopts a compromise. He is apt to be comatose or at least recumbent, but sits up instantly and takes notice if any new road is taken. Any new turning rouses him from apparent sleep. It is a puzzle by what sense he perceives the novelty, for he is often lying at full length on the back seat when the information reaches him by the route of his nose or other unknown sense.

Their nose is no dubt the master sense of most dogs (sometimes even of greyhounds), but none, I think, has quote so constant a devotion to this sense as the spaniel. He uses his nose all the time, whether a quarry is toward or not, while a retriever, whose nose is not less accurate, is enjoying sight or movement. It was a Scottish spaniel who was alleged to have gone half mad with joy when he found a Scottish tweed in a New York store, and at once began to roll in it!

POWER SHORTAGE ON THE OTONABEE

Quaker Oats And Canadian General Forced To Get Extra Power

Excessive evaporation has reduced the volume of the Otonabee River by more than 50 per cent according to information from several men who are closely in touch with local power production.

Several local industries are directly affected by the shrinkage in the flow of the river, especially those which depend on their own sources of power. The Quaker Oats Company is reported to be buying off peak power from the Utilities Commission, and the Canadian General Electric Company is using their steam power auxiliary unit.

Lack of rain all summer has been one of the main factors in the decline of the river's volume, and this condition has been aggravated by extreme heat causing heavy evaporation without compensating replacement by rainfall.

In other words, the combination of drought and heat has not only very seriously affected agriculture in the district, but it is now being felt by several of the local industries. There is no shortage of power in the city, as the Utilities Commission can increase its load from the Hydro whenever local needs require a large delivery.

Last Heavy Rain, June 17

The last heavy rain in this area was on June 17 with a fall of one-half an inch. Nearly two months have passed with practically no rain during that long stretch of drought and heat which at one time in July reached a new high of 102 degrees. From these facts it is obvious that the water supply of the Otonabee River has been substantially reduced, and August promises little relief from its record as usually a dry month.

An indirect effect on the Utilities Commission as mentioned at its recent meeting is the likelihood that increased demands on its supply of power may push up the power peak on which the city's charges from the Hydro-Electric Commission are based.

HUNTING FURS

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 7 (CP) —Visiting a wool shop here last evening a party of United States tourists, after making purchases, enquired concerning the whereabouts of a Hudson's Bay post in the immediate district as they wished to buy some furs. They were referred to local furriers.

WINNIPEG WHEAT

WINNIPEG, Aug. 7.—Wheat futures prices made an unexpected recovery from earlier 2¾ cents losses on the Winnipeg Grain Exchaing yesterday to finish an erratic session unchanged to ⅝ cent lower.

The October position at top level scored a new seasonal high, reaching $1.08⅝, or ½ cent above the previous high, recorded today.

Liquidation by Southern houses, profit-taking and commission houses selling accounted for most of the offerings, while little support was found before the low points were reached.

At bottom level good buying for foreign and seaboard account developed. The market staged a sharp recovery, with Chicago leading the way. Export business was placed at 750,000 bushels.

Futures:

	Open	High	Low	Close	Prev. close
Wheat—
Oct	1.07½	1.08⅝	1.05⅝	1.07¾	1.07¾
Dec	1.05	1.06⅛	1.03⅜	1.05½	1.05⅝
May	1.07⅛	1.08⅛	1.06½	1.07¼	1.07⅞

CHICAGO SETS HIGH.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—New high price records for near-by deliveries of wheat became an outstanding grain trade feature yesterday, and helped remarkable late recoveries from early weakness.

Simultaneous with late rallies of grain prices was announcement the United States had warned Spain against interference with or seizure of any American property. Although news of the warning attraced sharp attention in the speculative pits, doubts were expressed that it was effective as a reason for flurried buying, which just before the market closed ran wheat suddenly up in some cases 1⅝ cents above yesterday's finish, despite 2½ cents earlier tumble.

A GANGSTER'S PIZA

PARIS, Aug. 7. —(AP)— This story came to Paris today from members of the French Leftist Youth Association on an educational tour in Spain.

"A Leftist gangster robbed a bank of 3,000,000 pesetas (approximately $520,000) and gave it all to the government to use in fighting the rebels.

"'Please give me back 10 pesetas of it,' the gangster said. 'I haven't eaten for two days.'"

KING BEEN LEADER SEVENTEEN YEARS

Starts Into Another Stretch In Excellent Health—World Record

OTTAWA, August 7 (C.P.) — Seventeen years ago to-day W. L. Mackenzie King became Leader of the Liberal Party. At a convention which brought to Ottawa Liberals from all over Canada, Mr. King was chosen Leader over such famous party stalwarts as Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. D. D. McKenzie. He has remained Leader without a break for 17 years and for nine of these years has been Prime Minister of Canada.

To-day Mackenzie King observed this anniversary at his country home just outside Ottawa. It is a date about which varied memories cluster because it was on August 7, 1930, that Mackenzie King resigned the Prime Minister's post after the general election of that year.

To hold the leadership of a political party for 17 years in a period of world change and unrest constitutes something of a record. Mr. King is the only Leader in the British Commonwealth if not in the entire world who has remained at the head of a political party for that length of time. The only other Leader who approaches Mr. King's record is Prmier J. B. M. Hertzog of South Africa. In the case of Mr. Hertzog, however, the party changed. Coalition of the Nationalist group, headed by Mr. Hertzog, with the South African Party formed the United Party which the South African Premer now heads.

Mr. King starts on his 18th year of Leadership in good health. He will leave next month at the head of Canada's delegation to the meeting of the Assembly of the League of Nations in Geneva.

HOG PRICES HELD STEADY AT $9.25

Cattle Prices Dropped Off 25 To 40 Cents During The Week

LAMBS UNCHANGED

TORONTO, August 7 (C.P.). — Cattle prices on Toronto live stock market this week opened steady, but dropped off 25 to 40 cents on a slow closing market with around 1,000 head left unsold, the Dominion Live Stock Branch reported to-day. Receipts of 6,300 head, while not so heavy as last week, were still above normal. Calves were unchanged for the week, while the hog market was steady to a shade higher. Lambs were steady and sheep were up 50 cents on top grades.

Exporters took 400 weighty steers for Great Britain at prices ranging from $5.00 to $5.75, while plain weighty steers sold downwards to $4.00.

Butcher cattle opened at $5.00 to $5.25 for tops and closed with few above $4.75. Good butcher cows opened at $3.50 for top grades and closed at $3.25. Canners and cutters sold generally from $1.75 to $2.25.

Good bulls brought $3.15 to $3.23 with a top price of $3.50. Bologna grades were easier at $2.75 to $3.00, with choice fed calves holding steady at $7.00 to $7.50 and downwards to $5.50 for mediums. Stocker inquiry was light with prices closing unchanged at $2.50 to $3.50. A few feeders sold up to $3.75 on Tuesday.

Calf receipts were normal at 3,300 head with export buyers taking only 1,100 for the States. Prices, however, were generally steady. Choice vealers sold at $7.00, with a few going as high as $7.50. Lights sold downwards to $4.50 and grassers from $3.50 to $4.00.

Sheep and lamb receipts reached 4,200 head. The lamb market remained unchanged at 9.00 for good ewes and wethers with small lots going at $9.25. Bucks sold generally at $8.00. Sheep were 50 cents higher at a top of $3.00 to $3.50 cwt. for good light ewes.

MADEIRA UPRISING BECOMES SERIOUS

Portuguese Gov't Sends Warships, Planes, Troops After Several Killed In Riot

LISBON, Aug. 7 (CP-Havas). — The Portuguese Government to-day despatched two warships, several planes and a company of infantry to Funchal, Madeira, where riots broke out, resulting in several deaths.

The troops, planes and ships rushed toward Madeira were designated as a "punitive expedition," indicating the outbreak in the Portuguese possession had already assumed serious proportions.

Premier Dr. Antonia de Oliveira Salazar told the press the civil governor of Funchal, chief city on Madeira Island, had informed him the riots followed a government attempt to reorganize the dairy industry.

NERVOUS FRANCE

row Germany will probably make a violent protest to the Spanish government which will also contain a definite threat. "This threat may mean the occupation of Minorca—and the blockade of Barcelona." She also declares the French foreign office has received information the German pocket battleship Deutchland landed large supplies of munitions at the insurgent stronghold of Ceuta and a German merchantman which left Hamburg allegedly bound fo Lisbon had 28 bombing planes aboard with all the necessary pilots and ground staff.

The Daily Mail said: "Blum's Premiership threatens to be the greatest disaster that has ever befallen France with deadlier reactions than even the defeats of 1870. If he assists the Spanish Reds he will find his country without an ally or even a friend among the big Powers. A complete breach with Britain would follow inevitably, making an end of all ententes, Locarnos and pacts."

ROME, Aug. 7 (CP-Havas). — Italy intends henceforth to regard the Spanish conflict as a "civil war," and not as an illegal "revolt" against constituted authority, reliable observers intimated to-day.

This means the Rome Government, operating on the basis of international law in its relation as a third party to the two belligerents, may recognize both warring factions as worthy of equal consideration.

Such an attitude, hinted by the use of the words "civil war" in yesterday's official communique announcing Italy's conditioned acceptance of the French neutrality proposal, may endanger the conclusion of the accepted accord, it was said.

Moreover, it was semi-officially indicated to-day Italy is not obliged to impose neutrality upon its private arms and airplane industries as long as strict neutrality is not observed in every respect by all other countries.

FACE WEE UBUGUAY

OTTAWA, Aug. 7 (CP).—A trade agreement between Canada and Uruguay will be concluded shortly, it is understood. For some time negotiations have been under way between officials of the governments and representatives of Uruguay. These have resulted in an agreement terms of which will probably be made public in a week or so after necessary formalities have been concluded.

He Wasn't a Hero His Plan Backfired

TORONTO, Aug. 6—(CP)—Speaking at the International Fire Chiefs' Association, held here, Chief Mansfield of Massachusetts said: "The pyromaniac is a dreadful menace because he may have no other criminal records.....You never know who they are or when they'll start."

He told the story of a young man who, spurned by the lady of his choice, set fire to her house with the idea of sounding an alarm in time and becoming a hero of her family. Pieces of cordwood stacked under the girl's window were found. They fitted similar wood on his own woodpile.

pared with a final yield of 22.7 in 1935 and 15.8 bushels in 1934. The preliminary estimate of the yield of fall rye is 16.8 bushels per acre against a final yield of 17.6 bushels and 15.5 bushels in the last two years respectively.

The report says it is too early yet to estimate safely the yield of spring grains, but it is fairly certain from conditions and figures Aug. 1, the production per acre for these crops will be reduced approximately 20 per cent.

Eastern Ontario, however, enjoys spring grains only slightly below average due to late seeding. They appear to be filling well. The yield of hay and clover and first cutting of alfalfa will generally ensure sufficient fodder for winter feeding, although individual farmers may find purchase of part of their needs necessary.

Outlook or the commercial sugar beet crop continues good. In Kent and Essex Counties the crop has made rapid progress during July and is in healthy condition. The eastern end of the beet growing territory has continued very dry with less than average growth.

Early estimates place the production between nine and 10 tons per acre.

Tobacco Hit

The tobacco crop has suffered considerably. Rain temporarily relieved Essex County and parts of Kent, Elgin and Norfolk Counties, but the soil is again dry. While withstanding the drought better than most crops in Southwestern Ontario, there is every indication both yield and quality will be reduced. Conditions indicate a flue-cured crop of about 30,000,000 pounds and a burley crop of about 10,000,000 pounds.

Last year's yield was 35,180,000 pounds and 10,500,000 pounds respectively, the former with a smaller acreage than this year.

Western Ontario fruit crops, particularly vine and bush fruits, harvested during July showed considerable reduction in yield, due to scorching of foliage and fruit caused by excessive heat and lack of moisture. Apples are sizing fairly well with the exception of some early varieties. July development for peaches and grapes was about normal, but European varieties of plums and pears have not sized normally. Japanese varieties of plums have been affected little. Fungus and insect pests are well controlled in sprayed orchards, but codling moth injury is more noticeable.

TORONTO'S CAPITAL OUTLAY CURTAILED

High Relief Costs, Uncertainty Of City's Future Taxable Assessment Blamed

TORONTO, August 7 (C.P.) — All applications for new capital expenditures other than for projects immediately necessary must be rejected for at least three or four years, Finance Commissioner George Wilson said to-day in his annual report for 1935 to Toronto City Council.

High costs of relief, uncertainty as to the future of the city's taxable assessment and an estimated increase of more than $1,00.0000 in debt charges in the next two years were named by the commissioner as reasons for his warning.

It is estimated the city's statutory borrowing power at the end of 1936 will be $5,600,000, compared with $8,111,782 at the end of last year.

The report showed a surplus of $117,148 on the city's 1935 financial operations, compared with a deficit of $99,724 in 1934.

For the seven years, 1930-1936, Toronto's gross expenditure on direct relief to the unemployed totalled $39,723,659.

This expenditure was abated by government grants totalling $25,249,317, leaving the net cost to the city at $14,474,342.

PLAN ZEPP TRIP TO POLE WITH YEAR UPON ICE-CAP

British and German Scientist Explorers Are Sponsors of Scheme

SEE AVIATION AIDED

London.—A trip to the North pole by Zeppelin is the project of English and German scientist-explorers next year.

The airship will land a small band of investigators, who will spend a year on the ice-cap to study the whole cycle of arctic weather.

This will help to clear up the possibilities of air routes, as well as the mysteries of weather systems, particularly of fog conditions.

The Graf Zeppelin is being mentioned. Her commander, Dr. Eckener, has had experience of Arctic conditions.

A camp will be established further north than ever and stocked with supplies for a year. The Zeppelin will return to the base until the following spring.

The expedition has the blessing of German and British aviation concerns, who have dreamed of fast travel by this route to the west coast of America, northern Asia and the east.

Three airship expeditions have tried the Arctic. The first was the Italian dirigible Norge, under the command of Amundsen.

Two years later, another Italian airship, the Italia, won its way to the pole and brought back invaluable data for science.

An Italian flag and a cross presented by the pope were dropped at the North pole.

The airship began her return flight against storms and blizzards. Her wireless messages ceased, and for 15 days nothing was heard of her.

It was feared that another had been added to the long list of polar tragedies, but amateur radio people picked up weak messages, and it was learned that the Italia had crashed, and that the main cabin was stranded on an ice floe, with General Nobile (the commander) and nine companions.

Fourteen ships and 22 aeroplanes took part in the rescue. When the party were found, they were nearly finished.

Some had died from hunger and exposure.

Of the remaining members of the crew of the Italia—quartered in the forepart of the airship—nothing has ever been heard.

As a tragic footnote to the story, Capt. Amundsen, the famous Arctic explorer, piloted one of the planes which set out to look for the missing Italians, and was never heard of again.

Since that disaster, only one lighter-than-air machine has ventured into the Arctic.

That was in 1931, when the Graf Zeppelin succeeded in flying over vast unexplored areas.

HYPNOTIST-DENTIST PROVING SUCCESS

Says "Now This Won't Hurt," and It Really Doesn't

London.—Students of the Royal Dental Hospital here have had their teeth cracked, chipped, filled and extracted, all without anaesthetics—and all without pain. It's done by hypnotic suggestion.

"There is nothing mysterious about it," claims William Lovatt, who is lecturing on "hypnotic dentistry" in several large London hospitals, "it is a perfectly natural process and in no way harmful.

"A suggestible patient—and 70 per cent. are—has only to accept suggestions for anaesthesia and he can submit to the forceps or drill confident that he will feel nothing, either at the time or afterwards."

Experience with 3,000 cases, he says, has convinced Mr. Lovatt that the possibilities for hypnotism in modern medicine are enormous.

London.—Highgate's white owl has assaulted his second policeman.

He liked the taste of P.C. Trickett so much when he bit his ear recently, that he has since made a similar pounce on another officer.

The owl is an old one, and has nested in a chestnut tree in Hornsey-lane, Highgate, for several years. It is blamed for disappearance of several pet kittens.

PARALYZED BY ADDER BUT MAN RECOVERS

Driving to Hospital Collapsed Over Steering Wheel

London.—Although a search throughout the country for snake serum to cure a man who was bitten by an adder has failed, doctors succeeded in saving his life.

He is Thomas Hopkins of East London, who was bitten while playing with his four-year-old son in a field at Orsett, Essex.

Within a few minutes his leg became paralyzed, but he got into his car and tried to drive to hospital, telling his wife how to stop the car if it got out of control.

WOMAN, 90, MAKES 67TH OCEAN VOYAGE

Has Been Commuting Between Australia, Britain for 64 Years

London. — When the steamer Comorin docked here recently, Mrs. Robertson Bull, 90-year-old Australian Scotswoman, concluded her 67th trip between Australia and Britain in 64 years.

In 1872, as a woman of 26, Mrs. Bull migrated with her family from Scotland to Australia. Every year since then, and sometimes twice a year, she has made the voyage between her Australian home and her birthplace. She likes sea travel because it helps her to keep fit. But this time this youthful-looking nonagenarian believes she will visit Scotland for the last time.

"What a difference, now and the old days," she exclaimed. "When I first went out to Australia with the family—I was one of 10 children—they were just trying out the steamships.

"We travelled in the Great Britain, a steamer which still used sails.

"Nowadays I do my physical exercises every morning on board just as I do at home. In that way I manage to keep fit."

MARBLE FLOOR NOISELESS

Also Skid-proof, Claim of Newcastle Makers

Newcastle.—A process for the use of plastic rubber in place of cement in the laying of jointless terrazzo floors has produced a noiseless marble floor.

Chippings of marble mixed with plastic rubber produce a compound which is easily laid in a semi-fluid state and is adhesive to wood, concrete, steel or a cork underlay.

Its wearing qualities are claimed to be equal to those of cement terrazzo, and the plastic rubber surface has the advantage of being skid-proof and easily cleaned.

USES TERRIER TO HIT WIFE ACROSS FACE

Clergyman Knocked Into Gutter by Frenchman, and Assessed $51

Ryde, Isle of Wight.—A scene during which a Church of England clergyman struck his wife with a dog, and was knocked into the gutter by a Frenchman, was described in court here.

Rev. George Garrett, aged 55, was fined $25, ordered to pay $26 for cruelty, and was disqualified indefinitely from keeping dogs.

It was stated that he:

Attached four dogs to the back of a motorcycle with chains, and, in spite of a woman's remonstrance, drove off, pulling the dogs behind him;

When his wife came up and spoke to him, struck her across the head with the terrier, which was so dazed that it could not stand.

Police-Sergeant Locke said he found Mr. Garrett lying in the gutter wearing a guady coat of Oriental pattern.

Mr. Garrett told the court he resented any suggestions of cruelty.

WOMAN BUYS 3 ISLANDS

600 Hebridean Sheep Also Involved in Deal

Oban.—Three islands in the Outer Hebrides and 600 sheep have just been purchased by Miss Bowen Colthurst, owner of a dairy farm in the south of England.

The islands are famous for their grazing, and sheep bred there always fetch the highest prices.

HOWLING OF GREAT DANES REVEAL MURDER AT FAIR

Fugitive Killer Hurdled Spiked Railings—Repeating Rifle Found

AFTERNOON SLAYING

London.—The howling of five great Danes in a fair ground revealed a daylight murder at Kew Bridge recently.

Forty-year-old Arthur Hodson, handyman at Beach's Fair, was shot dead. His assailant, who presumably intended to break into caravans, ran away and in his flight came almost within arm's length of painters working at King's Arms hotel, adjoining.

Police searching undergrowth near Kew Bridge found a Winchester repeating rifle. Other officers visited Twickenham Green, where a fair was in progress, for charity.

People passing over Kew Bridge heard the howling of the Great Danes, which were fenced off from the main enclosure. Peering over the parapet, they saw Hodson unconscious on the ground.

The murder occurred about 4.30 in the afternoon.

"The fugitive, a youngish man, dashed by me and leaped over some spiked railings," said Jack Fennell, one of the hotel painters. "I believe he was hatless, wore a brown suit and white shoes."

New buses are equipped with fluid flywheels and pre-selector, non-clash gear boxes to eliminate noise and insure a smoother ride.

He dived at a tremendous speed, started to loop, rolled off the top, performed an amazing figure-of-eight loop, several more rolls and half-rolls, a rocket loop and then landed, climbed out of the machine, puffed at a cigarette and apologized for taking 30 seconds longer by his stop-watch than he had anticipated.

CAR DIVES 150 FEET WOMAN GETS AWAY

Leaps Out Just Before Plunge Over Folkestone Cliff

Folkestone.—A runaway car crashed 150 feet over the cliffs at East Cliff, Folkestone, to-night and was wrecked on the rocks below. Mrs. Amy Humphreys, 65, who had been sitting in the car, managed to throw herself clear just before it plunged over.

The car was owned by the woman's son-in-law, John Alfred Mills, Leybourne, near Maidstone, who said he had left the car 150 feet from the cliff. It had been parked two hours before it unaccountably started on its mad career.

SEVENTY-SIX YEARS YOUNG

London. — "Seventy-six, and I touched my toes 20 times this morning, which is more than some younger men can do," said Gipsy Smith, evangelist, on his birthday recently.

AUCTIONEERS' DEAN IS 'TAKING IT EASY'

Has Seen $1,500,000 Roll in at Sale—Made Fabulous Deals

London. — Canadians who visit London this summer will find several younger men nodding "sold" at Christies' auction rooms, for Lancelot Hannen, principal auctioneer, has decided to "take it easy" after 40 years' service.

However, Hannen has indicated that he will not relinquish the pleasure of three hours' continuous selling twice a week.

Many of the world's greatest masterpieces have been disposed of by Hannen and he has established several art records.

In a few hours the Holford old masters brought a total of about $1,5000,000. On another occasion when a choice Romney portrait was expected to bring $150,000, Hannen took two rival bidders to $280,000.

Thirty - three years ago the "Worthing Gainsborough," a dirty canvas with a gun hole near the face, could bring only $25 at one auction house. At Christies it sold for $75,000.

Another time a reputed Rembrandt, believed worth only $1,000, brought $75,000.

But even when Hannen is not officiating, the little ivory hammer which has done duty since Christies was founded, will continue to rap out decisions. At one time it determined the ownership of saucepans and shovels.

WEIGHS 308 POUNDS HE'S ARTIST'S MODEL

Perhaps Too Fat For Horse to Pull, Ex.-Driver Reflects

London, Eng.—The hero of this year's Royal Academy exhibition is Tom Jagger, who weighs 308 pounds, and is the father of six children. He is not an artist but an amateur model.

He posed for a picture of a fat old gentleman in shirt-sleeves practising happily on a cornet. There is a glass of beer at his elbow. The beer has already been partly subdued.

The canvas, entitled "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," by George Belcher, A.R.A., is attracting more attention from the public than any other exhibit.

Jagger declares he doesn't dream about marble halls. He dreams of a job. He hasn't been employed for two years. He used to be a driver of a baker's van.

"Perhaps they think I'm too fat for a horse to pull," he said.

Jagger doesn't really play a cornet.

"That's just artistic license," he said. "I never played a note of music of any kind. But I play darts.

"I posed for about six hours for the picture. The bottle of beer was before me all the time. I had to keep on blowing the cornet all the time I was sitting and it was a bit of a strain, I can tell you. There were times when I felt like throwing the thing out of the window."

SAFETY PIN IN LUNG

London.—Doctors waged a three-morths' fight to recover an open safety pin from the lung of Thomas Custy, two, but they were unsuccessful and the child died.

HATCHET WIELDED ON TRACK AS GANG ATTACKS BOOKIES

BRING 16 TO COURT

Lewes—Sixteen men charged with frequenting Lewes race-course with intent to commit a felony were remanded in custody for a week.

It was stated that two men had been attacked by a gang of 30 and one was still in hospital.

Hammers, iron bars, files, a life preserver, a jemmy, a chopper, an improvised truncheon, a length of rubber, a hatchet and a knuckle-duster, which were said to have been found on the course after the men were arrested, were on a table in court.

Detective Sergeant Collyer, of Brighton police, said he saw about 30 men, including the 16 prisoners, come from the direction of the car park.

They stood manning the bookmakers, and one man not in custody said to the others: 'It is no good here. There are too many top hats about."

They then walked past him in very close formation.

"Detective James and I followed and I made a communication to Inspector Stripp and two other officers.

"When the prisoners reached the second booth, Spinks shouted: 'Here they are, boys, get your tools ready.'

"They began to run, and we ran also.

"I saw a man named Solomon walking toward them carrying bookmakers' equipment, followed by another man whom I now know to be the injured man, Frater.

"When James Spinks shouted 'Get your tools ready,' every member of the gang produced a weapon.

"They all rushed at Solomon. Several blows were struck at him and he was wounded about the head.

"He ran away. They circled round Frater, being led by Spinks, and I saw Spinks strike Frater with the hatchet. Other blows were rained at him by other members of the gang, and Frater collapsed.

"Someone in the crowd then shouted, 'They are here, boys. Blow.'

"They all made off toward the car park. As they did so they threw implements away.

Spinks denied he had the hatchet and asked for his fingerprints to be taken.

Inspector Collier replied that would be impossible in view of the handling it had had. All 16 pleaded not guilty.

JUST SIXPENCE LEFT

Inhibited Vicar Enters Poor House at Leicester

Producing six pennies as he waited to see the relieving official, Dr. Shannon said: "That's all I've got . . . I can't go on living on borrowed money."

LEGLESS MAN KILLED

Portsmouth. — William Hawkins, who lost both his legs below the knees during the war, and walked with artificial ones, was knocked down and killed by a lorry. Both his thighs were broken.

'BLEATED LIKE GOAT' WOMAN IS CHARGED

But Scottish Fiscal Rules No Offence Committed

Edinburgh.—"That, near her home, she did laugh at a man and his wife and did imitate the bleating of a goat to their annoyance, and did thus commit a breach of the peace. . . ."

That was the extraordinary charge brought at Alloa, Clackmannanshire, police court against Mrs. Jessie Ramsay (or Chalmers), of Dollar, near Alloa.

The fiscal said many acts might or might not be breaches of the peace according to the way in which they were done. He found in Mrs. Ramsay's favor and dismissed the case.

GIRL POLO PLAYER PROVES 'BEST MAN'

Teammates Didn't Suspect Identity Until Game Well On

London.—Pretty 21-year-old Mrs. M. B. Lancaster, who plays polo in the Argentine, took part in a match at Olympia as a man, and nobody among the spectators suspected her secret.

Even the officials were surprised when they were told about it later.

But the dashing young player, in smart man's kit, attracted a good deal of notice by her daring horsemanship and skill.

She played for Sayato, who lost to Putney by seven goals to three, and scored two of her side's goals.

"It is an unwritten rule that women do not play in London tournaments," said Major S. C. Deed, manager of Olympia polo.

Tom Hitler, captain of the Sayato players, explained:

"I fixed up the team in a hurry and I did not know there would be a woman playing. Her name was given to me as M. B. Lancaster.

"I did not know until the last moment that it was a girl. I was very surprised.

"I don't think the players realized it either until the middle of the match when she remarked to someone, 'I think my hair is coming down.'

"Anyway, she played better than any of us."

Mrs. Lancaster is visiting England with her husband.

She is a well-known polo player in the Argentine, where women play as much as men.

ONE-ACT PLAY GIVEN ALL IN SIGN TONGUE

Gesture Represents Each of 850 Basic Words—Teaching Chimpanzees, Too

London.—A one-act play and a poem with music, both entirely without spoken words, but given in the gesture language devised by the noted English scientist, Sir Robert Paget, were presented as part of his effort to induce all nations to accept his basic language of signs and gestures as a convenient international speech.

Several years ago Sir Richard originated the theory that speech began ages ago when gestures of the mouth, face or hands were combined with primitive sounds. He also has studied the sign languages of deaf-mutes and various primitive races, such as the American Indians.

Many of the signs he finds to be the same all over the world, perhaps because the same ideas suggest appropriate gestures or perhaps because there once existed some single world-wide language used by everybody.

Sir Richard and his collaborators in the propaganda for an international sign language have prepared gesture signs for each of the 850 words that make up the so-called basic English devised by Dr. C. K. Ogden. With only a little effort at memorizing these signs, Sir Richard claims that any one can use or understand this sign language, regardless of whether his own language is English or something else.

The playlet presented in London described by signs how an airman and a girl passenger made a forced landing on a savage island and used Sir Richard's sign language to win the help and friendship of the local chief.

Sir Richard also has arranged to have his sign language tested in training young chimpanzees at the London zoo.

FINDS HE'S NOT BIGAMIST

First Marriage Invalid, is Ruling of Court

London.—A man who was stated to have pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy found at Gloucester assizes he was legally married to the second woman.

He was Joseph Jacobs, 62, a laborer, of Hanham, near Bristol, and he was "married" in 1903 to Agnes Hamlin, the daughter of his deceased wife's sister, and therefore his niece. That union was ruled by the court as invalid.

WASTE MADE INTO BRICKS

Produced in All Hues From Mining Slag

London.—A process of making bricks of all colors from slag and waste products of the mining industry has been discovered by Lyndall Forse of Yeovil. Government departments have taken an interest in the discovery, and a plant is soon to be opened at Radstock in the Somerset coal-fields.

SMUGGLERS' ARMORED CARS CRASHING FRENCH DEFENCES

Automatic Shears Cut Wire Barriers, Tires Defy Spike Trap

EVEN CARRY BRIDGES

Dunkirk.—One of the most amazing smuggling organizations which Europe has ever known is now operating along the Franco-Belgian frontier.

It has been developed almost on the lines of great chain stores.

Many of the smugglers are armed, and the heavier loads of contraband are carried in armored lorries, with bullet-proof driving cabins.

In an attempt to cope with the smugglers the French customs guards have been strongly reinforced.

They now operate in what they call first line brigades, second line brigades, mechanized brigades and cyclist sections.

French customs authorities declare the smugglers are using at least two aeroplanes, in addition to the armored lorries and packs of trained dogs.

Almost fantastic things are happening along the frontier because the rate of exchange means that scores of commodities can be bought in Belgium for half the price they cost in France—and in some cases for much less even than that.

Tobacco is the basis of the illicit trade, and is the most profitable product of all. Gains of as much as 400 and 500 per cent. are known to be made. On other goods profits reach 50 per cent. and more.

The lorries used, in addition to being armor-plated and having bullet-proof glass, use big solid rubber tires so that the spikes placed across the roads at some of the customs posts would, while tearing them, not put them out of commission.

A new and even more powerful lorry just introduced in the Dunkirk district by smugglers has concealed wheels protected by armor plates, a prow-like front—much like a snowplow—and powerful shears which, operated from the driver's seat, cut through wire obstacles placed across roads.

"This lorry," a customs official reveals, "is reported to have got through four times."

Some time ago, at certain points, the French authorities relied on rope barriers to stop the vehicles. The smugglers countered this, however, by fitting ingeniously developed band-saw attachments to the wheels of their lorries.

Often the smugglers get through, after hand-to-hand fights. They even carry small, but strong, portable bridges which they throw across country streams to facilitate their escape.

Trained dogs are not being used now to the extent that they were a few months ago. For one thing, French customs men now shoot on sight a suspected dog; for another, they have dogs of their own which are trained to chase and fight the others.

IT SOON MOUNTS UP

Manchester. — Aboard the liner Queen Mary, recently bound for New York, was a $12.50-per-week cotton operative. He puts aside a small amount weekly for foreign travel.

CONSUL THREATENED 2 LET OUT OF JAIL

Dynamite Causes Arrest, Fear of it, Release

A crowd invaded the Spanish legation. They threatened to blow up the minister's home unless the prisoners were released.

The minister telephoned to Rhonda. The two prisoners were released.

MONKEYS OUST MEN PICKING COCOANUTS

Animals Work More Rapidly When Specially Trained For Job

Trained monkeys, of a variety known as "broks," can pick nuts as fast as 1,000 a day. This greatly exceeds the output of a man.

A Malay keeper at the foot of a cocoanut palm sends the brok up the tall trunk, with a thin rope tied round the animal's waist. If the monkey attempts to pick a nut that looks too green, the rope is given one tug. When the monkey is wanted to come down to reap the nuts on another palm, the Malay gives the rope two tugs.

The broks are brought from Singapore, the centre of the animal trade in Malaya. Their training requires great patience and they are first taught to pick up nutshells off the ground.

A trained brok is of great value to an owner. He is let out on contract to copra estates at profitable rates and the cost of feeding him each day is practically nothing.

MORE RICE FOR RUSSIA

New Area Being Developed Along Caspian Sea

Moscow.—A new area for the growing of rice is being developed along certain sections of the Caspian sea coast inundated by the Volga river floods. The area under rice has this year been extended to about 250 acres. Last year only 50 acres of rice were sown but the success of the experiment was considered to justify the increase.

RED FLAG OVER SCHOOL

Manchester.—A red flag bearing the sign of the hammer and sickle floated over a grammar school recently. It was hoisted by a boy as a prank.

ROUMANIAN CHAMBER BANS ALL GAMBLING

Racehorse Betting Only Survives Decree to Eliminate Gambling

Bucharest.—A law, unanimously adopted by the chamber, has put an end to gambling and betting in Roumania with the exception of betting on race horses.

For the first time in Roumania's post-war history, the various political parties forgot their dissensions to pass the legislation.

Aside from innumerable gambling clubs in Bucharest and the larger cities, Roumania's summer resorts boasted of the most elegant casinos; Sinaia, the royal family's summer residence in the mountains, and Constantza, on the Black Sea, had the ambition of competing even with Monte Carlo.

Parliament's drastic action was caused by the fact that the gambling mania has assumed alarming proportions and had caused several embezzlements and suicides.

To combat clandestine gambling dens, which are certain to spring up, efficiently the Roumanian department of justice has created a special police squad on the same lines as the famous "G-men" in the United States.

MOCK AIR RAID

Lisbon.—The first mock air raid ever to be carried out in Portugal was staged in the centre of Lisbon recently. A number of fighters first covered the town with a smoke screen. They were followed by attacks from bombers. The troops on the ground answered with anti-aircraft fire and were ordered to prevent the mock raiders attempting to land. The bombers and fighters have driven off the raiders. The population remained perfectly disciplined. At no time was there any sign of panic.

FIVE-DAY WEEK SURPRISE

Leicester.—A surprise was sprung recently when the boot and shoe industry decided to introduce a five-day working week.

DRESS OF INDIAN WOMAN IS FIRE ESCAPE FOR FORTY

Score of Others Perish in Flames as Movie House Is Razed

OCCUPIED GALLERY

Madras—Presence of mind on the part of the wife of a Hyderabad state official—she lives her life hidden behind curtains, seeing no man but her husband—saved the lives of 40 other "purdah" women when a cinema in Hyderabad City was destroyed by fire.

Twenty women and children perished in the flames. Bodies were identified through the jewels they wore.

Some 60 women were in the cinema. All sat in a balcony screened so that they could see the film without being observed by the rest of the audience.

Suddenly the operator's box burst into flames. In a moment the women's balcony was ablaze and the way of escape blocked by fire.

The official's wife leaped to her feet, tore off her gaily colored sari, the long outer garment worn by Indian women.

Tying it to the balcony railing, she called to the women to slide down the improvised fire escape into the auditorium below, and then slid down it herself to safety.

Other women lost their heads and flung themselves screaming to the floor below, while the rest of the audience stampeded and many were injured.

London. — Several of London's leading stores have engaged architects to design "viewing rooms" where the public can see the B.B.C. television programs.

These rooms are being elaborately designed and furnished and will hold 25 or more people.

FRIENDLY TUSSLE KILLS TWO MEN

Munich.—Two peasants died as the result of a friendly "strength testing" wrestling bout.

The men, Josef Gedler, aged 24, and Josef Helz, aged 27, both of Kafbeuren, South Bavaria, were returning home from a church service when they stopped at a local inn for a glass of beer.

In the good-humored wrestling match that followed, Gedler struck his head on a table leg and died 20 minutes later from a fractured skull. Helz, as a result of over-exertion and the shock of his friend's death, had a heart attack and died the same night.

FIND SECRET MINT 2,000 YEARS OLD

Is Ancient Den Where Silver Currency Counterfeited

Vienna. — A secret mint where false silver money was coined by a gang of counterfeiters nearly 2,000 years ago was discovered in the course of excavations at the lower Danube, near the Hungarian frontier.

Ruins of many Roman settlements were found till now in the valley of the Danube, but this is the first time that remains of the Roman underworld were brought to light. The discovery is particularly interesting because it shows that a considerable part of the ancient Roman coins, contained in various numismatic collections, are forged ones.

KILLED BY BOULDER

Llangollen, Wales.—Mrs. Margaret Roberts, 30, was killed when struck by a huge boulder that hurtled down a mountainside near here. Her two young children, walking with her, escaped.

NEW OUTBREAKS OVER FIRE FRONT KEEP CREWS BUSY

Prince Edward County Orders Furrows Along 18 Miles Of Highway

20 BLAZES AT SUDBURY

(By the Canadian Press.)

Forest rangers and volunteers continued their efforts to halt destruction of timber and grasslands on scattered Ontario fire fronts today as reports of new outbreaks reached district headquarters.

Twenty bush fires raged in the Sudbury district last night extending over 300 acres of ground. One of the worst fires was fought by 80 men in a 200-acre area in Carlyle township.

At Parry Sound little change was reported in the condition of the fires. Smoke clouded the district and A. E. Whytall, chief forest ranger, believed some of the fires were of incendiary nature.

Fires in the district surrounding Sault Ste. Marie kept almost 400 fighters busy. Seven fires were being fought in the Franz division, the largest near Oiseau Bay skirting Lake Superior.

Prince Edward County authorities ordered three furrows ploughed for 18 miles on each side of the Mountain View-Picton highway as a precaution against further outbreaks from cigar butts thrown from automobiles. Small grass fires were reported near Peterborough, but none of a serious nature.

HOPE TO DISCOVER RUSTLESS WHEAT

Saskatchewan Officials Comb Fields On Clean Farm Selecting Heads

INDIAN HEAD, Sask., Aug. 7.—(CP)—In the search for "rustless" grain 20 men and boys are slowly weaving their way through wheat fields on the farm of J. H. Wilson, near here, selecting heads.

The work is being done under the direction of Indian Head Experimental Farm where Renown and other varieties of wheat are being tested and multiplied. The aim is to produce a rustless grain with all the qualities of Marquis or Reward.

Thatcher wheat on Mr. Wilson's farm promises a heavy yield despite drought conditions, possibly 30 bushels to the acre. The grain is fine and strong and unblemished by rust, while neighboring fields show pitted stems.

It was necessary to plow around some of the buildings to prevent the flames from reaching them.

Volunteers Fight Bad Blaze In Hendry's Swamp, Seymour Township

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 7.—A serious grass fire broke out in Hendy's swamp shortly before eleven o'clock on Wednesday night. Operators at No. 11 Hydro power house, which is located directly opposite, noticed the flames and turned in the alarm. Volunteers from Campbellford assisted by neighboring farmers, had the blaze under control before midnight. Fortunately there was no wind blowing, and it was just a case of beating out the flames which had ignited the dry rail fence and were heading towards a thickly-wooded bush. Motorists, carelessly throwing their cigarette butts on the sun-scorched grass, are believed to have caused the outbreak.

Loyalists Advancing

MADRID, Aug. 7.—Loyalist advance guards plunged forward, the government claimed to-day, to win new positions from revolting Fascists in the Guadarrama mountains.

The Liberal drive carried the militia ahead for seven kilometers (approximately 4½ miles), officials asserted.

The government claimed occupation of two Aragonese towns—Tardeinta and Graner—and reported capture of the important communications centre of Baena, 24 miles from the rebel stronghold at Cordoba.

The fate of Cadiz, southwest seaport, remained in doubt after unofficial reports of its capture by Leftists were not confirmed.

Charges Tangier Meddling

TANGIER, Aug. 7 (CP Havas).—A formal protest from the Spanish revolt leader, Gen. Francisco Franco over alleged aid accorded the Loyalist Government by Tangier authorities to-day created new portents of international trouble.

Added significance was given by observers to the protest, contained in a letter dated August 4, because of the fact its despatch coincided with the arrival of the German battleship Deutschland at Tetuan and the visit of its officers to the rebel leaders.

She obtained a warrant for the arrest of Hass. She said the last love letter he delivered came through a pane of glass with a brick attached.

Lean-To Kitchen On Carr Home Is Scene Of Late Night Blaze

BETHANY, Aug. 7—About 11.30 on Wednesday night fire was seen issuing from the roof of a lean-to kitchen of the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Carr.

Help was immediately on the scene and succeeded in saving the front of cottage which was built of brick. The building is pretty badly damaged with fire and smoke and water.

Some insurance was held on the contents which were removed.

plication when one board would act much more efficiently and save a great deal of duplication of work and effort."

"It certainly seems natural to suppose it would be more economical to have a central purchasing department for these schools instead of four separate ones as at present. The ratepayers would receive better service for the money expended with one board.

"At the present time we are paying a 2 mill assessment in Section No. 1, while in Section No. 2, there is a 10.4 mill rate; in Section No. 3, they do not pay any mill rate; and in Section No. 4, there is a mill rate of 3.2. The general school rate is 5.3 mills in all sections.

"There is no reason why the ratepayers in S.S. No. 2 should be required to pay a higher mill rate than those ratepayers in other sections of the township. The Public School Act of 1932 amends the School Section of 1927. Sub Section 1 of Section 15, states as follows:

Quotes Act

"The council of a township may by a by-law passed with the consent of a majority of the whole number of members of the council, before the 1st of July in any year, set apart, the whole or any portion of the township, as a township school area and may declare that hereafter the school sections included in the township school area shall cease to exist as separate school sections, and that the school boards having jurisdiction there shall be dissolved."

"The majority of the voters as well as the amount of property assessment is in No. 2 School Section and there is no reason why the ratepayers in this section cannot elect a council favorable to the passage of this equalizing by-law, eliminating the present very unequal tax assessment."

$112,772 SPENT IN CITY RELIEF ALREADY IN 1936

City's Share Has Been $43,764.04—Government Paid Balance

Peterboro disbursed in relief during the seventh months ending July 31 the total sum of $112,772.44, receiving from the government $69,-296.0 and paying the balance, $43,-764.04 out of the city treasury.

Alderman Dutton presented this statement to the relief committee Thursday night, showing that slightly more than $26,000 remains of the appropriation of $70,000 which had been estimated for relief purposes last February.

"Not so good," was Alderman Tuggey's comment in regard to the sum that has to be spread over five months, and Alderman Dutton proceeded to indicate the brighter side of the interim statement with the possibility of avoiding a deficit for the year by what Alderman Wilson described as "eternal vigilance" of the persons listed for relief and the amounts allotted to them.

"If we get a break we may manage to pull through with very little in excess of our appropriation," Ald. Dutton said. One source of expected aid is the Dominion government in their proposals to do some work here this year on a grant that has been mentioned up to $10,000.

According to the financial statement of the relief department last year the present trend is toward a deficit of $17,000, but with a decline in the monthly cost of relief as in July and a substantial works grant from the government the department may avoid the "red" at the end of the year.

Comparative Figures.

July's provisions cost $5,907.56 as against $8,094.71 for the same month last year; milk was down from 1,008.62 to $694.99 last month; fuel down from $583.02 to $377; rent down from $2,978.13 to $2,098.50. The July total was $13,764.10 last year, and last month it was $9,768.29, a decline of $3,995.81.

TRAPPER'S DIARY TALE OF TRAGEDY

Starved To Death Says Notebook Beside Body Far North Of Calgary

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Alta., Aug. 7. — (CP). — A well-thumbed diary told the story today of the death by starvation of 60-year-old Olaf Olson, and a cross by the banks of the Baptiste River marked his final resting place.

The emaciated body of the Lackwoods trapper was found lying on the floor of his lonely cabin at the forks of Baptiste and Saskatchewan Rivers, 60 miles northwest of this settlement, which is 100 miles from Calgary.

Olson had starved to death. Until July 16 he had daily recorded his privations. The diary was found beside his body when Constable J. H. Leyland of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police forced his way through the locked door of the cabin.

July 14 was marked: "Feeling sick and remained in bed all day." July 15: "Getting weaker." July 16: "Very weak, eyes get dull." Each day on his calendar was marked off until July 26 when it was presumed he died.

OUR FALSE SOCIAL STANDING HAS TENDED TO DEFLECT MANY FROM BECOMING A CRAFTSMAN

Canadians Are Inclined To Take Life Easily Dr. MacDougall Says

WHITE COLLAR JOBS

"Peterborough is a business-like centre and one of the best for its size in Ontario," Dr. J. B. MacDougall, Assistant Chief Inspector of the Department of Education, declared during a brief stop over here on Thursday.

Asked to comment on the reported statement of the Hon. Duncan McArthur, Deputy Minister of Education, who told teachers attending a summer school, "We are training too many for white collar jobs," Dr. MacDougall stated, "I am inclined to agree with him."

He believed, however, that the false social standard which says there is something demeaning and degrading in manual labor comes from tradition more than anything else. "It is hard to deflect public opinion from that viewpoint, but anyone who meets a skilled craftsman of any kind must realize that there is something more than mere academic ability to be reckoned with."

Dr. MacDougall believed educational authorities are trying to lay more stress on the dignity of labor, by vocational training and guidance, and he was pleased to learn that in Peterborough a branch of the Ontario Vocational Guidance Association had been recently formed, and to know that a group of local teachers are taking keen interest in this comparatively new branch of educational instruction.

A Scotsman by birth, Dr. MacDougall spent his early life in Lanark County in Eastern Ontario, and the greater part of his working life in Northern Ontario. He is of the firm belief that Canada's future lies in the rich untapped resources of the north.

Have Forged Ahead.

Much of his work in the past has brought him in close contact with settlers in the north country of foreign extraction, and he expressed deep admiration for the immigrants from Central Europe, who worked purposefully towards a definite objective. He cited several instances of young immigrants from Czechoslovakia and Poland among other countries, who had come here handicapped by language difficulties, and who by sheer determination and application had forged ahead with their academic studies in Canadian schools to occupy positions of some importance.

Dr. MacDougall expressed the opinion "too many Canadians are inclined to take life easily, and they will have to watch themselves or they may run the danger of being left behind."

With the stoppage of the influx of immigrants for the time being much of that competition had been removed, MacDougall agreed, but he thought the time not far distant when Canada will again have to fling wide her gates to newcomers. "The country's great need when economic conditions have begun to adjust themselves will be more immigrants; and the future of Canada lies in the rich north country."

Basing his judgment on the results of his observations in his travels up and down the province, Dr. MacDougall said, "There is absolutely no doubt that conditions, now by comparison with the situation a year ago, are greatly improved."

SECOND UNIT IS BEING INSTALLED

Quality Of Madoc Slate Is Surpassing Earliest Expectations

A second unit for the sawing, splitting and dressing of slate has arrived at the Madoc plant of the Canadian Slate Products Limited, and is being installed at once J. F. Noakes, director, informed The Examiner to-day. This machine was delivered from Port Madoc, Wales.

The company is also setting up a Jeffrey fifty-ton crushing plant for the manufacture of slate granules and flour. The powder is largely used in the rubber, linoleum, paint and other similar manufactures as a filler. Consumption of slate granules in Canada last year totalled 4,000 tons, and the Madoc company expect soon to be in the market with their Canadian product. The quality of their slate is said to be surpassing earliest expectations.

Consumers' Societies in Sweden are adding many new members.

SUING FOR $2,000.

A writ on behalf of William L. Arkles of Colborne against William J. Venton of London, Ontario, was issued by G. N. Gordon, K.C., today. Two thousand dollars damages are being asked in connection with the death of Minnie Arkles, 8-year-old daughter of the plaintiff, resulting from an accident on the highway in Colborne on July 8.

There is a message awaiting him relative to a death in the young man's family, and he is urgently sought. Will anyone knowing of Mr. Naylor's location please call this message to his attention.

MORE GRASS FIRES.

Grass fires continued to plague the Fire Department overnight. Two were put out by firemen in the city Thursday afternoon and two more were given attention today. The blazes were on Lisbon Street, Murray Street, at the corner of Armour Road and Sophia Street, and at the corner of Burnham and James Streets. No damage to property was caused by any of the four fires.

FIRE IN SOMERVILLE.

A large area of pasture land on the farm of Ernest Poulsom, Somerville, burned yesterday afternoon and only the strenuous efforts of a gang of men from neighboring farms saved the barn from destruction. The blaze supposedly started from a spark from the engine of a train and spread so quickly that men who rushed to the scene to keep it from fences and buildings were forced to put up a stiff fight.

TRANSIENT IS FENALIZED.

Pleading guilty to a charge of entering the tender of a C.P.R. locomotive with intent to be carried thereon without paying his fare, a transient described as Thomas Gorman, was on Friday morning ordered by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to pay a fine of $5 and 75 cents costs or to take the option of 5-days in the county gaol. The charge was laid on the information of Special Investigator W. Ramsey of Toronto.

10 TENTS AT CAMP.

Many tourists are making use of the camp site afforded by the Exhibition Grounds. Thursday evening, ten tents were to be counted. Caretaker Jack Gillespie who attends to the visitors' wants and keeps a supervising eye over the grounds states the visitors have been making shorter stays this year. Many are bound through the city on Highway 7 and make merely an over-night stop here, he reports.

NOT A MARRIAGE MART.

Twenty-nine single men on relief last month, nine fewer than a year ago, and thirty-four single women, an increase of five, prompted the suggestion by Alderman Tuggey that possibly A. G. Metheral, relief officer, might stimulate a few weddings. Alderman Glover discouraged that prospect saying that the men were mostly confirmed old bachelors, with some young men of physical disabilities preventing them from working.

MAY BUY WOODCOCK WOOD.

Lorne Woodcock's plan to acquire a wood lot of twenty-five acres in the hope of establishing himself was considered by the relief committee last night. He suggested to them that the city give [illegible] of fifty cords of wood at the road side for $3 a cord which would enable him to pay for the property. The committee decided to make a few incidental enquiries before closing the agreement with Mr. Woodcock. He was told that he would get a final answer within a few days.

250 REGISTER FOR WORK.

More than two hundred and fifty men have registered applications for work at the Employment Services Bureau here in anticipation of the paving jobs which are soon to be begun on the Norwood-Haveiock road and on the Landsowne cut-off. Superintendent D. M. Douglas is in hopes of being able to place a good portion of the number when operations are begun. There has been little movement in unskilled labor during the past several weeks and the demand for farm workers has fallen almost to zero, Mr. Douglas reports. The active registration at the Bureau totals at present about 500. Total registrations for the year are 1,700.

Ontario Forestry Department Seeks Service Of Young Peterborough Pilot

Stressing the huge task which is facing fire rangers in their battle against forest and bush fires in various parts of the province, Bernard Allen, 24-year-old local commercial pilot states that the Ontario Forestry department has offered to rent his newly acquired D.H. Moth seaplane and to engage his services in the Sudbury district. According to Allen, "The Forestry Department has almost every plane in the province engaged on patrol work and in running in supplies to fire rangers."

Allen who landed his seaplane on Little Lake in front of George Street Wharf at half-past six o'clock on Wednesday evening after a flight of one hour and fifteen minutes from Toronto, is undecided about accepting the offer, which he says the Department has made him.

If he does not rent his plane to the Forestry Department, Allen says he will go on a "barn-storming" tour of the district with his plane, and will charter it for private trips. Later he plans to give instruction flights, when he qualifies for his instructor's license.

He is the son of Mrs. Loretta Allen of 629 Rogers Street.

EX-BELGIAN PILOT IS CONTORTIONIST

Hiking Around World Since 1918 With His Faithful Dog

Claiming to be a war veteran of the Belgian Flying Corps, Charles Pioncke of Passchendaele, who is on a walking tour of the world, is in Peterborough seeking some location where he might give public exhibitions of his ability as a contortionist. Although 6 feet 3 inches Monsieur Pioncke says he is able to double himself up in a box 18-inches square.

He showed The Examiner a framed picture he carres with him of the late King of the Belgians, and photographs of himself doubled up into various queer poses. He does not speak English at all fluently, but when asked if his home was in Passchendaele, "No. Not now. My home after the war was all shot to pieces." His sole companion on his world hike, which he started in 1918, is a faithful canine friend.

In reply to a question as to the number of countries he had travelled in since the start of his tour, Monsieur Pioncke replied, "Too much for me to talk. It would make a book up, and talking for me is a hard job.

TWO REGATTAS ARE SET FOR SATURDAY

Feature Event Of The Day Is The Annual Regatta At Chemong

Two regattas are scheduled to be run off Saturday in this district. At Chemong Lake the annual Chemong regatta will be held on the waterfront off the Peterborough Canoe Company livery and one the same afternoon boys and girls from the entire Stoney and Clear Lake region will gather at Juniper Island for the Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association's annual junior regatta at Juniper Island.

A fine list of events has been arranged for Chemong and the card will draw the best talent the district has to offer. Entries promise to be good. Among the features will be the card of dinghy and canoe races and Ellsworth Flavelle and Gordon S. Matthews will renew their rivalry to determine the superiority of their respective sloops.

The annual junior regatta at Juniper Island has in past years proved the biggest event of its kind in the Kawartha region and indications are that large crowds will be in attendance Saturday.

ABERHART

unemployment through a province-wide program of highway construction financed through prosperity certificates. The first of these, of $1 denomination, were circulating through the province to-day.

Provision for the issue was made under the Social Credit Measures Act passed last June. The certificates to be redeemed by the Government are taxable at the rate of one per cent. of their face value each week.

Redeemable After Month

They may be redeemed at their face value after being in use for one month, providing sufficient one per cent. stamps are affixed. Acceptance of the certificates is voluntary, but many merchants have signified their willingness to co-operate.

The scheme is not to be confused with payment of basic dividends, Mr. Aberhart said, plans for which will be discussed at a session of the Legislature when registration forms have been returned. It was adopted to keep men off relief rolls and to create new industries in the province.

Under the Aberhart dividend plan every bona fide citizen will receive a monthly dividend suggested at $25. An automatic price control system will be introduced to fix a just price at which goods and services will be made available. This amount will be withdrawn from circulation through a turnover tax.

To aid in planning supply of goods and produce required throughout the province all individuals, manufacturers, farmers, producers and retailers were asked to fill in a registration form detailing intimate knowledge of the business and trade.

In return the Government promised to assist in many ways, one of which was the granting of interest-free loans. Guarantees contained in the covenant pledged the manufacturer or producer to make every effort to reduce cost of and speed production for consumption in the province. Co-operation with the Government was promised in efficient planning.

Information by October

The Premier hoped to have all information gathered by the end of September. The amount of the first dividend, he said, must be obtained by a comparison of the province's consumption and production figures which registration would reveal.

The total amount of purchasing power in the consumer's possession would equate to the total value of consumable goods when citizens were given purchasing power necessary to consume all they produced.

Co-operation with the Government to enable the administration to carry out its plans were urged by J. E. Brownlee, former provincial Premier. Speaking at a United Farmers of Alberta convention, he said the Government was faced with the "gravest crisis in the history of Western Canada," and asked the United Farmer party to co-operate "wherever we can conscientiously do so and give them a chance to carry out their plans."

Montreal In Throes Of First Taxi Strike

MONTREAL, Aug. 7. — (CP). — Montreal found itself in the throes of a taxicab strike to-day, the first in its history.

Approximately 500 cabs, independently owned but operated through the Diamond Taxicab Association, will be called off the streets in an effort to have monthly fees paid that organization reduced. Cab drivers who purchase their cars from the association pay $38.75 a month to the organization. They are asking for a reduction to $25.

RECOVER 32 BODIES FROM ENGLISH MINE

Hope Abandoned Of Finding Remaining 25 Missing Men Alive

BARNSLEY, Yorkshire, Eng., Aug. 7.—(CP).—Weary rescue crews returned to-day to the grim task of searching for the bodies of 25 miners who apparently died in a coal mine explosion.

The 25 were officially listed as missing, but prospects for their rescue alive were termed "hopeless" after bodies of 32 fellow workers had been brought out of the wrecked workings.

The 57 men of the night shift of the Wharncliff, Wood, Moor Company were entombed early yesterday by a terrific blast which plunged coal and rock down on them.

Many of their comrades, the rescuers said, were hurled to death against the jagged walls. Others died of gas which crept through the chambers.

Only one man—Alfred Brown — reached the top alive. His condition was so serious doctors and nurses at Barnsley Hospital laboured throughout the night to preserve the feeble spark of life.

Around the mine pithead, a pathetic group of women—the miners' wives—stood in hushed silence. Most were red-eyed from a night of weeping.

Messages of sympathy to the bereaved women came from King Edward and Prime Minister Baldwin. His Majesty requested he be kept informed of the progress of the rescue work.

A very lively and interesting day is forecast by the prevailing lunar and mutual aspects of important planets. Nevertheless, there are indications of loss, difficulties, disturbances and regrets unless proper vigilance and prudence is maintained.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared for a very lively year with favorable prospects if affairs are managed prudently and calmly. Self-indulgence, extravagance, quarrels, tumult, wild deeds and snap judgments may result in loss and calamity. Shun speculation and be guided by substantial and friendly elders.

A child born on this date may be brilliant, energetic and creative, but may be restless, wayward and impetuous.

HIKER THUMBS WRONG DRIVER IS ARRESTED

Brantford Man Placed Under Arrest By Traffic Officer

AMERICAN CITIZEN?

Leo James Cudahy, 28, of Brantford will probably be more discriminate in the use of his thumb the next time he goes "hitch-hiking." Thursday he signalled Motorcycle Patrol Constable Lloyd A. McClure for a lift in the vicinity of Fraserville. As a result he was remanded in custody by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., when he pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy this (Friday) morning.

Stating that he was a native of Lindsay, the accused presented a smartly-dressed and well-groomed appearance in court. In answer to the charge he declared, "I've nothing to say.

When arrested because he was unable to give a satisfactory account of himself, it is alleged he was found in possession of two letters of recommendation which represented him to be a citizen of Phoenix, Arizona, who had become stranded in Canada as a result of unfortunate circumstances.

A letter written on the stationary of Office Specialties Limited, and purporting to be signed by Thomas E. Moore, salesman, was worded as follows:

"Leo Cudahy is a citizen of Phoenix, Arizona. He journeyed to Ottawa a few days ago and under unfortunate circumstances he lost quite an amount of money. I offered him hospitality of a supper at my home and he proved himself a gentleman and earned the respect of my mother and father. He is endeavoring to reach Chicago, when he will be able to make contact with his employers and thus reach Phoenix. I am sure anyhelp you can give this young man will be greatly appreciated by him as by myself."

The second letter purporting to be signed by C. C. Revere of Revere Signs, Kingston, was couched in similar terms. It stated in part: "Leo Cudahy has been known to me for the past few days in Kingston. No doubt he will explain he came to a mishap in Montreal, and personally I feel anything you can do will be appreciated by him in helping him to get to his home town. I have every reason to believe this young man is absolutely honest and trustworthy which should give every reason to do what we can for him. After all, we should endeavor to right a wrong that has been committed by our own people apparently."

MEN ON RELIEF GOING TO FIND TIGHTENING UP

City Council To Crack Down On Those Who Prefer Relief

15 PER CENT. LEAKAGE

The City Council comprising the relief committee is beginning to crack down on those men who prefer relief to work. That was the prevailing sentiment at Thursday night's meeting when the committee scanned its supply of soft wood for summer discribution and decided not to order any more this year.

Even Alderman Glover expressed the opinion that the municipalities were being forced to "lighten up" on relief distribution by the several cuts in the grants from the governments.

"The government believes there is a leakage of at least 15 to 20 per cent. in relief, and they have arrived at the conclusion that they are getting it put over them," Ald. Glover said. "Their intention is plainly that they want able-bodied men to go to work, and they are hammering us to see that men of that kind are forced off the relief list. And it is up to us to do it."

By the end of this month a new register of the people on relief will afford more personal information than is now available. Members of the committee declared that they are strongly opposed to giving relief to men who are able to work but who are apparently content to accept relief rather than rustle for a job. The possibility of a deficit in this department at the end of December is hardening the attitude of all the members of the committee. They expressed the opinion that employment has substantially improved, and that the man who sincerely desires it can get work.

The Rambling REPORTERS

BE CAREFUL OF BOILERS

There's a small boy in Lakefield who will in future be careful about standing around boiler rooms. He was standing in the boiler room of a Lakefield plant the other day with his back to the boiler which had just been fired by the engineer in charge. Suddenly there was an explosion, the fire doors bursting open and flames and smoke puffing out with a roar. Enveloped in smoke and soot, the boy hurtled out through a door into the open air like a comet—the seat of his pants blazing merrily.

The fire on the seat of his pants was put out before serious damage was done and generous patches have replaced the burned area—A.B.B.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

WHEN Lawrence of Arabia, one time during the Great War, wanted a bridge in Palestine blown up he found that his men could neither be driven nor chaffed into performance of the dangerous task; but when he took some dynamite and went forward alone, he found that all his Arabs were promptly at his back. He could lead when he showed the way.

Leaders of the race have ever found this true. The man who pleads for sacrifice on the part of others must himself show what he means.

Orison Swett Marden.

Dear Friends:

Today I have given you rather a long quotation, but it was so good that I could not cut it without spoiling it. So many will tell others to do thus and so, but seldom ever attempt to do these things themselves. Lawrence of Arabia will live for ever in the memory of people for more than mere bravery.

Once before I wrote you about certain people who were forever telling one what they would do "if they were you." Yet it very often makes me wonder why these same people do not use some of that sagacity they hand out in their own lives.

Mark you, I appreciate good advice as much as anyone, but the ones I am referring to are not leaders in any way, their own lives are generally in a tangle, yet they presume they are capable of directing others when they cannot direct themselves.

You have to show that you ARE a leader before you can expect to lead others. You must show that you are not afraid to do a thing yourself, before you ask some one else to do it. Haven't we all seen parents who spanked their children for lack of control of their temper when their own tempers were atrocious?

And haven't we all seen those who tricked about the food, but who couldn't cook a meal to save their lives? Before anyone hands out suggestions as to what anyone else should do, they should show how it can be done. So many will go around with a lot of half-baked ideas handing out advice that they have never tried themselves, and oh what a nuisance they can be.

Recently I heard a group of very intelligent girls talk over what they liked and didn't like in some of their friends, and the thing they detested most was the lack of decision in certain ones. Someone else had always to make their decisions for them. They were content to follow, but never to lead. Then if what the other had suggested they do turned out alright they all took credit for it; but if it turned out not so good, then the one who had been the leader, was blamed.

But so it is as we go through life. Some are the leaders and some are the followers. But it is the leaders who get things done. Many times these same leaders would like others to do the leading for awhile, but they are pushed forward by these same others telling them," you go ahead, you know more about it than we do."

In reality the followers cannot, or will not face the chance of failure that all leaders must take. And, now you may be wondering what the leaders get out of it? They get the satisfacton of having things done, whether it be making a party "go" or whether it be getting a field plowed, or a road made, or a business put on its feet again, and you will notice that no leader asks anyone to do the things he is not willing to do himself.

How do you stand? Are you a leader, or are you merely content to follow? What am I? I'll leave that to you.

Your fried.
ROBERTA.

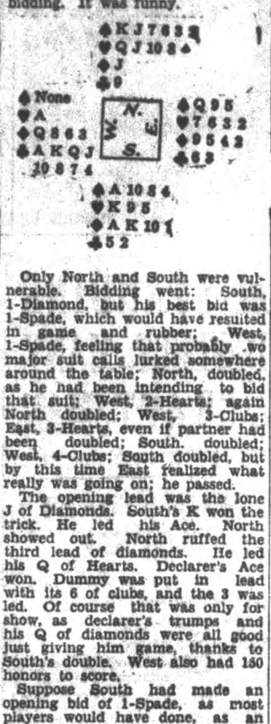
PSYCHED OUT OF A GAME.

AROUND New York, at least, one hears comparatively few psychic bids. In the long run they do not pay, as has been abundantly proved each time such an epidemic occurred. Their chief value was opponents' unfamiliarity with such strategy. To-day we have, however, a case where North and South allowed themselves to be cheated out of a game by West's bidding. It was funny.



Only North and South were vulnerable. Bidding went: South, 1-Diamond, but his best bid was 1-Spade, which would have resulted in game and rubber; West, 1-Spade, feeling that probably two major suit calls lurked somewhere around the table; North, doubled, as he had been intending to bid that suit; West, 2-Hearts; again North doubled; West, 3-Clubs; East, 3-Hearts, even if partner had been doubled; South, doubled; West, 4-Clubs; South doubled, but by this time East realized what really was going on; he passed.

The opening lead was the lone J of Diamonds. South's K won the trick. He led his Ace. North showed out. North ruffed the third lead of diamonds. He led his Q of Hearts. Declarer's Ace won. Dummy was put in lead with its 6 of clubs, and the 3 was led. Of course that was only for show, as declarer's trumps and his Q of diamonds were all good just giving him game, thanks to South's double. West also had 150 honors to score.

Suppose South had made an opening bid of 1-Spade, as most players would have done, as an opening bid of 1-Diamond, followed by a spade call from South would have shown a longer minor than major suit. Of course in this particular case North would have bid spades, had not West tricked him out of doing so. As partner already had bid, North's call of 2-Spades over the psychic 1-Spade by West would have pictured to South North's hand as very powerful in diamonds, with no losers in spades.

Had South made an opening bid of 1-Spade, even a call of 5-Clubs by West should not have shut out North from supporting his partner's spades. He would have bid 4-Spades over 4-Clubs, or 5-Spades over 5-Clubs. Further club bidding by West would have been doubled, even if North and South would not have greatly profited thereby.

There is no certainty that South would have made 5-odd at spades, as he quite probably would have played his Ace, thus having to give East a trick.

The postcard which he sends from France bears a stamp which is a replica of the famous Vimy Ridge Canadian Memorial recently completed.

What Smart Young Men Wear

Even Evening Clothes Now Cool and Comfortable

By LISBETH

THE WORLD always has had its Beau Brummels, and in that dandy's day men's clothes had a great deal more esthetic appeal than has been the case in modern times. And before his time, in the days of the Charleses of England and the Louis' of France, men were as eleborately gotten up in long curls velvet and satin knee breeches, lace and ribbon as any woman. "Them were the days" of the snappy dressers.

But for some reason or other men are taking a new lease of life, and bid fair to rival their fair sisters in glorified raiment.

Even their evening clothes are becoming attractive and much more comfortable, especially for warm weather formal affairs, and what next to expect from them we do not know. Tailors are becoming more and more original and daring, and more is said about men's styles, than has been the case since this writer has been about.

Evening Clothes Alluring

Here we show three smart suits that the well dressed young man may wear. Center, is a broken Glen plaid sports suit, which has a single-breasted coat with patch pockets. This suit comes with an extra pair of trousers.

Left, is the summer tuxedo with double-breasted coat with shawl collar, worn with black tropical worsted pleated trousers. Look at it closely and notice the accessoris By the look of them may ye tell your best friend's escort from the waiters. Bow tie, handkerchief and flower are maroon.

Right, is a new white shetland wool suit for summer wear. The draped, and the trousers are plain. Handkerchief and tie are black, shoes and hat white, the latter coat is double-breasted and semi-banded with black.

Quaker Oats Evens Men's Softball Playoffs

Defeat Westclox Crew By Barrage Of Blows In First Five Frames

SCORE WAS 15-6

Quakers evened the semi-final playoff series with the Westclox last night at Central by handing the latter team a 15-6 defeat before a large crowd of fans. The winners put on a sustained rally for five innings and obtained a comfortable lead, and then they eased up and coasted home, winning in a walk. The Clockmakers had only one rally in the course of the game and that was in the fifth inning when they scored five runs, but after that they were completely subdued at the plate.

Beacock was the slab artist for the Cereal men, and he turned in a swell job. He sent seven batters back from the plate talking to themselves, and except for the fifth inning, was complete master of the situation at all times. Elliott did the flinging for the Beckerman crew, but was hit hard by the slugging Quakers. He was hammered hard for five innings, but then seemed to tighten up and pitch good ball. The damage had been done then, however, and he was forced to absorb the loss.

One Big Frame

The Puffed Wheat gang had one big inning, the second, when they cracked through with six runs to secure a commanding lead. In the first inning they had grabbed two tallies, and with six more in the next frame, they were never in any danger of being headed. Giardino paced the winners at the plate with four solid hits out of five times at bat. Mowry and Geddes had three bingles apiece for the same team. Elliott was the only loser to consistently solve Beacock's slants. He smashed four successive hits off the delivery of his mound rival. Stanger for the Alarm crew pounded out the only home run of the fracas in the fifth inning.

The defensive work by the two teams was fair. O'Leary in centre field for the losers had a busy night, accepting several hard chances easily. The Quakers ended the game with a snappy double play that saw Ellis lining to Starr, who threw to Board, catching a runner off the bag and square the series at one-all.

The teams:

Westclox—Crary, 3b, ss; Stanger, 2b; Ellis, 1b; O'Leary, cf; White, c; Curry, rf; Foley, lf; Goodson, ss; F. Parsons, 3b; Elliott, p.

ROSS SOMERVILLE IS IN SEMI-FINALS

Bobby Reith and Stan Leonard Other Two Semi-Finalists

WINNIPEG, Aug. 7.—(C P)—Ross Somerville pounded down the Canadian amateur golf trail today, leaving in his wake nothing of the spectacular but proving to the galleries he still retains the punch that has given him five national titles.

The dour, London, Ont., Scot made his silent way around the St. Charles country club course twice yesterday, cosily beating Joe Thompson of Hamilton, Ont., two up in the morning and finishing the afternoon match with a string of three birdies to oust Stew Vickers of Calgary 4 and 3.

"Sandy" faces a big obstacle in Fred Haas of New Orleans in today's 36-hole, semi-final grind. If he gets by the fifth-ranked United States amateur, he will find another treacherous hurdle in his path. Bobby Reith, Winnipeg, and Stan Leonard, Vancouver youngster, whose par-splitting exhibitions have headlined the tournament, are matched to decide the other finalist.

The London Hunt Club veteran was four over par in the first nine of the Thompson match, yet one up. When Thompson exerted the pressure Sandy stayed with him and he shot a birdie four on the last hole to make certain of victory.

Sandy found Vickers tougher in the afternoon and he lowered his game to meet the Calgary youngster. When Stew cut Somerville's lead to one on the 10th green, then fired birdies on the 13th and 14th, the veteran matched him stroke for stroke and walked off with a win with a third straight birdie on the 15th.

WHITE SOX HAVE HAD SANTA CLAUS IN CONNIE MACK

ACCOUNTED FOR 11 WINS

NEW YORK, August 7. — Jimmy Dykes' old boss, Connie Mack, has been an unintentional Santa Claus to his ex-pupil's Chicago White Sox this year.

If it wasn't for the pitchers Connie cast off and Jimmy took on, Dykes' Sox wouldn't be anywhere near the American League second place they are threatening to take over any day now.

First it was Vernon Kennedy, then Sugar Cain, and now bespectacled Bill Dietrich, whom Mack gave up and Dykes signed up. And each has paid heavy dividends.

Accounted for 11 Wins.

In the 26-game drive since July 13 which swept the Sox from sixth place into the thick of the fight for second, these three have accounted for 11 victories. Kennedy and Cain won four and lost one each in that time, and are the most dependable hurlers on the staff.

Dietrich, the more recent acquisition from the A's, by way of the Washington Senators, has taken his three starts in such impressive fashion as to allow his opposition an average of only slightly more than five hits a game—a trick he never acomplished while drawing his pay cheque from Mack's Athletics.

Dietrich and Cain combined yesterday to pin back the ears of the St. Louis Browns in both ends of a double-header, thereby pulling the White Sox up to a bare half-game back of the slowing Cleveland Indians. Cain, although he failed to go the route, won the opener, 9-6, with the aid of young Minter Hayes' hitting, which accounted for four of the Sox runs. Dietrich let the Brownies down with just five hits in taking the nightcap 4-1.

Shut Out By Tigers.

The Indians found their second-place standing on the fire for the first time in weeks by the Sox double victory and their own loss in yesterday's program to the Tigers. They were shut out 9-0 by Rookie Jake Wade's seven-hit pitching and a 16-hit Tiger attack, featured by Goose Goslin's 18th homer of the year and Marvin Owen's eighth.

Although their game with the Red Sox was washed out, the Yankees found their American League lead stretched to 11½ games by the Indians' defeat.

St. Louis' gas-house gang of Cardinals also did some lead-stretching in the National League, pulling out three full games in front of the pack by knocking off the hitless Chicago Cubs for the third straight day. With Dizzy Dean bearing down in the pinches to chalk up his 18th victory of the year, the Cards won out 3-2 in the 11th inning on Johnny Mize's game-wrecking homer.

Rain and threatening weather were the winners in the rest of the major league program, washing out the entire card and forcing the postponement of the Giants-Bees, Dodgers-Phillies, and Pirates-Reds clashes in the National and the Yanks-Red Sox and Athletics-Senators engagements in the American.

MAPLE LEAFS WIN 7-6 FROM NEWARK IN NINTH INNING

Babe Dahlgren Again Proved Spark Plug In Chiefs' Victory

ROCHESTER DROPS GAME

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—Ellsworth (Babe) Dahlgren, the clouting Syracuse first sacker, who has been getting a lot of attention recently from major league scouts, is making a great effort to win himself another trial in the big time.

Already hitting somewhere above .320, Dahlgren led the Chiefs' attack last night as they split a doubleheader with the Montreal Royals and boosted his average a few points higher. In the opener he belted out three of the six hits off Lauri Myllykangas, who pitched Montreal to a 5 to 2 victory then he followed up with another trio, including a homer, in the nightcap to make it six blows in eight times up for the evening. A five-run burst in the seventh inning carried the Chiefs to an easy 10-3 victory as they battered Lou Polli and Harry Smythe for 18 blows. A homer by Hal King and three triples enabled the Royals to cop the first game.

Senators Win 12-7.

Outside of that bargain bill, the higher ranking teams found the going rough yesterday. The pace setting Rochester Red Wings couldn't silence the Albany Senators' bats in an afternoon contest and took a 12-7 drubbing. Albany put over nine runs in the eighth inning, collecting four hits and four walks off four pitchers and having two errors tossed in.

The Baltimore Orioles ended Buffalo's winning streak at seven games by taking over the Bisons 6 to 5 at night. A four-run flurry against Bill Harris gave Baltimore just enough to win as Eddie Boland smacked his 18th homer to set the hitting pace for the herd.

A ninth-inning rally enabled the Toronto Maple Leafs to turn back Newark's Bears 7-6 in a free-swinging affair that produced 25 hits. The winning run resulted from a single by George McQuinn, a hit batsman and a two-base wild throw by Merill May.

GM-JUNIORS HERE TO TACKLE ROTARY

Following a stiff workout at Riverside Park last evening, the local junior Rotarians are set for the big battle here Saturday when they tangle at three in Riverside with Oshawa. It is the third game of their playoff series and the local baseball team must win tomorrow or be out of competition. A victory will force a fourth contest in Oshawa next Wednesday. Both losses suffered by Herb Ralph's gang at the hands of Oshawa were tough ones, and the young Petes feel they can win here Saturday and eventually win the Lakeshore Junior League title, thus going into O.B.A.A. playdowns.

The Rotarians defeated Oshawa twice in two starts during the summer schedule but slumped off to drop the first two of the playoffs. But they appear ready again and should win tomorrow. Grant Clark will likely do the pitching for Peterborough with McIlmoyle and Todd in reserve. Anderson may get the call for Oshawa. These teams are smart, well-matched and scrappy outfits and should put up a real diamond fight in Riverside Saturday. A big crowd is expected to see this struggle—as the seniors play away that afternoon.

BEWDLEY REGATTA HAS LARGE ENTRY INDIANS WINNERS

Over 1,000 Attended Regatta On The Shore Of Rice Lake

MILLBROOK BAND THERE

BEWDLEY, Aug. 7.—Canada is a land of broad lakes and great rivers, and it is the holding of such events as the Bewdley regatta that trains the youth to performance that, in many cases, "makes him or her a star in the international events later on. Over a thousand people flocked Wednesday to the shores of Rice Lake to see or take part in a large number of aquatic events, the regatta being held by Bewdley Business Men's Carnival Association. There were visitors from outside cities and towns, including United States points, and there were many Indians from the reserves of Hiawatha and Alderville, quite a few of whom were entrants and victors in the sports. Net receipts, which amounted to around $75, are to be devoted to the improvement of the waterfront, the plans calling for planting of shade trees and installation of benches there. Prizes given for the twenty-two events were donated by business people of Toronto, Peterborough, Port Hope, Bewdley and other ponits. The feature that supplied the most excitement and amusement was the tilting contest in canoes, and next to that was the paper bag race. The Wedlock Paper Bag Co., of Toronto, donated the prizes and supplied the paper bags. The contestant, in his canoe, was blinded when a paper bag was thrust over his head. There were nine entries, and one mistook air for water with his paddle and tipped into the lake. Another paddled backwards furiously, to the shouts of the spectators.

The Committees

In charge of organization was N. D. Sidey. The general committee was composed of R. S. Holdaway, treasurer of the association, with G. V. Ducett, secretary. The events committee included Mr. W. Austin, Harry Perrin, Willard Morton. The prize committee was H. Stinson and N. D. Sidey. Mr. W. Austin was clerk of the course, and the judges were Mr. Benny Kline, Peterborough, and Dr. J. A. Logan, Cambridge Springs, Pa.

Millbrook Community Brass Band supplied the music, and at the end of a healthy and happy water carnival, a dance was held to the strains of the Serenaders Orchestra.

300-METRE SPRINT WON FOR LOVELOCK

Opponents Figured He Was Only Good For 75-Metre Sprint

BERLIN, Aug.7.—(AP)—The phenomenal 300-metre sprint that carried Jack Lovelock to victory over Glenn Cunningham in the closing stages of the 1,500-meres run has in his posession for several years but was kept a dark secret until yesterday, the New Zealander revealed after the race.

He had saved it just for Olympics, feeling certain it would supply him with a glorious climax to his career. "That's what fooled Cunningham, Luigi Beccali and the others," he said. "They thought I could sprint only about the last 70 metres and were not prepared when I started my run."

Cunningham, although disappointed by his failure to win the classic, heaped praise on Lovelock.

"There's nothing you can say when you lose to a runner like Jack Lovelock," he said. He must be the greatest runner ever.'

Today's race was probably Lovelock's last in the Olympics. He plans to retire soon from serious competition. He intends, however, to compete in the Empire games in London after the current Olympics

Bailieboro Drops 17-16 Tilt In Exciting Ninth Frame At Home

BEES ELIMINATED

C.G.E. kept in the second-half race for a Girls' Softball League play-off last night by squeezing out a 17-16 verdict over Bailieboro on the latter's diamond. The loss eliminates Bailieboro but ties C.G.E. with Westclox and Omemee—the Bailieboro-Omemee game at the Bowl Monday being the final one of the schedule. Last night's contest was a wide-open thriller all through with the Electrics breaking a tie with two runs in the first of the ninth and the homesters coming back with one in their half and having the tying and winning markers on the paths at the close.

The winners used three hurlers, M. McCarthy, Z. Birkhoff and H. Newson, while B. McDowell twirled for Bailieboro. There was plenty of hard hitting on both sides and some fair fielding shown. M. McCarthy had an unassisted double-play that probably saved the game in the ninth. The Bees also pulled off a double killing, M. Whittington to A. Barnard. Most of the exciting play and the heavy scoring for both teams came in the last half of the game. The teams:

C.G.E.: M. English, lf; A. DeCarlo, 1b; M. McCarthy, p., 2b; G. McCarthy, cf; D. Millar, c; M. White, 3b; E. Graham, ss; M. Hallahan, 2b; B. Martin, rf; Z. Birkhoff, p; E. Foster, p.h. ; H. Newson p.

Bailieboro — A. Barnard, c; R. Wood, ss; T. White, 3b; B. McDowell, p.; K. Smith, lf., cf; M. Wood, 1b; D. Smith, cf; M. Whittington, rf; M. McDowell, 2b; B. Bullock, lf.

The men's tournament this evening commence at 7.30 p.m. and, as we have often said, "Please be on time."

On Monday next, August 10, the schedule games will be the ones that were scheduled for Monday, Aug. 3, and on Tuesday next the games will be played that were scheduled for Thursday, July 2.

The main event out on our greens next week is the mixed tournament on Wednesday, Aug. 12. It will be run exactly the same as the last one; that is, two games in the afternoon and one in the evening; no play-offs. All three game winners will receive prizes, and all other prizes will be distributed according to total score irrespective of wins.

Invitations have been sent out to clubs in this district, and there is no doubt that the tournament will be well patronized.

Tomorrow night will be the usual mixed tournament, drawn from the board at 7.30 p.m.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY
Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C. J. P.)

WHEN YOUNG fellows get mad at each other, they get very peeved indeed. And that is the situation between our Rotarians and the Oshawa General Motors juniors in baseball. It was just ordinary keen diamond rivalry first but the locals figure they had a raw deal by the Oshawa fans and team in that town last game, and they will fight 'em like the Canucks at Vimy in the third playoff game here tomorrow afternoon. And the young GM-lads will ditto in a big way. It should be quite a battle but the fact that the locals face elimination will likely drive them to greater efforts and we look for a Peterborough win. It ought to draw a big crowd—this junior joust.

* * * * * *

OUR SENIOR Petes go to Oshawa Saturday for an important game. The men of McJohnston are overdue to win a C.O.B.L. fixture and certainly overdue to lick the Motor Citizens, imports and all. Kingston does it right along and our crew licks Kingston—so what? Biddie or no Biddie, Oshawa shouldn't be hard to take by the Petes even in Oshawa, provided the Petes snap out of their slump and play heads-up baseball. We've lost three to them that we practically had in the old gunny sack, and this luck can't go on forever.

* * * * * *

SAYS KINGSTON: "With Napanee bidding strongly for the third play-off position in the C.O.B.L., now held by the fading Petes, the two games this week between Ponies and Gibbards ought to be thrilling battles. Peterborough have lost five straight and hardly look as good as the tail-end Belleville team. They haven't been getting the fight in their play that marked their early season victories and, unless they shake out of the lethargy in a hurry, they'll be holding the bag—and it won't be the money bag!" The last part is true enough, but we look for 'em to snap out of it right away. They're going around grim-faced and snapping at wisecrackers like hungry wolves on an antelope's heels.

* * * * * *

BUT WE don't quite get the idea of the Kingston writer's optimism. He speaks as though the Ponies had second place sewed up and it is between the Petes and Napanee for third. Our squad are only one game behind Kingston now—since the Naps knocked 'em off Wednesday—and we have a very fine chance of moving into second place and leave Kingston to battle it out with the Gibbards for a third-place berth. We have two more with Oshawa, two more with Kingston and one with Napanee. We only need a few more wins—and should go get them handily.

BRAWNY BUCK saw experts from the city and district—in fact, from all over ye world—are invited to take part in the big "world's championship buck saw contest" here August 20th and 21st. It'll be held on raised platforms at 9.30 a.m. those days on Simcoe street between George and Water. The block will be closed off to traffic, and contestants and spectators are let in free. Hard maple logs, about six inches in diameter, donated by the Scott Lumber Co., will provide the sawmen—or women, even—with something to lean the jagged blade against. Judges with stop-watches will check the times. Good prizes will be offered. And we wouldn't be one bit surprised to see some timid white-collar gent—who reluctantly goes to work an hour each evening on a woodpile with a trusty or rusty buck saw—make some of the husky lumbermen from the northern camps look feeble. Life is like that, mes amis.

QUAKERS SEWED up the men's softball semi-finals tighter than a miser's moneybags last night when they 15-6'd Westclox at Central before a big crowd of fans. With Beacock invincible in all but one frame and his sidekicks kicking in with nice willow work and good fielding, there was nothing to it. It is still anyone's serial, and the squads battle it out to a finish tonight (Friday) on the same field. The winner stacks up against Swartz Clothiers next week in the loop finals. If the Porridge Punchers get that kind of flinging and clouting again this e'en Jake Beckerman's boys will view the finals from the sidelines. But they may show their form of the first semi-final game. Yeah, it's quite a series.

C.G.E. GIRLS motored to Bailieboro last p.m. and took a 17-16 win to stay in the running for a playoff berth and eliminate Skipper White's squad. A swelegant scrap with the Electrics scoring twice in the ninth and the Bees coming back to tally once in the last half of the ninth and have a couple more on bases—where they died a hard death, being marooned without food or water. A flock of feminine players were used on both sides and it was a hectic hiatus most of the way. Omemee and Bailieboro play at the Bowl on Monday when a win for the O's will put them into the playoffs against Keene. If they lose to Bailieboro, then three teams are tied and all have a chance. 'Tis a warmish sort of race at present.

EAST CITY Growlers nudged out a 12-11 verdict over Warsaw before over 300 noisy fans at the Oval last goaming to win the E.P.L. softball title. The growling gang scored the money marker in the last of the ninth to put the grab on the P. G. Towns Cup after a nifty struggle. There were many rooters up from Warsaw, Doure and Indian River and feeling was so high that a bunch of the fair sex got into an argument as the contest concluded—a regular young Donnybrook that threatened to embroil their brothers and boy friends. But no damage was done. Umpires were Deck, Allan and Palmer. We understand the young Growlers have entered the O.A.S.A. juvenile playdowns. ....

* * * * * *

OBSERVATION PLATFORM: Napanee plays in Kingston tonight in the only Central League tussle . . . . Girls' softball draw tickets for good prizes are a dime a throw . . . . In Oshawa, they are now running "Olympic Games," which follow daily the Berlin Olympic program, with athletes chosen to represent the different countries . . . . Belleville is kicking on a long layoff in the C.O.B.L. schedule; there have been too many bunched games or long waits in it this year . . . . No further word on lacrosse here but the local juvenile ballsters play Tuesday in Oshawa . . . . Rugby clubs of the district are bestirring themselves and calling meetings . . . . Whitehill may start against the GM-men tomorrow, but if Scriver is right he is liable to get the call—no one knows yet . . . . How is the fishing down Hastings' way lately?

Soccer Notes

There is no game here on Saturday afternoon. The Canada Packers travel to Oshawa on Saturday to play Oshawa Hungarians in a return fixture. The local players will meet at the C.P.C. plant at 1 o'clock sharp—no waiting—and after the game they will be entertained by the motor city aggregation.

An official communication was received by the C.G.E. soccer executive last night, stating that Bowmanville had been instructed to play a Cup competition on Saturday, instead of having the C.G.E. play them in an exhibition tilt. They must obey the local association.

It is not very often that you witness two brothers playing and acting as captains of the respective teams, but last evening they shook hands with one another and wished a "good clean game," Jack McMaster, C.G.E., winning the toss from his brother, Ben McMaster, of C.C.F.

Sid Henwood, a pupil of King Edward School soccer team, made a creditable showing on the C.C.F. right wing, while W. Harris took up the outside left position, but is considered more effective as a wing halfback. If the Politicians can hold the youth in their team they will be hard to beat.

It is expected that the Canada Packers executive will do some campaigning in Oshawa in an endeavor to get the Oshawa elevens entered in the Father Phelan competition, thereby making the games more interesting.

ELECTRICS WIN FROM THE C.C.F.

With Seven Minutes To Go C.G.E. Took Lead To Cop Verdict

SCORE WAS 3-1

With only a few minutes to go, the Canadian General got the break to give them a well-earned victory over the C.C.F. Thursday night in a Soccer League game on King Edward Park before a good crowd. The final score was three to one. It was one of the best games this season. Never once did the players question the referee's decision. Sid Henwood scored a beautiful goal for C.C.F. and W. Harris made his debut.

Both Teams Well Balanced

In the early stages the players tried to penetrate the respective defenses that were well nigh unbeatable. Dyer, C.C.F., making many beautiful attempts to score, while Henwood, at outside right, was always dangerous when in possession of the ball. His crosses were accurate and his shots were right on the goal. The Electric boys replied with a steady attack upon the Politicians' goal for the next ten minutes, but Tarkington gave a brillian exhibition. On a well planned play by Jack McMaster, the C.C.F. went right through to the C.G.E. goal where Chamberlain was compelled to fall on the ball to prevent a tally. He conceded two fruitless flag kicks. Blowers cleared the latter with a smart header to spoil Jack McMaster's opportunity from a beautiful effort by W. Harris. Eventually the break went in favor of the C.G.E. when Alex. Mitchell drove from 20 yards out in below the crossbar. Parkington saved the drive, but the power behind it knocked him off his feet and the ball fell back into the net. Parry replaced Anderson at outside right on C.G.E. attack and made his presence known with timely centres.

Half time—Canadian General 1, C.C.F. 0.

Victors Battled to Limit

On resuming, the C.G.E.'s attack moved with precision to pepper the C.C.F. goalie with all kinds of shots, Agnew and Gahagan responding with a superb display on the defense. This was evident when their halfback line kept feeding the forwards with neat combination, more particularly Beggs at centre half. The centre half beat a C. G. E. attack off and sent Henwood away on the right wing. He took a low grounder while on the run that was "just right," and the C. C. F. player planked the ball past Chamberlain for the equalizer.

Exchanges continued even thereafter, with the Politicians having the better of the argument to confine the play in the C.G.E. half. With seven minutes to go, the C. G. E. got the break when Anderson, at outside right, landed a perfect shot across the goal that Murduff headed into the other corner of the goal. A shot lull in the C.C.F. play resulted in McMaster registering the third counter as he picked the inside of the upright.

Canadian General 3, C.C.F. 1.

C.C.F.—N. Tarkington, goal; S. Agnew and M. Gahagan, fullbacks; J. Flynn, W. Beggs and D. Best, halves; Sid Henwood, J. McMaster, F. Dyer, D. Thorn and W. Harris, forwards. Sub—W. Driver.

Canadian General—J. Chamberlain, goal; J. Mitchell and G. Blowers, fullbacks; F. Earl, D. Whatman and K. Mitchell, halves; J. MacKenzie, J. Anderson, B. McMaster, A. Mitchell and A. Burgess, forwards. Subs—J. Parry, G. Lovett and S. Murduff.

TENNIS DOIN'S
By JACK COWLING

The C.N.R. club of Toronto sent down a group of players and games were played Saturday, Aug. 1 and Monday 3rd. Peterborough did very well, taking all nine events on Saturday and six out of eight on Monday. On Saturday there were three men's singles, three men's doubles, one ladies' singles and two ladies' doubles.

Results: 1st men's singles—Max Cotton (P.) vs. H. Beswetherick (T.) 6-2, 3-6, 6-0; 2nd singles — Jack Kirkwood (P.) vs. B. Funnel (T.) 6-8, 6-3, 6-2; 3rd singles — Howie Hammell vs. A. Gallipo (T.) 6-1, 6-3; 1st men's doubles—Bill McPherson and George Scott (P.) vs. C. Franklin and W. Caulfield (T.) 6-1, 6-0; 2nd doubles— Harry Marsh and Jack Cowling (P.) vs. H. Eves and M. Davidson (T.) 6-4, 3-6, 6-2; 3rd doubles—Ben Swartz and Jack Patterson (P.) J. Varey and T. Telfer (T.) 6-4, 5-7, 6-2; ladies' singles—Vi Davidson (P.) vs. Eva Rendal (T.) 7-5, 6-2; ladies' doubles—Betty Middleton and Linden Reid vs. Kay Partridge and Audrey Jamieson 6-2, 6-4; 2nd doubles—Pat McLellan and Ruth McKee (P.) vs. Irene Gammie and Audrey Richardson (T.) 6-2, 6-3.

The most outstanding tennis of the day was played by the McPherson-Scott pair who took a decided win by reason of their good combination and well executed strokes. Jack Kirkwood had a good game with Bert Funnel which was quite entertaining to watch.

On Monday the players were shifted about somewhat, and the events played again. This time Toronto won the first two men's singles and dropped the remaining matches.

In the Kawartha League the games are schedule for Aug. 8 thusly: North Group—Lindsay at Kawartha B, Peterborough B at Quaker. South Group — Peterborough A at Port Hope, Kawartha A at Peterborough C, Lakefield, bye.

There was a meeting of the committee for the city tennis tournament and everything appears to be shaping up nicely. Entries are coming in and must be completed by 9 o'clock on Saturday, Aug. 8.

The first draw will be published in Monday's paper and then the games to be played and results of play will appear daily. Watch this column every night to find the time of your match, and on what courts to play.

Players will supply their own balls until the semi-finals are reached. Entry fee is 50c per person per event or 3 for $1.25. Junior events are 25c straight.

Events will consist of men's singles and doubles, ladies' singles and doubles, mixed doubles. In the junior events there will be men's and ladies' singles and mixed doubles.

All the city tennis players are invited to participate in this event to make it truly a city tournament.

The last half of the schedule for the City league will appear in this column on Monday. Team captains will please keep it for reference.

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP).—Western Ontario truckers buying produce from Ottawa's market to-day boosted prices for the first time since they started shipping Ottawa valley vegetables into drought-affected sections of the province.

Truckers to-day bought mainly string beans and cabbages. Bean prices jumped from 50 cents a bushel last Tuesday to 70 cents and cabbages were higher at 60 cents a dozen in a wholesale way. Retail cabbage prices were steady, but beans firmed slightly.

Truckers brought in plums and peaches from Western Ontario, selling the former at 39 cents a six-quart basket and the latter at 55 cents.

Love isn't Important

by LOUISE JERROLD

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club, meets a number of social elite when she fills in at a dinner party at the request of Dr. Wilson, a club member. One of them is Breck Carter, who, a few evenings later, takes her to a speakeasy and gambling house. Breck becomes intoxicated and tries to force his affections on Gay. Trying to repulse him, her hand is badly burned by his cigarette and she leaves him hurriedly. After work, Dr. Wilson, noticing Gay's hand takes her to his home to treat the burn.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 9

GAY TRIED hard to appear at ease as she entered Doctor Wilson's surgery, but the wicked glitter of knives, the mysterious apparatus, the surgical chairs and tables, all filled her with dread. And how queer that the doctor should have brought her here, to his own house. His wife was away—he'd admitted that, quite frankly. What would Jean say to this?

"Are these your offices?" she inquired, nervously.

"No. My regular offices are downtown." Doctor Wilson had hung up his hat and overcoat, and was scrubbing his hands. "I thought it would be easier to bring you up here. Easier for me, you understand. All I'll have to do when I finish with that hand of yours, is send you home, and then go to bed." He glanced at Gay over his shoulders, and something in her face brought a gleam of mischief to his tired eyes. "Ye Gods child, you're not worried, I hope?" He burst into a roar of laughter.

Instantly, all Gay's apprehension disappeared. The sanity, the cleanliness of that laughter warmed her heart. All men weren't like Breck, after all. Somehow, Gay's mind switched to Wayne Adams. He would be like Doctor Wilson, she thought, if you really got to know him. Kind, and funny, and whimsical.

"Oh, no, Doctor Wilson," she laughed with him. "Of course I'm not worried. Only—"

"Only what?" The doctor finished drying his hands, and turned to look at her. His glance was shrewd. "Maybe I can guess. You're a good-looking youngster. I suppose you've been having some experiences lately that have made you distrust men in general. Isn't that it? Well, let me tell you something. You're as safe with me, young and sweet and pretty as you are, as if you were in God's pocket. Can you believe that?"

Gay nodded. "I do believe it."

"Good. I like you, Gay. You're a nice kid. You've got spunk—you showed that when you stood up to that crowd of snobs the other night, and told 'em all who you were. I liked that. I said to my wife, 'Marian, if we had a daughter, the best we could ask of her would be to have courage like that. The grit to look a roomful of people straight in the eye, and say what you said.' Yes, sir. If I had a daughter—and it's a rotten shame I haven't, nor a son, either—"

He paused. "Well, that's that. Now let's get down to business. I don't think we need bother with an anesthetic."

The operation was begun and completed almost before Gay realized. So swift, so skilful, so gentle were those deft fingers; then, in a jiffy, the work was done, a new bandage wrapped about the injured hand, and it was all over.

"There! That wasn't so bad, was it?" the doctor asked.

"Why, it wasn't anything," Gay assured him, gamely. "I thought you were really going to hurt me!"

She sat back, a little white and limp, but smiling with relief. As if by magic, the throbbing in her hand had disappeared, subsiding to a dull ache which was nothing compared to the torture she'd suffered during the past few days. "I can't ever thank you enough, Doctor Wilson. You're the kindest person I know!"

"Sure, that's me," he grinned. "Benefactor of humanity. Great chap. That's what all my patients say. Til the first of the month, when I send my bills in."

Gay laughed, too. "Be sure to send me one!"

"Don't be silly." The doctor was washing his hands again. He shouted over the noise of running water and brisk scrubbing. "How'd you like a cup of hot coffee, right now?"

"I'd simply love it."

He pressed an electric button, and a few moments later a diminutive Japanese man-servant stuck his head in at the doorway.

"Nagao, we want coffee and sandwiches. In the library. Little dainty ones for the young lady—and big husky ones, on rye bread, for me."

Presently, Gay was curled up in the depths of a huge, leather-upholstered chair in the library, and feeling that heaven must be something like this: the pain in her hand quite gone; soft lamp light gleaming on the rows of beautifully bound books that lined three sides of the panelled walls from floor to ceiling. This was living. This was the ease and luxury and loveliness she'd always longed for.

Doctor Wilson sat opposite. They had been talking of many different things, books, and places, and people: at least, the doctor had been talking while Gay listened, entirely at ease, now and then putting in a word or two.

"It's almost as if we were married," she thought. And she pictured in her mind what it might be like to be married to a man of the doctor's type; keen-witted clever, successful. Unconsciously, she sighed.

"What's wrong? Hand bothering you again?"

Gay shook her head. "It's so beautiful here, I'll hate to go home."

"You like this library of mine?"

"I think it's perfect."

The doctor seemed pleased. "Most women don't care for this type of room. Too somber. Marian seldom comes in here." He paused for a moment, his eyes fixed on Gay's face. "Where do you live Gay? At home, with your family? What sort of people are they?"

She was a trifle startled by the abrupt change of subject, but led on by the man's adroit, sympathetic questioning, she soon found herself telling what little there was to be told. She spoke of her father, an ambitious, had-working lawyer in a small city in northern Michigan. She told of his sudden death; of the gallant struggle of the young widow, with her six-year-old daughter, to make a living in an unfriendly world. She had died when Gay was 13, and Gay had gone to live with her only relatives: Aunt Sophie and Uncle Fred, in Traverse City.

"But I wanted to seek my fortune," Gay finished lightly, "so I came to Detroit and got myself a job. I enjoy working at the club. Everyone's been kind to me, and I have a fairly decent little flat, on Erskine street—where I should be, now, home in bed!"

"You live by yourself?"

"No. With Jean Briggs—you know, the other girl at the check counter. She's an awfully good sort."

The doctor nodded approval. I'm glad to hear you're not entirely alone. That's a bad neighborhood." He rose to his feet. "Here's our food!"

The houseman padded across the room, wheeling a tea cart on which stood a silver coffee pot, surrounded by plates of sandwiches.

"Cream and sugar? You like caviar sandwiches?" The doctor piled Gay's plate and commenced eating with a hearty appetite. "Nagao, if you'll set the Scotch and soda within reach—"

"Great little chap," he commented, as the Japanese closed the door softly behind him. "I'm taking him north with me, on a fishing trip, this summer. Ever go fishing, Gay?" He launched into a description of his favorite sport—spoke with enthusiasm of the Canadian woods and streams.

Gay finished her last sandwich. "Please don't give me any more. It's been fun, but I've got to be Three o'clock—and me a working girl!"

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BEES

One afternoon Nurse Jane said to Uncle Wiggily: "Uncle Wiggily, will you go to the store for me? I'm planning a special dessert for supper tonight, and I need honey to make it. I'd ask Jiggie to go, but——"

"You need say no more," chuckled Mr. Longears. "Jiggie is a splendid little honey-bear, but if he had to carry honey all the way home I think his appetite would get the best of him—he'd just have to taste that honey!"

"That's what I thought," Nurse Jane laughed. "So, if you don't mind, will you get it for me?"

"Delighted," the bunny said. "And I promise not to eat any, either."

Taking his hat he started off. He hopped through the woods gaily, thinking about the dessert Nurse Jane would make with the honey, and he felt very happy. When he got to the store he asked the storekeeper:

"Have you any honey? Some extra special fine honey?"

"Well, now, I'm sorry," the storekeeper said. "We're just fresh out of honey. I sold the last bit to Jiggie Flatpaw, who was in here a little while ago. He bought 5 cents worth."

Ate It All.

"Did he eat it all?" inquired Uncle Wiggily anxiously.

"Every bit — before he left the store! He said he was very hungry."

"I thought he might have brought some of it home," Mr. Longears said a bit sadly. "But if he ate it—that's that! Nurse Jane will be disappointed—and, I might add, so will I!"

There was nothing for it but to return home without the honey. Uncle Wiggily hopped slowly this time, and he didn't feel quite so jolly. But then he came upon a peculiar sight!

At first all he saw was a bee hive, on a bench back of a farm house. He wondered, of course, whether the bees would give him any honey—he didn't want to ask for it right out, for that wouldn't be polite. So he went closer and watched the bees.

And what do you think they were doing? Outside the hive a number of bees were fluttering their wings as though they couldn't get in. They were right at the tiny door of the hive. And their wings were buzzing awfully fast!

Fanning The Air.

"Oh, yes," one bee replied. "But we're not trying to. We're fanning the air."

"Fanning the air?" repeated Uncle Wiggily, puzzled. "What for?"

"So it will go in the hive and cool the queen bee, and the others in there!" the bee declared proudly. "Didn't you know bees did that?"

"I should say not," Uncle Wiggily exclaimed. "That's the strangest thing I ever heard of!"

It was strange, wasn't it? But it really happens. On hot days many bees gather at the entrance to the hive and with their wings fan in the air, to keep the queen and other bees cool. It's quite wonderful, isn't it, that the bees can do that? They even take turns at being fans.

"But," went on the bee, "somehow we can't get enough air in there! The queen is complaining! And we don't know what to do!"

Honey For Wiggily.

"I have it!" Mr. Longears cried. "At home I have a small electric fan that runs on a battery inside it—I'll get that! Then the queen will have enough air inside the hive!"

He ran through the woods to his bungalow, and in almost less than no time was back with the fan. My, but the queen was happy when all that nice cool air came into the hive, from the electric fan! She gave orders that Uncle Wiggily was to have as much honey as he pleased. So he had his special dessert after all.

And tomorrow night, if the train puffs real creampuffs for the hungry passengers, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the ivy.

DRY DISTRICT BAND WINS FIRST PLACE

Fifty Boys And Girls Take Laurels In Junior Competition At Regina

REGINA, Aug. 7 (CP)—A band of 50 boys and girls, with a five-year-old drummer, from Bengough, in the dried-out section, 35 miles south of here, captured first place in the junior band competition at the Regina exhibition.

The children saved their pennies and the town of a few hundred population assisted in building up the organization. Every Saturday night surrounding country folk block the streets to hear a variety program.

Two years ago Bernard Mussing organized the band and it soon became popular. Boys and girls saved to buy instruments and the town council came to their aid. The town now owns 50 per cent of the instruments and finances the band in small ways.

"A very well trained band," sid the adjudicator, W. Knight-Wilson, when the group finished the performance at the exhibition.

Ranging from five to 17 years of age, it consists of 25 boys and 25 girls. The baby of the band is five-year-old Darcy Mussing, drummer.

Premier Hepburn Cancels Monster Birthday Party

'Only Right Thing To Do' Charges Whole Affair Been Made Into Racket

Condemns Those Without Authority Soliciting Funds Across Province

EVEN THREATENED FIRMS

Breweries And Distilleries Approached With Idea Of Serving Free Beer, Liquor

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Premier Hepburn of Ontario will celebrate his 40th birthday next Wednesday but it will not be in the manner some Liberals thought.

There will not be any parade, no music and no fanfare. All that was planned for a picnic at Port Stanley.

But Premier Hepburn cancelled it all last night, condemning those who had made a "racket" of it.

"I want to condemn," he said, "in no uncertain terms those people who, representing themselves as prominent Liberals, have without authority from the committee, the Ontario Liberal Association, or myself, solicited funds and donations from individuals and firms from one end of Ontario to the other, even to the extent of threatening firms with whom the government is doing business at the present time.

"Unfortunately, these people have turned the whole proceedings into an absolute racket. I deprecate even more the fact that those so-called, self-constituted party heads had even gone to the extent of approaching breweries and distilleries with the intention of serving free beer and liquor on the picnic grounds.

"Under the circumstances, the only decent and dignified thing for me to do is to take the action indicated—to cancel all arrangements and to call off the celebration."

In St. Thomas Joseph McManus of London, chairman of the picnic committee, said after a meeting that, concurring with the Premier's suggestion, the picnic had been cancelled. It was decided to drop the matter entirely, he said.

CROPS ON PRAIRIES VARYING WIDELY

Central, Northern Areas Average 25-50 Bus.—Saskatchewan Low

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8.—(CP).—Diversified harvesting reports from Western Canada's prairie wheat belt to-day brought a mixture of joy and gloom as first threshing returns were surveyed. Yields in many areas were exceeding expectations while in others acreage sown to wheat was being plowed under.

Dry air hung in a warm, parching cloak as fresh testimony of drought deterioration was read into crop surveys that reported widespread damage from scorching heat and forecast the smallest wheat crop since 1919.

In the rich producing areas of Central and Northern Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, however, farmers were encouraged by reports that yields in some districts ranged between 25 and 50 bushels to the acre. Not a few will benefit from rising prices that have reached highest levels since 1930.

Fair to good crops may still be harvested in the central and northern areas and more particularly in the Peace River district. An Edmonton survey said many crops in the Peace River are expected to yield 25 to 50 bushels to the acre.

A different story was told in Saskatchewan, where an unofficial estimate placed the province's wheat crop at between 88,400,000 and 108,800,000 bushels—lowest in recent history.

Many areas in the extreme southern belt will harvest scarcely enough to supply feed for the community.

Sign "Washout" Slows Motorists Down—Saves New Scrubbing.

SHELL TAKE, Wis., Aug. 8.—(CP).—Motorists slowed down when they spied signs reading "washout" on both sides of a highway detour at the Guy Campbell farm near here, but they saw no washout in the road. Mrs. Campbell, tired of having clouds of dust soil her washing, put out the signs when she hung out the clothes.

Lad's Life Saved By His Own Blood

Accidentally shot two weeks ago while at play with a small sister and brother, Sam was brought to a hospital here.

The wound above the heart bled little on the outside, but internal tears caused blood to accumulate on the right side. Hospital surgeons, making three incisions there, found the blood clean and pure.

They removed the blood from the side and injected it back into the veins by a transfusion in his leg, attendants said this saved the lad's life.

CANADA'S REVENUE JUMPS $23,000,000 IN FOUR MONTHS

EXPENDITURES MOUNT

OTTAWA, August 8 (C.P.).—Total ordinary revenue of Canada, which included customs duties, excise, income taxes and other sources, jumped nearly $23,000,000 in the first four months of the fiscal year, Finance Department figures issued to-day reveal.

At the end of last month, which completed a third of the fiscal year, total ordinary revenue of Canada had reached the figure of $168,779,804, as compared with $145,849,468 for the corresponding period a year ago. The exact increase was therefore $22,930,436.

Increases were registered all along the line.

Income tax collections showed the greatest advance. They totalled $72,129,513 for the four-month period ended July 31 last, as against $58,288,144 last year. For the month of July alone they amounted to $6,162,002, a great increase over July, 1935, when the total was $3,993,490.

Expenditures Increase

The figures issued to-day show an increase of approximately $4,000,000 in ordinary expenditure during the four months just ended compared with the same period a year ago, ordinary expenditure during the four-month period totalled $124,433,239, while for the same period ended July 31, 1935, the total was $120,494,410. The exact increase was $3,937,829.

Special expenditures also showed an increase over last year. The figures indicate that $40,091,905 was expended under this head during the four months just closed. Last year the expenditure was $32,533,401. Under the "special expenditure" heading are included payments for relief projects and grants for Canadian National Railways deficits, and sundry charges.

CANADIAN TEAM FINISH SECOND IN RELAY TRIAL

Strong United States Team Captured First Place In One Preliminary

GERMANS ALSO LEAD

Gord Hornberger Comes From Behind To Put Canada Into Finals

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—(CP Cable).—A young Canadian quartet sprinted into the Olympic 400-metre relay final by running a bang-up second to the highly touted German team in a trial this afternoon.

Gord Hornberger came with a brilliant rush at the end to wipe out a two-metre deficit and nip Canada's anchor man, Howie McPhee, of Vancouver, by a scant two feet.

The Germans won in 41.1 seconds with the maple leaf wearers 1-10th second back.

This thrilling duel came after the strong United States team—built around Jesse Owens, negro triple winner of the games—won their trial in 40 seconds flat to equal the Olympic record. An Italian foursome flashed unexpected power to beat out Japan and South Africa decisively for second place and the other qualifying berth in this heat.

Holland's crack sprinters captured the other trial by 10 metres over the Argentines, who sprang a surprise by whipping Hungary and Great Britain for the second qualifying place by three metres. The Dutchmen were clocked in 41.3.

Women Are Second

The Canadian women's team in the 400-metre relay event also made their first start a successful one by placing second to the United States team. The winners, with the redoubtable Helen Stephens running the anchor leg, raced the route in 47.1 seconds to lead the Canadians by seven metres.

Red-headed Harriet Baldo got off to a great start, out-running her Canadian rival by four metres. Annette Rogers and Betty Robinson safeguarded this margin in the next two legs and then Miss Stephens, sprint champion of the games, doubled the American margin.

Fall Wheat Crop Figured Million Bushels Under '35

Nation-wide Survey Places July Most Disastrous On Record For Central Areas

ONLY HAY ESCAPES

OTTAWA, Aug. 8 (CP).—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics to-day issued a nation-wide crop survey showing July "enters the record as one of the most disastrous experiences of farmers in the central part of the Dominion." It estimated the Spring wheat prospects declined 45 per cent. during the month, the eighth successive July in which they were lowered.

It said condition figures were well maintained in the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and British Columbia drought in the central areas effected sharp reductions in the Dominion figures which were all considerably below the long-time averages at the end of July.

The 1936 Fall wheat crop it said, is estimated at 11,637,000 bushels, almost 1,000,000 below last year's production. The estimate of the yield was based on 491,000 acres planted, giving a figure of 23.7 bushels per acre, compared with 12,501,000 bushels off 555,100 acres, 22.7 bushels to the acre, in 1935.

Spring Wheat in West

Discussing conditions of Spring wheat on the Prairies the report said:

"Manitoba—The average condition figure fell 28 points or 31 per cent. during July, and at the end of the month prospects were lower than at the same date in either 1935 or 1934.

BERLIN DEMANDS RUSSIANS PLEDGE "HANDS OFF" SPAIN

Germany Makes No Secret Of Fact She Will Defend Nationals With Force If Necessary

BRITAIN MOVES SUBJECTS

BERLIN, August 8 (A.P.). — The neutrality of Soviet Russia in Spain's civil war must be assured before a general European non-intervention policy, such as is proposed by the French, can be effective, the Foreign Office stated to-day.

The Nazi Government agreed "in principle" with the proposal that the rest of Europe keep its fingers out of the Spanish situation, but attached reservations as to the character and scope of its neutrality.

The Hitler government had no secret of the fact it intended to protect its nationals by force of arms if necessary.

German warships will make a display of force to-day at Barcelona as a warning of imminent reprisals for the alleged execution of four German youths at the Catalan capital.

The German naval demonstration at Barcelona was forecast by an aide of Chancellor Hitler in a telephone conversation with a prominent British statesman, the Echo de Paris said.

May Land Marines.

It may involve the landing of marines, the report declared.

Andre Francois-Poncet, French Ambassador to Berlin, who twice this week has visited Konstantin von Neurath, was assured by the German Foreign Minister that this country welcomes in principle the idea of neutrality agreements if they could be made collective.

A report that former King Alfonso of Spain was coming to Berlin for a conference with Chancellor Hitler, or that he planned to talk with both Hitler and Count Ciano, the Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs, was described here as "foolish."

2 Fishermen Drown As Big Launch Burns

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 8 (CP).—Albert Lewis, Batchawana, and Ambrose Recollect, Wikwemikong, drowned yesterday morning in Lake Superior when a 35-foot gasoline fishing launch, belonging to James Purvis and son, caught fire and was destroyed midway between Michipicoten Island and Pucksaw.

Capt. Louis McCoy and Fred Biron, Sault, were picked up by another launch belonging to the same company which was following and brought to Sault by the steamship Manitou. Biron is unhurt, but Capt. McCoy is in general hospital suffering from burns about face, chest and arms.

Girl Saves Home Then Fools Groom

TRENTON, N.J., August 8 (C.P.). — An 18-year-old girl asked Chancery Court yesterday to annul her marriage, saying she agreed to it only after her father told her the prospective groom's parents would foreclose a mortgage on their home unless she consented. Mary Verchick, of Linden, said Michael Voloscik, 25, of Fords, proposed marriage and she finally agreed after being persuaded by her father and relatives.

NORTHERN FORESTS REMAIN TINDER BOX TO FIRE DEMON

Eight Hundred Volunteers Join Foresters In Fight Around Sault

FLAMES SPREAD SOUTH

(By the Canadian Press.)

Dense smoke from burning forests and bushland hung gloomily over many district of Ontario to-day as hundreds of men battle serious blazes on widely-scattered fronts throughout the province. The tinder-box of the north flames anew and fresh fires were reported in other wooded sections further south.

The Sault Ste. Marie district, with its 22 fires, fought by 800 volunteers in addition to the regular staff of forest rangers, reported blazing forests in all directions. Ten fires roared near the city itself, three in Parke township near Pointe aux Pins, one at Gros Cap, two near Island Lake, two in Kars township and two on the Garden River reserve.

The worst fire of the section blazed out of control 170 miles up Lake Superior from the city in the vicinity of Oiseau Bay. So thick was the smoke, accurate estimates of its size could not be obtained, but roughly 12 square miles of forest flamed.

1,000 Acres Ablaze

In the Blind River area, 355 men fought a dozen outbreaks, the largest extending over 1,000 acres of slash and bush. More than 170 men patrolled 11 odd fires along the Goulais River, and Indians battle two other outbreaks on the Garden River reserve.

Six fires roared through the Franc division of the Sault fire inspectorate, as 200 additional men sought to stop progress of the flames. Fighters longed for rain, believed the only thing that would bring flames completely under control.

The City of Welland had its pall of smoke to-day, as flames devoured a 75-acre stretch of timberland on its outskirts close to the Michigan Central Railway.

Two hundred men fought flames from three fires near Coldwater, in the Orillia district.

KING EDWARD STARTS HOLIDAY FLIES TO CALAIS

Steam Yacht Nahlin Waits Arrival "Somewhere In Adriatic Sea"

ROUTE KEPT SECRET

Venture Rouses Anxiety Due To Present European, Mediterranean Tension

CALAIS, France, August 8 (A.P.). —King Edward, flying to France on the first leg of a month's holiday on the Adriatic, landed on the outskirts of Calais at 4.32 p.m. to-day.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(AP).—Piloted by the new official, "Captain of the King's Flight," King Edward took off to-day from Fort Belevedere, near London, for Calais, France, for the start of his month's holiday with a party of friends on the steam yacht Nahlin.

His Majesty, incognito as the Duke of Lancaster, established a precedent as the first British King to fly aboard.

He will board the Nahlin "somewhere in the Adriatic Sea." The exact route of the cruise was kept a closely guarded secret.

The crew of 50 on the yacht wore spick and span new uniforms from caps to shoes. They were pledged to secrecy.

On the $1,300,000 boat, the King is expected to sail leisurely through the lovely, fabled little islands of the Dalmatian Archipelago, off the coast of Yugoslavia, across the waters from the heel of Italy's boot.

Two British destroyers will accompany the party which will be absent from England about a month.

The King had the yacht's library converted into his own cabin because it was isolated and spacious, but when he visited the Nahlin at Southampton he found a big imposing walnut bedstead installed.

Prefers Simplicity.

He objected it was too formal and unsuitable for the ship and had a simple divan-bed substituted.

His Majesty earlier cancelled his proposed visit to the Chateau De L'Horizon, Maxine Elliott's picturesque villa at Golfe Juan on the French Riviera because of the strife in nearby Spain.

Some anxiety attached to his sea venture, nevertheless, due to the fact the whole Mediterranean and even its uptimg arm, the Adriatic Sea, might easily become the battle area in the event of a new European war.

The outing will be King Edward's first relaxation since his accession last Jan. 20.

Among the guests joining the Nahlin were personal friends, such as Lord and Lady Louis Mountbatten, Earl Dudley, Lady Cunard, Secretary of State for War Duff Cooper, Lady Diana Cooper and Lord and Lady Brownlow.

PARIS, Aug. 8 (AP). — France posted gendarmes along the tracks of the Calais-Paris railroad to-day to protect King Edward en route to the Dalmation coast.

Surete officials sent eight detectives to meet the King at Calais and said a heavy police guard would be thrown around him at each of his stops in France.

Meanest Thief In World Cleans Out Potato Patch

Family On Relief Find Mean Thief Stole Their Potatoes

HAD GOOD PATCH

Dependant on relief monies for their existence, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McMullis, 184 London street, grasped eagerly the opportunity to assure themselves some food for the coming winter when the relief garden scheme was launched again this spring. They took the plot assigned to them at the corner of Gilchrist and London streets and spent many hours working it industriously in preparation for seeding.

Where to get the seeds? Their son, George, scraped up enough money through odd jobs to buy them one bag of seed potatoes, and Mr. McMullis earned enough by cutting grass and doing other chores in the neighborhood to buy another half bag. The relief authorities also provided a bag and hopefully they planted the lot, reckoning that they would harvest six or eight bags—enough for the needs of themselves and their nine-months-old baby for the winter with a couple of bags left over to sell.

Throughout the early summer weeks, both Mr. and Mrs. McMullis toiled over the lot. The dry spell came and blighted other potatoes, but they borrowed a neighbor's hose and nursed their own carefully. The potatoes developed under their painstaking and optimistic care, and this week they were ready for harvest.

But some thief has beat them to it.

Fuel Oil For Tea At Party Is Fatal

RANDOLPH, Mass., Aug. 8.—(CP).—Little John Sawyer, two years old, was "guest of honor" yesterday at a "tea party" given by his two sisters, Joan, 4, and Janet, 3, and when the party was over John was dead.

Medical Examiner G. A. Sullivan said the sisters, while "playing house" served their little brother some "tea," the principal ingredient of which was fuel oil.

The dead child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sawyer. The mother was in another room while the children "played house."

ONTARIO WARNS GAS MONOPOLISTS TO REDUCE RATES

Government Charges "Little Man" In Western Areas Squeezed Mercilessly

CROLL ENTERS FIGHT

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—(CP).—Out to protect the "little consumer" and the "little producer," the Ontario Government to-day gave notice to Western Ontario "gas monopolists" that they must drop their rates to a "reasonable level."

Notifying Windsor City Council that approval had been withheld for its by-law endorsing renewal of municipal agreement with the Union Natural Gas Company, Hon. David Croll, Minister of Municipal Affairs, last night said this step was only the first in a "determined and widespread battle to force rates down throughout the whole of Western Ontario.

"The little consumer has been squeezed mercilessly and the little producer, and the farmer who owns the gas well, has also been the victim of exploitation to the advantage of the great companies," he said.

"I intend to use all the authority and influence I possess to obtain a reduction in rates for all natural gas consuming municipalities. The little consumer doesn't seem to have had many friends in court, while the corporation has been expertly and perpetually active. From now on, I am in the fight."

A conference of municipal representatives would be called in London in the near future, he said.

$5,000 To Go To Fixing Shore Line Along Crescent Street

$5,000 FOR STUART DRIVE

Work Is Expected To Start As Soon As Possible On Projects

Government grants amounting to $12,500 for local employment projects were announced today by J. J. Duffus, M.P., as having received final official approval this week.

The appropriations are as follows: $5,000 to be spent on the Crescent Street shore line of Little Lake and $5,000 on the proposed Stuart Drive in Ashburnham; and in the county $2,500 for the reconstruction of the road into the Canadian Nepheline mine in the Blue Mountains.

Mr. Duffus said he went to Ottawa on Thursday to press the claim in behalf of Peterborough, and on Friday he interviewed the district engineer of the federal Public Works Department, obtaining definite assurance that work would be begun as soon as possible on these three undertakings.

"Through the very helpful cooperation of Senator Frank O'Connor and the city council as represented by Mayor Macdonald and Alderman Sloan on a recent deputation to Ottawa these grants have received Departmental approval," Mr. Duffus said. "The work in the city has been mentioned before, but the $2,500 for the reconstruction of seven miles of road from the county road into the Canadian Nepheline mine is not so generally understood. This company has a crushing plant in Lakefield and is employing thirty-one men at the mine and in their reducing plant. They are using forty tons of material a day, and their production depends on improvement of the seven mile road to facilitate trucking.

Aid by Mines Department.

The federal Department of Mines is contributing 50 per cent of the $2,500 and the provincial Department of Mines is paying the remaining 24 per cent. I have been informed that the company has orders for increased shipments which will likely mean further employment as soon as the output is increased.

Working Two Shifts.

The road crosses through parts of Dummer, Burleigh and Methuen townships. On a recent visit to the mine I was greatly surprised by their activity, and I think it will be a matter of satisfaction to the city and county and especially to Lakefield that this assistance has been authorized by the two governments. They are working night and day in their plant on the east side of the river near the site of the Canada Cement Company's plant. I was shown a telegram of some weeks ago from a glass manufacturing company in the United States saying that they would take all the material the Nepheline Company can supply.

This is a new industry for Lakefield, and one of the reasons it was located there was because quite a number of men had experience in similar processing work with the Canada Cement Company when it was operating."

5-STORY PLUNGE ENDS CAREER OF ZIONCHECK

Madcap Washington Representative Hurls Himself From Hotel Window

JUST MISSES BRIDE'S CAR

Leaves Incoherent Note — Reported Melancholy Over Publicity-Given Capers

SEATTLE, Aug. 8.—(AP).—An incoherent note found in the fifth floor room from which Rep. Marion Anthony Zioncheck plunged to his death to-day led the coroner to believe the play-boy of the United States' Congress took his own life.

As the story was told by Coroner Otto Mittelstadt, Zioncheck dashed away from his brother-in-law, William Nadeau, who found him writing a note, and dived through a window to the pavement.

An immediate death ended the career of the youthful Congressman whose eccentric capers made his name a household word in the United States.

It was a downtown building, and the streets were busy with the usual 6 p.m. traffic. The body just missed a pedestrian and fell within a few feet of the automobile where his bride of four months was waiting.

From the evidence Coroner Mittelstadt said "all indications pointed to Zioncheck's death being a suicide," but an inquest was ordered to be held next Friday.

The coroner said the following note was found:

"My only hope in life was to improve the condition of unfair economic system that held no promise to those that all the wealth of even a decent chance to survive let alone live."

Wife Overcome

The Congressman's wife, whom he married only last April, was taken to a hospital in an ambulance. His mother, whose wish was said to have caused him to change his mind and run for re-election, has been ill lately and she was not immediately notified of his death.

The coroner remarked the note was not coherent.

Zioncheck had the reputation of an advanced Liberal when he was elected to represent Washington state's first district in 1932.

He was re-elected two years ago.

His life had been full of sensational episodes since last New Year's Eve, when he plugged in a number of telephone lines of his apartment house switchboard. His antics were climaxed several weeks ago when he escaped from a Maryland institution for mental cases by leaping a 7-foot fence.

The coroner said Nadeau told him a psychiatrist had advised the family to keep a close watch on Zioncheck as he seemed "moody and despondent over publicity he had received."

KETCHESON BARN AT MENIE BURNED LIVESTOCK LOST

Valuable Pure-Bred Guernsey Bull And Other Stock Burned

ALSO BIG HAY CROP

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 8. — A valuable pure-bred Guernsey bull was lost in a fire which totally destroyed the large barn on the farm of Robert C. Katcheson at Menie about 1.30 o'clock Friday morning. Miss Edith Gibbons, a member of the family was first to discover the blaze, and after arousing the household rushed to the telephone and had the operator call all the neighboring farms. The call for help was quickly responded to, but the flames had made such headway that with the exception of one horse saved by Earl Whitton the other animals in the building could not be reached. Besides the bull, a brood sow with ten little pigs and a large number of chickens were consumed in the seething mass. The barn contained about 100 loads of this season's hay, 800 bushels of old grain and part of this year's crop of wheat and barley. Fortunately the other horses and dairy cattle were in the pasture field. The sheep barn and tool sheds adjoining the barn were also destroyed. The garage was about the only one of the outbuildings saved. The reflection lit up the country for miles around and burnt embers were found in the morning on the farm of John Rannie one mile to the south.

Up to a late hour on Friday night the actual loss could not be estimated, and is said to be only partly covered by insurance.

PETERBORO WOMAN SINGS AT COBOURG

Mrs. Leslie Groombridge Assists Kilties' Band In Weekly Concert

COBOURG, Aug. 8. — One of the season's best programs made the weekly band concert in the park on Thursday night a very enjoyable affair. Joseph Goldring and his Kilties supplied the music. Well-known to band concert audiences for whom she has sung on previous occasions, Mrs. Leslie Groombridge sang two delightful solos, "Dusk and Dawn" and "Beautiful Lady in Blue." Mrs. Groombridge is from Peterborough and is staying at the tourist camp. Winner of various awards for her singing, she is competing at the Canadian National Exhibition this year.

The clever dancing of Mary Agnes LaFleur, Betty Marshall, Eileen Stewart and Opal Young was also appreciated. The numbers played by the band were: March, Flanders; overture, Jupiter's Carnival; waltz, The Gay 90's; march, N.C.-4; march, The Black Horse Troop; selection from Faust; selection, Jack-o-Lantern; march, University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Edith Hilliard, local pianist, was accompanist.

DRIED OUT FIELDS REAL FIRE HAZARD

Conditions Around Rush Point Have Citizens Alarmed—Little Aid Available

RUSH POINT, Aug. 8.—Residents in this district are becoming alarmed over the danger of fire in the dried out pastures and grain fields.

It is thought that some preparation should be made for combating this menace as at present there is almost no help available for such a struggle, and should fire get the least headway farmers in many cases would do well to escape with their lives.

Many are trying to burn dry grass near their buildings when conditions are suitable, but this is an extremely dangerous plan with present conditions of drought and high winds, and should rarely be attempted.

GERMANY ACCEPTS NEUTRALITY PLAN IN SPANISH WAR

Paris Excited Over Reports Nazi Ships Ready To Go Into Action Off Spain

NEW LOYALIST VICTORIES

Spanish Gov't Reports Rebels Routed On Three Fronts

By Edward Kennedy
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 8.—The French cabinet decided today to reaffirm its "absolute neutrality" in Spain after receiving an official report Germany has accepted the "hands off" international agreement.

Officials said a new declaration of the position of the French government in the Spanish civil war would be made public later today.

As the cabinet met, the Communist newspaper L'Humanite published statements concerning the reported execution of four young Germans by Barcelona Leftists — the alleged act which caused French fears of collapse of the international neutrality proposal to mount high.

The newspaper said:

1. The Germans were not members of the Nazi party but Nazi refugees who were fighting in the ranks of the Barcelona Workers' militia, "defending liberty against the Spanish emulators of Hitler."

2. The central committee at Barcelona "formally denies the information of the German government and declares it is false news destined to provoke a causus belli to justify armed intervention against the Spanish government."

The reassuring official message from Berlin came from Andre Francois-Poncet, French ambassador to Germany.

COURT CRITICIZES POST PUBLISHER

Magistrate Langley Threatens Action Unless Apology Made For Article

LINDSAY, Aug. 8.—Publishers of the Lindsay "Daily Post" were criticised in police court yesterday by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., of Peterboro, Crown Attorney J. E. Anderson, K.C., and Barrister Allan Lacey, for publishing an article which Mr. Lacey termed "a direct pre-supposition of a man's guilt," in their issue of August 6.

The article was in connection with a charge of arson, which was laid against Albert Keith of Lindsay. The "Post" quoted an official of the Ontario Fire Marshal's department as saying that Keith possessed a "mental quirk," and that he "would sooner burn Robinson's barn down than anyone else's."

"I think this was a most unfair article to have in the paper," said Mr. Lacey, counsel for the defense.

"If it were in my power, I would discharge any police officer who makes any comment to the press on a case that is coming up for trial," said Mr. Anderson. "The press have a perfect right to attend a trial and give fair comment thereon, but references to the accused before the trial are most objectionable. I do hope, in the future the press will be more careful."

"I trust that when this court sits on Monday, Mr. Wilson, the publisher of the "Post," will be here to make a suitable apology. Otherwise there will be a summons issued for contempt," declared Magistrate Langley. The accused was remanded for one week on bail of $2,000.

HAMILTON OFFERS WATER TO DUNDAS

Will Cost City $17,500—Town $31,000 Constructing New Main

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 8.—(CP).—The nearby town of Dundas was one step further ahead to-day in its battle to obtain a permanent water supply to end the drought which has increased to serious proportions within the past few days.

At a special meeting last night Hamilton City Council adopted an agreement offering Dundas a water supply. Next step will be a meeting of Dundas Town Council Monday to discuss the offer. City Engineer W. L. McFaul said cost of the whole plan of constructing a main linking the systems of Hamilton and Dundas would be $48,500.

It would cost Hamilton $17,500 to extend its lines to the city limits and Dundas $31,000 to build the line from there to its own system.

DR. MAUDE ROYDEN RAPS NIAGARA POWER HOUSES

CHAUTAUQUA, N.Y., Aug 8 (AP)—Dr. Maude Royden, pioneer British suffragette and advocate of Pacifism, in an address here last night thanked Virginia "for giving us Lady Astor" and criticised the "ugly little power houses" at Niagara Falls.

Lady Astor's "straight-forward speaking," she said, "may frequently be annoying to the British, but we like her for that."

Dr. Royden declared, "the astonishing beauty of Niagara Falls is less significant than the little power houses built into the falls. Couldn't you have made those ugly little houses a little more beautiful?"

Lad 15, Expert Aviator Is Grounded Two Years

Too Young Says Department Despite Fact He Has Over Eighty Hours Solo

OFTEN TAKES PARENTS UP

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 8 (CP) — Frank Vines, 15, Goderich, youngest flyer at the London airport and one of the youngest in Canada, has been instructed by the Department of Civil Aviation he must make no more flights solo because he is two years under the minimum age limit for pilots.

Frank, in spite of his age, is almost a veteran pilot. Capt. T. Williams, instructor at the London airport who taught the boy flying, said he had between 80 and 90 hours solo flight to his credit.

Those interested in aviation here say there are hundreds of aviators flying in Canada with less hours solo experience or less skill than Vines. He had been flying back and forth to Goderich, sometimes taking his parents, airport officials said.

With only a few more hours, enough to make up 100 solo, Frank would be eligible for a full commercial pilot's license—a license held by few aviators. As present instructions stand he will be "grounded" until the spring of 1938.

TRIO ARE RESCUED COBOURG HARBOR

Leaking Canoe Upsets Hurling Two Youths, Toronto Girl In Water

COBOURG, Aug. 8. — (CP). — When their leaking canoe upset near the harbor mouth here last night, Eileen Riches, 17, of 126 Davisville avenue, Toronto; Jack Piesch, 16, and Jerry Johnston, 17, both of Cobourg, were rescued by Roy McMahon in a boat.

Piesch had gone down for the second time, Johnston was trying to keep him above water, and Miss Riches was clinging to the overturned canoe when McMahon arrived.

"We did not notice the boat was filling with water until after we had rounded the pier," said Miss Riches. "Then we tried to make for shore, but the boat was filling too quickly and it turned over. I hung onto the end of the boat. Piesch tried to swim in and found he could not make it. Jerry Johnston went to help him, but had a hard time with his clothes on. Mr. McMahon came along just in time."

Roy McMahon is the son of the late Capt. Matt McMahon, former keeper of the life saving station here. He was working on the pier when he noticed the canoeists were in difficulty and went to their assistance.

APSLEY, Aug. 8.—The Apsley Red Cross hospital board met recently to honor Miss Ida Brand, popular nurse since December, 1933, who has been transferred to Jellico. Mrs. J. Downing presented Miss Brand with a fruit set, "Hollyhock" pattern, following the reading of an address.

Newly Weds Honored

On Friday evening the people of Apsley and surrounding district gathered in Reynold's Hall to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Morley Mc Donald, one of our popular young merchants and to his bride.

The hall was filled to capacity. Mr. N. Reynolds asked Mr. and Mrs. McDonald to take chairs in the orchestra's recess and Mrs. M. Lean read an address, after which Mr. Don. G. Newberry presented a purse.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, although taken by surprise, made very suitable replies. Lunch consisting of various kinds of sandwiches and cakes and tea, was served.

During the evening, Mr. McDonald served ice cream which was very much enjoyed by old and young alike. Every one voted the evening a success in every way.

Man In Hospital Court Is Informed

Remanded for sentence when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., earlier during the week to a charge of unlawfully having liquor, Albert Armstrong, 44, of Havelock, failed to surrender to his bail Friday.

When the case was called the accused's wife appeared to explain that her husband was in hospital. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., applied fo a warrant for the arrest of the accused as soon as he is able to leave the hospital.

Dr. G. Murray Fraser, city medical officer of health, told the Bench that as Armstrong left the police station on Wednesday after posting his bail in the sum of $500 he suffered a fainting spell near the drinking fountain at the corner of Water and Simcoe streets, and in the fall suffered a severe buise to his back. He expressed the opinion that Armstrong would be able to leave hospital on Tuesday of next week.

T.B. Cases Up 50 P.C. In London District

LONDON, Ont., August 8 (C.P.).—A startling increase in the number of cases of tuberculosis in London has been reported during the past month, according to Dr. C. A. Harris, Medical Officer of Health.

"TB cases increased to nearly 50 per cent. above the normal number in that period," said Dr. Harris.

Dr. Harris ascribed the increase to lowered resistance because of the heat wave and dust brought on by the drought.

SERVICES IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES TO-MORROW

The Golden Text

I was not disobedient to the Heavenly Vision

Sabbath Message For the Shut-Ins

Sabbath Message This Week is by Rev. William McArthur Bethany Tabernacle

REBIRTH UNTO THE DIVINE IMAGE

THE Bible makes it very plain that the purpose of God for His creatures, is that they should be according to His image—rationally, morally, dispostionally. The creature is to partake of The Creator's Nature. This was the case, as the early history of man declares. The Bible clearly declares that the mutiny and rebellion of our first parents brought about the tragedy of sin and its awful results of spiritual death, guilt, fear, curse, expulsion and separation from fellowship with God, who is life. The seed of sin set in motion forces of degradation so that without controversy the Divine image is marred by depravity of the will, thought life, love, and desires of the creature. Sin has wrought a universal havoc having passed upon all men. All come short of the glory of God, therefore the purpose of God has been spoiled in all mankind.

If the image and life of God is to be realized in the lives of men and women it must be by another birth. Jesus said, "Ye must be born again." Nicodemus, that ruler of the Jews, seeking light from the young prophet of Nazareth, was taught this elementary lesson: new life come from new birth. Jesus counted it important teaching, for upon its pivot many great issues hang in the balance, for example, man's right relationship to God; God's purpose worked in man; man's realization of the best in this life; the eternal welfare of the soul. Jesus said that it was imperative to be born again or there never would be a knowledge of the Kingdom of God.

Many people today are deceived by substitutes into thinking they are recipients of a new life from God. Church affiliation is counted new birth. Now, this should be the result rather than the means. Adherence to church ordinances is also confused with new birth, but there is not a sacrament in the New Testament that has the power to bestow the grace of life. Adherence to the sacraments should be an evidence that life has already been received. Even faithfulness to religious service should never be thought of as a means of attaining life; but service to God should come out of having received new life.

Sinful human nature requires a Divine agent and power to renovate it, and make it live according to God's pleasure. The new birth has its origins in God. It is a Divine work. God of His own will begets us, (James 1:18). The spiritual elements of man's nature must be quickened. (John 3:5). There is mystery in this, yet there ought to be abundant manifestations to the individual born again, powerful products in the life. We can never know all about God, the originator of new birth, nor can we understand the mysterious workings of the Holy Spirit in wooing man to God; nor can we comprehend the glories of our heavenly destiny; but we can know subjectively that a mighty recreative act has been accomplished in the inner man. A great change takes place when the inner spirit life of a man or woman is made new in Christ Jesus.

The born again soul has a new Divine nature—new loves for God's things—new dispositions new heart. Wesley says: The image of God is stamped on the heart. The whole inner man is quickened to a new correspondence with God. The mind through the ears and eyes of faith is opened to the truth of God's Word. The plan of salvation is depended upon. The sweet whisperings of forgiveness and acceptance with God through Jesus are heard and accepted. A sense of assurance is realized by the heart of a believing soul. God's spirit witnesses by the Word of God, concerning a new sonship in the Family of God. The heart is impelled by new impulses and motives, for a life for the glory of God, so that the moral life of the born again one takes on the markings of the God-life. The will is possessed by a new liberating power (the will of God) which emancipates it from the thraldom of sin's habits. Soul, this is the experience you need to fit you for this life and the next.

This era needs above all, this transforming message, the gospel of the new birth. The ills of society can be met by no other means. The commercial, industrial, social, domestic, governmental, international selfishness which is working such havoc can be met only by the new nature of Divine love. No other message can meet the needs of the drunkard, the liar, the gambling thief, the fornicator, the idle wanderer, the selfish financier, the heartless employer and thousands of other depraved needy souls—but the gospel of the new birth man.

Now the mass of society can only be reached through the individual. God deals with individuals to reach the whole. Therefore the imperative, "ye must be born again," falls on you. God offers this recreative experience to all. Men are born again of God (John 1:13). The agent is the Holy Spirit. (John 3:6). The medium for reaching the hearts of men and which men can grasp is the Word of God. (I Peter 1:23). The message which brings life and light to depraved hearts is the sacrifical death and supernatural resurrection of Jesus. (John 3:14-16, I Peter 1:3). The human requisite is penitent, appropriating faith (Th. 3:16, John 5:11-2). The Word of God says: "To as many as received Him to them gave He the power to become the Sons of God." (John 1:12).

SEASIDERS HAVE SERVICES ON SAND

Inaugurated Thirty Years Ago Enterprise Still Being Carried Out

BLACKPOOL, England, Aug. 8.—(CP)—The Anglican Mission to Holidaymakers, which for more than 30 years has been conducted at various points on the five-mile stretch of sands at Blackpool, is now in full swing.

It was Bishop Knox, one of the most virile heads of the diocese of Manchester, who inaugurated this enterprise. Dr. Knox has long retired, full of years and honor, but the remarkable work he initiated at Blackpool has been carried on with equal enthusiasm. Blackpool now is in the diocese of Blackburn and the Mission this year is being led by the Bishop, Dr. P. M. Herbert.

Dr. Herbert, like his notable predecessor, finds the sermons are popular. Platforms are placed on the sand at about mile intervals. Services are held three times daily, with special services for children at South Shore, where the family element is mostly accommodated.

During the two weeks of the mission the Missioners live a community life at Rossal School, a few miles from Blackpool. The staff of Missioners includes such notable clerics as the Bishop of Burnley; Canon Peter Green; Canon Paton-Williams, rector of St. Ann's, Manchester; Canon Shields, rector of St. Catherine's, Liverpool; Canon Lambert, warden of Whalley Abbey; Canon Morris, vicar of All Saints', Southport; Rev. F. H. Keatch, vicar of Seaforth and the Rev. J. W. Ward, vicar of All Souls', Southport.

Our salvation depends on something more stable than ourselves.

Our lives are like a first voyage, ventures upon the unknown.

Earth has no feasts that do not break up.

The way clears at once for him who begins.

The inferior man always embellishes his mistakes.

SAUL CONVERTED.

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL.

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 9 is Acts 9:1-31; 22:3-21; Galatians 1:11-17; 1 Timothy 1:12-17, the Golden Text being Acts 26:19, "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision.")

THE conversation of Saul of Tarsus and the consequent change of him from the church's chief adversary to its chief advocate and Christianity's bitterest persecutor to its most effective propagator, is a miracle whose value from the standpoint of the convincing power of the gospel is second only to the resurrection of Christ from the dead.

Saul the Persecutor.

Our first glimpse of Saul is at the stoning to death of Stephen; "They laid down their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul.... And Saul was consenting unto his death ....And Saul laid waste the church, entering into every house, and dragging men and women, committed them to prison." Fo rsome months Saul continued to be the wolf that terrorized and devastated the infant church of Christ. So aggressive was he that he procured authority to reach out 160 miles from Jerusalem to persecute "the people of the way" in the ancient city of Damascus. During the six or eight days necessary for him to travel here on his mission of violence we may picture him in these words of Luke in our lesson: "Saul, yet breathing threatening and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest, and asked of him letters to Damascus unto the synagogues, that if he found any that were of the Way, whether men or women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem."

The Persecutor Arrested.

But Saul's papers were never served. Instead he himself was arrested by the rise Christ of glory who appeared in person and apprehended him and gave him a commission to become his apostle to the gentile world, the church's greatest missionary, the gospel's chief exponent, the most Christlike Christian the gospel has produced in all these 19 centuries: "As he journied, it came to pass that he drew night into Damascus; and suddenly there shone round him him a light out of heaven; and he fell upon the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? And he said, Who art thou Lord; And he said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest.... Rise and enter into the city and it shall be told thee what thou shalt do. And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw nothing and they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus. And he was three days without sight, and did neither eat nor drink."

"Brother Saul"

What a change the Holy Spirit works in the converted sinner! Instead of the devastating wolf in the fold, he is addressed by one of the fold as "Brother Saul," and told, "The Lord, even Jesus, who appeared unto thee in the way which thou camest, hath sent me, that thou mayest receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Spirit .... And he received his sight; and he arose and was baptized." This physical sight was but the reflection of the spiritual sight with which Christ flooded Paul's life through the next 30 years of his fruitful career. Paul became a new creature in Christ, as does every converted sinner through repentence of sin and faith in Christ as Saviour. "Before, a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious, I obtained mercy, and the grace of our Lord abounded exceedingly with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus."

Where Father Divine Gets His Money

Condensed from the New Yorker by Magazine Digest

THE effect of this bold claim, on the press and government of the city in which Father Divine makes his headquarters, has been remarkable. The papers, on the whole, have appeared to regard his works as miraculous. The city government has been singularly deferential in its attitude towards him. It looks sometimes as if a good many people besides Father Divine's followers think maybe he is God.

Soon after he had established himself in Sayville, Long Island, in 1919, word of the strange peacher who seemed to be God, who gave free Sunday dinners, and who never took up a collection, got to Harlem and people began to go out ot Sayville from Harlem to see for themselves and to eat the miraculous dinners. A few newspaper stories appeared, all of them marveiling at the hospitality of Father Divine, and, after the pulicity, white people also began to go to the Sunday dinners in Sayville. When the guests asked him candidly how he manage dto give them free dinners, he would say cheerfully, "Father will provide," and his disciples would say, "It's wonderful! Ain't it wonderful? Sweet Father is God Almighty!"

By midsummer 1920, the Sayville police on Sundays had to put noparking signs up and down the block in which "Heaven" stood, to prevent hopeless traffic jams. Father Divine served the Sunday dinners to hundreds, in shifts, all day long and into the evening without accepting a penny. Where did the money come from?

As his fame increased, so did the suspicions of many people outside his cult. Letters were sent to him containing cash, money orders, and checks, by investigators in the pay of the Sayville police authorities, who though he might be open to prosecution on a federal charge of using the mails to defraud. In every case the enclosure was returned with a note that said, "Father will provide."

If you bear in mind the fact that the Father is a short, dignified colored man with a bald head, the true story of his life is more impressive then his story of divine rebirth. In 1899, beyond all question he was a man named George Baker and was earning an honest living in Baltimore, mostly by clipping hedges and mowing lawns. In a mere forty years he rose from hedge-clipper to evangelist, from evangelist to The Messenger, from The Messenger to Major J. Devine from Major J. Devine to the Rev. J. Divine, and from the Rev. J. Divine to Father Divine (God).

When, as The Messenger, he first started travelling about the country preaching, he did not travel alone. He was accompanied by three or four men and women who had left their homes and had become faithful disciples. They would stop in a town for a month or so and while The Messenger preached on the street corners, the disciples would find jobs and pool their wages to provide food and room rent, and railroad fare for the journey to the next town. Other disciples joined the group on the way and when The Messenger arrived in New York in 1915 he had seven or eight devoted followers.

The disciples got jobs in Manhattan as cooks and waiters and laundresses and chambermaids. The Messenger himself did not work, but he was provided with food and clothes and rent money because his followers, believing him to be God, turned over to him every cent they made.

He moved to the Negro quarter in Brooklyn and there set up a sort of combination meeting house and employment agency. If a new disciple didn't have a job, The Messenger would get him one. The thing grew slowly, but fast enough to convince him that he had an idea there that was very valuable.

With a dozen people working at regular jobs and handing over their earnings to The Messenger there was plenty of money for everything. There was a fine dinner every evening and the disciples wanted for nothing. There was no drinking, because The Messenger frowned on that and preached against it. The disciples never spent money foolishly, because, in the first place, they wanted nothing in the way of entertainment outside the house of God, and in the second place the only money they ever got from The Messenger, after they had turned over their wages, was carfare. He bought clothes for them when they needed them—cheap clothes from second-hand shops, and had suits and dresses altered to fit by one of the disciples, who was a seamstress. The Messenger had discovered that the living expenses of twelve people are not twelve times what they are for one person. And his followers were happy and better fed than they had ever been before.

In the fall of 1919 he moved his disciples to Sayville, Long Island. It is possible that the savings of a coloured woman named Pinninah, who had become one of his chief disciples, made up part of the $700 which he paid down in cash for the house he bought there. A deed was drawn up, with mortgages for the remainder of the purchase price of $2,500. One of the two signatures on the deed is Pinninah's. The other is that of Major J. Devine. The Messenger had evaporated, amid the plenitude of military titles this year, Major J. Devine has come into being. George Baker had been born a third time.

He was born a fourth and then a fifth time, almost as soon as he established himself in Sayville. He became Rev. J. Devine, dropped the military title and dropped a vowel which gave the name a supernatural significance. Then almost immediately afterwards he became Father Divine (God).

A National Message

On every hand the question is being put to us: What would be the effect of the restoration of the Divine Law in the economic and social order? The above is a question which might well be asked. The difficulty of answering may be illustrated by considering the time in the Elizabethan era when the people of Britain were invited to go overseas and found the colonies in the New World. It is interesting to take the records of those early days, and to read of the actual details then known of conditions there. The colonists knew just a fringe of the mighty Continent, on the eastern shores of which they had landed. Rolling hills, forest-clad; treecovered plains, here and there interspersed with open spaces; rivers large and small, flowing from the interior; lakes nestling in the valleys, with rumors of great inland seas of fresh water; still further rumors of vast treeless plains in the central areas; bounded by vast ranges of mountains to the westward; and, finally, the Pacific Ocean.

Tales and experiences of adventure were brought in by explorers and hunters. All these were strange enough. Added to these were imaginations made seemingly concrete by repetition of rivers flowing over golden sands; and of such airy golden cities as the "Manoah" of the Spaniards' dream. Such was the early experience and the early imagination which spurred our people across the Atlantic to take possession of the new heritage. The result of the advance into the new land is now before the world. There is no such geographical world left to conquer, but our generation is invited to explore a new spiritual world. The question comes: What shall we find when we land upon its shores? It is proable that our answe s will only point in the right direction as did the answers to questions in the Elizabethan days. In that day the Anglo-Saxon race was condined to the British Isles. It numbered only about six million people. It was in the declared purpose of God at that time and forward to multiply the seed of Israel and He, from of old, agreed to extend the boundaries of the land in proportion to the number of the children of Israel. The expansion of the people and of the land possessed by them kept pace together and still continues to do so. In like manner the commercial and economic centre of the people has been and still is in the British Isles. The economic authorities recognized America as the senior overseas daughter nation and centered the American economic system for North America in New York. Even to this day it is difficult, in major transactions, for Canada to deal directly with London; for the current of fanance still runs strongly through New York. When Canada does deal directly with England, all that the average business man in England knows of Canada is Montreal, where agencies covering the whole Dominion are rigidly established. This is like establishing agencies in Paris or Amsterdam, to cover the whole Continent of Europe. Obviously, we have outgrown the economic organization.

(To Be Continued Next Week)

Love is the sweetest of earthly blessings.

Whatever enlarges hope will exalt courage.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

Continuing the subject of last week, it may be readily seen, provided always that we can bring ourselves to think impartially, that there is no basis of truth in what we call self. For in truth there is not one self, but many selves; the self is a composite of the past, conditioned by the material aspect of our life on earth, and bears little, if any, relation to the eternal verities. The burden of all the great religions, of all the Teachers, is: "Kill out self," for until self is subdued we can have no true glimpse of the Higher Self. To love one's life (i.e. self) is to lose it; to lay down one's life is to find the true life of the Higher Self. Or, to put it in another way: in Adam, or mortal man, all must die, but in the Christ of God are all made alive. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that immortality is of God and not of self. For we emphasized that immortality is of God and not of self. For we are children of God only in relation to the eternal Christ of God, who is the Light which lighteth every man. Man, spiritually, is the image and likeness of God and self is the veil that shuts him out from the Light. Whether we call that Light by one term or another is immaterial; the point is, that we must seek that Light and dwell within It, so that our personalities are so infused with It that they are transmuted into perfect harmony, accord, and unity with It. For that Light is the true Self, that which was, and is, and ever will be, imperishable, immortal, eternal. The consciousness must be extended from the lower to the higher, from the mortal to the immortal, so that the immortal can lift the mortal up to its own plane or condition of being. The mystic Path is the avenue between the two phases of being, and to walk upon the Way, one must become the Way, for it is the Way of the Christ. Even as the Master said, "I am the Way," so must we also, for he only is a Christian who is Christ-like. The Kingdom of Heaven is within us, here and now, and we must find it within ourselves before we can realize it elsewhere. God and the Christ of God are also within us: we are the keepers of the sanctuary of the holy temples of our bodies and minds and the finding of the Kingdom is the conscious realization of the indwelling God, and the living in Him, not in self.—Lactantius III., Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

Saul Converted and Commissioned ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 9:1-31; 22:3-21; Galatians 1:11-17; I Timothy 1:12-17.

Our first glimpse of Saul is at the stoning to death of Stephen, the first Christian martyr. Those who did this laid down their garments at the feet of Saul, a young man, as Saul approved all their did.

As Saul was en route to Damascus to hunt out and persecute the Christians there, the Lord Jesus appeared to him saying, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me.... I am Jesus whom thou persecutest."

For three days Paul was blind as he fasted and prayed in Damascus. Then God sent a Christian named Ananias to him, who greeted him as "Brother Saul" and baptized him and received him into the church.

For thirty years Paul served Christ as a missionary, ending his life in a prison in Rome whence he wrote letters encouraging others to be faithful to Christ unto the end as he was.

Getting Results

There is a letter from "Citizen" on this page today that is of special interest to us because it shows that the primary object behind the issuing of the Mail-It-Away tourist edition of The Examiner is being served. The writer tells us of Michigan friends who have enjoyed a holiday trip to this district because their attention was caught by the articles and illustrations in the special tourist number and of an impending visit from other acquaintances to whom copies of the issue were sent. The other day the news columns told of an old resident of Peterborough who became so homesick for the old scenes after reading the Mail-It-Away edition that she immediately decided to make a trip here.

We have an idea there must be a good many instances like these and we would be glad therefore to hear from any citizen who mailed the special number away and found that it was the means of attracting someone to the Kawartha-Trent Waterway district. Such information would be of interest and value to us in planning next year's tourist edition and we would appreciate very much any co-operation along this line that may be accorded. After all, this tourist-promotion business should be a community matter—for the whole community benefits from its success and therefore we feel that we are justified in appealing to the public generally to work with us in making The Examiner's annual tourist number as complete and effective as it is possible for it to be made.

We're Not the Only Ones

Canadians are prone to grumble and with some reason at the tax-bills they are called upon to pay these days but should be able to get a certain amount of satisfaction out of the realization that they are not the only and by means the worse sufferers in this respect. Our fellow-Britishers out in New Zealand, for instance where a new Labor government has taken over the administrations and is putting into effect some advanced ideas along the lines of social legislation, are beginning to realize they have a tax problem on their shoulders too and that it is likely to become more serious if the new responsibility of office does not slow up the program.

A few days ago the New Zealand government announced that $8,500,000 is to be paid in additional old age, war and other pensions, the old age allowance being raised to $5 a week and that increased land and income levies aimed at raising $9,000,000 will be imposed. Coming in one fell swoop these new taxes represent additional taxation of $6 for every man, woman and child in the Dominion.

And that of course does not tell the whole story. The New Zealanders are being hit hard in other directions. There is the scheme of bonusing exports of agricultural products for one thing. Under this scheme the Government pays to the New Zealand producer the difference between what New Zealand butter brings in the English market and the "fair price set for butter at home." That leaves the New Zealander holding the bag. For the butter he buys he has to pay out of his own pocket of course, the New Zealand price for the product and then he digs down in his pocket again and helps pay in taxes the bonus the government pays to the producer in the form of the difference between the English and New Zealand prices. The art of hammering at the man who pays the taxes is one of the most highly developed known to the modern world and apparently no nation escapes.

He Has More Than Speed

The story of the triumph of Jack Lovelock, the fleet young New Zealander, who won the 1500 metre race at the Olympic games in world's record time warrants the belief that he not only possesses rare speed and a stout heart but perhaps more important still he has a keen brain and a tenacity of purpose that should stand him well in the bigger game of life after his track days are over.

Lovelock, it seems, discovered several years ago that he possessed the unusual faculty of being able to sprint the last quarter of a mile race and he realized that he had an asset that would be invaluable in world competition. Most athletes would have lost no time in putting the thing to a test and they would have employed this long sprint trying to win the next race in which they started.

The New Zealander was of a different mould. The Olympic games were coming along in a year or two and he decided to reserve the secret of his lengthy sprinting ability for that supreme moment when he would be carrying the colors of his country against the fastest 1500 metre men in the world. He realized the value of the surprise element in such a contest and accordingly he refused to reveal to the athletic world the fact that he was capable of running at top speed for a much longer distance toward the end of a race than any one suspected. He had the tenacity of purpose to go along running in his old style, saving his sprint until the last 75 yards. That usually won for him, but if it didn't Lovelock still refused to use the weapon that would have made victory certain. He preferred to accept a beating occasionally in races that did not matter a great deal so long as he had his surprise ready for the big moment at Berlin.

It took will-power and determination to adhere to such a course but the New Zealander persisted and he had his reward the other day when he suddenly opened out a sprint 300 metres from the finish and set such a pace for the remainder of the race that a field of the world's greatest runners was left behind and Lovelock won looking back over his shoulder at his opponents, while Olympic and world records were completely smashed.

It seems to us there is a real moral in this story of Mr. Lovelock's great win and we will leave it to you to develop.

How Fires Spread

There were two news stories in yesterday's papers, both from the Tillsonburg district that sharply accentuated the fire danger that exists all over the country as a result of the record dry spell. In one instance a grass fire that started in a field spread to a new gas well in the Brownsville field and set the gas alight, endangering all the other wells in the district and making it necessary to bring in an expert from across the border to recap the well. In the other case a similar fire spread quickly to a farmer's barn which with its contents was completely destroyed with a loss of $5,000.

A spark from a passing train is blamed for one of these disastrous fires, the other was doubtless due to carelessness on the part of some smoker who failed to extinguish a match or a cigarette end. It seems difficult to get the public to realize the danger in such carelessness, and to understand the speed with which flames will run along through dried up fields of grass and, until a fire that apparently started harmlessly well away from anything of value has spread to and lighted buildings far away from the point of origin. That was what happened in both these Tillsonburg cases and as a result heavy damage has been caused. The condition all over the country are ripe for frequent repetitions of such stories unless there is a general effort on the part of the public to reduce the risk to a minimum. The newspapers, The Examiner included, have been sounding frequent warnings, perhaps to a monotonous extent but the seriousness of the situation is justification for the frequency with which the danger has been mentioned and the necessity of care, especially on the part of smokers, has been stressed.

A Useful Volume

The fifth volume of the National Reference Book issued by the Canadian Newspaper Service, Registered, has just made its appearance and it will probably be the consensus of opinion among those who are fortunate enough to secure a copy that this is the most complete and finest edition yet published. The volume which is profusely illustrated is a store-house of useful information in regard to Canadian men and women who are leaders in various fields of activity.

The editors in a foreword say that the material has been gathered and edited with the utmost care and that it may be relied upon as accurate and discriminating and a glance through the more than one thousand pages which the handy book contains serves to show that their claim is justified. There is a great deal of concise data upon a variety of subjects including literature, music, painting and sculpture, finance, mining, industry, commerce and the learned professions and along these lines it is obvious that the volume will serve a most useful purpose while the biographical sketches are the more valuable because they are not confined to Canadians who are engaged in the material pursuits but seek to give fitting recognition to men and women who have distinguished themselves by creative and imaginative effort.

It is to be imagined this latest volume of the reference book will be made much use of not only in newspaper offices but by public libraries, chambers of commerce and other similar institutions among which it is to be circulated. It is up-to-the-minute, concise, accurate and comprehensive and that is a lot for a reference number of this nature.

Saving the Wild Waterfowl

Sportsmen throughout Canada will applaud the new regulations that are announced from Ottawa as a step in a campaign to save the wild waterfowl of the country from extermination. The cutting down in the size of the daily bag to 12 ducks and the seasonal allotment to 150 and the limiting of the season to two months still leaves the hunter with plenty of shooting and at the same time will be regarded as a step in the direction of that conservation that is decidedly necessary if the decrease in the supply of game birds noted in recent years is to be checked in time.

Canadians will approve of these restrictions the more heartily because they know that in the United States a very sincere effort is being made to save the wild waterfall from being wiped out completely. There was a time when the people of this country felt that there was little to be gained by Canadian sportsmen being regulated when across the border there was a general slaughter, in some sections, of game birds. Respect for the Canadian laws suffered through this resentment and that is easy to understand because there are few people who are sportsmen encugh to submit to regimentation in the matter of hunting when they hold the opinion that any benefit that might follow from compliance on their part with the regulations is merely being thrown away because of what is going on elsewhere. That feeling has now disappeared, however, for the United States has gone even further in matter of conservation than we have, setting a bag limit in the case of wild ducks of ten a day.

Wild fowl have been having a tough passage aside from the activities of the hunter in recent years. Drought, a failure of eel-grass, the disappearance of wild rice from some of the lakes where it once was abundant, the attacks of crows upon eggs and young birds, all these and other causes have contributed to very material reductions in the supply both of wild ducks and geese and those who are most closely acquainted with the situation realize that drastic control is necessary if these birds are not to share the fate of the wild pigeon.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If it is not one thing it is another with the farmer these days. Now comes the report that the corn borer is on the increase in Essex and Kent counties.

The oyster farming industry in Prince Edward Island is said to be making rapid strides. It is of course one kind of farming that has not been seriously hit by the drought.

Men who are caught setting bush fires are to go to the penitentiary, the magistrate at Gogama threatens. He has the right idea of making the punishment fit the crime.

The fellow who predicted last winter's heavy snow and this summer's drought now declares that the continent will soon experience a series of floods. Well, he can't be right all the time.

Another American negro has won an Olympic title for Uncle Sam. The colored stars have almost swept the boards at Berlin and the names of Owens, and Woodruff and Williams will make the Harlemites forget all about Joe Louis.

A picture of the man who captured Quebec in 1759 has been presented to the Dominion archives. What a lot of people would like to know is the name of the man who is to take Quebec this month.

According to J. D. Sutherland, superintendent of Indian Affairs, the Indian race in Canada is increasing rapidly which statements run foul of the somewhat general opinion that the reverse was the case.

A Hamilton, Ont., choir has won the madrigal event at the National Eisteddfo in Wales. It must be admitted it is a rare feat to beat the Welsh singers on their own home groundsor anywhere else for that matter.

Reading of the positions and promotions that the Nazis are handing out to its Olympic winners some of the champions from other nations will begin to think that after all, the chief prizes have remained in Germany.

Two Saltfleet farmers have been fined for refusing to clean out the ditches in front of their homes. They probably remembered that not very long ago a government in Ontario made the filling-up of the ditches one of its principal campaign appeals.

Mr. Bennett is leaving next week for a trip around the British Empire and regardless of their political affiliations Canadians will agree that the leader of the opposition has earned a holiday,—if a tour that will doubtless involve countless functions and speech-making can be so described.

Sanctuary.

I love the solitude of dark e'er night has gone,
The rest and peace, before the world moves on,
The velvet black of starless, summer nights,
A well of silence, e'er the day grows bright.

That sacred hush before the birth of day,
The chorusing of birds, whose gladsome song,
Dispels the eerie grey light o'er the way.

Peterborough Of 1833 Days

(By Edwin C. Guillet, M.A., in the Cobourg Sentinel-Star)

A correspondent of The Cobourg Star, signing himself "C.K.", describes his impressions of Cobourg's neighbor in September, 1833:

"Peterborough is a fast-rising, prosperous and very extensive village, occupying, in proportion to the number of its houses, a large extent of ground. It is full of bustling merchants and amply provided stores. A rich and populous country surrounds it on every side, and the neighboring farmers find it a ready and excellent market...Last year 4,000 emigrants were sent to the Newcastle District, most of whom were settled in the back townships.

Stumps and Swamps Abound

"Peterborough possesses all the repulsive features incident to the new and fast-thriving towns of this country. The first arrangement which displeases the eye on walking through it is the singularly straggling position of the houses. The streets are, I am ready to believe, laid out according to some preconceived and fixed plan, but the outlines are so ill-developed that it would puzzle the penetration of La Place himself to define their contemplated direction by any calculations derived from the position of the houses. The next offence to all ideas of neatness or beauty arises from the regiments of deplorable looking pine stumps, standing like sentinels round almost every house in the outskirts of the place. But such things are easily tolerated, and are perhaps unavoidable in a town which has sprung up, as it were, in a night, from the silence and solitude of the wilderness.

Mr. Murphy's Pond

"However, there is on intolerable nuisance — the more offensive because unnecessary — which gives a desolate appearance to the part of the town where it is situated—I allude to the stagnant pond near Mr. Murphy's store. It is a great eyesore, and little conducive to the health of the inhabitants; but such is the inexplicabilis force of the love of milldams that, although this is situated in the centre of the place, no consideration on the score of beauty or healthiness can possibly lead to its removal. Oh! for a breath to utter what I think of such practices!

Many Attractive Features

"Most of the town is pleasantly situated, and some parts are really beautiful. The neat little villas perched on the hill above Mr. Hall's extensive establishment particularly attracted my attention, and the situation of McFadden's Tavern is still more attractive—a situation, indeed, of which a nobleman might well be proud—the broad, rapid, glittering Otonabee rolls its clear waters by the very door of the tavern, and at a short distance beyond divides to surround a thickly wooded islet—green to the water's edge. The world of eye and ear is greatly narrowed by the interminable forests which literally girdle in and overshadow Peterborough. As the woods are cleared around, the prospect from the upper part of the village will be exceedingly picturesque.

Inhabitants Totalled 850

"The number of inhabitants are 850. Prosperity and plenty are settling among them. The accommodations at the taverns about the same as at Cobourg, if that be any commendation, and the daily demands on your pocket also the same. Everyone is very civil and obliging and apparently alive to the warmest hospitality. It is with pride and satisfaction that I hear from every person the most pleasing remark on the general tone of society here—so truly British in its feelings, habits and manners. Long may such feelings spread and flourish among the prosperous people of Peterborough—who, by the by, are singularly proud of their village, and jealous of any remarks derogatory to its character... The sudden rise of Peterborough is truly astonishing...The chief emporium of the back settlements, it promises in a few years to be one of the largest and richest towns in the province!" (Cobourg Star, October 9, 1833.)

SPACE GRABBERS.

(Bowmanville Statesman)

EVERY business has some particular bugbear which tends to spoil even the enjoyment of prosperous times. The bugbear of the publisher is the hundreds of pages of material that come to the editor's desk asking for free publication of one kind or another. Two weeks accumulation of this conglomeration was piled on our desk on our return from the Press Convention. Looking it over we find that the writers want us to tell about some British Columbia Holsteins; about the progress at a gold mine; about a firm's pension plan just inaugurated; something about beer and wine at Clappison's Corners; a notice from the Canadian Youth Congress; several reports from the Accident Prevention Associations; an article from the Health League of Canada; a story from the Toronto Conservatory of Music; several from the Ontario Highway Dept., and others from the Great Lakes Exposition, The Canadian Institute of Economics, Hamilton Bay Swim, several would-be feature writers; a securities firm; an auto finance company; a bank report; a House of Commons Debate; from National Sanitarian Association; and a brief for David Meisner. On all these reports we are expected to comment or reprint parts, and practically all are asking for the absolutely free use of the only thing we have to sell, the space in our newspaper. We have a method of getting rid of our troubles wholesale, so without playing any favorites, here goes the whole shooting match into the wastepaper basket.

LOTS OF IT HERE

(Toronto Globe)

An English editor is "shocked at the lack of Mother Country sentiment in Canada." It is difficult to get a very good idea of a country the size of Canada in a six-weeks' tour, and much depends on the contacts made.

A BUDGET RESULT

Here's a Handsome Apology.

(From the Mail and Empire.)

THROUGH one of those slips which occur in every newspaper office once in a long time, we were made to advocate the draining of swamps on farms in order to provide additional productive areas, which might be specially useful in drought seasons like the present. The article has naturally been criticized by some provincial newspapers, including the Peterborough Examiner. The Examiner is right and we were wrong—but only for the moment. The fact is that in previous articles The Mail and Empire in regretting the deforestation of the whole country has often referred to the swamps as necessary reservoirs for creeks and rivers. Not only have we constantly supported the reforestation activities of governments and municipalities and individuals as a means of maintaining sources of water supply on the land, but we have strongly approved of the creation of water ponds all over the western prairies. We have, moreover, commented on the elimination of swamps and marshes as disastrous to wild bird life.

According to The Examiner, the view in that part of the country where it circulates, appears to be "that we have gone far enough in draining swamps, and also that once a swamp is drained it has no moisture left in it." The Peterborough editor says that the view he found among farmers is that among the underbrush and scrub on this low land there is often pasture which helps out when there is none elsewhere in a dry season. That is a point which has a particular bearing in a season such as this. "When Jay N. Darling, the noted cartoonist, was head of the United States Conservation Department, that was one of the points he stressed, and he argued that the draining of swamps and the reclaiming of land all through the United States was having the effect of removing the reserves of moisture and so contributing to increase in droughts."

The Sault Ste. Marie Star states that the removal of beaver dams and ponds in Algoma has resulted not only in the disappearance of colonies of beaver but also in a definite lessening of moisture reserves in the forests. This it says is a serious matter, epecially in a season of high forest fire hazard such as the present. We trust that this apology will satisfy the editor of a provincial newspaper, which we will not name, and who has quite properly, no doubt, taken advantage of our lapse to poke fun at the ignorance of city journalists regarding rural matters. As already recalled, The Mail and Empire has long been a leader in the fight for the preservation and extension of natural water reserves.

Too Much Draining

(From the Sault Ste. Marie Star.)

HAS the draining of swamps been carried too far?

That is a point that is coming in for some discussion during the present dry season and some objection has been raised to the suggestion of the Toronto Mail and Empire:

"Is it not possible that the owner of a farm which contains a number of acres of swampy land could, by clearing up and draining this area, add largely to his productive area."

According to the Peterborough Examiner for instance, the view in that part of the country appears to be "that we have gone far enough in draining swamps and also that once a swamp is drained it has no moisture left in it."

The Peterborough editor says that the view he found among farmers was that among the underbrush and scrub on this low land there was often pasture which helped out when there was none elsewhere in a dry season. That is a point which has a particular bearing in a season such as this.

When Jay N. Darling, the noted cartoonist, was head of the U.S. conservation department, that was one of the points he stressed and he argued that the draining of swamps and the "reclaiming" of land all through the United States was having the effect of removing the reserves of moisture and so contributing to the increase in drought.

Similarly in Algoma it has been pointed out that the virtual disappearance of the beaver with it of the beaver dams and ponds has resulted in lessening the moisture reserves in the forests of this district, which is a serious matter in a period of high forest fire hazard, such as this year's dry summer has developed.

BRINGING THEM IN

Editor Examiner.

Sir,—You may be interested in knowing that one of the five to whom I sent your Tourist Number have returned to Michigan after spending what they termed "two of the most glorious vacation weeks ever experienced." And just this morning word was received from a doctor acquaintance in Toledo that he is bringing his family here next week. Remembering that he was an ardent fisherman, I had sent a copy to him. Apparently it was very effective, as they have always spent their vacations in New England. In my opinion your suggestion to "Mail Away" the Tourist Edition was an excellent one.

THAT BEER WARE-ROOM

Dear Mr. Editor:

A petition for the establishment of a beer ware-room in Fenelon Falls is, we understand, before the Liquor Control Board. This petition was introduced into the village council by one who had signed it. The council agreed to pass it on to the Liquor Control Board. It is claimed that in doing so its action was neutral.

This entire proceeding has been extra legal. The Board, under the Liquor Control Act, has the power to place a beer ware-room in Fenelon Falls if it sees fit. Neither petition nor action of the council has in any way any legal standing. The procedure is purely a device to create the impression that the matter is favored by public opinion and that this public opinion has an official endorsement.

In November last Fenelon Falls decided in favor of the removal of its beverage rooms by a vote of 462 to 268. Recently Somerville Township, which adjoins Fenelon Falls, voted 449 dry to 235 wet. This was an emphatic expression against the sale of liquor within their boundary and was given in the only way possible to these municipalities under the present Liquor Control Act.

Unfortunately the local option privileges formerly enjoyed by the citizens of the province were seriously emasculated when the Liquor Control Act was brought into existence. Under the present provisions no community however they may its sentiments may be, if it was not under local option in 1916 (Fenelon Falls was not), has any power to prevent the Liquor Control Board from establishing liquor selling institutions within its borders; only when these have been so established and not prior can a local option vote be had. In the case of Fenelon Falls, two and a half years must elapse under the present law before such a vote is possible, and then a sixty per cent. dry vote is required to rid the community of what it may deem a nuisance, although it has been established by action of the Government. The communities affected by the proposal of this petition have expressed their will in the only way possible and in an emphatic manner. No other inference as to their attitude can be reasonable drawn until some counter expression is had. In the face of this expression of public opinion, will the Liquor Control Board, either now or later when agitation has had time to subside, impose on these communities apart from some fair test of changed opinion, a beer ware-room?

A POETIC TRIBUTE

In a valley, rich and rare,
Stands a city, bright and fair
Called Peterborough.
Bound by hills of verdant green,
River flowing in between,
Fairer city scarce were seen,
Than Peterborough.

With its lawns so trim and neat,
Shady trees, on every street,
That's Peterborough.
Gardens, bright with flowers dressed,
Homes, for comfort and for rest,
Where, the city that's more blest,
Than Peterborough?

In the country, all around,
Scenes of beauty, may be found,
At Peterborough.
In its rivers, lakes and streams,
Fishes swim, and glide, and gleam,
Fine as anywhere are seen,
At Peterborough.

Where the merchants without guile,
Greet the stranger with a smile,
That's Peterborough.
Where the tourist, come to stay,
Boating, fishing, swimming, play,
Happy all the livelong day
At Peterborough.

Bards have sung of other parts,
That were nearer to their hearts,
Than Peterborough,
But, I doubt, if you compare,
This, with cities, anywhere,
You will find, a place more fair,
Than Peterborough.

THE HIGHWAY TOLL.

(San Francisco Argonaut)

FIGURES released by the National Safety Council reveal by the National Safety Council reveal that in May highway fatalities throughout the nation increased seven per cent. over the death toll for May, 1935. This year 2,970 went to sudden death in motor accidents, and last year 2,780. More than 80 per cent. of the fatal smashups were caused by faulty or reckless driving; mechanical deficiencies accounted for only a fraction of the total.

These are the bald figures, unadorned by the composite pain which death finally smoothed out of the wracked bodies of the victims, either at once and mercifully, or after long torture and horribly. Nor do formal statistics give the slightest indication of the frightful memories that will haunt until they themselves die all who escaped unscathed.

What would these survivors give, if they could turn back the clock to five, three, two minutes—even a few second—before the sickening impact that made their lives a nightmare from which it is impossible for them ever to awaken?

HAS CAUGHT UP.

(New York Times)

FOURSCORE British automobile tourists in more than thirty cars passed through New York on their way to Washington and Canada. This imperial city gave them according to all reports, the due amount of thrills.

If there is any class of Englishmen best qualified to understand America it should be the British motorist. In respect to the automobile, the two nations stand closest to each other, if we except the English language, Shakespeare and King James Version. For years and years people spoke of the "Americanization" of Great Britain in terms of ice-cream soda, dentistry and central heating. But none of these innovations, not even the American movie, has had such a psychological effect as the automobile.

The automobile has been undermining the traditional British respect for human life. It is an old story about 10,000 annual homicides in the United States and perhaps 100 in Great Britain. It is an old story about the leniency of American law toward murder and the stern exactions of the British law. But in automobile killings Great Britain is virtually up to us. Human life on the public roads of England has lost its sanctity.

A Bit of Nonsense

Discovered

"Yes, my dear," said a very modern wife to a friend, "for months I wondered where my husband was spending his evenings, until one night I arrived home early — and there he was!"

What's in a Name?

"If a child were to come in and say that her mother had sent her for 'a can of maltreated milk,' what would you give her?" asked the dairyman of his new assistant.

"Why, malted milk, of course."

"Pinot. One last man hunted all over the shelves for ——— of whipped cream."

Equipped

My ambition is to be a great doctor. I want to become a bone specialist.

"Well, you have a good head for it."

More than 4,000 temporary automobile directions signs have been placed on British roads in a month.

SPECIAL TAX LEVY LAID ON EAST YORK

Croll Orders Increase To Meet Relief Costs—Halt Treasury Raids

TORONTO, Aug. 8 (CP).—Hon. David Croll, Minister of Municipal affairs, today ruled another Ontario municipality—East York—must impose a special tax levy to meet increased relief costs instead of "raiding" the Ontario treasury for higher grants.

Mr. Croll ordered the Township Council must impose an extra levy on the taxpayers of 8.7 mills. If, however, the council, by next Tuesday, effects economies totalling $8,000, which Mr. Croll believes are possible, the rate may be lowered to 8.1 mills.

A letter giving notification of his decisions includes criticism of East York's reeve, Arthur Williams. The Minister charges Williams with appealing to "mob rule," with attempting to foment a strike of taxpayers not only in his own municipality but in several sections of the Toronto suburban area.

dollars worth of fine timber as 100 farmers attempted to check a 600-acre menace. Unless rain came to aid fire-fighters, residents of Uthroff and Foxmead, six and eight miles from Orillia, thought "anything might happen" to their property.

Callander Fire Cornered.

Encouraging news came from the North Bay section as a large force of fire-fighters cornered a fire east of the Callander Highway and definitely checked it.

More than 25 fires, ranging in size from 1 to 3,000 acres, roared through the section around Parry Sound. About 250 men sought to check the blazes reported the worst in the history of the area. Charges of incendiarism would be laid in connection with some of the fires, Chief Forest Ranger A. E. Whytall said.

Near Windsor, flames raged along a three-mile front in the vicinity of Leamington. Flames destroyed thousands of pheasant eggs and young birds and menaced the property of 400 campers, burning to within 400 feet of summer cottages.

After remaining subdued for several weeks, a smouldering peat bog burst into flames in the vicinity of Stratford yesterday, sending smoke over the city.

DETROIT, Aug. 8.—(CP).—The [illegible] of Erwin Lally, penniless farmhand from Stanleyville, Ont., near Kingston, for $26,000 cash and a 51 per cent. share in a flourishing patent medicine business, drew to a close to-day as Commissioner George W. Sebastian in Wayne County circuit court ruled Lally might be added as a party to the action and reserved judgment on the evidence submitted.

The October position finished at $1.04, December $1.01⅝ to ⅞, and May $1.03⅝ to $1.04.

Unexpected weakness at Buenos Aires and Liverpool, and almost total absence of export business were major factors in the decline.

Liverpool closed 1¼d to 2d lower. Buenos Aires at noon showed loses of 3 to 3¼ cents. All bullish news appeared overshadowed, and both Chicago and Minneapolis were 2½ cents lower at bottom levels, with Chicago closing 2⅛ to 2⅝ cents lower.

Trading showed active in the local pit, with foreign interests, Southern houses and locals credited with sales, supplemented by stop-loss orders, hedging sales and heavy profit-taking. United States Mills, investment interests and resting orders uncovered on the breaks, were found on the buying side.

CHICAGO WHEAT BREAKS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Big breaks in wheat values yesterday accompanied advices that Canada, with her harvest in full blast, was being undersold in Europe by other exporting countries.

Export demand for Canadian wheat at the moment appeared to have about vanished and much selling of wheat futures at Winnipeg was ascribed to United States' interests.

Despatches said the wheat harvest is making an all-time record for early cutting in Canada's Peace River section, with many fields expected to produce twenty-five to fifty bushels an acre. It was added that conditions for harvest work in the Prairie Provinces as a whole were generally favorable.

Chicago wheat closed 2¼c-2¾c lower.

Lindsay Merchants Win From Oshawa

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Aug. 8.—After a late start, Lindsay Merchants took a four inning decision from Minns of Oshawa City League by the score of 2 to 1 at Victoria Park last night. The first two innings of the fixture went scoreless and darkness was perhaps the factor which gave Lindsay their one run lead. Robertson scored the first Lindsay run in the last half of the third, coming home on Gingerewski's error. Oshawa then tied it up in the first of the fourth. Sturgiss getting a base on balls and scoring on Atkinson's hit. A sizzling grounder in Lindsays half by Loucks scored the winning run for the merchants, Lamb crossing the plate when the centre fielder missed the ball.

New Potatoes Are Offered $2.25 Bag

An unusually wide range of produce was offered on the Farmers' Market this morning, but the demand was slack. Eggs were priced between 25 and 28 cents and butter sold at 20 cents, slackening off as low as 25 cents.

New potatoes were snapped up quickly at 40 and 45 cents a peck and $2.25 a bag. Raspberries were plentiful at 10 cents a pint box. Seven-quart baskets of huckleberries went for 30 and 35 cents.

A few red tomatoes were offered at around 10 cents a quart—80 cents for the 70-quart basket. Cooking onions were 10 cents a pound. A few green apples were available at 50 cents a peck. Corn on the cob was 20 and 25 cents a dozen. Chickens brought 23 cents, with year-olds at 18 cents.

WARSAW

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Batten spent part of Tuesday at Mr. Ernest Batten's home.

Quite a number of campers spent the weekend and holiday at Gilchrest Park, Stoney Lake. Though the weather was hot fishing was generally good.

J. Prosser, F. Leroy, L. Ferguson and T. Hiltz, all from Oshawa returned home on Monday evening with their two-day limit, including some fine specimens of bass.

About 9 a.m., Monday, John Drain came in with two large lunge caught in White Lake, their total weight being thirty-five pounds.

Gilchrest Park affords easy access to both Stoney and White Lakes, and is fast becoming a very popular picnic ground for Peterborough and vicinity.

There is quite a little history connected with it. The property was once owned by people by the name of Gilchrist.

Just above the road is a canal which borders the west side of the Park. Stones are piled there in an unnatural way. Once there was no canal there. White Lake [illegible] below where the bridge is and Stoney Lake was a few hundred feet further up.

The late Thomas Choate, a pioneer of Dummer and grandfather of H. G. E. Choate, Peterborough, also cousin to the late Hon. Joseph Cha[illegible] about the year 1857 blasted this canal, thus, connecting White and Stoney Lakes. He was nearly arrested for having a large quantity of gun-powder when insurrection was rife in the country.

DUNSFORD MEN FIGHT BUSH FIRE

Fire Spreads Into Bell's Woods But Flames Are Said To Be Checked

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Aug. 8.—A hundred firefighters, including many women and children, answered the summons at noon yesterday, and for many hours fought a bush fire which started as a grass fire on the farm of Edward Bell, at Paradise Grove, near Sturgeon Lake, and a mile and half northwest of the Village of Dunsford.

By hard work they stopped the spreading of the fire in the grass on the farm field and prevented the cottage of William Smith being burned, but the fire spread into Bell's bush.

The grass skirting the bush for some twenty-five feet has been burned to keep the fire from spreading.

Sea Serpent Proves An Optical Illusion

WHITBY, Aug. 8.—Rumors of a "sea monster" in the waters of Whitby harbor were shattered today when J. P. Stevens of Whitby, who is engaged in fishing off the Whitby shoreline, stated that it was probably an optical illusion caused by the atmosphere.

"Sometimes there is a log floating and atmospheric conditions make it appear strange," he stated. "Once I thought I saw two people in a canoe, and when I came alongside it was only a long with two branches. This morning the atmosphere was kind of funny. Something like that may have happened to make people think they saw a sea serpent."

EDMONTON GROUP CALLS ON OTTAWA TO BLOCK SCRIP

Chamber Commerce Charge Certificates Breach Of Dominion Control Over Currency

OPPOSITION GROWS

EDMONTON, Aug. 8.—(CP). — The Edmonton Chamber of Commerce to-day awaited a reply to its request for action by the Dominion Government to stop the Alberta Government issuing prosperity certificates already circulating throughout the province.

"We appeal to the Dominion Government to take prompt action to stop what we are informed is clear contravention of Dominion control over currency and legal tender,' the Chamber wired Premier King last night.

Protection against a proposal that the Alberta Goverpment give the city of Edmonton $86,500 in certificates in lieu of the $56,500 cash relief grant for August also was asked by the Chamber. Edmonton City Council Thursday night accepted the province's offer.

The Chamber's telegram charged such certificates issued to Edmonton "must ultimately reach the most helpless class in the community, namely, recipients of relief."

The Provincial Department of Public Works has dispatched the larger part of the first issue of certificates to many sections of the province as payment of July wages to persons employed on highway construction projects.

Growing "soundly and steadily" was the announcement from Fred. R. Surry, founder of the "League of Freedom," an association of citizens organized for mutual protection against possible Government reprisals because of their refusal to sign covenants under the Governments proposed registration preparatory to payment of basic dividends.

PICNIC OFFICIALS BACKING HEPBURN

Regret Racketeering Crept In —Point Finger At Group In Toronto

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Aug. 8. — (CP).—Members of the executive committee, in charge of the birthday picnic planned for Premier day, held a meeting lasting till 11 Hepburn at Port Stanley Wednesday o'clock Friday evening at the conclusion of which the only information given out was that they had acceded to the Premier's wishes.

To-day Earl Anderson, prominent Liberal worker, declared: "Whatever the Premier says goes with us." From London, Joe McManus, former local Liberal worker, general chairman of the committees and the moving spirit in arranging for the big pow-wow, announced: "We're still standing loyally behind Premier Hepburn and backing him in his determination to crush the unprincipled element who want to run this picnic for ther own selfish ends."

He pointed out no person within the committee was responsible for making unauthorized arrangements. He said he was sorry the element of "racketeering" had crept into the affair making it necessary for the Premier to issue his cancellation order.

"Matters got out of hand when outsiders, principally in Toronto, began canvassing distilleries and breweries for donations of liquor to distribute at the picnic," said Mr. McManus.

"Generally speaking local Liberals are glad the picnic is off. They were perturbed over the stories about the proposed distribution of liquor, fearing for the Premier's political future and the future of Liberalism in Elgin if the picnic had developed into a wide-open affair, perhaps into a carousal. Port Stanley authorities, ready to welcome the big crowd, were known to be taking steps to prevent an influx of unauthorized concessionaries and racketeers who hoped to reap a rich harvest from the day's business."

Velveteens Among Favored Fabrics for Autumn Suits

Fashions Reflect News Events as Well as Classic Influence

By LISBETH

"WHAT'S IN a name?" is a query that comes easily to our mind these days what with Katharine Cornell having recently played Juliet, who raised the question originally, through one, William Shakespeare; and Norma Shearer currently asking it in the picture just finished.

Well, believe it or not, there is a good deal in a name, although, of course, the difference shouldn't prevent you from marrying the young man you love. Rose dust satin, for instance, is surely an intriguing name and an equally alluring material. It fashions the evening cape ensemble worn by Berneice Kolman, left.

Sweeping from shoulders it covers a low-cut gown of deeper tone, that has flowers clustered in the bosom. The cape could, of course, be worn with other evening dresses with whose color it would harmonize.

Charmingly youthful is the little frock, center. It is a candy stripe chiffon with demurely ruffled revers that cover the shoulders. It is cut extremely low in front and back, with a bow of self material at the point of the decolletage. The material is made with the stripes on the bias, and the belt is of the dress material. Mildred Ford posed, the three dresses being displayed at the Great Lakes Exposition fashion show in Cleveland.

Serpentine Print.

The third model, Rosemary Curren, wears a serpentine print cotton ensemble. The fitted coachman coat has wide pique revers and short puffed sleeves. It tops a perky dance frock with stunning white tuxedo front, an evening tailleur which copies the masculine evening attire.

Velveteens are sharing popularity with velvet for suits in Paris. Ribbed weaves and good quality are making them important. These, of course, are for daytime. Woolly looking plaids are also taking the popular fancy in suits for early fall. They are very smart when in black against brilliant grounds such as parrot or emerald. Velveteen, by the way, has gotten a big boost from the costumes for the picture, "Mary of Scotland", in which Katharine Hepburn has the leading role.

As I have said before many times, fashions reflect the news of the day as well as bygone periods, and art exhibits. The Ethiopian-Italian affairs had its repercussion in millinery and other women's wear, and millinery is the first to reflect the Spanish fracas.

Weddings

McILWAIN—CROUGH

The wedding was solemnized quietly at two o'clock this (Saturday) afternoon at St. Peter's rectory, by the Rev. F. J. Kelly, of Margaret Mary Crough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crough of Patterson street, and Clayton McIlwain, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. McIlwain of 815 George street.

Attendants were Miss Bernice Lynch and Henry Gordon.

The bride wore a frock of navy blue crepe with white hat, shoes and gloves.

Mr. and Mrs. McIlwain will live in Peterborough.

BURCHELL—POLLOCK

RUSH POINT, Aug. 8.—St. Paul's Anglican Church, Toronto, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday, August 1, when Miss Minnie Chlorinda Pollock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pollock, of Rush Point, was united in marriage to Mr. James Rupert Burchell, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Burchell, of Uxbridge, the Rev. E. S. Ottley officiating.

The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of turquoise blue silk sheer with white hat and shoes.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Burchell left for points north where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will reside in Toronto.

DONALDSON—BENSON.

Knox United Church was the scene at high noon to-day (Saturday) of a wedding of wide local interest, when two young people of the congregation who have been identified with various church organizations for many years past, were united in marriage. Both have been helpful in the efforts of the choir, the Dramatic Club, Canadian Girls in Training group and the Young Men's classes of the Sunday Schools. The bride has also been a member of the Public School teaching staff of the city. The bridegroom this year received high standing in musical examinations, and both are valued members of tennis clubs.

The bride was Mary Kathleen Benson, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Benson of 57 George street, and the bridegroom was John Taylor Donaldson, elder son of Mrs. Agnes Donaldson of Glasgow, Scotland, and the late Thomas Donaldson.

The Rev. William McDonald, B.A., of Thornton, recent pastor of Knox United Church, solemnized the wedding, which took place in the presence of a large number of friends of the young people, in a church decorated by a quantity of ferns and flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a toe-length frock of white suede lace. The Queen Anne collar was ornamented at the front with two ivory clips and flattened at the back under a large hat of white crepe and mohair, with white satin ribbon caught in a loose bow and tie around the crown. White crepe slippers and short white kid gloves completed the costume of the bride, who carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses and gypsophilia.

Hugh Morton of Kingston, formerly of Peterborough, was best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Ormond Benson, and Alex Wedlock. The wedding music was played by W. R. Potter. During the signing of the register, Miss Marion Ralston sang "Because." She wore a frock of green-figured white chiffon, a white mohair hat banded with green velvet, white shoes and gloves and corsage of roses.

After the ceremony, a reception attended by nearly forty guests was held at Walkerfield house, where Mrs. Benson assisted in receiving, wearing blue flowered chiffon with navy hat, shoes and gloves and corsage of roses. Mrs. Donaldson, mother of the bridegroom, who came from Scotland for the wedding, was gowned in black matelasse crepe, with printed silk under the black lace yoke. She wore a black hat and black accessories and a corsage of roses.

The guests sat at a long table done with pink gladioli and the bride's table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake. In the rooms were a profusion of golden glow, phlox and zinnias.

Later, Mr. Donaldson and his bride left by motor for Muskoka, to live at 223 Crescent street on their return. The bride travelled in a figured crepe tailored dress of May wine shade, with matching hat, shoes and gloves. She carried a white bag and a coat of white sharkskin in three-quarter length.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

THOUGH man a thinking being
Is defined,
Few use the grand prerogative of mind.
How few think justly of the thinking few!
How many never think, who think they do!

—Jane Taylor.

* * *

Dear Friends:

Did you ever meet up with someone who could not make up his or her mind? What aggravating persons they can be. You never know where you are with them, for they say one thing one day and another thing the next day.

They are fond of saying all they are going to do, but you cannot depend on them. Their mind, if you could call it that, seems to be moved by every wind that blows, like a weathercock. They are going to a certain place, but some little thing crops up and they go some place else.

Everything is too this or too that with them. They humbug themselves, and are a nuisance to everyone else. Let them ask you advice, and you be fool enough to give it to them, and you will find them doing exactly opposite to what you said. Never, never can they make up their own minds, because if they do this so and so will happen, and if they do that some other thing will occur, and oh, don't they get on your nerves? (Or should I call them a pain in the neck?)

They have not learned to think to any advantage, and when they blow hot and cold like they do, they are in reality afraid they might miss something if they stick to one course. In other words, they want to have their cake and eat it too, and it cannot be done.

I would imagine that if you could look into their minds, you would find that it did not run in one continual thread, but was broken up into little pieces, like links of sausage, and from the way they act, even the links get kinks in them.

Not long ago I met a woman like that, although men are like it also, and she wanted to decide about something, but she came all prepared to find fault with everything she saw, or any suggestion that was made. That was wrong, and the other would never do, and what she had was better than what she saw, so that no one could do anything with her.

She said, "What would you do if you were me?" and I said that first of all I would decide what I really wanted and stick with it. She said, "Oh, but I cannot make up my mind," and I replied that in that case she had better stay as she was, as it was too wearing on anyone to try and help her, and that did not satisfy her either.

But what did we get minds and brains for if we were not meant to use them? Where are we going to get if we are hopping about like a mosquito, not being able to make a decision in case we are wrong? We cannot be right all the time, but neither can we stand still because of that.

No one is always one hundred per cent. right all the time, but if we learn to think things out, we can be right most of the time. Every day men and women take chances, and it is the ones who do so who get anywhere. A doctor takes a chance every time he performs an operation, and the patient does likewise.

The business man takes a chance of failure, but that does not deter him from going ahead. First find out as far as you can if you are right, then go ahead. Don't shillyshally about, nor let your brains act as if they did not belong to you, but were floating about loose.

You have to take a chance like the rest of us, so go ahead and take it. What if you do lose out on the thing you are planning to do? You may win the next time. But do for goodness sake learn to make up your mind, and stay with it.

Your friend,
ROBERTA.

Oldest Woman Operator Is Now 93 Years Of Age

Old Telegrapher

Learned Morse Code In 1874 And Operated Cable Station Key

RESIDES IN P.E.I.

Miss Penelope Howatt, aged 93, of Crapaud, P.E.I., is believed the oldest woman telegrapher on the continent. She retired in 1915 at 72 years of age after 40 years of work.

CRAPAUD, P.E.I., Aug. 8 (CP)—A little old lady who is probably the oldest woman telegrapher on the continent is spending the last days of her life in this little harbor village teaching amateur wireless operators the Morse Code and playing bridge in her spare time.

She is Miss Penelope Howatt who retired from active work in 1915 and is now 93 years of age. She is certainly the oldest woman operator in Canada and on one has ever heard of any one elsewhere who is as old and can still transmit signals.

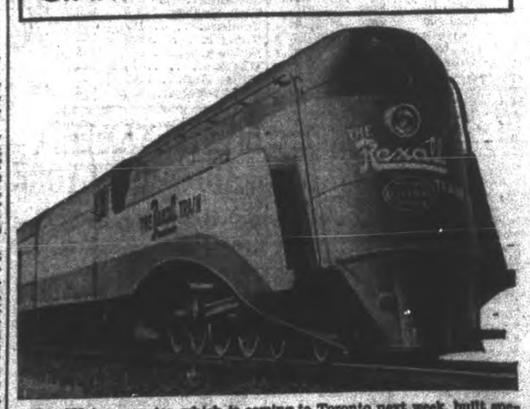
Miss Howatt was employed by three different transatlantic cable companies, all of which used Crapaud as a link station. She was a pioneer among women telegraph operators and worked a key for two score years when woman's place was considered to be in the home.

She learned the Morse code in 1874 when the cable station was located in a store owned by Miss Howatt's brother. Miss Howatt worked the Crapaud key for the Anglo-American Cable Company after it had taken over an earlier company and when Western Union absorbed Anglo-American she continued in the service for two years.

When Island Highway Telegraph lines were transferred to railway routes in 1915, Miss Howatt retired. Since her retirement she has continued to live in Crapaud where she knew perhaps the most interesting life of any Prince Edward Island woman of her time.

Despite her age Miss Howatt is bright, intelligent and quick-thinking. Her favorite relaxation is bridge and she always keeps score herself. She says her diet of whole wheat bread and milk keeps her healthy.

GIANT LOCOMOTIVE COMING



This 350-ton monster, which is coming to Toronto next week, built specially for the United Drug Co., to haul its 12-car convention train on a 29,000-mile tour of the United States and Canada, will be the only locomotive used on the trip. Never before has a single locomotive been called on for such an endurance tour in which it must meet almost every condition known to railroading. The Rexall druggists of Peterborough will attend the convention in Toronto and are supplying free inspection tickets to all who would like to go through the train.

Bought Own Coffin: CLAPHAM, Eng. — George Hollingsworth was buried Friday in a coffin with elaborate metal decorations which he had chosen himself a year ago and in a grave, the construction of which he had personally superintended. Hollingsworth, a retired hotel proprietor of Clapham Common, who was 82 years old, had made three trips to Putney Vale Cemetery in an invalid chair to over-see the bricking in of the grave.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR MIDDLE-AGED WORKMAN IN CITY

No Apprentices Been Learning Trades In Past Ten Years

BUILDERS BE NEEDED

The middle-aged workman will have another innings at bat if increasing business and confidence expands to boom proportions, Alderman Fred Tuggey said Thursday night at a meeting of the relief committee. He supplemented his opinion in a conversation with The Examiner to-day.

"I don't think there has been an apprentice bricklayer in Peterborough during the last ten years," he said. "And with what this trade has gone through since the depression set it I don't blame young men for passing it up. But there were 149 marriages in this city last year, and this year will see another crop of them. Young married couples naturally want homes of their own, and as conditions improve they are bound to have them. It is a mystery to me what has become of the couples who were married last year. They are living somewhere, and we all know that the number of houses built during these two years is far below the number of marriages.

What I said was that just as soon as prosperity warrants it there is going to be a big demand for houses, and that means modern new houses. If that condition develops, and surely it is bound to come, who is going to build the houses? Young men have not been going into the building trades. There has been nothing to attract them in that direction. The man beyond forty is going to be needed for that work, and he is going to command a fair remuneration."

Work that requires experience and skill and industry will always need the man "past forty," providing the work is available, Alderman Tuggey said, but when everything shuts down, and confidence folds up, as during the worst period of the depression, various trades become inactive.

Britain's Experience

"Those who have followed the recovery of industry in Great Britain are well aware that there has been a great scarcity of all kinds of tradesmen, and especially in the building trades. In the Old Country you don't hear so much about drawing an age line any way. What can a man do; what experience and ability has he acquired? These are considerations which count, and as Britain recovered from the effects of the war there has been work for the capable man who was willing to do it. And I still think Canada will see the same change from the conditions of the last seven years. It simply can't go on. Youth has its place and its rights to become established, but in the trades that call for experience and skill I think there is a better day near at hand than we have seen for a time that has been altogether too long in a young country like Canada."

A Gardening Scheme

Discussion of this subject in committee at the city hall was kindled by Alderman Wilson's revival of a gardening project proposed by A. B. Cunningham to absorb industrious men past sixty for whom there was no future in employment.

Mr. Cunningham's plan was broached last year, but was turned aside although members of the council declared that it seemed to be invested with a great deal of merit. From his experience as director of the community gardens, Mr. Cunningham has become convinced that elderly men against whom the doors of other employment have been closed during the depression should be assisted by the city in a gardening scheme, receiving a wage for their work. The products of the land would be sold and the returns credited to the project.

Members of the relief committee Thursday night were inclined to look with some favor on the Cunningham idea, but it is a new venture for a Peterborough city council, and this community likes to see an indubitable chart for any experiment it undertakes. It might be adduced as recommendation for such an investment in the welfare of an elderly group of citizens that A. B. Cunningham is just about as cautious and prudent as any of his fellows, even those around the council board, and it is unlikely that he would suggest a plan to the council if he was not convinced that it was practicable.

The Cunningham idea was not discarded Thursday night. Alderman Wilson introduced it, and after some discussion he remarked, non-committingly, "Well, I leave it with the committee to think it over."

With a view to ascertaining whether the present through streets in the city of Oshawa will be capable of carrying traffic on the Kingston highway when the new four-lane stretch between Oshawa and Toronto is completed, the highway committee of the chamber of commerce decided at a meeting Thursday night to ask Hon. T. B. McQuesten, minister of highways, to send a government engineer to the city to confer with the city engineer.

MORE GRASS FIRES

Grass fires have come to be a commonplace with the prolonged continuance of dry weather. The city fire department answered two such alarms during the past twenty-four hours on Burnham street and on Maria street near the C. P. R. footbridge. A chimney fire at the house of W. McMullis, 164 Dublin street, at 9.26 a.m., took a section of the apparatus to that part of the city. Early this morning, stated to be due to a short circuit in the ignition system, an auto took fire on Park Hill road bridge. Damage was slight.

UNABLE TO SEE SPECTATORS

A local man returned Friday from a visit to Callander. He remarked on the heavy traffic the famous quintuplets were drawing, how hard it was to get sleeping accomodation and the high prices charged for souvenirs. "Everyone who sees the babies goes through a turnstile," he said, "and that's how they keep check on the numbers." As for the repeated reports that the Dionne babes play away without paying any attention to the daily crowd of onlookers, this man said it was not surprising inasmuch as the glass—through which the spectators peered—was opaque on the inside, that is, not transparent from the quints' viewpoint.

The Cinque Ports once handled the bulk of England's cross-channel trade and the Lord Warden's post was important. Now sands choke the harbor mouths of all the ports except Dover.

INSTITUTE PICNIC IS HELD IN LAKEFIELD

Peterborough Industries Are Toured By Members Of Of Branch

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 6.—The third annual picnic of the Lakefield Women's Institute was held on Wednesday when a tour of some of the industries of Peterborough was made, and a very profitable and enjoyable time had by those who went.

There were about 33 in the party, leaving Lakefield at 1 o'clock, and their first visit was the Quaker Oats. They were conducted through the different parts, and the making of macaroni, muffets and cornflakes seemed to be the most interesting. They were also shown through the new cafeteria which is being completed for the employees and which will be used for amusement as well.

They then went to the photographers and had a picture taken which will appear in the Women's Institute building at the Canadian National Exhibition. They then drove around the Lift Locks and to Nicholls Oval for their business meeting at which final plans for the social were made and new ideas brought out as a means for raising funds.

Supper was then served, and all returned home after a very pleasant outing. The Junior Institute also accompanied them. Hall's Bridge Institute was to have been with them, but were unable to attend.

The Rambling REPORTERS

THE THOUGHTFUL CHILD.

A Peterborough teacher tells this one about a pupil: He was a small boy laboring through his first day at school. The teacher introduced him to the word "cat" as a starter on the long and thorny road to education. After writing it on the blackboard several times in large capital letters and finding him thoroughly acquainted with the significance of the marks she tried it in small letters. After a long period of contemplation, the child said: "I think that would be the kitty."—C.L.M.

Quarantine Restrictions Lifted From Home In North Ward

Dr. G. Murray Fraser, medical officer of health confirmed the rumored report of another suspected outbreak of infantile paralysis in the city. The patient is a six-year-old girl who is being attended by Dr. Herbert N. Young.

"The previously suspected case in which the patient was an 8-year-old boy, has proven not to be poliomyelitis and the quarantine restrictions have been removed in that case. This thing has not reached epidemic proportions and there is no cause for public alarm."

Three proved cases of infantile paralysis—two in the city and one in North Monaghan Township have been reported to medical health officers in July and August.

Colin Soule, Sudbury, driving behind them, took all three to Capreol where first aid was given. Farnel was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Sudbury, but died this morning.

OBITUARY

ROLAND GILBERT BROCK

Roland Gilbert Brock, son of the late Edwin S. Brock and Elizabeth Ann Brock, passed away peacefully at St. Joseph's Hospital following an illness of two weeks. Death came three days follow that of his mother.

Mr. Brock, who was 43 years of age, was born at Penelon Falls, Ont., but lived most of his life in Peterborough. He enlisted with the Canadian Army Medical Corps in 1916 and served to the end of the war.

He is survived by his widow, and two daughters, Rhoda of Toronto and Gladys at home; also two sisters, Mrs. A. H. Avon of Hamilton and Mrs. H. G. Day of Toronto.

Funeral services will be held at Lane and Eano's Funeral parlors, on Monday, August 10, at two o'clock. Interment in Little Lake Cemetery.

CHARLES THORNTON.

The death of Charles Thornton, 615 George street, well known among farmers of this district as a cattle buyer, occurred at the family residence Friday very suddenly. He was 63 years of age.

He was born in Orono and spent the past 30 years in this city, coming here from Garden Hill. Active in the general work of the institution, he was a member of George Street United Church. He was long a member of the choir and a valued officer in the Sunday school.

Surviving are his wife and two children, Robert and George at home. Three sisters, Mrs. A. W. Callender of Toronto, Miss Kate Thornton also of Toronto, and Mrs. John Little of Vancouver, also remain.

The funeral will be held Monday from the family residence to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. M. C. Parr will officiate.

MRS. W. D. SARGENT.

(Contributed.)

The late Mrs. W. D. Sargent, whose funeral took place on Thursday afternoon August 6th, from St. James' United Church, was formerly Edith Letitia Kent, a daughter of Andrew Kent and the late Mary Gillespie. She was born in Otonabee township fifty-five years ago and had lived her entire life in this community. She has always been associated with St. James' United church and Sunday school, serving for many years as Supt. of the Cradle Roll Dept., also the President of the Ladies' Aid and as a teacher and Assistant Supt. of the Junior Dept. of the S.S. She was also a member of the W.M.S. Besides her sorrowing husband, she leaves to mourn her sudden passing, her father, Andrew Kent, two daughters, Mary, (now Mrs. E. A. Rowe) and Zetta at home; also two grandchildren.

A short service for the relatives and immediate friends was held at the family residence, Lansdowne street, with a public service in St. James' United church at 3 o'clock at which over three hundred gathered to pay their last respects to the departed. The service, which was a very impressive one, was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. F. W. Craik, and opened by singing a favourite hymn of the deceased, "Breathe On Me Breath of God." The lesson was taken from Mark 14th chapter and the text was Mark 14, verse 6, "She hath wrought a good work on me." In a few well chosen and comforting words the pastor compared the life and work of the late Mrs. Sargent with that of the woman who broke the alabaster box of ointment on the head of Christ and closed with the beautiful words of the following verse:

Not now, but in the coming years,
It may be in the better land,
We'll read the meaning of our tears,
Up there, some time, we'll understand.

The hymn, "Abide With Me" was sung by request to close the service. The pallbearers were Thos. Sargent, H. White, J. Carter, F. G. Greatrix, Geo. Cuff and E. Frost.

The many floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held and included lovely wreaths from the Ladies' Aid, the St. James' S.S., George Street choir and "neighbors."

87, Feels Bit Weak Will See Doctor

FAUST, Alta., Aug. 8.—(CP).—Louis Roy, 87, of Grimshaw, was so worried he decided to make his first trip to Edmonton in 30 years from the Peace River district where he settled a quarter of a century ago.

He was perplexed because his mighty strength was waning slightly. He forgot the 87 years.

Standing straight as an Indian brave, he declared "harvest will soon be here, and I am not what I used to be, so I am going to Edmonton to see if the doctors can fix me up."

ADVERTISING ART IS NOW SCIENCE IN PSYCHOLOGY

Miss Shirley Pettit Addresses Weekly Luncheon Of Kiwanis Club

EMOTIONAL RESPONSES

The next time you look at a newspaper advertisement, a big display in the Saturday Evening Post, 24-sheet billboard or an electric Neon advertising sign beware for you are the target for a thousand tricks of the psychologist. The science of practical psychology has taken over the art of advertising—or, such is the scale of the development, it is almost possible to say advertising has taken over the science of the psychologist.

"There is no branch of modern industry more dependent for its success on an accurate knowledge of the mental, emotional and sensory mechanism of the human organism," Shirley Pettit, Toronto Univerally student psychologist and daughter of Kiwanian L. J. Pettit, told the Kiwanis Club yesterday in presenting a paper on "The Psychology of Advertising."

The Purpose

"There are several opinions as to the purpose of advertising," she said. "According to one authority it is to aid in making sales, to another it is simply an accelerative agent to other sales and merchandising effects, and to another it is to increase the public knowledge about saleable goods. Psychologically an advertisement must be considered a stimulus prepared for the purpose of securing a desired response from those who read it."

"There are two types of appeal that may be used: Either one which stimulates interest already aroused in a commodity or one which arouses interest in a product hitherto unknown. In arousing interest in a new commodity the best approach is through what is called an objective appeal. That is to say one which acquaints the public with the excellence of the product itself. It has been found that once an item is fairly well known to a given public the personal angle is the one given prominence rather than the quality of the goods.

"From actual trial and error methods of finding suitable appeals it appears that people are much more interested in how the goods will affect their own welfare, appearance, comfort, etc., than in the technical qualities they possess. This type of appeal does not leave the reader to guess just how the advertised product will fill his needs.

Emotional Responses

"Emotional responses run in characteristic channels with all human beings," Miss Pettit stated, further. "It is largely a matter of habit what things habitually please and displease an individual and it is the business of the advertising expert to learn these. It will depend on the nature of your product whether or not this will be an important factor. For example, if you are selling a necessity your advertisement does not need to please but simply to be sufficiently startling to thrust itself before the reader. If, on the other hand, you are interesting a buyer in a luxury, you will woo him to buy with a pleasing appeal—one which carries its own interest apart from the goods."

Turning her attention to more specific applications of psychology and physiology to the advertising art, Miss Pettit spoke of the phenomena of sensation and perception with which the advertiser must deal. "Whether the appeal is to the intellect or to the emotions, it must come through the medium of the five senses. In other words, it causes a sensation. In advertising this is either oral as in the case of radio work or visual as in printed or pictorial matter."

All the Tricks

Advertisers must know all the tricks of optical illusions, she continued. They must know that some words strike the eye more readily and are easier to read than others because of the letter designs. Some words are recognized more quickly and thus have a greater chance of catching the eye of the skimming magazine "glancer-throughter." The colors blue and yellow on a road side billboard are more likely to catch the corner of a hurrying motorista's eyes than the most vivid reds and greens. Colors are preferred to tints and the warm, saturated colors are preferred to the cold saturated colors. These and a thousand other facts must be in the advertiser's bag of tricks before he commences his work, she said.

"One of the most interesting phases of modern advertising is seen in the use of moving signs as the Neon electrics. Of all the strange things which primitive man encountered in his environment, the moving object was the first to gain his attention by reason of the necessity for self-preservation. Today the immediate dangers are less prominent but the fact remains that moving things do attract our attention."

Carl S. Browne introduced Miss Pettit to the club, Dr. C. B. Waite extending a vote of thanks. Miss Merrill Smith was the guest artist and entertained the club with unusual renditions of popular numbers on the piano.

Hay Fever Menace Tackled By Women

COHASSET GARDEN, Mass., Aug. 8 (CP).—The Cohasset Garden Club and the Cohasset Women's Club have joined in an effort to rid this quaint and historic south shore town of the menace of hay fever and, of course, as all victims of the fever know, one cause is the stubborn ragweed.

So trucks have been plying through the streets picking up ragweed and carting it off to be burned. Several days ago residents received in the mail a poster which read, "Clear your yard of ragweed. Pile in front yard. Collections will be made free of charge. Help to keep your town safe from hay fever."

No hay fever sufferer herself, one leader in the campaign said: "There is altogether too much hay fever in the town, and we are really making a very serious effort to control it. And the one way to do it is to destroy its cause."

Planned Revolt

Disclosures of plans for the Spanish revolution as early as last fall were reported made in Madrid, indicating Jose Gil Robles, former Minister of War, assisted in arranging for construction of bomb-proof gun emplacements in the mountains with a view to using them to overthrow the present government.

R. S. PRINGLE, SR. BEEN COMING HERE FOR PAST 35 YEARS

Tourists From State Of Ohio Seem To Predominate In This Area

NEW-COMERS PLEASED

The tourist influx into this district, which is probably the heaviest since pre-depression days, still continues unabated as the number of automobiles with United States licenses parked on George street each day will corroborate.

Visitors from Ohio State predominate, though New York and Pennsylvania both have good representation in the number of summer visitors to the Kawarthas. One car from West Virginia was parked on George street Friday afternoon, while the occupants went on a buying expedition; while a snappy outfit from Ohio complete with a smart trailer attracted considerable attention.

Among some of the tourists with whom an Examiner reporter stopped for a chat were representative of the increasing numberof people who come to this district year after year and who have permanent summer homes here, in addition to other tourists enthusiastic over their initial visit to the Kawarthas.

In the former category The Examiner met R. S. Pringle, Jr., of Bradford, Pennsylvania, who said he has been coming here every year since he was six years old. He declared that his father, R. S. Pringle, Sr., has been lured back here every year for the past thirty-five summers. The family have a beautiful summer camp home on Jack's Creek at the head of Stoney Lake, and Mr. Pringle expressed the opinion: "It's a great spot. I think it is one of the prettiest lakes in the country."

Water Levels Maintained

Mr. Pringle was surprised in view of the excessive dry weather that the district has experienced, "that water levels at Stoney Lake have been well maintained." There is more water in Jack's Creek this year than there has ever been before to his knowledge, and he compared this condition with an occasion when water levels fell so low that scores of fish were left stranded high and dry, to be killed.

Whether or not water levels have anything to do with it, Mr. Pringle said the bass fishing has been particularly good this year, while lunge fishing has been better than usual.

Others who may be placed in the category of permanent annual visitors, are Mrs. Smith and her daughter, Mrs. Cadman, both of Pittsburgh, Pa., who also are in residence at the present time at the lovely summer home on Stoney Lake above Crowe's Landing.

Among some of the newcomers who have been recomended to the district by satisfied friends, The Examiner met Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Longstreth, who together with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ferguson and Master Jack Ferguson of Dayton, Ohio, are vacationing at Elmhirst's on Rice Lake. They arrived here on Tuesday last, and are well pleased with the accommodation they secured, and with the possibilities which Rice Lake offers to the angler. "Fishing has been fair," Mr. Longstreth declared. "Already we have two bass to show for our efforts, not to mention a whole string of rock bass; some of them large ones."

Wanting to Rent Motor

He said they had come to Peterborough to rent an outboard motor for the remainder of their vacation, as they intend to do some trolling. The party inquired where they could obtain an Indian guide and they were recommended to try at Hiawatha.

At the Kiwanis luncheon Friday a number of American visitors were included among the guests. They were: R. B. Andrews, president of Cleveland Kiwanis Club; George Whittaker, president of Youngstown, Ohio, Kiwanis Club; Howard Hawkins, past president of [illegible] Cleveland Kiwanis Club; [illegible] Weed of Cleveland. The party are vacationing at Bobseygeon, but to date are not satisfied with the results of their angling excursions. Here's wishing them better luck!

PREMIER HEPBURN PLANS TO ATTEND CIVIC LUNCHEON

Prime Minister Accepts Invitation Extended By City Council

HERE ON AUGUST 20

Mayor Macdonald informed the Examiner today that Premier M. F. Hepburn had accepted the invitation of the council to be the city's guest at a complimentary dinner at the Empress Hotel Thursday August 20 during the noon hour.

Hon. Mr. Hepburn is coming to Peterborough to attend the Exhibition. This will be his first visit since he became Premier of Ontario. The council's invitation followed a precedent of other years when the Hon. George S. Henry, the late Hon. S. Martin, Colonel Kennedy and others received civic honors. Following the dinner Hon. Mr. Hepburn will go directly to the Exhibition Park.

Flower Entries.

Prospective exhibitors of flowers are reminded that entries in this department must be received at the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, 297 George street, not later than Saturday, August 15.

The numbers corresponding with the tickets for the drawing for the four Chevrolet automobiles will be transferred on Monday to a De Laval separator in the window of the Peterborough Hardware Company. The churn will beoperated steadily until Exhibition time mixing up the numbers for the drawing which will provide four new cars for the holders of the lucky tickets who are on the grounds at the time of the drawing.

Each Heat A Race.

S. A. Lowe, convenor of the committee in charge of horse races, told the Examiner today that two races a day will provide plenty of action for those who like to see the harness horses turn on the speed around the half mile oval.

"The fans will be interested to know that every heat will be a race this year, and there will be three heats in each class," Mr. Lowe said. "This will eliminate a lot of tedious scoring, and the horsemen will have to make every heat count to draw down the money. We expect a lot of good horses here this year, and they will be fit and ready for Peterborough, starting their fall campaign."

Repeat Orders for Tickets.

The four-Chevrolet car tickets are producing a lot of publicity for the Exhibition throughout the district. Repeat orders have come in every day this week from merchants in many of the towns and villages. Directors said today that this form of publicity, the most extensive ever adopted by the Board, will result in big attendance figures.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

For Sunday, August 9

Sunday's horoscope is an excellent one for all mystical, spiritual or altruistic pursuits or adventures, but holds omen of a sudden change or abrupt visitation that may have perilous angles.

Those whose birthday it is may make advantageous connections with mergers, combines, diplomatic or political circles or secret societies, but otherwise there are hazardous possibilities in their affairs.

A child born on this day may be talented and shrewd, excelling in singular or subtle transactions, but may be eccentric, unsettled and wayward. They should have rigid training and discipline in early life. Notable nativity: Isaak Walton, angler.

For Monday, August 10

Monday's astrological forecast is for a good measure of gain and satisfaction from industry, dependability and personal initiative, according to the lunar transits.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which much depends upon individual initiative and hard work. The energies and faculties will be pitched to high endeavor in creative lines, but be prudent in handling finances in experimental enterprises.

A child born on this day may be stable, industrious, energetic and adventurous and should attain success and personal happiness through its own endeavors and ambitions in life.

Notable nativity: Herbert Hoover, ex-president.

Westclox Wins Men's Softball Semi-Finals

WIN THIRD GAME FROM QUAKERS BY A 12-9 SCORE

Big Crowd Sees Thrilling Tilt With Clockmen Having a Small Edge

GO INTO FINALS

Westclox blotted the Quakers out of the softball picture for the current season by handing them a 12-9 licking before a huge crowd of spectators last night at Central. The game was the third in the semi-final series and was a crucial affair for both teams. The Quakers went into an early lead by scoring twice in the first inning. Then the Clockmakers scored three in the third to take over the lead, the Cereal gang tied the count in the fourth. The Westclox tallied two more runs in the sixth and then a hectic seventh saw both squads score six runs. The Clockmen pushed another marker across the plate to cement the game in the ninth inning and take it by a 12-9 count.

T. Parsons hurled his second win over the Quakers in this semi-final series. He was touched freely for hits but managed to keep the losers from bunching them except in the wild seventh inning. He whiffed five and was stingy with walks. Beacock started his second game in as many nights against the winners and went along well till the seventh and then he weakened and gave way to Shine. The latter hurled excellent relief ball for the balance of the game and held his opposition well in hand. Sloppy fielding in the seventh inning didn't help Beacock's mound work and, but for one or two costly bobbles in the field by the Quakers in that inning, the score might have been much closer.

The Big Hitters

Ellis was the leading sticker at the plate from a Westclox standpoint. He connected for three timely hits out of five times at bat including a pair of doubles. Foley, for the same team, banged out a couple of blows that came at a time when hits meant runs. Parsons, besides hurling a fine game, helped himself to two nice hits. Board, for the losers, led his team at the plate with hits out of four times at bat. Newson socked the longest hit of the game when he smashed a lusty triple in the fourth inning to drive in the tieing run for the Puffed Wheat boys.

The Beckerman crew displayed a nice offensive threat with the willow all evening and showed their ability to hit in the pinches with men on bases. The tail-end of the batting order came through with solid hits that spelled the difference between victory and defeat.

This win sends the Westclox into the finals of the city league men's softball and finds them meeting Swarts Clothiers in the first game Monday night at 6.45 p.m.

The teams:

Westclox: Crary, ss; Stanger, 2b; Ellis, 1b; Dorrington, 3b; T. Parsons, p; O'Leary, cf; Curry, rf; White, c; Foley, lf.

JOHNSON BLANKS NEWARK OUTFIT WITH FIVE HITS

Sold To St. Louis Cardinals He Pitches Last Game For Toronto

THREE SHUTOUTS

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—Si Johnson's record in the International League is enough to show the veteran right hander is still a bit too good for minor league baseball even though he couldn't hit his stride with Cincinnati Reds this spring.

Sold to St. Louis Cardinals by Cincinnati, Johnson hurled his valedictory game for the Toronto Leafs last night and blanked the Newark Bears with five hits, 2-0. That not only put him above the .500 mark in games won and lost with a second division club but it gave him three shutouts in his last three complete games and a generally fine all-around record.

Steve Sundra gave Si quite an argument, also flinging a five-hitter, but he wasn't so effective in the early innings. Two hits, a sacrifice and an error pushed over a Toronto run in the first and McQuinn's double and Blackerby's single produced another in the third.

Near Fourth Place.

The Leafs' victory left them only a half game behind the fourth-place Baltimore Orioles, who took a 3-0 whitewashing from the Buffalo Bisons. Ken Ash gave the Orioles five hits—two after two were out in the ninth. Fred Blake allowed seven but one was Ellie Fletcher's 14th homer and some of the others were bunched for Bison tallies.

The league leading Rochester Red Wings maintained their lead over Buffalo and Newark by turning back the Albany Senators by daylight, 2-1 as Tony Kaufmann bested Leon Pettit in a six-hit elbowing argument. Errors gave the Red Birds their opening and they packed in three hits in the seventh for both runs.

The only hitting argument of the day saw the Syracuse Chiefs go 10 innings to nose out Montreal 6-5. Jack Heving singled Al Casen home with the winning run.

NAPANEE WINS THIRD STRAIGHT BEATS KINGSTON

Victory Puts Napanee Within Two Games Of The Petes

SCORE 2 TO 1

KINGSTON, Aug. 8. — (CP). — Napanee Gibbards won their third straight game in the Central Ontario Senior Baseball League here last night when they defeated Kingston Ponies, Ontario champions, 2 to 1, in a pitchers' battle. The victory put Napanee within two games of the third-place Peterborough squad.

Tony Bishop and Jack Williams, both southpaws, turned in good efforts on the opposing mounds, each allowing seven hits. A single, a sacrifice, an error followed by another single, scored Kingston's only run in the second. Napanee scored in the third and fourth to take the game. Brennan, of Napanee, led the batters with a double and a single. Williams had two singles in four trips to the plate to top the Kingston attack. The score:

3 TENNIS TITLES WILL GO TO U.S.

Lone Trio Of Canadians Fight To Retain Two Of The Championships

VANCOUVER, August 8 (C.P.).—The Canadian lawn tennis championships swept into the final round to-day with at least three titles destined to remain in United States hands, while a lone trio of Canadians fought to bring two of them back to the Dominion.

The men's singles was slated for another year's soojurn in California when John Murio of San Francisco and Jack Tidball of Los Angeles won the semi-final matches. The Californians were to meet to-day in the final for the crown Gene Smith of Berkeley captured last year at Victoria.

Jean Milne, Vancouver ace, carried Canada's burden into the women's singles final against the Los Angeles tennis-playing medico, Dr. Esther Bartosh.

Caroline Deacon of North Vancouver paired with her fellow club player, Eleanor Yonug, to give the Dominion representation in the women's doubles. They meet Mrs. Gold Gross of Berkeley and Jean Milne in the final.

The men's doubles, like the singles, was an all-California affair with Tidball and Charlie Church of Los Angeles pitted against Verne Hughes of Long Beach and Bob Hippenstiel of Los Angeles.

Canadian Sculler a Coming Star

HERBIE MILLER

The rowing sensation of the Henley regatta at St. Catharines was Herbie Miller, shown above, who won the junior, association and senior singles matches. This equals the feat of Chuck Campbell two years ago when he won all three races. At this stage of his career he looks to be even better than Campbell, who is representing Canada at the Olympics. With the inevitable passing from the top ranks of such great scullers as Pearce, Guest, Joe Wright, Jr., and others, it appears as though Miller is good enough to hold the spotlight for a while. In his race at the Canadian Henley he rowed with long, powerful strokes that remind one of Pearce.

Sharkey Tries Come-Back To Improve Finances of Old Friend and Manager

Battered Boston Battler Has First Dime He Ever Made

IS RING'S THIRD

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—Jack Sharkey, the elderly squire of Chestnut Hill, has brought his incredible buffoonories to the front page once more and appears to have sinister designs upon the features of Joe Louis, a taxpayer he will encounter August 18 at Yankee Stadium.

The squire has turned his back on thirty-three, but the philosopher who decreed that "youth must be served" overlooked the heavyweight division or brutally ignored it. At the moment, youthful heavyweights are being served nothing but earnest socks on the snoot and you can hardly qualify for a hearline unless the beard is long and streaked with silver.

But something more than the weight of years must have driven Sharkey from his tulip beds to the decidedly unpleasant knuckles of the Louis person. Jim Bfaddock's magnificent climb from the depths found his source in pure finance. His family was in desperate straits and there was only one way of winning bread—with his knotted hands done up in leather.

Max Schmelling came out of latter-day obscurity to pay off the income tax debt he owed the United States, that and the stubborn pride of a German fighting man who wanted the mounting roar of the crowd once more—to win back a lost glory.

Has First Dime

But neither of these spurs appeared fleshed in the Sharkey side. The squire is the No. 3 money winner of his trade and Manager John Buckley estimates his earnings at $3,200,000. Jack Dempsey battered heads for about $4,800,000 and Gene Tunney finished with more than $3,900,000. The Sharkey man has the first dime he ever owned and all his money is craftily invested.

He may have a vast yearning for the crown, but he appeared to set no high valuation upon it the night he lost the thing to Primo Carnera, manager Buckley pushes forward a reason and it reflect great credit upon the squire—if it's the only reason. Buckley and Sharkey have long been associated and their friendship is knitted with heavy yarn. Now Buckley has fallen upon evil days. The depression smote him hard and investments have dented his wallet.

Real Beneficiary

Sitting in the darkness of Dexter Park last week Buckley told a story of foreclosures and distress—of a Sharkey who is coming back to patch the rents in his old manager's pocket. A well-filled Stadium will give Buckley a fresh grip on life, and it's Sharkey's gesture—the dramatic soil he loves so well.

The squire naturally didn't mention this phase in Boston when reporters crowded into his dressing room after the subjugation of young Phil Brubaker. They asked him what it was all about and he spoke feelingly of his debt to boxing—said he was still interested in the grand old game (the words are those of Squire Sharkey) and that he wished to see it prosper. He did admit that he might pick up a few stray kopecks in the process of glorification, but his very manner seemed to hint that this was the most incidental of incidental features.

But the squire is back and he can be a very rude and dangerous fellow if he feels combative August 18 at 10 p.m. He is well armored cunning as a wounded fox, and knows just how a left hand can be used to advantage. Sharkey was quite adequate in the Brubaker conflict. He was far too wise for the impetuous youth and showed amazing reserve power when dropped for a count in the first round.

And there is nothing really alarming about Jack's thirty-three years or more. Jack Johnson was 33 when he won the title. Fitzsimmons was 35. Heavyweights mature late, and perhaps Sharkey is just coming into his prime. On second thought—perhaps he isn't.

HAAS AND REITH IN GOLF FINAL

U.S. Youth Eliminates 'Sandy' Somerville 3 And 2

LEONARD BEATEN

ST. CHARLES COUNTRY CLUB, WINNIPEG, Aug. 8 (CP).—Bobby Reith of Winnipeg and 20-year-old Fred Haas, New Orleans, will battle to-day in the 36-hole final for the Canadian amateur golf championship. Reith defeated Stan Leonard, Vancouver, 6 and 5, and Haas beat the five-times champion, Sandy Somerville of London, Ont., 3 and 2, in semi-final matches yesterday.

The silent Ontario Scot, fighting desperately to retain a chance for his sixth national title, fell far below his form in the morning round, and Haas took a lead of five holes.

Reith's Victory Deserved

Reith's triumph was a great success for the 2-year-old Manitoba open and amateur champion, who has been shooting magnificent golf here for several years, but who has always fallen by the wayside in early rounds of national events.

Dr. Jas. A. Naismith Honored At Olympics

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Before the start of the Olympic basketball tournament yesterday, players from the competing nations honored Dr. James A. Naismith, the Canadian originator of the game. All competitors marched past the veteran coach after speakers had paid him tribute.

Replying, Dr. Naismith expressed his thanks and said "It doesn't seem long since I walked onto a playground in Springfield, Mass. With a ball in my hand and the game in my head. I never expected to live to see the game played in the Olympics."

Dr. Naismith is a native of Renfrew, Ont., and graduate of McGill University.

Japan's Swimmers Set Olympic Pace

BERLIN, August 8 (C.P. Cable).—Flashing record-breaking form, Japan's formidable swimmers set the Olympic pace to-day as Canada lost all three of her entrants in the men's 100-meter free stlye dash.

George Larsen of Hamilton made the best showing of the Canadian "mermen," placing third in a heat that sparkled with the performance of Shoji Taguchi of Japan, who shaved 5-10ths second off the Olympic mark. But only the first two in each trial qualified and Larsen went to the sidelines with Munroe Bourne of Montreal and Bob Hamerton, Winnipeg.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wisecracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, all I gotta say about the way things is going in local ball circles it's a good thing our lads piled theirselfs up a good lead over the Gibbards and the Bellevilles early in the loop race for their margin is sure a handy thing to have around now when the Johnsonites is skidding for the ditch. 5 games in a row now the boys has took it on the chin and that neighbors is monotonous if it aint worse. The chief trouble seems to be, Mac, the folding up of the Petes' attack. It's true they's been some fielding slips that hurt but if the bunch had been pounding the old onion it aint likely the misplays in the field woulda meant a thing. A little hitting at the right spot woulda meant at least 3 wins out of them last 5 games and 3 wins woulda about clinched 2nd place for the gang.

All Ain't Lost Yet

However it ain't all lost yet and if the home talent pulls itself together for the balance of the schedule they oughta make sure of a playoff berth. This here hitting slump can't last for ever and once the Petes snap outa that they're liable to make things miserable for more than 1 twirler around the circuit. Some of the regulars belong much higher up the ladder than the rung they're hanging on to right now and here's hoping they find theirselfs in time to make sure of their playoff rating.

The Fun At Berlin

The Olympic games has been the big sport news of the week, Mac, and thanks to reliable old Phil Edwards and a surprise performance by our 2 hurdlers, Mister Hoaring and Mister O'Connor, which on paper didn't look like Olympic pointwinners, our Maple Leaf lads has done a lot better than I for 1 expected. Uncle Sam, as usual, grabbed off the big share of the honors but on this occasion he had to have a lotta help from a section of the population which aint even considered good enough to be allowed to play professional ball—that is the colored race. If it hadn't of been for Mister Owens, Mister Woodruff, Mister Robinson and a few other dark-skinned members of the United States their collection of points would been very ordinary. We ain't got a thing against the colored entries but it looks funny to see a nation what draws the color line in the matter of baseball tossing its hats int the air because a number of American negroes come through with some great performances at Berlin.

Not Going So Well

In the big loops, Mac, neither of the Wisecracker selections is going so hot. I had dropped them Boston Red Sox outa the running long ago in the American sweepstakes for I can't see no 3 catching the Yanks but I still think the Cubs has what it takes to grab off the National honors although up to the present writing they ain't been covering theirselfs with glory this week. The Gas House gang, as I call them, is out in front in the race once again and meanwhile Mister Bill Terry's Giants has been coming up from behind like real champions. Mebbe by the time them 2 first place teams get through battling each other they may find the New Yorkers right up alongside of them. Anyway it's a great race and if the magnates aint making money this year they ain't likely to make any.

The Petes don't play at home again until a week from Saturday when the Ponies will be here. That oughta be 1 of the big games of the year for there's always a lotta fun when the old rivals hook up.

That's about the quota for now, so, so long.

Sportingly yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

STANSTED PARK, Hampshire, England, Aug. 8.—(CP Cable).—Hon. R. O. Matthews' Canadian cricket team made an impressive showing agaist Lord Bessborough's eleven in the first day of their two-day contest here.

Canada's former Governor-General fielded a strong team that included G. T. Stevens, veteran internationalist and Major T. T. Stanyforth who captained England's team against South Africa in 1928.

The Canadians, cheered on by a number of Vimy pilgrims, compiled a first-innings total of 175 runs against 66. Lord Bessborough's team folowed on and at the close of play had scored six runs for no wickets.

GABBY HARTNETT AND BILLY MYERS ARE OUT OF GAME

Myers Has Been The Sparkplug Of Reds' Push Into First Division

GIANTS WIN SLUGFEST

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Managers Charley Grimm and Charley Dressen have a right to sing the Blues to-day.

At a time when every first-string man is needed for the stretch drive from here in, one of the most dependable of Grimm's Cubs and one of the same of Dressen's Reds are hospital cases.

And the same tough luck that sent Gabby Hartnett and Billy Myers to the hospital, is going to go a long way toward sending with them the once-glowing hopes of the Cubs for another National League pennant and the Reds for a first division berth for the first time in years.

Hartnett will be out of the lineup for several days with a foot injury. A foul tip from Pitcher George Earnshaw's bat did the damage yesterday, more than wiping out the pleasure of a 14-5 victory over the Cardinals which cut the gas house gang's lead to two games.

Gone For Season.

Myers, shortstop sparkplug of the "kid team" that was rocketing along only a few weeks ago, is gone for the season. An intestinal operation will keep him out of action until 1937, and with him seems to have gone much of the punch the Reds were packing. They were little better than pushovers yesterday as the Pirates took both ends of a double-header, 5-1 and 1-0, behind the top-flight hurling of Red Lucas, who allowed but five hits in the opener, and Cy Blanton, who gave up six in the nightcap.

Of course Grimm has young Ken O'Dea to fill in for Hartnett, while Dressen is calling upon the aging Tommy Thevenow. But O'Dea doesn't have the ability of Hartnett to handle the high-priced Cub pitching corps with the stretch heat on, and, although he has shown he can hit, he is not as potent as Gabby, whose bat has been one of the few dependable clubs in the line-up during the current slump.

The Cubs-Cards and Reds-Pirates clashes were part of a considerably curtailed program in the majors yesterday.

Giants Win Slugfest.

The Giants fired a 15-hit assault at three Phillies pitchers for a 9-3 decision, their fifth straight and their 18th in 22 starts, to gain ground on the leaders. Cleveland Indians saved their second place grip on the American League with an 8-1 win over the White Sox behind Denny Galehouse's seven-hit pitching while the Senators nosed out the Red Sox 3-2 in 10 innings, despite Jimmy Foxx's 32nd homer of the year.

All was quiet on the rest of the Big League front. The Yanks, Browns, Tigers and Athletics were idle in the American League, while the Dodgers and Bees took a day off in the National.

FATHER, TWO SONS ALMOST DROWNED

All Are Plunged Into Flooded Creek As Dam Breaks—Timbers Save Them

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 8 (CP) — Collapse of a dam at Marks' Pond, just south of Hillsburg, almost cost the lives of Tom Keenan and two of his sons, Tony, 12, and Jimmy, 3, according to a report received from the village yesterday.

While Keenan and his elder son, John, were struggling to let out locks to ease the pressure on the dam, His two younger sons, Tony, 12, and Jimmy, 3, were hurled into the water when the part of the dam on which they were standing collapsed. They dropped 12 feet behind one of the walls with dirt and timbers falling and covering them.

The flood carried him down the creek and for a time he was not able to get a footing in the swirling waters.

He first saw his eldest son walking along the centre of the bridge. He then saw the bridge colapse when the timber gave way, letting the boy fall into the stream. Mr. Keenan and the oldest lad were able to find places where they could stand up.

The second boy was rescued when he was washed to a point near his father.

ALWAYS COMFORTABLY COOL

BASEBALL IS EASIER TO UMPIRE THAN HOCKEY, STATES STEWART

Man Who Calls Them In Both Games Compares Jobs

HOCKEY IS TOUGH

DETROIT, Aug. 6.—William J. "Bill" Stewart, National League umpire, tramped the infield at Navin Field recently for the first time. He was disguised in a trim blue uniform, black four-in-hand tie, and customary black peaked cap. But he didn't escape detection.

It was none other than "Bill" Stewart, the same sturdy-legged whistle blower of Frank Calder's National Hockey League during the chillier months. It was the same Bill that obtained permission from President Ford Frick of the National Baseball League to duck spring training assignments in order to handle Stanley Cup playoffs a few months ago. He is regarded as one of hockey's best officials.

Stewart, a rugged son of Pittsburg, Pa., who was transported to Boston when only two years old, broke into major baseball as a National League umpire in August 1933.

"I've been in Detroit often enough on National Hockey League assignments to know my way around, but this is my first baseball job at Navin Field," Stewart said. "Perhaps I'll be back again if the Tigers get into a World Series, and I am fortunate enough to be nominated to umpire. I hope to make the grade one of these days and there's no reason to suppose the Tigers won't be in another series while I am still able to move around a diamond."

"Refereeing major professional hockey, and umpiring major baseball, are separate and distinct assignments," Stewart declared as he climbed out of his diamond regalia in the umpires' dressing room. "The jobs are as different as the sports themselves. Of the two, professional hockey is much more difficult to handle. Referees in hockey are required, not only to render decisions according to the letter of the rule, but add quick judgment of situations along with it. In baseball it's different. A player is either safe or out. Baseball is presented along clear-cut lines. It is seldom that a play crops up to worry an umpire. In hockey they're always tossing something new at you. In baseball you have a bird's-eye view of what is going on all the time. Players take the same relative positions on a diamond throughout a game. In hockey no two teams present the same kind of a forward attack. Each has its own pet defensive style. Players are moving back and forth in front of you all the time. They move fast and they act quickly. Goals are scored when you least expect them.

"If we had body-checking in baseball as we have in hockey then we umpires would have plenty of trouble on our hands," Stewart continued. "It's that bodily contact in hockey that piles the load on a referee's shoulders. He has to discriminate between legitimate check- and deliberate charging, and he has to make up his mind in a hurry. If we had that bodily contact in baseball there's no doubt there would be as many fights as in hockey."

Leafs Defeat Cogs

Maple Leafs took a 6-5 win from Cogs in a smart Southend Softball League contest last evening. Four markers in the fourth and two in the seventh were chalked up for the Leafs, while Cogs counted three in the fourth and one each the next two chukkers. The losers easily outhit the Maple- with 15 to 6, but did not bunch them as effectively as their rivals; Holden having a homer with two aboard in the fourth. S. Leggitt had two for three and C. Heal four in four tries for Cogs, while J. Corbett got two in four attempt for the other team. Cavanaugh went the route for the Leafs, but Ridley replaced Fleming in the fourth for the other side. Each team had but one error. The teams:

Lawn Bowling
By HERB MARTIN

Not only did the Peterborough ladies, down at Port Hope yesterday, make up 50 per cent. of the entry, but they carried back to Peterborough the Rosevear Cup and all of the major prizes.

It was the Port Hope Ladies' Club annual tournament, and rinks from Cobourg, Oshawa, Port Hope and Peterborough took part. And as usual the Peterborough club were the main competitors, having more rinks entered.

Mrs. W. Zeihr's rink took first place and the cup, while Mrs. Staunton, last year's holder of the cup, came second and Mrs. Graham third.

It was just a clean sweep for our ladies.

Mrs. H. McIlimoyle, Mrs. A. Nelson, Mrs. A. Hendry, Mrs. W. Zeihr, skip—Rosevear Cup and each a lace tablecloth.

Mrs. A. Heckman, Mrs. H. Beatty, Mrs. J. Coursey, Mrs. H. Staunton, skip—second, and each a table lamp.

Miss L. Allan, Mrs. N. Henry, Miss N. Murphy, Mrs. H. Graham, skip—third, and each pillow cases.

Up at our own club last night we had fourteen rinks out, with A. Heckman taking first, J. J. Howden second, F. Wise third and J. Kingsbury fourth.

In district No. 14 of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association the Peterborough rink, skipped by G. Gimblett, was defeated by one shot by N. Nicolls, of Bowmanville.

These play-offs were held on the Cobourg greens, and immediately after the games the representatives of the different clubs met and elected G. Gimblett, Peterborough, as chairman of district No. 14 for the 1937 season. W. Livingstone, Cannington, was elected vice-chairman.

Cubs Trounce Cards

In a hard-fought Junior Southend Softball League playoff game last night, the Cubs trounced the Cardinals by a 26-14 score. It was a wild fracas throughout, with plenty of hitting and errors. Play was always exciting, but the Cubs had a decided edge. Woodcock, Heal and Ridley led the winners both with the willow and in the field. Conroy, Hatton and Dennie looked best for the losers. The pitching was only fair for the most part. The teams:

Cubs — Woodcock, rf; Heal, 2b; C. Barnes, 3b; Ridley, p; Collins, ss; J. Barnes, cf; Baxter, 1b; Castle, c; Hodson, lf.

Cards — Hatton, rf; Conroy, lf; Dennie, p; Courtyea, 3b; G. Maloney, 2b; Foster, ss; F. Maloney, cf; Connelly, 1b; McGarrity, c.

Oshawa Man Catches Nine-Pound Pickerel

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 8.—There seems to be no limit as to the time of the day a fish will bite around this district. Herbert Smith, a visitor from Oshawa, landed a nine-pound pickerel near the town power-house at 10.45 o'clock on Thursday night. Of course, Mr. Smith also caught a few nice bass, but a nine-pound pickerel is considered quite a prize, and a number of local anglers were trying their luck at the same point on Friday in hopes of getting the mate.

Smiling Jack Wins Classic Mile

Pushed to the limit by four men who ran behind him, each of whom covered the distance in better than Olympic record time, Jack Lovelock of New Zealand won the classic 1,500 metres—Olympic track highlight—in better than world record time at the Berlin games. Phil Edwards of Canada placed fifth, beating the former Olympic mark by a full second. Lovelock ran a superb race to finish in 3.47.8, with Cunningham of U.S., Becali of Italy, San Romani of U.S., and Edwards of Canada behind him in that order. Becali was the defending champion in Olympic track classic. ABOVE is the smiling New Zealand victor.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Crackle or Two

(By C. J. P.)

WARD WRIGHT, local sprinter, is working out daily in the mornings now at the Exhibition Grounds. Getting in shape for the junior sprints at the C.N.E. in Toronto the end of this month. He plans to run in the 100, 220 and 440-yard races, and is being coached by Bill Engel. The latter was the runner from here who had been picked to take part in an international track meet in Spain for a Canadian team this summer, but he had to cancel it after suffering a leg injury in Olympic trials. As a matter of fact, the Canuck team had to cancel entry when Spain went haywire in a civil war. Wright is being clocked in 11 seconds for the century and will cut it lower yet. He has a good chance in this event if things break right.

THE PETERBOROUGH Golf and Country Club has a big attraction next Wednesday afternoon at the links in Joe Kirkwood, noted U.S. pro star. He plays an 18-hole match at 2.30 with Wm. Fairweather, club professional, and at 4.30 he gives an exhibition in trick shooting with golfing advice. The former Canadian Open champion and prominent world tournament player stands in a class by himself in trick shots—a regular Houdini of the fairway. He appeared here a couple of years ago with Sarazen and made quite a hit with a large crowd of spectators.

GOING HOME a bit late the other night, we were astounded to see a gent in his backyard sawing wood by lantern light. We asked him how come this warm weather. "Heck," says he, only more so, "I get the idea that I have a lot of wood to saw before winter and I think I will maybe get it done and at the same time practise up and perhaps go into this buck saw contest I see is being run over on Simcoe Street in a couple of weeks." We tell him it is a good idea. But he is not so keen on it now, we gather, being in his foolishly fat forties. "Do you know," he says, "I have a mind to get some of the young bohunks around this neighborhood to practise up for that contest on my woodpile—and I won't even charge 'em for it!" We tell him this is an even better idea. And so to bed.

LEFTY TURNER, former local pitcher, has just completed his vacation here. He is living in London, having a good job in a large dairy office there. Lefty told us he had seen the Petes play twice in Riverside, once against Oshawa—that 12-inning thing—and last time 'gainst Napanee. "They should have won against Oshawa," he stated, "but they don't show any too much hustle. The old Lakeviews and Adanacs juniors had a lot more pep." It is a fact, all right.

SO IT'S Westclox and Swarts in the men's softball finals. The tick-tick boys won the semi-final series last night at Central from Quaker Oats, 12 to 9, before a huge crowd with perfect tonsils—the noise they made! It was a heap plenty exciting fray and in doubt till the finish in the dark. Tom Parsons went good for the winners, barring the bad seventh. Ditto with Beacock who bumped into his Waterloo in this spasm and gave way to Shine. The latter looked like a million but his buddies couldn't manufacture enough hits the last couple heats to sew it up. Tough luck, Quakers, but you made a fine showing this year in your return to softball and better luck again. Congrats, Westclox, but keep the weather eye peeled for that smart Swartz squad. First game of the finals is at 6.45 Monday eve.

OMEMEE AND Bailieboro girls have an all-important softball game Monday evening at the Ashburnham Bowl. It's a replay and the final one on the schedule. A win for Omemee will shoot them into the second-half playoffs with Keene, while a Bailieboro win will make a three-way tie with Omemee, C.G.E. and Westclox. Which would necessitate a couple more games to decide what team plays off against Keene. The latter outfit won the first-half playoffs and, should they cop this half too, would make a loop final playoff unnecessary. Oshawa gals took a 13-7 win over Cobourg last night in the first of their three-game money serial—the winner to tangle in P.W.S.U. playdowns with the winner of our circuit.

THOSE FAST-STEPPING Gibbards of Napanee won another C.O.B.L. decision last eve in Kingston, 2-1, with Bishop and Williams hooking up in a smart hurling duel. This make the old race plenty warm. The Petes are now only half a game back of the Ponies and just two in front of the Naps. If we win today,we'll be tied for second place but if we lose we're going back to meet Napanee—and we won't have too far to go, either. It looks like all the low-hit pitching lately is being done by the Kingston and Napanee hurlers. And it looks like the three top teams are finding the going rough while the two squads in the backwash are ploughing along at 20 knots an hour.

BILL MURPHY'S juvenile baseball team, the Tigers, go into the O.B.A.A. playdowns next Tuesday night at six in Oshawa. It's best two out of three games, with the teams agreeing on what date the return struggle will be. Bill claims he has a pretty fair crew this season, having a big choice in players as there was no city loop. It seems there are still plenty of local lads who want to play baseball and would be doing so if they had the backing for teams. There is a bantam entry from here too, St. Peter's, but we haven't heard when they hit the Ontario playdown trail.

JOAN BENNETT ALSO FIGHTS TO KEEP HER CHILD

Former Husband, Professing Reform From Drinking, Claims Daughter

DIVORCED IN 1928

John Marion Fox Opposes Action To Change Daughter's Name

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—From out of the past, a tall, handsome playboy scion of a wealthy Seattle family has stepped forward to assume the role of the "menace" in another film star's fight over her child.

He is John Marion Fox, divorced in 1928 by Joan Bennett, youngest of the famous daughters of Richard Bennett, stage star.

Fox took the witness stand in Superior Court to plead for recognition as the father of Miss Bennett's 8-year-old daughter, Diana, whom he has seen only three times, and to oppose the mother's petition to have the girl's last name changed to Markey, that of her present husband.

Wild Life "Is Past"

"I have lived a dissolute life," he told Judge Arthur Crum. "Little Diana could hardly have been proud of her father. But that is in the past. I am working toward the time I can provide a suitable home for her. In a few years she's going to be proud of the fact I'm her dad."

The "Enoch Arden" appearance of Fox after an absence of eight years revealed a drama in the life of the star as melodramatic as any scenario she has been called upon to read.

The happiness of a young couple in the birth of their daughter; intervention of liquor to wreck this happiness; divorce and subsequent world wanderings of the father; a return to Los Angeles and the signing of adoption papers while assertedly intoxicated, and then reform—a laborer's job and a desire to make good.

They Were Happy

This story, interrupted by questions of the judge, was related by the father, who said:

"I saw my child, 'Ditty,' come into the world. Joan and I were extremely happy until liquor intervened. That's out now, and I am on my feet towards financial recovery, and I'd like to have 'Ditty' know me as her dad. She has borne my name for eight years and I want her to keep it."

Two Other Children

An attempt to paint Fox as a Don Juan who married women at random and abandoned them and their children was made by Miss Bennett's attorney, Neil McCarthy, who also sought to prove he never had made any effort to support any of three children by different wives. The attorney asked:

"Did you ever contribute one cent toward the support of Diana Bennett Fox?"

"No, I did not. I never had the money."

"But you had money enough to marry again in Seattle, didn't you?"

"Yes, I was married there."

"And wasn't a child born of that marriage?"

"Yes, there was one child."

"Sent Them $100"

"And you abandoned them to go to the Philippines and never contributed one cent to their support?"

Fox replied:

"Well, no, I have sent them $100 or $200 in five years."

He then was asked if he had not married again in the Philippines and had a child there. He replied in the affirmative. McCarthy asked:

"And have you ever contributed to the support of them since you abandoned them?"

Fox admitted he had not.

"Didn't you sign your consent to the adoption of your daughter by Eugene Markey, Miss Bennett's present husband?"

"I am told I did. I was in an alcoholic fog at the time. I remember signing something."

Signed for Cash

McCarthy then asked if he hadn't signed the papers "for a cash consideration and a ticket back to the Philippines." Fox replied:

"Yes, I think I received a few thousand. It looked like more liquor to me. Joan also gave me $75 to go to Seattle."

Asked if he had ever written to his former wife for money, he stated:

"I probably have."

Judge Crum recessed the hearing until August 19 to permit the mother to present her side. She asserts the difference in last names of her two children, the last by Gene Markey, screen writer and producer, causes confusion.

MEANEST THIEF IN THE WORLD

by Mrs. McMullis Friday. The entire plot has been cleaned out, apparently by a marauder at night time. Persons in neighboring houses say they did not see anyone stealing the potatoes, but nevertheless the fruit of many weeks' labor is gone.

Similar efforts by Mr. and Mrs. McMullis in a garden plot at the corner of Park street and Park Hill road last year met with the same fate. One night just before their harvest, a thief cleaned out their entire plot and no trace of the thief was ever found. It seems likely that the thief who robbed them this year will likewise escape detection. Even though unknown, he has earned honors as the meanest thief in the world.

CANADIAN TEAM

performance in 46.4 seconds, one-tenth of a second under their own mark set earlier this year. The British team was second, trailing by eight metres, and Italy third.

The Canadian squad was composed of Aileen Meagher, Halifax, and Hilda Cameron, Jeanette Dolson and Dot Brookshaw, all of Toronto.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler arrived in the stadium just in time to see the Teutons, Neckermann, Bochmeyer, Gillmeister and Hornberger, win the exciting relay duel over McPhee, Lee Orr, also of Vancouver, Bruce Humber of Victoria and Sammy Richardson, Toronto negro. The Swedish team pulled up behind the Canadians with Switzerland fourth.

Owens was drafted for the U.S. team when word got abroad that the German and Dutch teams were unexpectedly strong. The former victor in the broad jump as well as the 100 and 200-metre sprints, opened up a five-metre lead for the American on the first leg and they were never endangered. Ralph Mtcalfe, Foy Draper and Frank Wykoff swelled the advantage to 15 metres.

The selection of the strong U.S. quartet resulted in the dropping of two Jewish boys, Sam Stoller and Marty Glickman, and prompted eyebrow lifting as well as some criticism. Dr. Lawson Robertson, head coach of the team, defended his choics, saying, "They form the best quartet we have and that's the only consideration."

Volmari Iso-Hollo of Finland became the 11th Olympiad's first repeating champion as he won the 3,000-metre steeplechase final.

Iso-Holly crowned his feat with a record-breaking performance. The Finnish star was timed in nine minutes 3 8-10 seconds, bettering his own previous mark of 9:14.6 made at Los Angeles four years ago.

Swimming Events.

Marjorie Stone, young Toronto mermaid, qualified for the Olympic 10-metre free style swim semi-finals by finishing third in a preliminary test, but her veteran fellow townswoman, Mrs. Irene Pirie Milton, could do no better than fifth and was eliminated.

Canada's other contestant, Phyllis Dewar, of Vancouver, managed to qualify for the next round, although she was a distant fourth in a heat Rita Mastenbeoek of Holland used as a vehicle to crack the Olympic record. The Dutch girls time was 1.06.4, 4/10th second under the listed standard. Miss Arndt of Germany was second and Katherine Rawls of the United States third.

In addition to the first three in each of the five heat qualifying for the next stage, the fastest fourth also advanced. Miss Dewar's time of 1.06.2 was the best fourth-place performance of the trials.

Miss Stone was third in a heat won by Bernice Lapp of the United States, in 1:09 flat with the Hungarian Miss Lenkei second. The Toronto girl was an even second behind the winner.

The heat that marked the elimination of Mrs. Irene Pirie Milton was won by the world champion, Willy Denouden of Holland, in 1.08.1. Miss Declacy of Australia was second and Olive McKean of the United States third.

BEAVERS MOVED TO SUITABLE SITES

Many Are Shipped Over West To Aid In Drought Regions

REGINA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Trapping and transfer of beavers to areas where they will do most good is continuing in Saskatchewan. Forty-one of the busy little animals have been captured in the Cypress Hills, south of here, and released in the Pelly district, 100 miles north-east of Regina.

Unprecedented migration of beavers from the northern part of the province last spring was heralded by farmers in the drought regions as a boon. They built dams and formed natural reservoirs. But they continued west and their damming operations caused streams to overflow and flood ranch lands.

At this point the Saskatchewan government engaged A. Stevenson, F. Favel and Alex Severeight, Indian trappers, to capture the beavers alive and take them elsewhere.

Liberated near Pelly the animals are reported to have become quite tame as a result of the good care they received from their captors who, like the famous Indian naturalist, Grey Owl, have grown fond of their charges.

A number remain to be trapped.

CANADA'S REVENUE

In addition to income tax revenue receipts under the head of ordinary revenue for the four months with correspondent figures for the same period last year in brackets, were as follows: Customs import duties, $26,422,958 ($24,545,-630); excise duty, $15,488,400 ($14,-996,241); excise taxes, $39,434,198 ($31,716,295); post office department, $9,401,139 ($9,101,511); sundry departments, $5,903,676 ($5,819,-021).

The grand total of expenditure, which includes ordinary, special, capital and loans and advances to provinces, railways, harbor commissions and other organizations during the four months, was $194,-856,000, as compared with $177,770,-772 for the same period a year ago.

BRINGING UP FATHER —By George McManus

Love isn't Important

By LOUISE JERROLD

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club, meets a number of social elite when she fills in at a dinner party at the request of Dr. Wilson, a club member. One of them is Breck Carter, who, a few evenings later, takes her to a speakeasy and gaming house. Breck becomes intoxicated and tries to force his affections on Gay. Trying to repulse him, her hand is badly burned by his cigarette and she leaves him hurriedly. After work, Dr. Wilson, noticing Gay's hand, takes her to his home to treat the burn. Gay and the doctor have a friendly visit and she prepares to go home.

(Now Go On With the Story)

CHAPTER 10

THE DOCTOR protested as Gay got up to leave. "Don't run away. It isn't often I find such a perfect listener!"

Gay sank back again in the luxurious chair. "Tell me more about your fishing and hunting adventures. Does your wife go along?"

"Marian?" The doctor gave a snort of sardonic amusement. "Does she look like the type who'd be willing to rough it?"

He got up and mixed himself a drink. "That doesn't sound very loyal. But as a matter of cold truth, Marian and I are two very different people, lately. The way things stand between us now, we're fairly good friends who happen to be married and occupy the same house, but have little else in common. I'm not telling tales out of school. Marian herself would be the first to admit it. I'm a lonely man, Gay. My wife goes her way, and I go mine. Thank heaven, I have my profession to keep me from getting utterly bored with life. Otherwise, I'd have jumped off the nearest bridge, long ago."

Gay stared. "You? I can't believe it!"

"Why not? I haven't so much to live for. If I had a family, perhaps I'd feel different. But as it is—" He broke off, and finished his drink. "I'm sorry I said those things. I sound like the typical butter-and-egg man telling the manicure girl about the tragedy of his marriage. You know the old line." He leaned toward Gay, transfixing her with a doleful gaze. "Beneath this well-pressed dinner coat a heart is breaking. My wife doesn't understand me!"

The chime of the tall clock interrupted. One—two—three. Gay sprang to her feet. "You see, it is late, and I must go. Please call a taxi."

"Wait a minute." He caught her hands. "Of course I'll let you go—but first I want to say something." He released her fingers. "Listen, my dear. I've enjoyed this funny little visit more than anything that's happened in months. Let's repeat it some time—spend another evening together. Not here, necessarily, but out for dinner, or the theatre. You're excellent company!"

She hesitated, surprised and flattered by the doctor's invitation.

"But your wife? What would she think?"

"Marian?" His lip curled. "I give you my solemn word of honor, that Marian wouldn't give a snap of her finger if I went out with a hundred girls. She goes around constantly with other people, and has urged me to do the same."

"Then I'd adore it!"

Doctor Wilson had scarcely returned from making the call for a taxi, when the door bell rang. He glanced toward the clock. "Might be a message from the hospital—I be hurried to the door.

A moment later he was back again, and Gay jumped to her feet in confusion, for accompanying him were a man and woman, both in evening clothes, all three laughing and talking together.

"Gay, you remember Miss Randolph? And Mr. Keenan?"

Gay stood her ground. She knew perfectly well how strange it must seem, how very questionable, for her to be here in the doctor's house at three o'clock in the morning. But she was perfectly conscious, too, of her own complete innocence, and the knowledge gave her poise.

"Indeed, I do remember Miss Randolph. She sat opposite me at your dinner party. And I had several dances with Mr. Keenan."

"How nice to see you again!" Miss Randolph came forward, genuine friendliness in her slanting, grey-green eyes. "We—I mean Timmy and I—both thought you were such a game little soul at the party, that night. Didn't we, Tim? We've spoken of you, several times since."

"I'll say," boomed Mr. Keenan, agreeably. He addressed Doctor Wilson. "John, this is a devil of a trick, barging in on you at this hour! I was taking Eleanor home from a dance, and we saw your lights on, so we dropped in for a night-cap. Got a drink handy?"

"Scotch or rye?" Doctor Wilson hixed highballs, while Eleanor Randolph sank into a chair, and closed her eyes wearily. "I'm tired out," she announced. "This business of running a shop all day, and doing the social butterfly stunt at night, is getting me. Timmy, I must request that you find yourself a new girl, or Doctor Jimmy will be having another patient."

Gay looked at Miss Randolph with quickened interest, forgetting to be shy. "You run a shop?"

Eleanor half opened her eyes. "Surely. Didn't you know? Randolph, Limited. On Washington Boulevard. And oh, how limited it is!"

"You own it?"

The younger girl was filled with awe. Randolph, Limited: the most exclusive and exquisite shop for women's clothes in all Detroit! No wonder Eleanor Randolph looked so marvelous.

Tim Keenan, meanwhile, sampled his highball and gave a sigh of appreciation. "John, you've got the best private stock in the city," he commented. Then, looking around, "Where's Marian? Upstairs?"

"No. She's still down at Tryon. I drove back alone. Marian's not been particularly well, you know, and I induced her to stay on."

There was a moment's embarrassed silence, of which only Doctor Wilson seemed unaware. Gay felt the hot color rising to her face. She sipped her ginger ale slowly, as Tim Keenan glanced from her to the doctor, and back again; then pursed his lips in a soundless whistle.

"Well, now I'm twice as sorry we butted in," Tim remarked. "You'll have to pardon us. Just Timmy and Eleanor, the village nit-wits."

Doctor Wilson's reply was entirely friendly. "Don't be an ass, Tim. Miss Elwell had an infected hand. She works late, so I brought her here after hours, to lance it."

"Believe it or not, eh?" quizzed Tim. But the doctor had turned his attention to Eleanor.

"Why don't you get a little sleep once in a while? You're looking absolutely fagged."

"So tactful, you doctors!" Eleanor made a face at him. "Of course I'm fagged. So would you be, if you worked all day, and then let Marian drag you round to silly parties night after night, the way I let Tim drag me. Luckily, I'll going abroad next week. I'll sleep the whole way over."

"Tim going, too?"

"Absolutely not. He wants to meet me in Paris when my buying's finished, and go on to the North Cape with our party. But I've turned thumbs down on that, and he's fairly cross at me." She glanced, with malice and mischief in her eyes, at the impassive Tim. "I've got to get entirely away from him, at intervals. He wears me out."

Gay was listening to all this, fascinated. Paris—sailing abroad—North Cape! What marvelous lives these rich people led!

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE IVY.

Spot, the fire dog, was singing: "Ho, for the life of a fireman, a fireman, a fireman — Ho! for the life of a fireman, a brave, bold fearless one—two—three—kick!"

"What on earth kind of a song is that!" Uncle Wiggily laughed, looking out of the window of his hollow stump bungalow. "And why are you prancing around that way?" For Spot, as he sang, was doing a funny dance.

"Why, that's a song and dance a friend of mine made up," the dog replied. "You see, as you sing you take three steps forward, then three back and when you come to the part where it says 'One, two, three—kick!' you kick up your hind legs!"

"I never saw anything like that," Mr. Longears chuckled. "Did the firemen sing like that?"

"No, not exactly," Spot said. "It was one of the firemen's children. But it's a pretty good one, don't you think?"

"Oh, splendid," answered Uncle Wiggily, still laughing. "But as long as you feel so frisky, how about going with me over to the Wibble-wobble's house? I want to see how the new duck is getting on. The one Bully No-Tail taught to swim by grabbing hold of his leg."

"I'll Do Song and Dance."

"I will come, with pleasure," declared the fire dog politely. "And when we get there I'll do my song and dance for the ducks."

"I'm sure they'll enjoy it," Mr. Longears said, smiling. "Come along! And maybe we'll find an adventure on the way."

Soon Uncle Wiggily and Spot were walking gaily through the woods. Spot was humming his song, and every once in a while he'd give a little kick. He felt especially good, you see.

On the path that led to the Wibble-wobble house was an old brick wall. At one time it was part of some one's home, but now the rest of the building had fallen into ruins and only this wall was left. It was covered with ivy. When Spot saw it he said:

"That's very pretty, isn't it, Uncle Wiggily? It reminds me of the fire house where I lived. We had ivy climbing up one of our walls."

"Well, I wish I'd never seen this ivy!" exclaimed a squeaky voice suddenly. It came right from the wall itself. "It's caused me a great deal of trouble!"

And then Spot and Mr. Longears saw a tiny mouse peeking out from the ivy. Uncle Wiggily asked him: "What's the matter, Mr. Mouse? You look sad!"

"I am sad!" the mouse cried. "Yesterday I found a fine bit of cheese. I wasn't hungry then, so I climbed up this ivy to hide it. And now I am hungry and I can't find it! This ivy is like a puzzle! I crawl along the ivy stems and the first thing I know I'm right back where I started. It's all so mixed up!"

Thinks He Can Help.

"Yes, I should think it would be," the bunny chuckled. "It's really a maze, with all those ivy stems leading every which way. No wonder you can't find the cheese. But I think I can help you."

"How?" asked the mouse eagerly.

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily, "in my pocket I have a piece of chalk. Here it is. You take this chalk in your mouth, and when you climb over one ivy stem you make a mark on the wall. Then you'll know you've been that far and you won't go over the same stem again. Do you understand?"

"I do, indeed!" the mouse exclaimed. "Let's have the chalk!"

Then Spot and Uncle Wiggily watched the mouse. He started at one corner of the wall, and when he came to two ivy stems that crossed, he made a mark with the chalk. He kept this up until only one part of the wall was unmarked. And there, under a leaf, was the cheese!

"Hurray!" the mouse squeaked. "I've got it! And am I hungry! Thank you, Uncle Wiggily, for your help!" And he began to eat the cheese right then and there. His puzzle was solved.

And in the next story, if the poker doesn't chase the andiron around the fireplace and up the chimney, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the sea gull.

NEW BRANCH FOR GREEN

Bartenders' Union Offers to Make Him Member.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(CP).—The Bartenders' Union has offered to make William Green a member "so that the business of the great American Federation of Labor may continue uninterrupted."

The constitution of the A. F. of L. of which Green is president, provides its officers must be members of unions in good standing. Greens union, the United Mine Workers, faces suspension from the federation in 30 days.

Laughingly, Green said, as editor of the "American Federationist,' he might join the American Newspaper Guild. Reporters at his press conference shouted editors were not eligible.

FORD PREDICTS THAT BUSINESS CONTINUES GOOD

Detroit Automobile Magnate Says Changes Are 'Coming Fast'

ENTERING 74TH YEAR

By JACK VINCENT
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

DETROIT, August 8.—Convinced "changes are coming fast" in industrial development and that business will continue to be good, Henry Ford entered his 74th year on July 30, more intensely alive than ever. In a word, he still is the dynamic Ford who worked his way up from jobs of $3.50 a week to become the head of a 200-billion-dollar automobile empire.

His 73rd birthday—he was born July 30, 1863—found him at his 16-room summer camp in the wilds of nothern Michigan on Lake Superior, 19 miles from the nearest public telephone office and telegraph station in the village of Big Bay.

Just prior to departing for his annual vacation there on one of his ore freighters, which have beautifully furnished quarters for guests, the motor magnate left characteristic comment on business and the future.

Forecasts Changes

"Business," Ford holds, "is doing all right. It will continue to be good despite what 'they' are trying to do.

"Changes are coming fast. People again are growing interested in new things."

He adds that the next big industrial step will be "the perfection of industries we already have."

He refuses to hazard a question as to what the automobile of the future will be like.

Once, typical of him, he wrote under his own signature: "I am often asked what the automobile of the future will be like.

"I don't know. If I did I would build it."

The motor magnate is reported to be giving considerable thought to the subject. This production year another company built more cars than the plants Ford founded.

It is certain that Ford desires to recapture the honor of producing the greatest number of cars in the United States. Not that business is bad in Ford plants. It is excellent. But General Motors has slipped ahead of it in production. This has led to reports Ford may bring out a new small car next month.

New Car In Doubt

When Ford is asked about the new car, he admits:

"Certainly, we have been experimenting on a small V-8, but that doesn't mean we shall build one."

Ford believes the trend in auto building in the future will be toward lighter-in-weight cars and better fuel. That is as far as he ventures, insisting "no one knows what the car of the future will be."

Ford holds no official title in the Ford Motor company. His son, Edsel, is president. But Ford has the run of the factories, and his advice often is sought, particularly if the problem concerns "anything under the hood." Edsel is said to pass on body lines of the cars.

Ford has remained intensely alive and active. He says "men can't get old—they must go on." At home, he passes his days roaming the streets of his Greenfield Village, where he has gathered his exhibits of old Americana, or at his office or in his workshop. He stops to chat with his workmen and, occasionally, hustles one of them off for an automobile ride. Out walking he startles acquaintances frequently by breaking into a run, or vaulting over a three or four-foot hedge or fence.

Ford passes his time as the spirit moves him. But, almost uncannily he bobs up where he is needed just in time. He is affable when he meets newspapermen, though sometimes he tries to dodge them.

Challenge

Asked for a statement at a recent science-agriculture-industry dinner, Ford told this reporter he would give one after the banquet—"if you catch me." Later, stopped, he paused to say the Roosevelt administration soil conservation program was "absolutely unnatural."

He thinks the future lies in development of industrial markets for farm products. Experiments along that line comprise one of his chief hobbies. His company's use of vast acres of soy beans for horn buttons and other plastics for autos reflects his success in that field.

Ford discloses that he has begun a two-year experiment to eliminate cows from the farm. He remarks the "cow is the most wasteful of farm animals; it gets the best crops to eat and gives only milk." He declares "chemists can make synthetic foods that will give qualities the body needs."

Concerning politics, Ford sometimes is outspoken, sometimes silent. He holds high taxes interfere with industrial development. He is said by some observers to have no great personal fortune. The money his company earns goes back into it for expansion and experimenta. "Money is to spend" is his creed.

Opposes Roosevelt

So far, he has been silent in regard to this year's presidencial race. From the past, it is evident he is opposed to Roosevelt, but he refrains from comment now, holding "I don't think anybody cares what I think about politics."

Ford was born in Greenfield Mich., now absorbed by his suburban plants. He began his business career by working at $2 a week in a machine shop. He supplemented this by working in a jewelry store at night for $1.50 a week. Later, he became a mechanical engineer at the Edison company plant in Detroit. Then, he produced his first automobile.

His rise was meteoric, one of the most colorful Horatio Alger stories of American business. He has given away millions to charity, founded a $7,500,000 hospital, and was a leader in increasing wages. His plants, however, remain ununionised.

Magistrate Lester Clayton was confronted with this question in county court to-day when Melville [illegible] was charged with operating a motor vehicle without a permit. McLaughlin produced a motorcycle permit, and the magistrate adjourned the case for a week to get a ruling from Toronto.

HALF EARLY GAINS ON WHEAT MARKET WERE WIPED OUT

Memorable Week On The Winnipeg Grain Exchange— New Highs Reached

EXPORTS LIGHTER

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8 (CP).—Trading on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day reached the last session of a memorable week that saw wheat futures prices soaring to new seasonal highs and trading at their highest levels of six years.

At the close of the week however, half the earlier gains were wiped out when overseas markets weakened unexpectedly and export demand died. Offerings of new Argentine wheat for January shipment were a factor in the reaction that showed all world markets nervously displaying wide and erratic price trends.

Wheat futures values in the October and December positions prior to the opening to-day were 2% and 1% cents higher than at the same time last week. October was quoted at $1.04 a bushel and December $1.01⅝-⅞, while May was listed at $1.03⅞-$1.04.

Abundant bullish crop news induced liberal buying early in the week, with support from export houses and foreign interests predominating.

Export business in Canadian wheat was on a lighter scale, due to the August bank holiday in the United Kingdom, and sales for the seven days were placed at 3,000,000 bushels, including sales of Canadian wheat to the United States.

HOSPITAL STAFF CLEARED IN DEATH OF McCULLOUGH

Fell Striking Head After Swinging At Inmate In Flash Of Temper

CORONER'S INQUEST

TORONTO, August 8. — Robert McCullough, aged 61, of Peterborough, inmate of the Ontario Mental Hospital at New Toronto, became annoyed when another patient refused him a light for a cigarette, and in the following scuffle, McCullough received injuries which caused his death a few hours later, on July 30, it was revealed at an inquest at the Morgue yesterday.

The jury attached no blame to the staff of the hospital.

"You would have had to have a man standing between them to prevent what happened," stated William Smith, attendant at the hospital, when asked by a juryman if the accident could have been avoided had there been more attendants on the floor. Three men were assigned to the floor on which the accident happened, which housed 55 to 60 patients, he said.

Dr. T. D. Cumberland, superintendent of the hospital, described McCullough as a quiet patient, suffering from delusions, especially of a religious nature.

"This was one time he wasn't quiet then?" asked a juryman.

"Well, you know how it is when an old man gets excited," replied the doctor.

Acting Chief Coroner Dr. J. N. McConnell read a report from David Kucher, the other inmate involved. He, to, was described as quiet. McCullough had aske' him for a light for his cigarette. Kucher replied that he was hurrying to make his bed, and suggested that he get a light from another patient.

McCullough became annoyed and struck out at him. Kucher ducked to avoid the blow and put out his foot and tripped McCullough, who fell to the ground.

McCulough was unconscious and bleeding from the head when picked up. William Smith stated, but soon regained consciousness, and asked: "What happened?"

"He didn't know himself what happened," Smith said at the inquest.

Saskatchewan Blames Much Of Disease To Drinking Affected Milk

REGINA, Aug. 8. (CP).—The biggest obstacle in the way of tuberculosis prevention in Saskatchewan is the presence of the disease in cattle, Peter McAra, president of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League, told the annual meeting here.

"Two-thirds of the population are drinking milk from cattle that have not been tested for tuberculosis," he said. He urged a more vigorous campaign among the Indians.

Examination of 721 Indians in Duck Lake and Prince Albert areas had disclosed 31 per cent of them gave positive reaction to the tuberculin test indicating previous infection.

There were 700 tuberculous patients in the province, he stated, but the work of sanatoria was succeeding to the extent that here had been a 28 per cent decrease in death rate during the past six months.

MENTAL HOSPITALS TO BE ENLARGED

Special Committee Will Study Methods Of Care For Increasing List

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—(CP).—Early appointment of a special committee to study methods of caring for the increasing number of mentally ill in the province and preventive methods to curb the alarming increase was announced yesterday by Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health.

Reporting the situation was becoming more serious daily, Dr. Faulkner said every mental hospital had a long waiting list. At Orillia alone, he said, there were 3,000 patients on the list unable to gain admission.

The committee will consider plans for enlarging existing institutions to accommodate patients. At the same time preventive methods will be studied and chief among these will be sterilization.

Dr. Faulkner declared himself to be heartily in favor of carefully regulated sterilization of the mentally deficient.

ACCEPTANCE

said Poncet's report was "very optimistic."

Nazi Foreign Minister Konstantin Von Neurath informed Poncet, this source said, that Germany agreed to "adhesion in principle" with the international neutrality proposal. A quick formal reply to the original French invitation was promised, it was said.

Acceptance by Germany, which has been accused of aiding the rebel forces, would bring to eight the number of nations joining in the French-sponsored agreement. The others, besides France, are Great Britain, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Italy and the Netherlands. Portugal, invited to join, has not replied.

Reports German ships in Spanish waters were ready "to go into action" to protect their nationals in revolt-torn Spain caused a flurry of excitement in Paris.

Some newspapers said a "person close to Hitler" had informed the British Foreign Office of such prospective action.

Genevieve Tabouis, foreign affairs commentator, writing in the newspaper L'Oeuvre, said Germany already was deeply involved in the Spanish strife, having aided the revolution materially.

"The end sought by the Reich (German government) is completely to isolate France and her exits to North African colonies in a double play with Italy," she declared.

Loyalists Gain Ground

MADRID, Aug. 8.—(CP). — Revitalized Leftist armies smashed through Fascist lines in three sectors to-day as the Government forces drove forward in a new offensive.

Loyalist commanders reported capture of all towns surrounding the northeastern provincial capital of Ruesca, advances in the Guadarrama Mountain passes and suppression of an attempted revolt in southwestern Badajos.

"The rebels are losing all hopes of winning the fight," the Government asserted.

Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel commander, was reported in Seville in a broadcast from the rebel radio station at Tenerife, Spanish Morocco.

The Government continued to seize religious property and hoarded money. School teachers sympathetic to the Government seized 2,200,000 pesetas (approximately $298,000) in the palace of the Duke of Medina De Las Torres.

The Aquarium, one of Madrid's best known cafes, was taken over by the Government for operation by its employees after the owner abandoned the establishment.

FIRST TELEPHONE MESSAGE CARRIED SIXTY YEARS AGO

Alexander Graham Bell Then Showed Human Voice Could Be Transmitted

ONE-WAY TALK

Sixty years ago on August 10th, 1876, between 8.30 and 10 o'clock, 29-year-old Alexander Graham Bell first demonstrated to a world still highly skeptical of his telephone, invented two years earlier at Brantford, that electrical impulses set up by the human voice could be transmitted successfully over a distance of several miles.

The one-way talk held at that time between Brantford and Paris over the seven and one-half miles of old Dominion Telegraph Company wire that linked those two centres, marked the birth of long distance telephone service. It opened the way to oral communication that today joins Canada's urban and rural areas from coast to coast and which, through modern facilities of radio-telephony, brings telephone users of this country within potential voice-reach of some 34,600,000 other telephones in 68 countries. These represent more than 93 per cent. of the estimated total telephones in the world.

Here, as elsewhere on Monday throughout the widespread territory of the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, the familiar Blue Bell ensign is flying from the top of the flagstaff on the telephone building in commemoration of an event which ranks inimportance with Professor Bell's invention of the telephone itself, also at Brantford, the "Telephone City" in the summer of 1874. "Crazy Bell" the dreamer, who talked of sending voices through a piece of wire became, as a result of this successful test, Dr. Bell the genius, man of vision and electrical wizard. The patent for his "Improvement in Telegraphy," drafted almost a year before at Brantford in September, 1875, had been allowed in March, 1876. It is generally known now as the most valuable single patent ever issued.

Member Of Educational Tour Found In Calgary Department Store

CALGARY, Aug. 8—(CP)—Ten shiny blue buses were drawn up here with 221 occupants, ready to leave on the next lap of a 9,000-mile Georgia Caravan Educational Tour.

But there should have been 222 occupants, so the caravan of high school students which goes on this annual journey had to wait.

When No. 222 arrived it was found he had taken some medicine as he felt unwell and had lain down in a department store wash room to rest.

The children find this trip, enlivened into a rich experience by such everyday instances, so pleasing one third the passengers this year had made the trip around the continent before and some had taken it for the past four years.

Costing $250, the route this year after Calgary lay through Banff and Lake Louise and on to coast cities, thence South to Mexico and east to Texas. Two porters, two drivers and one colored chef learned in the choice of the Georgian digestion, accompanied each bus.

OTTAWA SAYS SEAWAY PACT AT STANDSTILL

Made Suggestions To Washington Some Time Ago But Nothing Done

U.S. SENATOR CHEERING

Sees Quick Passage By States Of Revised Plans—Objections Eliminated

OTTAWA, Aug. 10 (CP).—While the government of Canada was advised several months ago the United States was "seeking a new approach" to some of the problems involved in the St. Lawrence Waterways scheme, the matter stands very much as when the American Senate turned down the treaty in 1934.

This was the comment of government officials to-day when informed Senator J. H. Lewis (D., Ill.) said here yesterday a new treaty submitted to the American State Department held promise of early ratification.

Nothing on Proposals

During the last session of parliament the St. Lawrence project was the subject of an exchange between Conservative Leader Bennett and Prime Minister Mackenzie King. On that occasion Mr. King said the United States was seeking a "new approach," but no advices as to what was proposed had been received.

The St. Lawrence Waterways treaty which secured a majority in the United States Senate in March, 1934, but failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds vote, made special provision in respect to the Chicago drainage diversion. It provided the diversion should not exceed the quota laid down in a judgment of the Supreme Court of the United States. Insofar as could be ascertained to-day, Canada has not made further proposals or suggested any alternatives to this provision.

Rumors that Canada had proposed a new treaty might be based on the fact some time ago a suggestion for consolidating the St. Lawrence treaty and the Niagara Falls treaty, was made, it was suggested here. Nothing, however, was done along these lines. Canada has taken the position the treaty as originally drafted and as thrown out by the United States Senate, was satisfactory to the Dominion.

REBEL GUNS POUND AT SAN SEBASTIAN

Food Grows Scarce—Besiegers Cut Off Water Of Biscay Loyalist Resort

By Robert B. Parker, Jr.
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 10—Hunger and thirst menaced this besieged Loyalist seaside resort today.

Rebel guns pounded away at its determined defenders, at its citizens, at its once-sleepy streets, at its homes and its modest collection of business establishments patronized in a happier day by seashore holiday crowds.

Day by day the rebels, intent upon wiping out what little vestige of Loyalist strength there is on the Bay of Biscay, shell the city. Defeat of the Loyalists within it means passageway to the sea for insurgents who want more arms and ammunition.

Food was becoming scarce. Officials admitted even the water was being rationed. Rebels have cut off part of the city's water supply.

A similar situation is said to exist in both Renteria and Irun a few miles to the east.

The populace of San Sebastian is nervous and sleepless. Most of the residents show the effects of privation and of lying awake at night listening for the whine of a rebel shell.

Children Being Encouraged To Steal From Relief Gardens, Charged

Determined to stop thieving from relief gardens and to make an example of anyone whom they might catch in the act, gardeners have formed a vigilance committee, according to A. B. Cunningham, in charge of relief gardens.

Commenting on the recently announced theft of potatoes from the garden of Walter McMullis, Mr. Cunningham declared: "We have also had considerable trouble at the Rye property on Monaghan road. The vigilance committee which the gardeners have formed would have caught a man the other night, except that a dog gave the alarm. If they do catch anyone stealing garden produce, we hope the magistrate will give all that the law allows. It is nothing more or less than thieving."

On Wednesday evening of last week, it was stated, a young man was chased out of relief gardens where he had gone for the apparent purpose of stealing vegetables. He had baskets with him.

There is also evidence that a woman has been trespassing in the gardens on the Rye property. At least the imprints from a woman's shoes were discovered in a potato patch from which it was estimated a basket-full of potatoes had been filched.

Mr. Cunningham further said that relief gardeners have reason to believe that some parents have been encouraging their children to steal from relief gardens and have supplied them with baskets for this purpose.

Where They Get 'Em.

FISHING below the bridge on Crowe River at Marmora on Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Nayler and son Cecil succeeded in catching three maskinonge, two of which weighed 15 pounds and 13 pounds respectively. The one was caught with a sunfish and the other with herring.

Harry Florence, who is summering in Chemong Park, on Sunday landed an 11-pound lunge and a nice small-mouth black bass in Chemong Lake.

Yacht Club Gasps At Waving Stepins

COWES, Isle of Wight, Aug. 10. — (UP). — Members of the Royal Yacht Squadron, the world's most exclusive club, were aghast to-day when they saw a pair of pink, silk stepins fluttering from atop the club's flagstaff. An official, who hastily pulled the dainty garment down, found it tied with seamanlike knots. Apparently it had flown all night. Club officials believed the "pennant" had been hoisted for a bet or by an over-indulgent yachtsman.

GORDON MATTHEWS WINS DUFFUS CUP CHEMONG REGATTA

W. F. McLean And C. A. Connor Of Sturgeon Point Capture Canoe Trophy

JANEWAY WINS SWIM

The sloop "Bootlegger" with Gordon Matthews as skipper and Messrs. Carl and Gerald Duffus comprising the crew, was first across the finish line in the open sailing event run off on a six-mile course at Chemong Regatta on Saturday afternoon.

By virtue of her win, the "Bootlegger" captured the J. J. Duffus Trophy for open sailing presented by J. J. Duffus, M.P., and added to her reputation as the smartest boat of its type in the Kawarthas. The same craft won the open sailing event at Chemong last year.

The "Cutty Sark" skippered by Elsworth Flavelle, Sturgeon Point, finished second in this majort event, with the "Skidley" in third position. The latter sloop was skippered by Ross Thompson, with a crew comprising Messrs. Gordon Dobbin, Stan Murby and Jim Esson.

Twenty-five Events

Run off under ideal weather conditions under auspices of Chemong Park Cottagers Association, with J. K. Hughes as chairman, the fine program witnessed keen competition in each of the twenty-five events.

For the fifth consecutive year Vern Janeway of Peterborough won the gruelling mile swim, crossing the finish line well ahead of Jack Bennett of Peterborough who was in second place. Nelson Earle of Toronto came in third, while Margaret MacDonald of Hastings first of the two girl contestants to finish, who came in fourth, was awarded a special prize.

Mermaid Sisters

In the ladies' 75-yard swim, three Peterborough sisters, Ethel, Mabel and Lillian Barnes finished in first, second and third places respectively, while Ethel and Mabel repeated their fine performance by placing first and second in the event for girls under sixteen.

As usual the Jopling family figured prominently in the prize

Toledo In Ruins After Loyalist Bombardment

The city of Toledo, Spain, 40 miles south of Madrid, was left partially in ruins after Leftist artillery reduced many buildings to heaps of stone in a successful offense against a rebel force. The smouldering ruins of one building, with a church in the background, are shown above.

ALBERTA RELIEF GANGS SATISFIED WITH CERTIFICATES

Accept Scrip For July Labor And Ask "When Can We Work For More?"

FIRST PAY FOR MANY

EDMONTON, Aug. 10.—(CP).—Satisfaction was general to-day among Alberta relief recipients who received prosperity certificates as wages for July work. And the usual reaction of the majority is: "When can we work for some more of them?"

A reporter's survey among men who worked on certificate-financed road projects in Beverly, Edmonton suburb, found them content after getting their first pay cheques in certificates.

Jobless men were asked if they would work for certificates, and most of them would not reply. The majority of those who did answer, however, said they were willing to take certificates as wages.

Paid Friday, the Beverly men flocked into Edmonton Saturday to shop. The manager of a departmental store, accepting certificates, said the store got $3,000 worth of "scrip" business Friday and Saturday.

"One of the men had not received a pay cheque in four years. He was tickled to death to earn a living again. Although he was strong against the plan at first, said Harry Holcroft, one of the workers.

Better Than in Mines

A sub-foreman, H. N. Nickerson, said it was his first "decent" pay in three years. He added it was better pay than he got while working in a coal mine.

The majority of the Beverly outfit worked 22 eight-hour days during July. The pay was 40 cents an hour for laborers, 55 for sub-foremen and 70 for foremen. The average pay was about $65.

On many of these projects the Government intends to pay each man $40 a month and withhold the balance of his wage each month until the work is completed. Then while the man is out of work, he will continue to receive $40 a month until he has received all he earned.

If a man has a large family and $40 is not sufficient for a month, the full amount earned will be paid at the end of each month.

LIGHTNING STARTS SIX FRESH FIRES

All In Sault Area — Flames Sweep Within Half Mile Of Coldwater

(By the Canadian Press.)

With the situation somewhat improved in most sections weary firefighters attacked flames with renewed vigor today as Ontario forests blazed in several districts. Sault Ste. Marie continued to hold the spotlight with seven new fires reported, bring the total in the district to 41.

Six of the new fires in the Sault area reported started from lightning flashes. Fifty bushmen of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company fought a blaze on the Algoma Central Railway in township 27. Two other lightning fires burned in township 26, with two more close by. Another burned in Patton township.

The town of Coldwater, near Orillia, was endangered yesterday, when flames swept to within half a mile of residences. A shift in the wind aided fighters, however.

Rain washed out fires around North Bay. The only big fire in the district remained under control after its conquest yesterday. About 25 fires in the vicinity of Sudbury were not considered dangerous.

Baby Takes Sick In Night As Relief Family Is Unable to Find Home

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—(CP)—Unable to find a house for his wife and small children, a York Township relief recipient, last night took a few blankets and put the family to sleep on the street.

At midnight the youngest child, 18 months, was taken ill and removed to hospital. Doctors called police and machinery was put in motion to secure a home for the family. Reeve Marsh Magwood said he would go into the case today.

CRUISING BRITISH OFFICER IS KILLED BY REBEL GUNNERS

Britain Sends Strong Protest—Insurgents Mass For Attack On San Sebastian

GOV'T CLAIMS GAINS

LONDON, Aug. 10. — (CP). — Great Britain dispatched a strong protest to the Spanish rebel warship Almirante Cervera to-day over the death of a British subject killed by shell-fire from the insurgent vessel.

Captain Rupert Savile, retired naval officer, was headed for port in his yacht, "Blue Shadow," with a broken propellor when the Almirante Ververa opened fire. Saville was killed, his wife slightly wounded.

Meanwhile, the Madrid Government claimed the capture of 13 towns dominated by rebels, while in the far north the insurgent forces massed for an offensive against San Sebastian and Irun.

Government claims covered: Repulse of a rebel attack at Navelperal, in the Guardarrama Mountains, with 800 Fascists, reported killed; capture of the town of Lugones and seizure of a munitions factory in Oviedo province; occupation of 10 towns in Teruel province during an advance on Zaragoza; surrender of the towns of Gelsa and Ola to a loyal column, also marching on Zaragoza, and capture of Ibiza, capital of an island of the same name in the Balearics.

Reports from rebel lines near the Franco-Spanish border related insurgent forces were gathering for an attack on both San Sebastian and Irun. The Madrid War Ministry said insurgent at Burgos and Valladolid faced the danger of epidemics because the bodies of the dead were not being buried.

SAINT JEAN DE LUZ, France, Aug. 10 (AP).—Captain Rupert Saville, a retired British naval and air corps officer, was killed yesterday, and his wife injured, as a shell from a Spanish rebel cruiser struck their yacht in Gijon harbor.

Officers of the British destroyer Comet, which brought Mrs. Saville to Saint Pean de Luz, said a 16-inch shell from the cruiser Almirante Cervera almost cut Savile in two.

His wife, who stood next to him on the deck of the yacht Blue Shadow, was wounded. She was taken to a hospital at Bayonne, where officials said her condition was not critical.

Leftist boatmen from Gijon brought the Blue Shado ashore under rebel fire. The Comet took Mrs. Savile and her husband's body to Gijon.

[illegible] was brought ashore here by members of the Comet's crew, draped in a British flag.

Mrs. Savile, who was carried on a stretcher, shook hands with Sir Henry Chilton, British Ambassador to Spain, who recently moved his headquarters into France.

British officials declared the yacht, a converted mine-layer, on which the Saviles lived, went to Gi-

CANADIAN TEAM PLACED SECOND SWIMMING RELAY

Blond Bob Pirie Qualifies For Semi-Finals In 400-Metre Swim

TWO CANADIANS FAIL

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—(CP Cable).—Blond Bob Pirie, 19-year-old Toronto veteran of the swimming lanes, qualified to-day for the semi-finals of the Olympic 400-metre free style championship in the backwash of a record-shattering Japanese.

Earlier, a Canadian team of which Pirie was a member, stroked into the 800-metre relay final by finishing second to the French winners of the first trials, but the title was all but conceded to a Japanese team that clipped 2.3 seconds from the Olympic standard in their heat.

As against the flashy time of 8:56.1 set by the sons of Nippon, the Canadian foursome — Pirie, Munroe Bourne, Montreal, Bob Hamerton, Winnipeg, and Bob Hooper, Vancouver—needed 9:40. It was the slowest time of the six qualifiers for to-morrow's titular struggle.

Canadians Fail

While Pirie, long dominant in Canadian swimming, was qualifying in the 400, the 16-year-old Hooper and Hamerton failed to get through their initial tests. Hamer-

The ambulance was called. Both mother and baby are well.

THIRTEEN KILLED WEEK-END MISHAP TOLL OVER ONTARIO

Cars And Drownings Account For Four Each—Trains Claim Three

CYCLE KILLS WOMAN

(By the Canadian Press.)

Thirteen persons met accidental death at scattered Ontario points over the week-end. Automobiles and the water were the major factors in four deaths, four persons drowned, one was killed when struck by a bicycle, and three were killed in falls from trains.

Harry Palmer, 40, Norwich, was instantly killed and a companion seriously injured when two automobiles met head-on four miles from Tillsonburg.

Struck by a truck after she had left a bus at Fort Erie, Mrs. Clayton Hovey, 32, Brockport, N.Y., died in hospital; Soloman Taubbn, 69, Toronto, died of a pierced lung after being struck by a car as he crossed a street.

Edgar Parnel, Coniston, was killed and three companions injured when the car in which they were riding overturned near Sudbury.

Woman Drowns Off Boat

An unidentified woman either leaped or fell from the steamer Dalhousie City half way between Port Dalhousie and Toronto. She was believed to live in Montreal. Twelve-year-old Charles Wilkinson drowned while swimming at Kingston.

Mrs. Cora McLaren, of London, was struck by a bicycle and died shortly after. Percy Jones, 35, Canadian Pacific Railway brakeman, who fell from his train near Milverton Friday, died in hospital at London.

Mabel Wray, teacher of Detroit, drowned Saturday afternoon in the Gull River.

Fred McCallum, 16, Galt orphan, died in hospital from injuries received when he jumped from a freight train at Toronto. The almost decapitated body of Frank Clarke, 38, address unknown, was found near a railway track at Sudbury.

Detroit School Teacher Lost Her Life In Accident In Haliburton

BODY NOT RECOVERED

Eye-Witness Describes Scene As Boat Went Over The Rapids

MINDEN, August 10 (By Staff Reporter).—Thrown into swirling white water with five companions when a skiff in which they were riding hurtled over Moore's Falls at Gull Lake, Mabel Wray, 50, Detroit school teacher, was drowned Saturday afternoon. The body had not been recovered at a late hour this afternoon.

The party, on vacation at the resort owned by Ted Pogue on Deep Bay, Gull Lake, had been out for a ride on Gull Lake when the spectacular tragedy occurred. The skiff was powered by an outboard motor and the pilot whose name was not available, was making a landing just above the falls.

Eye-Witness

Ken Pritchard of Minden who was a witness, said the pilot apparently misjudged the current above the falls and shut off the motor too soon. Despite frantic efforts by the six in the skiff, it was drawn swiftly to the brink of the falls and over into the white water below. Two or three of the passengers grabbed desperately at a stop log on the dam, under which they passed, but failed to check the way of the skiff.

All were thrown into water as the skiff upset. Pritchard aided two of the party ashore and three others were able to gain the shore unassisted. Miss Wray was carried on the surface of the water out into Moore's Lake and disappeared from sight two hundred yards from the falls.

Names of those in the party had not been obtained this afternoon, but it was reported there were four women including the drowning victim and two men. Miss Wray, it is understood, was the only one of the party who could swim.

Dragging For Body

The falls are located on a short narrows between Gull Lake and Moore's Lake. Cottagers and nearby residents hurried to the scene and carried on dragging operations all day Sunday without success in view of the swiftness of the current, the likely resting place of the body is unknown.

Miss Wray had been on vacation at Gull Lake during the past two weeks. The others in the skiff were fellow lodgers at the boarding house.

DUNDAS PLANNING TO DIG TOWN WELLS

Council Expected To Veto $48,000 Water Main Idea From Hamilton

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP).—Dundas residents turned to well drillers today in the hope of solving their steadily increasing troubles with water supply. It is expected the Town Council tonight will reject the agreement with Hamilton by which a $48,000 water-main was to have been laid to supply the valley town with water.

The situation is growing increasingly serious. Yesterday a gasoline pump was installed at the dam to lift the pool of dark, muddy water over the obstruction into the filtration and chlorination plant. In spite of this extra measure, the water level in the reservoir receded to the lowest level yet, the hot water being blamed for the extra consumption.

The town has now the remains of the old swimming pool above Fisher's dam to call upon, and after that supply is gone, there will be no other supply than that which rests in the Desjardins Canal. Officials are very reluctant to pump this into the mains, as the town sewage discharges into the same body of water.

Duplessis Says Disclosures In Public Accounts Probe Only Started

AIMS TO PROVE ALL

STE. EUSTACHE, Que., Aug. 10. —(CP).—The public accounts committee inquiry into Government departments will be continued in the next legislature if he is elected Premier, Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale leader, told a political meeting yesterday.

"Let me tell you we have not yet shown a fraction of one-tenth of one per cent. of what is to come," said Mr. Duplessis.

"Wait till you see the payrolls with babies three months old being paid as truck chauffeurs.

"Wait till you see dead people being paid for carting gravel."

"We'll prove it. We're going right to the end," cried Mr. Duplessis.

The Union Nationale chieftain recalled Premier Godbout had said the public accounts committee inquiry had merely "laid two or three Government employees under the shadow of suspicion."

"Suspicion?" asked Mr. Duplessis. "Nothing proven? Sufficient to drive the Taschereau Government out of power, scared to let the probe continue; to cause the head of that Government and most of his ministers to quit public life against their will; to force into retirement a host of deputies of long standing; to make Mr. Godbout call for new men and a new era; to cause the Liberals in this campaign from sheer shame to renounce or ignore their old chief."

Belittling the probe was just another Liberal election tactic to attempt to gloss over unpleasant features of the inquiry, said Mr. Duplessis. The Government might be willing to forget the past, but the people would not forget so easily.

America Prays For England Against Rain

LONDON, Aug. 10. — (AP). — British farmers prayed yesterday for sunshine while those of the drought area in America prayed for rain. Kentish churches called prayer services yesterday for a cessation of continued rains that threaten ruin of the hops crop by mildew.

Small Area Is Hit By Bad Thunderstorm

Crashing bolts of lightning played over this district during a brief electrical storm early this morning, but no serious damage was reported. The power service in the city was interrupted periodically by trouble somewhere on the main lines outside.

Rain fell in intermittent downpours over a narrow swath through the county. Although Peterborough received a good wetting, Lakefield and northern points in the county got only a few drops of the long-awaited moisture.

Brother Killed In Jump Orphan Wanderer Held

Parents Dead Two Years ago, Sisters "Somewhere"—Looking For Work

LAD TELLS COURT

TORONTO, Aug. 10 (C.P.) — George McCallum, 18, orphan-wanderer, to-day pleaded guilty to a charge of trespassing upon railway property and was remanded until an inquest on the death of his 16-year-old brother is held. The brother, Fred, 16, was fatally injured last night jumping from a freight train in a Toronto yard.

The two boys, whose parents died in Galt, Ont., two years ago, had been going from place to place looking for work. They decided to try Toronto.

As the freight pulled into the Don Esplanade yards, they jumped. George landed safely, but Fred tripped and landed on his head. He suffered a fractured skull and practically scalped himself. A few hours later he died in hospital.

"Somewhere," George told sympathetic officials, he has two sisters. That is all. A Salvation Army officer at the brief hearing said he would take him. "I'll give him a room and all he can eat until the court needs him."

Girl Dies Of Injuries Oshawa Driver Jailed

OSHAWA, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP).—Arraigned on charges of criminal negligence and reckless driving, Bruce Hamilton of Oshawa was remanded on bail of $4,000 for trial Sept. 2, by Magistrate A. Gee of Lindsay.

Accused is alleged to have hit Elizabeth Chryk, 13, August 1 with his car. She was riding a bicycle in front of him. After an operation a few days ago, the girl died in the hospital last night. An inquest will be held Thursday night.

Surprised to Be Saved Instead of Scalped

WINDSOR, Aug. 10.—(CP)—Two middleaged women from Kansas City, Kan., returned from an excursion into the Canadian wilds yesterday, surprised to find that instead of being massacred by Indians they had been saved from drowning by a boatload of them.

Miss Lillian M. Kreiser and her life-long friend, Miss L. Fanin, came to Windsor aboard the steamship Georgian, which picked them up after they had been rescued by Indians from a burning launch in Serpentine Bay, Lake Huron.

The women were two of eight persons in a motor launch which caught fire Thursday about a mile off shore near Sprague, Ont., in the Algoma District.

THREE ESTATES MAY YIELD SUM OF $2,000,000

Settlements In Overdue Succession Duties Expected This Week

200 UNDER REVIEW

Several Accountants Added To Staff Chasing Down "Dodgers"

TORONTO, Aug. 10. — Ontario Treasury officials are about to complete three more settlements for overdue succession duties. It is rumored that the settlements will net the Province close to $2,000,000 in revenue, claimed by the Hepburn Government to have gone uncollected under former regimes.

Wind-Up This Week.

Winding up the three estates, it is said, should take place some time this week. They are said to have been under review for some months, but Provincial officials have kept "mum" about the inquiries and "could not discuss" them, last night.

The three estates are known to be among the 200 which Premier Hepburn said were to be examined by the Succession Duties Branch, and which are now under review.

The bulk of these estates were assessed for succession duties several years ago. But the new Administration has discovered enough holes in some of the assessments to insist on heavy payment in a dozen cases.

More Accountants.

Several accountants have been recently added to the staff chasing down the overdue duties. Their employment is said to be further evidence that the Hepburn Administration is going to require every estate to pay its duties to the Treasury to the full letter of the law.

Both the Budget and the Budget address last spring intimated clearly that the policy of collecting all legal obligations from the estates would be continued. And these collections will be one of the things making up the Hepburn pay-as-you-go Budget.

NORTH BAY HOTELS WARNED BY CROLL

Will Not Stand For Exploitation Of Tourists Up To See Quints

NORTH BAY, August 10. — Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare, stopped here yesterday on his way from Callander long enough to warn hotels and restaurants that he would not stand for exploitation of tourists who had come to see the quintuplets.

The quints have brought an amazing business boom to North Bay. No hotel accommodation can be obtained unless it is reserved considerably ahead of time and restaurants are crowded night and day as tourists pour in on their way to and from Callander.

Complaints had reached him, Mr. Croll said, that the price of hotel rooms had been boosted and that meals cost more than was warranted.

"Tourists come to Callander to see the quintuplets at our invitation," said Mr. Croll. "It does not cost anything to see the babies, but these visitors spend money in Ontario and I do not intend to allow them to be exploited. Business in this city is booming as a result of the quints, and a legitimate profit should be sufficient."

Wild Forest Fire Threatens 'E.P.' Ranch

CALGARY, August 10. — The "EP" Ranch, owned by King Edward, was endangered by a bush fire raging in the Pekisko district 45 miles south of here last night.

"The fire is running wild," E. S. Heustis, assistant superintendent of the Provincial Forest Reserve, reported.

The flames had already entered settlements a short distance west of the King's ranch, reports said, and were licking around the buildings of the Forbes and Cartright ranch.

Fifty men are in the district now fighting the blaze, Heustis said, and another 50 were leaving Calgary last night.

MARY ASTOR DIARY KEEPS HOLLYWOOD IN CASE OF JITTERS

Actress' Little "Tell-All" Notebook Singes Much Of Film World

MAY MAKE LEGAL HISTORY

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10—(UP)—Masterminds of the film business last night started active efforts to bring about a peaceful settlement of the blistering child-custody wrangle between brown-eyed actress Mary Astor and her dapper ex-husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe.

The court battle was scheduled to go into its critical stage early today when Miss Astor, whose talent for diary writing has thrown the film colony into one of its most severe case of jitters, will be recalled to the witness box in Judge Goodwin-Knight's court to identify names and happenings she jotted down in lavender ink in her "tell all" diary.

Irving Thalberg and his actress wife, Norma Shearer, came out of the stony silence which the film colony clamped down —reportedly on instructions emanating from the powerful Will Hays office—on the highly explosive Astor-Thorpe feud, and began an active role of peacemaking.

Whisking from home to home in a shiny black limousine, they reportedly interviewed half a dozen persons connected with the dispute which already has singed the film world to a considerable degree, and threatens to burn off a lot more veneer if it continues.

Big Brains Order Soft Pedal

Neither discussed their activities with outsiders, but it was learned their efforts followed a huddle of mighty minds of the industry, who decided the Astor-Thorpe name-calling affair was doing the movie business very little good in the way of publicity.

Today attorneys for the belligerent actress, who charged her husband intimidated her into signing away right to her child, and lawyers for Dr. Thorpe, "society surgeon" and big game hunter, will square off in Judge Knight's court-

WINDOW SHADES ARE VERY GAY

When Worked Into Decorative Scheme—Lovely Colors Available

CONTROLLING LIGHT

The sun is very stylish right now. But we can remember way back when it wasn't at all fashionable; in fact, we recall some pretty slighting remarks that were made about "old west rooms with the sun streaming in all the time," says Elizabeth McRae Boykin in the New York Sun.

Even in this age of sun worshippers, though, enough of a good thing is plenty. A room that is too bright and glaring is nearly as bad as one that is too dark. And even a room with just the right amount of light coming in has its private hours by day as well as by night when it's nice to draw the blinds quietly against the world outside.

For a long time there wasn't much to do but hang up a rather nondescript window shade and let it go at that. But window shades are getting very gay these days, and you'll find lots of exciting new decorative effects that can be achieved by selecting them carefully. (And by getting a good quality of shade in the first place—firm, fine fabric with a processing of oil paint . . . these are the things that make a window shade an asset and not a drawback to your decorative picture.)

Consider the possibilities of such colors as cornflower blue, willow green, mignonette green, strained honey, Circasian brown and quite an elegant shade of gray! Cornflower blue window shades are simply lovely with draperies of beige, yellow, peach or white, or with red sprigged chintz. Or with no draperies at all and ruffy white, sheer curtains. The new green shades can be very distinguished indeed with draperies in the beiges, in gold, henna, brown, gray or with garden flowered designs. With shades the color of strained honey we would like draperies of the very same hue, or else earthly brown, emerald green or a tired old blue. Circassian brown is stunning with cocoa, beige apple green, coppery tones, apricot or powder blue. Gray shades are smart with cherry red, eggplant, turquoise, coral, wisteria or canary yellow.

Make Your Own

But color isn't all that's exciting in the world of window shades. Flowered designs are ever so effective in ever so many nice rooms. If you don't find just the pattern and colors you want, make your own with the usual window shade spring roller . . . or get the interior decorating department of you favorite store to make them up on order to your special fancy.

The prettiest dining room we've seen has rose-red flowered chintz window shades in a white ground with leaves in the pattern. Over this were hung the crispest, thinnest looking curtains of dotted white swiss made with ruffles and tied back with red flower bouquets. The walls of this room were done in a restful shade of gray here and there. Maple furniture, bright red chair pads, milk glass and pewter finished off a perfect picture of an informal little family dining room. White woodwork, of course.

Scotch Plaid

Scotch plaid gingham makes a jaunty shade for an informal room. With white or navy curtains, white walls, a dark blue rug, red upholstered chairs and a white candlewick bedspread over a plaid gingham ruffle.

Patterned window shades for a much grander type of room were used in the living room of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mullen. The walls of the room are in white, the rug is raisin color and the chairs are upholstered in a chintz with a plume design, in tones of pale rose, white and raisin. The window treatment is really the piece de resistance of the ensemble . . . the shades are of the same chints as the chairs, then over them, hung in the most billowy folds and tied back criss-cross fashion, are point d'esprit curtains of white. There is a rather heavy gold cornice around the top, then hung from it a swag of raisin velvet lined with pale rose.

If you insist on graduating from window shades there are Venetian blinds which are certainly most effective in controlling the light that comes into the room and making a pleasant pattern at the windows. Our pet notion is that they're nicest painted the color of the walls, but that's because we love a rather tranquil effect, besides, it's inclined to make a room seem a bit more spacious. But don't let our preferences deter you from something lots more dramatic. Paint them in a soft or a brilliant contrast and you'll be thrilled at the dash it gives to your room. Bluebonnet blue Venetian blinds in a room with orchid walls, for instance, would certainly be in the French color gamut . . . or bright red Venetian blinds in a room with white walls . . . or yellow Venetian blinds in a room with gray walls.

Wooden Shades

If you'd like the effect of Venetian blinds but can't afford the cost, consider a type of wood shade that is woven together so that is rolls up like a usual window shade, although it is actually made of horizontal strips of wood. It's guaranteed against warping and all those things and really works beautifully, looks as nice as anything, and can likewise be finished in any color you may fancy.

And we're converted to the pattern that lace curtains make at sunny window. They give tthe most delicate cobwebby radiance, yet serve at the same time to soften down the light a bit. The lace nets are also available in heavier textures, too.

Alberta Train-Car Crash Takes 6 Lives

BELLEVUE, Alta., August 10 (C.P.). — Death toll from an accident in which an automobile was struck by a passenger train near here yesterday was increased to six last night as Miss Lillian Marcial, 23, who had been seriously injured, died in hospital.

NEGRO CONFESSES HE SHOT TO DEATH HELEN CLEVENGER

Denies Ravishing Her--Special Guards Placed To Prevent Lynching

SAYS DOOR WAS OPEN

ASHEVILLE, N.C., Aug. 10 (UP) —Martin Moore, 22-year-old negro hall boy, confessed yesterday that he murdered Helen Clevenger, 19-year-old honor student at New York University, in her room at the Battery Park Hotel here the night of July 16. Sheriff L. E. Brown announced.

The young negro, held on the 15th floor of the courthouse as a precaution against lynching, was taken to the murdered girl's room yesterday, where he re-enacted the crime in detail for police photographers, the sheriff said. Moore was formally charged with the murder after signing a complete confession.

Brown announced to-day that authorities had decided definitely that Miss Clevenger had not been attacked. Previously it was said that an attempt had been made to ravish the girl.

The negro was trapped into a confession after officers learned from another negro that Moore had a pistol of the calibre used to kill Miss Clevenger. Two New York detectives, Detective-Sergeant Dan Martin and Detective John Quinn, the latter instrumental in solving the famous Titterton murder in New York a few months ago, played an important part in solving the crime.

Blames Fellow-Employee

Martin, Quinn and local officers went to Moore's shack Saturday night.

"What did you do with the pistol you killed that girl with," Martin demanded of the fightened negro.

Moore studied for a few minutes without answering.

"It's under that porch there," he

P.E.I CROP OUTLOOK RICHEST IN YEARS

Hay Double—Potato Yield Up 15 P.C.—Farmers Getting Back On Feet

CHARLOTTETOWN, Aug. 10. — (CP).—Fertile fields filled with the richest crops in years have brought smiles to the farmers of Prince Edward Island.

While severe drought conditions burnt up agrarian areas in Canada and the United States, warm rains and moderate temperatures favored this million-acre farm where extremes of climate are unknown.

"Bumper crops this year are putting farmers right back on their feet," says Wellington McNeill, chief Island exporter.

"Our acreage of potatoes is up 15 per cent. over last year and there will be a considerable increase in yield per acre," commented Walter Shaw, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, as he noted that drought conditions in other parts of the country were likely to keep potato prices at satisfactory levels.

"When crops are growing well, there is always a feeling of optimism in the air."

"Look around for yourself," advised the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. H. Dennis. "We have not complete statistics available, but your eye will show you conditions. This island is free from tempest and drought and our farmers have taken advantage of ideal conditions.'

Farmers were busy in the fields bringing in the last of the biggest hay crop in years.

Plenty of Hay

"The hay crop is almost a double yield. Well have a large exportable surplus this year," explained Deputy Minister Shaw.

Out at the provincial exhibition grounds, sparkling with red and white paint, was Col. D. A. Mackinnon, prominent fox rancher and horseman, who announced farm entries for the island's big fair had broken all records.

"We are embarrassed with success," he said with a grin. "We have more race horses than we can use and we have the biggest stables in Canada."

Chief crops for export are potatoes, turnips, oats and hay, and those competent to judge claim there will be the largest exportable surplus in a period of 20 years.

"There is a 20 per cent. increase in the acreage of turnips this year," Minister of Agriculture Shaw remarked. "Last year islanders planted 33,100 acres of potatoes and 10,100 acres of turnips. Already carloads of turnips are rolling towards the New England market and farmers are receiving the highest prices in years for new stock—50 cents a

USEFUL METALS FOUND IN NORTH

Ore For Strengthening Steel Is Latest Discovery Reported

GOLDFIELDS, Sask., Aug. 10.—(CP).—Chiefly noted for gold discoveries this new northern mining field may produce other useful metals in commercial quantities, according to reports brought in by engineers.

Molybdenite, used for strengthening steel, has been reported. Wolframite, the ore containing tungsten, also used in steel-making and as filaments in light bulbs, has been discovered in several sections, as have nickel, lead, zinc, silver and copper.

Pitchblende, carrying radium, has also made its appearance. The field is still too new to know just how large the deposits of the various metals are and whether they can be mined at a profit.

Having decreed that automobile horns shall be sounded only in case of unusual danger, the police of Hamburg, Germany, are investigating every horn-blowing, and if one is found to have been necessary through inattention of a pedestrian, the walker is arrested.

BARN IS BURNED DURING THRESHING MADOC TOWNSHIP

Farmer Scorched Getting Out Of Mow On George Walsh's Farm

MACHINE IS LOST

MADOC, Aug. 10.—On Saturday morning the barn and outbuildings on the farm of George Walsh, Madoc township were totally destroyed by fire together with the season's crop and straw stack, while threshing operations were taking place.

The separator and threshing outfit belonging to William Parks were also burned. It is thought a match or cigarette butt went through the separator, coming out the blower in a ball of fire, and in two minutes everything around was on fire.

One man coming down the ladder was severely burned. Nothing could be done to check the blaze. The loss was not estimated. Very little insurance, if any was carried.

BONES ON MOUNTAIN TELL AIR TRAGEDY

Reveal Fate Of Alaskan Flier And Three Passengers Lost Year Ago

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 10.—(AP).—A pile of charred bones under a broken airplane told to-day a wordless story of the fate of Pilot Arthur F. Hines and three passengers who left Dawson, Y.T., a year ago for a 500-mile flight to Fairbanks.

High on the side of a barren 5,000-foot mountain 175 miles east of here a prospector found the tragic solution of the 12-month-old mystery and flew to Fairbanks with the news.

John Hajdukovich, the prospector, said the plane evidently crashed into the mountainside and burned.

Hines' passengers were Mr. and Mrs. John Long, Fairbanks newlyweds, and Alon Nordale, a court clerk here.

Grass Fire Occurs On Heffernan Farm

DOURO, Aug. 10.—Douro and Otonabee had another fire scare shortly after the noon hour Sunday, when a grass fire broke out on the Heffernan farm on the 6th Line of Otonabee Township where it intersects the old Norwood Road. It started on the road allowance probably as the result of a carelessly discarded cigarette butt or match. A south wind drove the flames into an old gravel pit, and it required the united efforts of a large group of farmers to prevent the fire gaining headway. Damage was slight.

MINERS RECEIVE CASH FOR GOLD

Placer Veterans Bring 304 Ounces In To B.C. Gov't in Past Year

VICTORIA, Aug. 10.—(CP).—Virgin gold valued at $10,000, washed from the streams of British Columbia, has been acquired by the provincial government in the last year under its small purchase plan for placer miners, the department of mines estimated. The amount purchased was 304 ounces.

Little pokes of gold dust come to the assayer's office every week from gold commissioners in outlying parts of the province. Some have an ounce, others have less.

The government pays the miners $36 an ounce. Previously the miners had to save up enough gold for the shipment to the dominion assay office, but now it is cash on the spot. The provincial government makes up the shipment and the gold is resold to the dominion government.

BIRTHDAYS SAME DATE

VANCOUVER (CP). — Frank L. Miller to-day is wondering how he will be able to finance three birthday presents the same day next year. Four years ago his wife gave birth to a son on her own birthday. The same date this year a daughter was born. The one consolation is the family birthdays are easier to remember together.

His territory covers 900,000 square miles blanketed by ice and snow during the greater part of the year, extending from Demarcation Point on the west along the Arctic coast for a thousand miles to King William Island, where some years ago were recovered the tell-tale remains of Franklin and his ill-fated expedition.

He will have his own team of dogs and the continued service of an Eskimo driver and interpreter who for the past few years has rendered such valuable service to Dr. Urquhart. In time of need an airplane will be at his call.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

"If happiness hae not her seat
And centre in the breast,
We may be wise or rich or great,
But never can be blest."
—Robert Burns.

Dear Friends:

The other day, a friend of mine 'phoned and told me of a little incident she had noticed on the street outside of her home. Some small boys had a kite, and were having great fun flying it, when along came a truck, and the kite became entangled in it.

She was agreeably surprised to see the man stop his truck and spend about ten minutes or more getting it untangled, and finally when he had done so, and straightened it all out, he left a group of happy youngsters behind.

Now it may seem a small thing for anyone to do, but it is not a small thing to leave happiness behind one. I am sure that some time when this driver has trouble with his truck on the road, someone else will stop and give the help he gave to these small boys. (I really should have sent in this item to the "Rambling Reporter.")

But what I am getting at is the small things that can bring back happiness, and the careless ommitting of them that can cause so much unhappiness.

Look back over your life, and you will find that the things that made you happy were very small. Likewise the things that made you miserable were not big either. Our lives are made up of little minutes, little joys, and little sorrows which grow bigger the more they are repeated.

A little talk with someone who cares, and we are pleased, a little friendship shown and we are happy. A few words can ruin our day, and a few other words can make us go singing on our way, each of them so little but so important.

"Ah! when shall all men's good
Be each man's rule, and universal peace
Lie like a shaft of light across the land,
And like a lane of beams athwart the sea,
Through all the circle of the golden year?"
—Tennyson.

You see what I mean don't you? Our Lord said "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another." How can you say you love even your nearest and dearest, if you are not kind to them? Not waiting to do great big kindnesses, but the little everyday things, the little remembrances that mean happiness to a lonely heart.

Have you ever suffered from real loneliness, day after day, week after week, trying to boost your heart up with hope that tomorrow things will be different? Once in the West, I saw a woman who had gone insane with loneliness. They were taking her to an institution and it was the saddest sight I had ever seen. No, she was not yelling and carrying on, she was beyond that, all she apparently wanted was to die.

How many people are left to loneliness by the ones they have always showed kindness to? How many fathers and mothers go through the latter part of their lives lonely and heartsick, because the ones they had loved so well, could not stop to do them a kindness? And you can be very lonely indeed in the midst of a big city, or in a big house with a lot of empty rooms.

And so, I would suggest that we one and all do all the little kindnesses we can, each day and every day. You may keep a lonely heart from breaking.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

OLD SHIP MODEL IS OF SOLID GOLD

Made By Priest 350 Years Ago —Been Handed Generation To Generation

EDMONTON, Aug. 10 (CP). — A beautiful model ship fashioned in solid gold made by a priest 350 years ago aboard one of the vessels that comprised the Spanish Armada is owned by George M. Spargo of this city.

From generation to generation the model has been handed down and the present owner has had it in his possession 20 years.

Main part of the ship is an intricate lacy design. Fine hairs of solid gold were curled and shaped by the 16th centry priest to fashion the model. Rigging is made of finely rolled gold strings.

Fellow Spies Meet 20 Years After War

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 10.—(AP).—Nearly 20 years ago John Boles, screen actor and singer, was serving as a spy beyond the scenes of battle on the western front. One day, in Belgium, his suspicions were aroused by a man who posed as a peasant.

The "peasant" apparently suspected Boles, too.

Boles raided the man's quarters and discovered he was serving not the Central Powers but an ally, France. Friendship established.

Among the thousands of former Great War buddies here to-day for the California State American Legion convention was a guest, Paul Garmont.

In the crowds of fraternizing veterans, Garmont suddenly spied Boles. Excitedly he grabbed the actor by the arm.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

"Teacher to Teachers"

SOUTH WAS DUMB

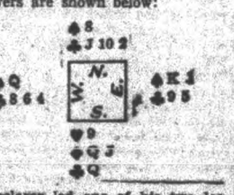
I have just been shown a hand supposed to illustrate how keen declarer was to detect the only play that could yield him the small slam undertaken. To a novice the strategy will appear flawless, but a more experienced player will wonder at South's dumbness in not detecting and frustrating declarer's intention.

Bidding went: West, 2 - No Trumps; East, 3-Spades; West, 4-Spades; East, 4-No Trumps; West, 6-Spades, which South doubled.

The opening lead was the K of clubs. Dummy's Ace won. North played the 7 and declarer the 3. Declarer at once saw that he must go down a trick, unless a miracle intervened, but he had to try for 6-odd. A low spade from dummy was won with declarer's 9. The next trick was taken with dummy's Ace, but declarer dared not lead a third round, as he had to prepare for stripping hands and also wanted to ruff a heart in dummy. He dared not risk a heart finesse needlesly. Even if the finesse worked it could not help the club situation, as dummy still would hold two losing clubs, just as declarer did.

Declarer took his K and Ace of hearts. Then declarer led his 7 of hearts. South's Q covered. Dummy ruffed with the 4, holding the Q for future use. Six tricks had been run off, and North still held the 8 of trumps, but that could not be pulled. Declarer's plan required that trump in dummy as the sole hope of fulfilling the small slam contract which optimistic West had dared bid, although East's bidding had failed to show slam expectations, or a very long trump suit.

The seventh and eighth tricks were won with dummy's Ace and K of diamonds. Declarer completed the hand stripping, by ruffing dummy's last diamond. Then came declarer's great adventure—his lone hope for fulfillment of contract. The last four cards held by each players are shown below:



Declarer led one of his two losing clubs. South was in with the Q, and he had to lead either a heart or a diamond. Either of these dummy could ruff while declarer could discard his last club just giving him his contract. He had played the hand perfectly. Monday we will see what South should have done to prevent fulfillment of contract.

By LISBETH.

IT SEEMS you can be as picturesque as you please in your new clothes. Of course, if you go in too heavily for picturesqueness you may attract attention, but at least you'll give your jaded fellow-townsmen a thrill—which is sumpin.

For instance, Creed, that young Englishman who has "made good" in Paris, where his family have maintained a house for years, draws upon the gallants of the eighteenth century for broadcloth or duller woollen suits with flared basques and damask satin waistcoats, also lace neck frills. Don't get excited, men, he means them for the ladies—not for you.

There is nothing particularly startling in the pictures that have been chosen to illustrate this article, however. At the left blond Jean Muir, moving picture player, looks smart in an all-linen town outfit. The dress is solid black, its V-neckline featuring a cowl kerchief scarf of Kelly green chiffon. The knee-length coat is white linen marked with a filet barred design in black. It has the fashionable wide, pointed revers, two large patch pockets and a square shelf treatment at the upper part of the sleeves. The hat is white with a turn-down sauces brim.

Jean makes a stunning figure in the costume in which she poses, right, doesn't she? The skirt is black taffeta and touches the floor. It is fitted to the knees and has set-in gores to give it a sharp flare at its lower edge. The coat tunic is a bold black and white checked taffeta with fabric covered buttons, fitted sleeves, slightly fulll at the shoulders, and high neck with jabot.

DOUGLAS L. FORSYTHE

Following a brief illness the death occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital Monday morning of Douglas L. Forsythe, the beloved husband of Edna Forsythe of 464 Parnell street. He was 34 years of age. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forsythe of 95 Crescent street, he was born at Grandmere, Quebec, but had lived in this city for the greater part of his life. He was a member of Knox United Church. Besides his widow and parents he leaves two sons, Lorne and Robert Forsythe, and daughters Gertrude, Ruth, Shirley, Betty and Beverly, also seven sisters Mrs. E. V. Ward, Park street; Mrs. H. C. Bradley, Illinois; Mrs. W. E. Robinson, Montreal; Mrs. John Bolton, Peterborough; the Misses Dorothy and Lillian of this city; and Mrs. G. Calhoun of New York; and two brothers, Gladstone and Harold of this city.

The late Mr. Forsythe was employed at the De Laval plant here for the past eighteen years, and was educated in the public schools here.

The remains are resting at the family residence until Wednesday morning, pending funeral services on the afternoon of that day to be conducted by the Rev. M. C. Parr at D. Belleghem and Sons Funeral Home at two o'clock. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

PREACHING MORATORIUM URGED FOR YEAR OR TWO

NEW YORK, Aug. 10. — (CP).—A moratorium on preaching for one or two years is urged by Rev. Dr. Frederic S. Fleming in his annual statement as rector of Trinity parish, made public here Sunday.

Dr. Fleming suggests the moratorium after declaring "there is no part of the church of Christ that has not failed lamentably in its witness and ministry in these recent years — the impotence of the church is the worst failure."

"Why cannot a Christian be permitted to go to church to worship his God." Dr. Fleming continues, "without always being assailed by a barrage from the pulpit."

Be Really Chic . . . Dine In Pyjamas

Slinky Affairs Made With Sequins Newest Of New Modes

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP). — Pyjamas may be worn to dinner this fall, and just to show how slinky they can be, one designer has created a pair made of black sequins.

A full-length transparent cape barred in silver and trimmed with bands of scarlet sequins goes with this outfit, guaranteed to make a dinner party "different."

Dinner pyjamas also are being shown in all shades of velvet and satin; and it's chic to combine colors—for example, pale blue satin jacket and slacks, and satin blouse of eggplant color.

Both lounging and dinner pyjamas for fall have trousers cut like slacks. Some velveteen slacks have tuck-in blouses of jersey or contrasting color flannel; and the gay contrasts include gray with coral or two shares of one color.

A winner pyjama outfit may have a little bolero jacket; while boudoir pyjamas sometimes have a "smoking jacket," copied from men's attire.

The masculine note is at a minimum, however, in fall boudoir fashions. In general they're more feminine than they've been in many seasons.

Little marabou jackets which form a feathery frame for the shoulders are back in style, to slip over one's negligee for breakfast in bed. A convenient thing about them is that they can serve in a pinch as an evening jacket.

"The Only Decent Thing"

In cancelling his much-advertised birthday party which had been scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at Port Stanley, because he had learned that the whole thing was being turned into a racket by "so-called, self-constituted party heads," Premier Hepburn has shown both courage and a keen appreciation of the fitness of things. It takes courage for a political leader to expose publicly and firmly racketeering on the part of men who have supported his cause and to read them a lesson in decency that will involve the loss of that support but Mr. Hepburn has not shown the slightest hesitation.

He found that the picnic that was to have been held in his honor was being used by some individuals as a pretext for demanding free beer and other gifts from firms all over the province and that some of these solicitors had even gone so far as to threaten firms with which the Government has been doing business. The birthday party, in fact, was being developed into just what the Premier called it "an absolute racket," and Mr. Hepburn lost no time, once he learned what was going on, in declaring that the whole celebration was definitely cancelled.

Public opinion will applaud this decision and will agree with the Premier that the course he has taken was the "only decent and dignified thing" he could have done in the circumstances. At the same time, it will be recognized generally that it has not been easy for Mr. Hepburn to disappoint thousands of friends who had looked forward to attending the birthday picnic and to throw the spot-light on the doubtful activities of men who called themselves Liberals.

It is to be hoped the lesson he has read these offenders will sink home and that from now on firms, especially those who have to look to the Government for business, will be free from being shaken down by so-called party supporters.

A New Tax Racket

Just wherein Premier Aberhart's prosperity certificates differ from a new brand of taxation is a bit difficult to estimate; the one thing that is clear is that the Alberta Government proposes to collect $2.04 for each dollar it pays out and that is about as effective a tax racket as any administration could hope to set working.

In the first place, the only cost of the scheme to the Government is the expense of printing the certificates which are issued for one dollar or for a dollar's worth of work done for the Government. At the end of two years the certificates are redeemed by the Government at a dollar, provided they carry 104 stamps, sold by the administration at one cent each. In other words, the provincial authorities, for every dollar certificate redeemed receive $2.04 while the certificates that are not presented for payment represent a profit of a dollar less the printing costs.

The surplus revenue obtained in this manner comes from the same old place, the pocket of the taxpayers and whether the scheme be called a prosperity certificate plan or a tax levy matters little for it all boils down to the fundamental fact that the Government is collecting a quarter of a million dollars profit from the people of the province. It may be a way back to prosperity but it seems a dubious one for taxation, no matter how it may be concealed or sugar-coated, has never yet pointed in the direction of better times for the people who have to pay it.

Where Does He Get His Law?

Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare has made the statement that the Ontario Government does not propose to allow any municipality to withdraw from the relief business.

"We shall not at any time permit a council to decide that it will stop caring for its unemployed and needy citizens" is the expression used by the Minister and about that there are several things that might be said One is that there is surely no municipal council anywhere that, satisfied that folk are in need, would withhold assistance, if there were any funds available for the purpose and the other is that we have always understood that there is no legal obligation that requires any municipality to supply relief, even although there is unquestionably a moral obligation to do so.

It would be interesting therefore to know how the Ontario Government or any other authority would go about compelling a municipal council to do something that according to law it is not required to do.

If we are not mistaken it was laid down in the Saskatchewan courts recently that no responsibility in law rests upon municipalities to take care of citizens who are destitute; in other words that relief is not a legal right. That being the case we fail to see where the Minister of Public Welfare gets his authority for the statement that he will not permit any municipal council to withhold aid for the unemployed. We are not apprehensive that any of them will attempt to do so if their municipality can raise the needed funds; we are just interested to know where Mr. Croll is getting his law in this particular instance for his threat is contrary to what Canadian courts have already decided.

Harvesters' Excursions

A glance back over the files of The Examiner of twenty and thirty years back suggests that something that was an institution in those days has now passed completely out of the picture and is undoubtedly gone for ever. The reference is to the harvesters' excursions which were a feature of each August as the crop of golden grain in the prairie provinces was ready to be cut. Twenty years ago The Examiner at this time was full of railway advertising. The Canadian Northern itself long since gone had a big display notice blazoning the fact that 40,000 harvest hands were needed in the west and the C.P.R. published similar advertising calling attention to the $12 rate offered by the railways. At the same time there were appeals for help from western grain-growers, one Manitoba man asking for a dozen harvest hands at $3 a day and board.

Those were great days. Thousands of young Ontario farmer boys went West on the harvesters' excursions each year, earned what was considered big money, saw the new country that was being opened up and many of them remained took up land and settled down to reap a golden harvest from the rich soil of the prairies. The cheap trips enabled many young Canadian to see something of the western sections of the great Dominion and played a big part in bringing the prairies and the East closer together. It is unfortunate that their educational value in this respect has now been permanently lost and there is not the same interchange of ideas and viewpoints that was made possible when thousands of youthful Easterners spread over the western provinces in the late summer of every year.

Twenty years ago, the West was demanding 40,000 helpers; thirty years ago, the local C. P. R. agent was telling The Examiner that the Peterborough contingent for the prairie provinces in that year would be the largest on record. Today young farmers in the East are growing up who have never heard of the harvesters' excursion and have no idea of the part they played in the Canadian scheme of things two or three decades back.

The Bullfrog and The Law

There is an old saying that ignorance of the law is no excuse and it is perfectly true as many citizens have discovered to their sorrow when called upon to explain to a magistrate their violation of some regulation they never even knew existed. At the same time ignorance of the law is perfectly understandable when it is realized that the majority of folk have no opportunity of scanning new pieces of legislation that have been passed.

We were reminded of that by reading a story from Toronto which told of the sale in that city of 100 pounds of bullfrog legs that had been seized by the provincial authorities at Kingston. It seems there is regulation that prohibits the killing of bullfrogs during the months of June and July which is their spawning season. It is not a new thing for the law has been on the statute books since 1908 but we must admit we have no recollection of ever hearing of it before. Doubt less, guides and men who engage in the handling of frog's legs commercially know about the restriction imposed by the regulation but what we are getting at is that the general public probably never learned that for two months of each year it is an offence to kill a bull frog. The law must have been broken countless times by folk who had not the slightest idea that they were doing anything out of the way and who have gone ahead knocking off the big fellows and dining sumptuously off their legs without a single qualm of conscience. Human nature being what it is, we have, perhaps, erred in judgment in mentioning the matter at all for when the next spawning season for the bullfrog arrives, probably hundreds of people who never bothered with them before will go afrogging with that zest that a prohibitory measure always seems to evoke.

A Brave Boy Scout

George Zellas, a London Ont., boy has been awarded the Cornwall decoration one of the highest honors open to Boy Scouts. It is rarely won and surely never before under such circumstances as those under which the London boy has captured the distinction. You see George is different from ordinary Boy Scouts. They are usually leaders in their community in athletic prowess and the ability to do useful things; he on the other hand has been an inmate of a sanatorium for the last eight years, fighting a determined but a losing battle against a tubercular malady.

There is not much in a sanatorium to resemble the atmosphere in which Boy Scout work flourishes and thrives; nothing of the fun and the comradeship of healthy young playmates; little chance for the group games and all the other splendid features of Scout craft. But little George Zellas, ill and weak as he was, determined he was going to be a Scout and he buckled to the task so doggedly and persistently that he worked his way through all the various junior and senior scout tests and became so proficient that he was able to help other boys in the work.

Now he has been awarded the Cornwall decoration. That prize honor was named after Jack Cornwall, a Boy Scout who earned a V. C. at the naval battle of Jutland through his bravery under fire. It seems to us that the boy in the London Sanatorium who has refused to allow eight years of illness to keep him from rising to the top in the movement he so greatly admired, has shown qualities equally as great, and courage fully as superb as those displayed by the gallant English sailor boy for whose heroism the decoration was named.

NOTE AND COMMENT

During July 141,342 visitors dropped into Callendar to see the quintuplets. There is one district that has no worries over tourist-promotion campaigns.

Grasshoppers are shattering automobile windshields in Alberta. If that kind of thing keeps up there should be a good market for armoured cars.

The world is a small place. Because, there is a civil war in Spain, Canadians are paying more for Australian fruit and nuts.

The Manitoba censors have evidently profited by the fuss in Ontario over the film "Green Pastures." They have passed the picture without any hesitation.

Ex-Governor Al. Smith is to climb on board the Landon band-wagon but it is to be imagined the Happy Warrior will have a difficult time looking happy on top of that vehicle.

Coroners' juries continue to find no one to blame for fatal traffic accidents. Although in many cases it must take a lot of blinking at the evidence to make such a verdict possible.

Bertie township will not grant relief to persons who frequent beverage rooms. It used to be thought that frequenting such places was the surest way to get on the relief list.

A Connecticut man has driven 500,000 miles without a traffic law charge against him or an accident. The first plank in his program of driving is "Take no chances." It would be difficult to locate a better one.

Sudbury reports a mystery in the case of an unknown woman who walked into the police station and dropped into a sleep which kept up for hours. We have heard nothing of any Belleville woman being missing.

A fifteen-year-old London, Ont., boy has been told that he cannot make any more solo airplane flights until he is two years older. He probably went right up in the air when he heard that order.

While police were searching for him and the Don river was being dragged a three-year-old Toronto boy was enjoying himself looking at the animals in the Riverdale Zoo. He is probably wondering why folk did not think of looking for him there in the first place.

Orillia has gone right ahead with its by-law to license slot machines. The measure should contain a clause making the municipality responsible for paying half the fines should the owners be prosecuted by the provincial authorities.

The United States is shortly to move more than ten million dollars in gold to a new strong box. They should put it on exhibition en route for everybody would be willing to pay a handsome admission price to get a look at that much wealth.

If the Ethiopians had run as fast as those negro athletes in the Olympic games, Mussolini's army would have had a hard time catching up with them.

Treasury.

Deep in my soul there lies a quiet pool
Whose mirrored surface shows the pictured trace
Of lovely things my senses have enjoyed:
Sunshine through leaves; cloud shadows on a hill;
A crescent moon suspended from a star;
The phosphorescent fringe of silver light
On a black wave; azaleas' fragrant bloom;
The twisted storm-scarred fir that crowns the cliff.

Each bit of loveliness that I have found
Is safely treasured there against the hour
My heart cries out, imploring for relief
From the dull monotone of every-day.
It's then I turn to that bright pool and see
Life's beauty garnered for my treasury.

What Will Come After Aberhart?

(From The Montreal Star)

ONE danger of Social Credit in Alberta has always been the risk of grave disillusion. The movement was born of desperation. At various times since the World War, even before the World Depression, the Western farmer had been through very hard times. And his suffering since 1930, with ruinously low prices succeeded by poor crops, have been indeed hard to bear. From the Lake of the Woods to the Rockies, the supreme topics have long been mortgages and the price of wheat. Orthodox finance, in the face of crop failure and a world depression, could offer the stricken West no such short cut to paradise as Aberhart peddled.

Aberhart spoke to men so battered by circumstances that they were in a mood to try anything once, and to women who could count upon their fingers and toes the number of dollar bills that had passed their way for housekeeping within a twelvemonth. He offered them "easy money" and a political creed that was deeply tinged with the religious spirit both in its origin and its methods. Social Credit became a prairie fire. Mr. Aberhart was swept into office last August, not least by the women's vote.

The Social Credit Government has now been in power nearly a year. Today, it is moving towards the attempt to inaugurate Social Credit proper. As an interim move, "prosperity certificates" are now being issued requiring stamps to be affixed over the course of two years to the value of $1.04 for every dollar upon the face of the certificate.

The stamps, be it noted, must be bought with "real money," that is, Canadian currency. Not a bad take for the Government in return for $1.00 worth of "credit" and the cost of printing. But it at once becomes evident that a differential is likely to develop between this "credit" and Canadian money. Despite extraordinary pains to prevent it, many hard-headed Albertans will naturally wish to change their "credit dollars" into real money whenver they can. We are thus likely to see a "foreign exchange" market appearing, perhaps sub rosa, in Alberta. The Government itself lent much colour to the idea of a differential when it offered the City of Calgary $85,000 of scrip in return for giving up its $70,000 claim for Provincial and Dominion relief grants. Even at that, it was too high a rate of exchange, and Calgary demurred.

Much the same situation will prevail if the complicated system of "basic dividends" is carried out, as intended, this fall. Alberta "credit instruments" (since they are carefully not called "money" in order to avoid the appearance of infringing upon the Dominion's sole prerogative of issuing currency) are likely to be at a heavy discount inside Alberta, let alone outside. The difficulties of doing trade with the other eight provinces will prove enormous for those who accept too large a proportion of their payments in Alberta "credit."

Meanwhile, the failure of the wheat crop and the burning up of the pasturage puts Alberta in a desperate plight. Aberhart would be bad enough without drought, grasshoppers and other misfortunes. A sad shock to his followers befell when Aberhart told them that, owing to low production, this year basic dividends would be small. The simpletons who voted for $25 a month were shocked to learn that manna from heaven depended upon so elementary a force as the climate. It is little wonder, then, that there are scisms in Social Credit, and even rumours that the Prophet Douglas may help the schismatics. But the rest of the country will not gloat over Aebrhart's discomforture. There is nobody more savage than a disillusioned fanatic and after Aberhart may come the deluge of disenchanted believers.

BEATS FOREST FIRE.

(Los Angeles Times)

THE recent electrical storms in central and northern California started more than sixty fires in timber and brush, but the damage was slight, due to the speed with which they were controlled.

State Forester M. B. Pratt says that California's protection program is twenty-five years ahead of schedule on the 30,000,000 acres of patrolled territory. Much of the credit for this belongs to the Civilian Conservation Corps. The greatest single project in California has been the building of the Ponderosa Way, a giant 150 to 200-foot firebreak from Shasta county on the north through the heart of the high Sierra down to Tulare county on the south ... a stretch of 687 miles.

Last year, eleven ranger stations, forty warehouses, twenty lookout towers, seventeen crew barracks and thirty auto bridges were completed. Some 937 miles of telephone wire were strung and 263 miles of roads were built. Also 485 miles of firebreaks were ribboned along the ridges and forty-one trails were laid out. In addition, the corps cleared 1,158 miles of roadside to cheat the match throwers.

THESE ARE THE FRUITS.

(Le Droit, Ottawa)

FOR some years the attention of our compatriots has been drawn toward the economic problem. The Quebec uproar is nothing more than a general disquiet, caused by an upset economic situation, which displays the natural masters of the province dominated by certain rich and unscrupulous individuals. It will be said that scandals have given additional reason to the public to keep a better eye on affairs, but these accidents or these incidents, familiar moreover to other provinces which hide their faces, are only natural results. When all money is held in a few hands it is prudent for those who hold it to assure its permanence by corrupting the common people. But this is a song well known and sung with many verses on the other side of the Ottawa.

THE IRONY OF THE DROUGHT

—Bishop in The St. Louis Star-Times.

The Summer Cottagers

(From the Brockville Recorder and Times.)

IN their efforts to attract the business of transient tourists, various communities depending upon the summer trade for a good share of their prosperity seem to forget that something of even greater value to them is the business which comes from the season-long summer residents, the campers and cottagers who are not here merely overnight but for weeks on end and who probaly leave a good deal more money in the shops than the cross-country tourists who are here to-day and gone to-morrow.

This particular section of the country is fortunate in possessing scenic and recreational resources which not only attract the transient tourist trade but which have a marked appeal for the campers and the cottagers. In the aggregate they must reach a total of several thousands each summer and the amount of money which they leave with town and village merchants day after day can scarcely be reckoned. For many a merchant, indeed, it means the difference between loss and profit. Nor is this business confined to the day to day requirements of these people. Very many of them, especially those who normally reside in the United States, take back with them when they leave Canada a considerable quantity of goods which they can obtain here more reasonably than in their own country. Articles of clothing, of bedding, of china and of many other classes leave local establsments in heavy volume at the close of the summer holidays to the orders of campers and cottagers who are returning to their homes.

While it is thus good business to encourage the transient tourist trade, it is probably even better business to encourage the campers and the cottagers who stay for weeks instead of hours and who during that time are dependent upon the shops of the nearest town or village for their necessities. When times are hard and cottages are unoccupied, the urban communities along the lakes and rivers of this country feel the effect. But when, as at the present time most of the cottages are occupied by people, with their families, who need things from day to day and obtain them from their nearest town, then business booms.

Advertising the upper St. Lawrence and the Rideau Lakes as good places to see its excellent publicity; but advertising them as areas which make ideal places for camping and summer residence is very much better.

As Seen From a Soo Window

(From the Sault Ste. Marie Star.)

A GLANCE out the office window these days at the costumes some of the young girls and some not so young are wearing brings forcefully to mind those lines of Rudyard Kipling's about Gunga Din:

The uniform 'e wore
Was nothin' much before
An' rather less than 'arf o' that behind.

Not that anyone will blame the girls in view of the very warm weather we have been having although the young men would probably be chased to the hoosegow if they did likewise.

As a matter of fact, a great many interesting things can be seen from a Queen Street window these days. Men with straw hats, caps or without head covering. Women with wide hats or small hats or with no hats. But, strangely enough, very rarely a parasol—though only a few years ago parasols were almost standard equipment.

Motor cars of the latest model and motor cars of ancient vintage. Even a few horses and bicycles.

A little pup being carried on its master's shoulder and another, scarcely able to walk, being watched carefully by its mistress.

A baby robin, tired out with unaccustomed flying, sitting on a second storey ledge and making plaintive appeals for assistance from its mother.

Boats on the river and coal unloading bridges creaking.

Sparrows squatting in the shadow of chimneys and electric light poles to get away from the sun for a minute.

Tourists stopping a policeman, apparently to ask the way to Crystal Falls or the Wolf Pack.

Ah, such a life, such a life as one leads at a Sault window!

A New High Recorded.

(From Business Week.)

BUSINESS accounting for the first half of 1936 is about completed. The result even surpasses the optimistic predictions of this page before the period began. Business Week's Index of General Activity has made a new high record for a five-year period. This is particularly significant because the index was not tampered with to avoid the gloom of depression depths and delayed recovery.

It is an old story that electrical output is at an all-time peak. Steel production is up a third and defies the tradition of a summer slump. Construction showed an increase of 78% in the first half and almost every basic index of industry tells a similar story.

It is more important perhaps that figures showing sales of semi-luxury goods reflect widespread optimism and the approach of prosperity. Sales of passenger cars are up 27%, refrigerators 30%, washing machines 24%, and oil burners 38%.

It is significant also that while this remarkable increase in business activity was taking place, wholesale prices were practically unchanged and the cost of living was up but 3%. On the other hand, those prices which indicate public appraisal of future prospects made exceptional advances, as is illustrated by an increase of 56% in the price of stocks.

Almost every favorable factor been more effective as a constructive influence than was expected at the beginning of the year, while the unfavorable influences easily foreseeable have lost some of their potency. The election is far less of a deterrent than anticipated despite the uncertainty of the outcome. Labor agitation in the steel and other mass industries is a postponed threat. Although few expected foreign conditions to be any more chaotic than they are, foreign trade has improved markedly. The drought was of course not foreseen. Its damage will be much less than its promise three weeks ago, and farm income, which showed an increase of 11% for the first six months, probably will exceed 1935 figures for the year on a cash basis.

All of this has been accomplished under the natural pressure of recovery forces that are almost irresistible. It has been accomplished despite the fact that there has been an almost complete absence of the launching of new enterprises and little utilization of the vast store of credit awaiting profitable employment.

While confidence for the long pull is still lacking, assurance as to the immediate future is almost universal. Buyers for retail stores are trooping into New York and Chicago in greater numbers than at any time in the last seven years, and merchants expect the best fall retail trade since 1929. The largest increase in this buying is in goods that border on the luxury classification. For the first time in years we are definitely beginning to satisfy the pent-up wants of a long depression.

Even the American Federation of Labor concedes that this will be the best year since 1930 and may equal or exceed that record. What will happen when confidence in the far future is sufficiently restored to encourage idle funds to go to work in a natural way is anybody's guess.

HAD EVERYTHING ELSE.

(Belleville Ontario-Intelligencer)

A CITY family had been motoring in the country all one Sunday. They had filled all available space in the car with wild flowers, tree branches and other exotics.

Being uncertain which road to take, they stopped a farmer and inquired: "Should we take this road back to the city?"

"You might as well while you're at it," replied the farmer, "seeing as how you've got all if you had about everything else we have got."

One hundred and sixty of the visiting Knights Templar visited St. John's church last evening and were addressed by Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave.

NO ONE TO PICK THEM.

(Mail and Empire)

TO anyone who has known the scarcity of small fruits round Toronto during the last few weeks, the sight that met us recently as we meandered in a car along many a mile of winding Muskoka roads was a saddening one. Out past Huntsville, through Ravensclife, by signs that said "To Ilfracombe," and back by Golden City—a habitation that once was and is now a desolation of tumbling houses—and on through Lancelot and the wild scenery there, we saw plantation after plantation of wild raspeberries, hanging on the canes in rich abundance and no one bothering to pick them. Apart from the waste of those vitamines that Nature has provided free for the taking, there was the loss of dollars and dollers. Brought in raw, there were markets everywhere among the stray tourists and the Summer colonists, Made into jam there was a fine harvest for the thrifty, for there is no one that does not grasp eagerly for the chance of getting wild raspberry preserve. There is something greatly wrong with the point of view when people who are none too well off, even in Summer, and are likely to be faced with severe want when Winter comes, do not do their best to conserve that which comes to them without cost. Their forbears garnered such wild fruits as there were and there was no talk of "relief" fifty years ago. They also cultivated land that to-day lies idle. Abandoned acres border many a Muskoka by-road, while those who left them starve in a city slum.

BRITAIN'S WARS.

(Montreal Star)

WHEN the time comes, Canada will decide where her duty lies in war. And she will decide right, Mr. Woodsworth's careless and haphazard allegation that "most British wars, in the light of history, could not be justified" is only the habitual mental attitude of theorists who set up in the shelter of free institutions, preserved for us by these very wars, certain high moral standards and then condemn any act of the past which does not fit wholly into these blue prints of perfection. The wars of Clive were not "justified" by the moral standards of the Sewing Circles, but they made the British Empire "the greatest instrument for good, under God, that has ever existed."

IF AND WHEN.

(Edmonton Bulletin)

WITH the basic divided in effect there will be no need for Peace River farmers to get an outlet to the coast for their crops. Each will be able to live in peace and contentment under his own vine and fig tree, merely making a monthly visit to the nearest State Credit House to secure the fruits of his cultural heritage.

A Bit of Nonsense

Political Deception

Jim—Politics mean nothing to me. I'm going to vote for that fellow because I like him.

Hen—I understood you were going to vote for him because he gave you $10.

Jim—Wouldn't you like a man who gave you $10.

Not Bitten

Letter from Dentist—"Dear Madam—Unless the denture you had from me is paid for without delay, I shall be obliged to insert the following advertisement in the local papers: "Excellent set of false teeth for sale. To be seen at any time at Mrs. Smith's, 5 Dentone Terrace."

The teeth were paid for the same day.

Must Have Been Insured

Friend—"You have nerve, advertising a fire sale. "Where was the fire?"

Storekeeper—"Right here in the store. I fired two salesmen last week."

Cable Snaps Hurling Official Into River

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., Aug. 11. —(CP)—Thomas G. Barrington, assistant superintendent of Brunner Mond of Canada, Ltd., was directing the transfer of a wrecking vessel at the company dock yesterday when a cable snapped off a piece of iron pipe and knocked him into the Detroit River. THINK DROWNED WOMAN FROM DRUMMONDVILLE

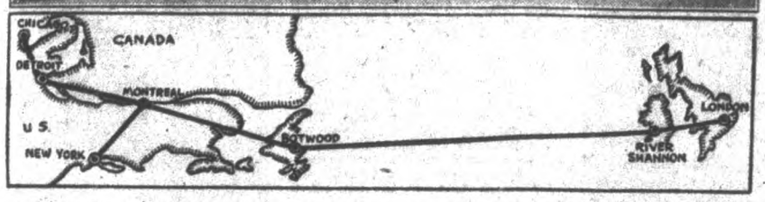
TORONTO, Aug. 10 (C.P.) — Police to-day turned their attention to Drummondville, Que., in an effort to identify a woman who jumped or fell from the steamship Port Dalhousie, midway between Port Dalhousie and Toronto yesterday, and drowned. They believed she might have come from that district.

The woman, between 35 and 40 years old, and decided French in appearance, had not been in the water six minutes before a lifeboat crew from the Port Dalhousie picked her up. She failed to revive, however, after two hours' artificial respiration had been carried out.

In her purse was $5.10, a return ticket to Montreal, and a notebook with several pages torn out. Police said they though the tearing out of the sheets was an attempt by her to frustrate identification

To Span Atlantic In Passenger Flights



Although test flights may not be possible this year, a start has already been made in the giant scheme of Great Britain, Canada, and the Irish Free State to join with the United States in a trans-Atlantic airplane service for passengers and mail. Imperial Airways' plane Canopus, (above) is the first of the flying boats which will test the route. Driven by four engines developing a total of nearly 3,000 horsepower it is capable of a speed of 200 miles per hour carrying crew, passengers, fuel and a mail load of three tons. No decision about the Canadian airport will be made until after the experimental flights, but Canada is said to be considering Saint John, Moncton, Shediac and Montreal. The map above indicates the Atlantic hop to be made between the River Shannon in Ireland to Gander Lake, Botwood, Newfoundland. The service would then go on to the Canadian port and branch out from there to United States points.

FUGITIVE 11 YEARS FINALLY CAPTURED

Wainfleet Man Thought He Could Help His Hungry Children—Two Years Extra

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 10. —(CP)—A man who by his own admission thought he could help his hungry children if he escaped from jail appeared in police court to-day and pleaded guilty.

He was John Dabold, charged with escaping from jail here in 1925. On his appearance this morning before Magistrate J. H. Campbell he was remanded. Later he decided to plead guilty and was taken before the magistrate immediately.

"Yes, I escaped from jail," said Dabold, on his earlier appearance before the magistrate. "My children were on Pelham road with nothing to eat, and I thought I could help them if I got out."

In 1925 he was sentenced to five years at Kingston Penitentiary on a serious charge concerning a young girl. He escaped before he could be removed from jail at St. Catharines.

The magistrate sentenced him to two years. He will serve the earlier five-year sentence first and then the two-year term received to-day.

Only Canadian Title Winner At Olympics Received No Official Financial Assistance

OTTAWA, Aug. 10 (CP.)—Frank Amyot of Ottawa, only Canadian who has won a title at the Berlin Olympics so far, made the long trip without receiving a dime from the Olympic Committee. If it had not been for friends here in Ottawa and a small contribution from the Canadian Canoe Association, Amyot would hot have been in Berlin to win the canoe singles.

The Britannia Boating Club, Amyot's club, raised $235 for him. The Canadian Canoe Association added $100. The Olympic Committee made its contribution to Toronto paddlers and paid nothing to the canoe men from Ottawa and Gananoque, Ont., who are in the northern division of the association.

One of his friends here said today Amyot before leaving Canada was asked to pay $8 for his Olympic uniform which he stoutly refused to pay.

SEEK LIGHT, POWER FOR SEELEY'S BAY

Lyon Reveals British Govt's Permission Needed Before Lines Cross Rideau Canal

TORONTO, Aug. 10. — (CP). — Back at his desk to-day after taking part in the Vimy pilgrimage, T. Stewart Lyon, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said the commission was investigating the power situation at Seeley's Bay, near Gananoque.

The village will be without electric light service until the British Government gives the Power Commission permission to cross the Rideau Canal.

"I'm looking into it," said Mr. Lyon. "We're going to see that Seeley's Bay doesn't stay dark too long."

A new line has been constructed from Battersea, 10 miles distant, and many residents have wired their homes in anticipation of receiving power.

When the British Government turned over the Rideau Canal to Canada more than 100 years ago it was stipulated permission of that Government had to be obtained before certain undertakings, such as power lines, could be installed across the canal.

Russian Fliers' Next Move Proves Mystery

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 11.—(AP). —The whereabouts and activities of two famed Russian fliers were clothed in silence to-day after their monoplane had been forced down by adverse weather conditions on the Northern British Columbia coast.

The failure of Sigismund Lecanevsky and Victor Levchenko —on a 10,000 mile flight from California to Moscow— to report or answer wireless calls after they landed at Belle Bella, B.C., Saturday afternoon, puzzled N. A. Sokoloff, their representative here. He said probably they went ashore from their pontoon-equipped plane to await better weather and did not hear the calls.

HYDRO REFUND OF $295.00 IS GIVEN HASTINGS

Village Council Studies Estimates And Possible Rate For Year

CUT LIGHTING COSTS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Aug. 10.—A refund of $295.00 from the Hydro Electric Commission and a reduction from $18.00 a year to $16.00 on 100 watt lights and from $23.00 to $20.00 on 200 watt lights to date back to January 1st was reported by Reeve H. G. Fairman at the regular meeting of the council held on Friday.

The session was one of the longest of the year, the council checking over figures in preparation for fixing the tax rate at the next meeting.

The county rate for 1936 will be 14½ mills, an increase of 1 mill and a half. Hastings County rate is up from $3,445.00 in 1935 to $3,763.53 for 1936.

Separate school supporters will pay 11 mills, an increase of one mill, on an assessment of $78,140.15, included in this is 26.729 per cent of the Breithaupt Leather Co. assessment of $35,000 for school purposes.

Eight Mill School Rate

The public school has asked for 8 mills, a reduction of one from 1935. The expenses were listed as follows: salaries, $2,000.00; caretaker, $162.00; secretary, $15.00; auditors $4.00; rebate of Percy taxes, $6.55; continuation expenses, $25.00; fuel, $78.00; town hall, $6.00; a total of $2,456.55. Receipts: Grants expected, $515; agriculture, $9.00; non-resident pupils, $30.00; a total of $554.00. Eight mills of the following would meet their requirements, Hastings, $214.202.13, Asphodel Township, $17.054.00, Percy Township, $6.470.00. The Breithaupt Leather Co. portion to Public schools is 73.271 per cent.

The Bank of Toronto fixed its portion of taxes to the Separate school at .305 of 1%. The Bell Telephone Co., Royal Bank and Imperial Oil did not fix any percentage.

Mill for Relief

With the reduction in street lighting rates, 4 mills will be sufficient, a drop of 1 mill. The debenture rate of 10 mills will be the same, but the Reeve reported a mill would have to be levied this year for relief. The general rate was not fixed Friday night, prospects are that it will be close to the 1935 rate. Present indications point to Public school supporters paying the same, with Separate school a mill up.

The petition of Councillor Perrault's to have the colored lights removed off Front street, warmed the other members of the council. Up until recently, these lights have not cost the village of Hastings anything, but the council has recently been notified that they will now be charged a flat rate of $18.00 a month from July 1st. This means that for three months the lights will cost $54.00, taking the total village assessment it amounts to 10c a year for each home owner.

Kelley-Lynch moved that no action be taken in regard to having the colored lights removed from Front street, as the understanding is that a number of signers on the petition did not have it fully explained.

Councillor Perrault inquired as to the amount of business assessment there was on Front street where the lights are. The amount is $6,513.00.

The following accounts were read, Geo. Lynch, $7.00; W. Boyle, $8.33; W. Wellman, $18; C.N.R., wig-wag, $1.18; Bell Telephone, town hall $3.11, fire chief, $2.05; constable, $2.05 Parker's Florist (memorial) $8.15; T. J. Crowley, (memorial) $1.00; T. J. Crowley, $3.00; S. Hatherly, $8.50; R. Johnson, $4.00; D. Noonan, $8.25; W. Dainard, $6.90; Hastings Star, $2.35; E. Brinklow, $3.00; H. M. Fowlds and Son, $10.80; Kirch Manufacturing Co., $9.17; Nicholls Hospital, $28.00; Toronto Hospital Consumotives, $45.00; H. Kelley, $1.00; W. Dodd, $1.00; J. West, $1.00.

Kelley-Dodd that the accounts as read be paid in the usual way.

Dodd-Lynch That the whole council meet the Hydro service man at Fowlds' office on Monday night and discuss the colored lights for the corner of Bridge and Water streets.

Ferrault-Dodd That the clerk write the superintendant of the C. N. R. at Lindsay in regard to condition of their crossing on the county road through the village.

Perrault-Lynch That J. Cruickshanks be rebated $1.00 on dog tax.

Tax collector, C. R. Fowlds reported $1,367.95 of 1935 taxes still out. He was instructed to get right after it and report at another meeting to be called in the near future.

Hauls Motor Driven Combination Sawing And Chopping Machine With Oxen

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., Aug. 10 —(CP). — A novel portable woodsawing and chopping machine is easing the economic stress caused by the drought for its inventor, Andy Goodhope, at Piapot, 40 miles east of here.

On an old motor-car chassis he fitted a chopping mill operated by the car engine and on a trailer he placed equipment for sawing wood which derives its power from the same source.

The odd rig can move under its own power, but Mr. Goodhope hauls it around with a team of oxen for the sake of economy.

The farmer-mechanic has motorized his farm. He has a mill for sawing lumber, another for grinding rye and whole wheat flour.

TOURIST SUFFERS LOSS OF MOTOR HAS TO PAY DUTY

Lakewood, Ohio, Man Has Motor Stolen While At Mud Lake Resort

HAD MOTOR IN BOND

Dr. W. E. Guerrier of Detroit is convinced of the truth in the old saying, "It never rains but it pours."

Last week with a companion, George M. Hawthorne of Lakewood, Ohio, he entered Canada for a vacation stay at the lodge operated by Peter Nichols on Mud Lake, ten miles north of Peterborough. He brought with him a $180 outboard motor and secured a permit from the Canadian customs officers at Windsor in order to avoid paying duty on the motor conditional on the return of the motor to the United States on his own return.

On Wednesday night last week the motor was stolen from Mr. Nichol's boathouse. On his way back home now, Dr. Guerrier is faced with the necessity of paying the duty on the motor which he no longer has when he reports again to the Windsor customs. The bill will likely be in the vicinity of $75.

Inquiries made here yesterday indicate it is not likely anything can be done about the tourist's unusual plight. Stating that the matter was outside the jurisdiction of the Peterborough customs port, Collector W. M. Lang gave the opinion the Windsor officials will be forced to insist on payment of the duty. The motor has been brought into Canada, and, unless it is returned to the United States, the person who brought it in will be expected to pay the duty according to the regulations, Mr. Lang said.

J. J. Duffus, M.P., commented on the case as most unfortunate, but was of the opinion little could be done to aid Dr. Guerrier unless the police can recover the motor.

The theft is the second of that nature perpetrated at Mr. Nichols' boathouse recently. A month ago thieves broke in and stole an outboard motor during the night. Suspects are being watched carefully by Provincial Police.

NOT A DRY YEAR.

Has 1936 been such a dry year after all? Figures made available by A. O. Phillips, official weather observer, indicate 1936 was up to June, ahead of the average year in the matter of rainfall. A total of 18.47 inches of rain fell up to the end of June this year as compared with an average of 15.56 inches over the thirty-five preceding years. It is likely, however, that the dryness of July this year will bring 1936 below the average.

A steam shovel and a half dozen trucks are being operated, cutting off the small hills and raising depressions in the road over a distance of a mile.

On August 26, the outing will be repeated for the old folks from the House of Providence.

Two of the most dangerous curves on the Lakefield-Young's Point road are being removed in accordance with contracts recently let by the Department of Highways. An entire hill is being removed two miles south of Young's Point in order that a right-angle curve on a sharp incline may be done away with. The goose-neck near the school house where the road to McCracken's Landing branches off is being ironed by the construction of a new section of road straight across the angle.

Suggestions may be sent to Mr. Dorris at the Chamber of Commerce here.

CROLL DISSOLVES WINDSOR FINANCE GOVERNING BODY

Purpose Completed Says Minister—Difficult And Thankless Task

AMALGAMATION IN FORCE

TORONTO, Aug. 10 (C.P.) — Declaring its chief purpose refinancing the new City of Windsor completed, Hon David Croll, Ontario Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs, to-day announced the dissolution of the Windsor Finance Commission, effective Aug. 8.

At the same time the minister said the Windsor Amalgamation Act and the City of Windsor Act were proclaimed to take effect the same date.

The plan to refinance Greater Windsor—created by an act of the Ontario Legislature in 1935 which merged Windsor, Walkerville, East Windsor and Sandwich—was accomplished June 17, Mr. Croll said, when the commission submitted the plan to the Ontario Municipal Board. It will be considered about September 22.

"They have done a difficult and thankless task," the minister said of the commission, "and they leave their duties with the high respect of the citizens and the sincere thanks of myself and colleagues for their excellent work."

After paying tribute to their work, Mr. Croll said amalgamation now was an accomplished fact, and had been established on a basis which should render the work of the successors to the commission comparatively easy.

Unified Administration

"They have unified the whole administration system of the new city, analyzed its financial situation, adopted standards for current expenditures, improved tax revenues, and formulated a basis from which some permanent solution of the capital indebtedness of the area can be achieved."

Windsor citizens owed a debt of gratitude to the commissioners, Mr. Croll said, and people of other parts of Ontario also awed this debt because the finance commisison showed communities could be amalgamated under wide guidance in a manner which overcame local prejudice.

The city council will continue in its present form, mayor and aldermen, until 1937. Then it will be replaced by a council composed of the mayor, four controllers and ten aldermen with the Department of Municipal Affairs exercising supervision until refinancing has been completed.

YUGOSLAV CITIZENS HAIL KING EDWARD

Britain's Monarch Arrives At Libenik And Boards Yacht For Month's Cruise

SIBENIK, Yugoslavia, Auf. 10.—(AP).—Dalmatia arose with the sun to-day to greet King Edward VIII en route to a vacation cruise in the Adriatic.

His Majesty was welcomed to Yugoslavia by Prince Regent Paul. At Zagreb, where the train with his two cars attached paused for 15 minutes, great crowds cheered the King.

Yugoslav papers devoted whole pages to the King and preparations for receiving him. The welcoming plans included a demonstration of native singing and dancing by peasants in colorful costumes.

King Edward made the trip from Calsburg, Austria, where he spent part of yesterday. The King travelled incognito as the Duke of Lancaster. The boarded the yacht Nahlin shortly after his arrival.

The King arrived at Sibenik Harbor earlier than expected and was greeted by the Municipal Commandant and the captain of the British destroyer Grafton. The British destroyer Glowworm was also in the harbor, the two vessels have been assigned to guard the Royal yacht during the cruise.

On board the Nahlin, King Edward was welcomed by Captain Dayle. The boad had been prepared to receive the King since 5.30 a.m.

Scollard Barn Is Hit By Lightning

"We were sitting in the kitchen looking out of the window, when we heard a terrific crash of thunder and saw the barn enveloped in a blue flame", declared a member of the family describing minor damage to the foundation of the barn on the farm of Frank Scollard of Douro Township, during the height of the electrical storm that passed over Peterborough Monday morning.

Miss Scollard stated the lightning coursed down the arrester rods but took a chunk of cement out of the foundation just above the ground level. Damage which was slight was on the south side of the barn about half a foot from the point at which one of the lightning rods enters the ground. There was a quantity of livestock in the barn at the time of the incident, but while frightened by the thunder and the vivid lightning, were not injured.

Croll and Dionne Narrow Feud of 2 Years' Standing

Minister Calls And Quints' Father Agrees Not To Put Gas Pumps Near Hospital

SELLING GOV'T MORE LAND

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 10. — (CP). — Negotiations between the Ontario Government and Oliva Dionne, famous because he is the father of quintuplets, will likely transpire more amicably in the future. A breach of more than two years standing has been narrowed.

A 20-minute conversation between Oliva and Hon. David A. Croll, Welfare Minister, at Dionne's quintland souvenir shop Saturday brought quiet to apparently troubled waters. Happy that he is finally making money, thanks to co-operation of the Government, the French-Canadian father was glad to welcome Mr. Croll on his impromptu visit.

Busy autographing photographs of himself for tourists when the Minister called on him, Dionne for the first time saw some things in the same light as the Government. Mr. Croll, who sponsored the contentious bill which made the quints wards of the King until 18 years of age, persuaded Oliva it was not in his daughters' interests to install gasoline pumps in front of his booth.

Agrees to Sell Land

So agreeable was Oliva to suggestions of the Minister he agreed to negotiate with the Government for the sale of more of his land near the hospital-home of his little daughters. It has not been announced what the Government plan to use the added land for when it is acquired, but it was learned trees would be planted and grass sown.

"Goodbye, Mr. Croll, and thank you," said Dionne, apparently having forgotten his feud with the Government over the care and guardianship of his babies. Then he continued to autograph his photographs as tourists swarmed into the stand.

CABIN CRUISER BADLY DAMAGED

Strayed Off Channel And Ran On Shoal Near Mount Julian

Straying off the channel into Upper Stoney Lake while bound southwaid Saturday afternoon, a large cabin cruiser owned by Alexander Stern of Redbank, N.J., was seriously damaged when it ran on a shoal near Mount Julian. The luxurious cruiser managed to free itself with its own power and continued on slowly to Peterborough where repairs were made Sunday.

Mr. Stern with his wife and son bound to their home in New Jersey after a tour up through the Great Lakes and down the canal from Georgian Bay. Their pilot was unfamiliar with Stoney Lake Water and proceeding down the Burleigh channel, failed to take the sharp turn in the channel around Headlands. The shoal was struck in the rock strewn waters a half mile to the north.

The keel and skeg was damaged and one of the two propellors was put out of commission. The 38-foot boat made its way to Peterborough using only one of powerful twin motor. Repairs were made after it had been dry-docked here Sunday morning and it continued on its cruise to Lake Ontario and the Erie Canal later in the day.

The Rambling REPORTERS

THE WORRIED SQUIRREL.

The rainfall of this morning played havoc with the housekeeping arrangements of one of the black squirrels that lives on McDonnel street. It appeared in a fearful hurry about nine o'clock this morning, and, disdaining the offer of a choice bit of cake with the look of one engaged in more important matters, scurried up the trunk of an elm tree that spreads its branches in a garden in the vicinity. Down it came, a moment later, with a tiny wet black bundle in its mouth, a young squirrel that it hid carefully under a large bush. And it repeated the hasty transfer of its babies until the entire family was in less moist quarters—C.L.M.

CANOE UPSETS.

A recent incident which almost culminated in a tragedy is reported to-day. Two women and a boy whose names were obtained, were paddling in a canoe with a dog in Clear Lake, a short distance off Sandy Point, when the canoe upset. Unable to swim, the women kept their heads above water by holding to the upturned craft, the boy assisting them. Two persons on shore, Mrs. Charles Stanton and Mrs. Robertson, both of Peterborough, noticed their predicament and ran to their assistance. No boat was available so they rolled a log into the water and, wading out, shoved the log within reach of the non-swimmers. All three gained gained the shore safely, but in an exhausted condition.—A.B.B.

QUEBEC EXPECTS 200 CANDIDATES WILL FYLE PAPERS

Official Nominations Take Place Today In 87 Of 90 Seats

MAJORITY STRAIGHT DUEL

QUEBEC, Aug. 10.—(CP).—This is nomination day in Quebec and aspirants for election next Monday to the Provincial Legislature must fyle their official nomination papers and a $200 deposit with the returning officer of their constituency by two p.m. E.D.T.

It was expected there would be about 200 candidates for the Legislative Assembly's 90 seats. Nominations in three counties, Gaspe South, Charlevoix-Saguenay and Magdalen Islands, were held in advance last week. In each case a straight two-party fight developed between Liberal Government candidates and supporters of Maurice Duplessis and his Union Nationale, coalition of Conservatives and former Liberals.

Majority of the 87 remaining seats for which nominations will be held to-day anticipated a straight duel between the Union Nationale and the Liberal nominess, but three other parties had announced candidates in Montreal seats.

Jean Peron was probable Labor candidate in Montreal-Mercier. Jack Cupello was selected at a Co-operative Commonwealth Federation meeting to run in Montreal-Verdun. Communists have announced they would enter Evariste Dube in Montreal-St. James and Fred Rose in Montreal-St. Louise.

Several Lone Wolves Quit

In a few scattered counties advance indications were the Liberal and Union Nationale candidates might face independent Union Nationale men or independent Liberals without official sanction, but several such lone wolves have aircady withdrawn from the lists.

Traditionally, candidates once the official business of nominations is over, address their constituents at meetings just after close of nominations and many such gatherings were being organized to-day.

It was a busy week-end for Premier Godbout and Maurice Duplessis, the two leaders in the campaign. The farmer-Premier addressed a meeting Saturday in his own L'Islet County village of Ste. Pamphile and then moved on to a meeting yesterday at Louiseville, near Three Rivers.

The Union Nationale chieftain, who speaks in Quebec to-night, spoke Saturday at St. Hyacinthe, and held two meetings yesterday, one at St. Eustache, just north of Montreal, and one a few miles distant at St. Jerome, last night.

"The greatest service we can render the Federal Liberals is to oust for them those who have soiled the Liberal flag in the province of Quebec," declared Mr. Duplessis at St. Hyacinthe.

At Ste. Eustache he warned the public accounts committee's inquiry of the last Legislature had "not yet shown a fraction of one-tenth of one per cent. of what is to come.

With the Boy Scouts

Eleven boys of the 10th Peterborough (St. James') Troop, under Scouter S. Leggett spent the week-end under canvas on the banks of the Trent River. All attended divine service at Bethel. Commissioner J. T. Hornsby paid the camp a visit.

The Rover Moot at Niagara-on-the-Lake was a great success. Next year the Moot is to be held at Muskoka.

Akela Bill Bennett of London and Akelas Lily Bull and Pete Dominick were visitors to St. John's Cub Pack Friday evening. Akela Bennett entertained the boys, who greeted him with the grand howl.

District Cub Commissioner Lew Grant is on vacation. He intends to visit Dominion Scout headquarters at Ottawa. The commissioner says there is a busy program ahead of all packs during the coming season. It is announced that former Cub Commissioner Albert Hope is donating a memorial to the late Akela "Bill" Coleman.

Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands has expressed her willingness to become patroness of the Fifth Boy Scout World Jamboree, to be held at Vogelensang near Bloemendaal, Holland, in August next.

Child Is Thrown Against Windshield

Returning from Port Hope around eight o'clock Sunday evening, Isaac N. Elliott, 575 Gilchrist street, had his automobile badly damaged in collision with a car proceeding in the opposite direction and driven by C. Grant, 5 Cedar avenue, Toronto. The collision, which occurred at Rossmount on highway 28, is alleged to have been caused when a car driven by Keith Russell, Rosemary road, Forest Hill, in a southerly direction cut-in on the Grant car. Mr. Elliott's 11-months-old grandson, in his mother's arms in the front seat of the car, struck his head on the windshield as a result of the impact, but inquiry revealed the child was not seriously hurt. He was conveyed to Peterborough by a passing motorist suffering from minor cuts and bruises. An estimated sixty dollars damage was inflicted on the Elliott car, while the Grant car suffered damage assessed at half that amount.

Two Fined For Taking Bass Under 10 Inches

For taking small-mouthed black bass under the ten-inch length permitted by law Garnet Brown, R.R. 6, Peterborough, and Elmer O'Neill, of Hilliard street, were on Monday fined $10 and $2.50 costs each on pleading guilty to the charges before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. Charges laid on the information of Inspector Lyons of the Game and Fisheries Department alleged the offences were committed in Burleigh Township on July 19 last.

FIRE BUG BLAMED FOR BAD BUSH FIRE NORTH OF TWEED

Small Flare Up In Methuen Burned Over Ten Acres On Week-End

RAIN ONLY SPOTTY

All was quiet to-day in the Trent District of the Ontario Forestry Department, District Forester A. W. Crosbie at Tweed reported. The blue haze which hangs over the Peterborough district is from the bush fires which continue in the Georgian Bay area, he said.

A small fire flared up in Methuen township over the week-end but was controlled by four men and one ranger. Ten acres were burned over by the blaze. The glow in the sky was to be seen as far south as Stoney Lake.

Several fires are raging in Kaladar township north-east of Tweed and outside the local district, Forester Crosbie said. They are being fought by settlers but were still out of control this morning. A saw mill in the township is threatened and a valuable stand of timber may go if the blazes are not checked immediately.

Thought Incendiary.

Police are continuing investigations in the Tweed area in the belief that recent fires there have been of incendiary origin, but no arrests have been made.

The rain which came to the district early this morning was only spotty in its distribution. While the immediate area around Peterborough was more favored, with .18 of an inch, Tweed received only .07 inches of rain. The northern portion of Peterborough county received onlyi a faint sprinkling overnight.

Unless a substantial rain comes soon, further and more serious forest blazes in the district are feared, Forester Crosbie said. The woods are exceedingly dry and dangerously inflammable. He repeated his request for the utmost co-operation on the part of the general public in guarding against the menace of cigarette butts, matches and neglected camp fires.

Petes Drop Sixth Straight Central Loop Tilt

Suffer A 7-5 Reverse At Hands of GM-Men In Oshawa Saturday

Gain Early Lead Off Wills But Unable To Hold It Against Biddle

CALLADINE PITCHES

The Petes dropped their sixth straight C.O.B.I. contest Saturday when they absorbed a 7-5 defeat at the hands of the GM-men in Oshawa. A good crowd saw an exciting game with the visitors jumping on Lefty Wills hard the first two frames to pile up a 5-0 lead but throwing it away in the third and then being handcuffed by Lefty Biddle the rest of the struggle. Each team had one big inning when solid hits coupled with sloppy fielding let in five runs. Oshawa added one each in the fifth and sixth to cop the nod.

Inability to hit Biddle's speedy southpaw slants, and erratic fielding, cost the Petes the verdict. They had a big early lead and had good hurling throughout but never looked like winners after the score was tied and the ex-Stratford forksider began twirling. The Johnston squad was shifted about considerably in a vain effort to hit a winning combination.

Calladine Good

Bill Calladine pitched fine ball for the losers, scattering eight hits in all but the third frame. He struck out seven, walked two and allowed but two earned runs throughout. Shaky support by his teammates who booted the ball at costly moments or permitted scratch hits proved too much. Wills started for Oshawa but was hit hard and had terrible backing while he lasted. He gave way to Biddle in the second with the count 5-0 for the Petes. Oshawa tightened up then behind Biddle's fine flinging, the latter fanning nine, walking one and being nicked for only three hits.

Covert led the locals at bat with a double and two singles in four. Burton broke his slump with a two-bagger and single in four tries. For Oshawa, Rowden was the main sticker with a triple and single in four, scoring two runs and driving in four more. Catches by Mathews and Whatley were the only real fielding feature.

Petes Score Early

The Petes got a run in the first when Kearns was safe on an error, advanced on a fielder's choice, took third on an out and raced in on Whatley's hit. They added four in the second. Covert singled and was sacrificed, scoring as Kearns was safe on a miscue. Starr also reached first on an error. He took second and Kearns scored on W. Calladine's hit, the latter and Starr then moving up a base on a bad throw-in from the outfield. Burton's double sent both home. The visitors did not threaten again except in the seventh when W. Calladine was out at the plate trying to score on Burton's single.

Oshawa got a runner to third in the first but he died there. In the third, they sewed up the score with five markers. With one out, a hit put Jubenville on and he took second on Miller's bingle. Both moved up as Mathews was safe on an error. Rowden's triple over right scored three, the latter then tallying on a miscue. Osborne was safe on an error, stole second, took third on the Petes' fourth error of that inning, and raced over the plate on Everett's scratch hit. They got one in the fifth when Rowden was safe on a boot, was sacrificed, stole third, and went home on Wallace's hit. One more counted in the sixth, Jubenville getting to first on an error, taking third on Mathews' single, and countering when Rowden hit to centre.

Local Rotarians Defeat Oshawa Junior Team

CAPTURE GAME HERE SATURDAY

To Keep In The Running For Junior Lakeshore Ball Honors

GEE CLARK PITCHES

Rotary Juniors staved off elimination on Saturday afternoon at Riverside when they handed the strong Oshawa outfit a 4-3 trimming. The Petes, striving hard for a win, went into the lead in the second inning by grabbing off a single tally. The General Motors gang came back to even the count at one-all in the fifth and then went ahead in the sixth when some loose fielding permitted them to score twice. The Rotarians got one back in the sixth and succeeded in tieing the count in the eighth. Then in the last of the ninth with the score knotted at three all the Petes pushed over the winning marker.

O'Toole started the inning by dropping a double over the right fielder's head and continued on to third when the second baseman made a wild throw past third base. Thornton, next up, went down swinging and then Clarke walked. Vitarelli then poked a long fly into centre field and O'Toole easily scored after the catch and put the Petes back in the running for junior honors.

Clark Goes Good.

Clark went the route on the mound for the winners and threw nice ball. He was tight in the pinches and put on the pressure with men on bases with the result that several times the GM-boys had men in scoring positions only to have Clark send the batter down in his tracks. He whiffed five and had excellent control throughout. McGarry was the losing pitcher but hurled good ball for the most part. He was weakening towards the latter stages of the game and solid hits by Ralph's crew brought about his downfall.

O'Toole was the spark plug for the winners at the plate. He drove in the first run of the game and later scored the winning run himself after smashing out a long double. Connelly also was a big gun on the attack. He secured two hits and drove in two runs to be a powerful offensive threat every time he stepped up to the plate. The Oshawa team outhit the Petes at the plate but they did not bunch their hits at the right spot and left seven men stranded on the base paths. Jamieson with a double and single was their hitting star while McGarry assisted his effort with a pair of singles out of four tries at bat.

The fielding by both squads was good. Each team kicked in with an error and both these led to runs but, outside of these bobbles, the teams played good defensive baseball. Oshawa came through with two snappy double plays and looked good in the field.

HAAS CAPTURES CANADIAN TITLE

New Orleans Player Defeats Bobby Reith Of Winnipeg 8 And 7

MANY DIFFICULTIES

WINNIPEG, Aug. 10. — (CP).— Canada's amateur golf crown rested to-day upon the sun-tanned brow of Young Fred Haas, New Orleans. The fifth-ranked American shotsmith moved with deadly precision around the St. Charles Country Club course Saturday to win the Canadian amateur crown with an 8 and 7 triumph over Winnipeg's Bobby Reith.

Stiff breezes blew across the lovely course bordering the Assiniboine River and sudden gusts frequently carried the two young finalists into difficulties; but nothing seemed to faze the even temperament of the 20 year old Southerner. Trouble merely goaded the American to greater and more accurate efforts and his perfectly-judged shots around the greens precluded any possibility of Reith overtaking him after Haas had rolled up a lead of four in the first eight holes.

Haas' putts were never light, never more than 18 inches wide and only once or twice did they roll more than two feet past the cup. Whether from 10 feet or 60, first putts seemed all the same to the new champion. He three-putted only one green. The tricky 11th, where he missed a 30 inch try. That accuracy told the story of the victory. Reith's putter, usually reliable, failed him almost completely. He missed 10 putts of eight feet or under during 28 holes, and six of his misses were from less than four feet.

Otherwise the youngsters were well matched. There was little to choose between their wood shots and both pulled off remarkable iron play. Haas, however, was the more deadly on short approaches around the greens. Freddy would have been ever par for the holes played over the 6,671 yard, par-73 course had he not driven out of bounds on the long fifth. The two-stroke penalty was the margin by which he went over the standard.

Reith was far below the form that had produced sub-par rounds in the early matches and his weak 90 in the morning left him six down to the southerner when they went to lunch. He steadied in the afternoon, but it was too late.

BUFFALO BISONS ARE NEARING TOP AS RED WINGS SLIP

Buffalo Team Has Won Ten Games Of Their Last Eleven Starts

TORONTO FOURTH

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—Buffalo's Thundering Herb of Bisons, who looked no more dangerous than farm calves during their recent losing streak, are really rolling over the opposition.

Since they broke the string of defeats that had dropped them briefly into third place toward the end of their southern tour, the Bisons have combined highly effective hitting with first-class pitching to win 10 of their last 11 games.

Meanwhile the league-leading Rochester Red Wings have gently hit the skids and as a result the Herd is only 2½ games out of first place.

The Bisons trounced the floundering Baltimore Orioles for the third straight time yesterday 7-1 to slice another game off the Red Wings' lead as Rochester took an 11-1 drubbing from Albany's Senators. Bob Kline gave Buffalo its third straight low-hit mound performance, allowing only six blows, while his mates pounded Cliff Melton and Cy Moore for a dozen, including Greg Mulleavy's homer.

One Run in Three Days

In the last three days Buffalo pitchers have allowed Baltimore only 16 hits and one run while the Herd has scored 13 times.

Meantime the Red Wings could get only five hits off the slants of Ray Phebus while Albany combed Bob Weiland and Andy Doyle for 14. Beau Bell and Packy McFarland contributed circuit swats to the rout.

Newark's third-place Bears could get no better than an even break with Montreal winning the opener 6-5, then taking a 12-0 shellacking as Montreal piled 16 wallops, including a homer, and double by Dave Harris, on top of five-hit flinging by Harry Smythe, who made his first mound appearance since being appointed Montreal manager.

Playing the first Sunday night game of the year, Toronto Leafs moved into fourth place ahead of Baltimore, loser of nine of its last 10 games, by outslugging the Syracuse Chiefs 10-7. The Leafs did all their scoring in three big innings.

Southend Softball

Results of last week's Southend Softball League games: Orioles 21, Nationals 5; Maple Leafs 15, Cogs 7; Orioles 10, Nationals 8; Maple Leafs 6, Cogs 5. Remaining games: Monday, Nationals vs Cogs; Tuesday, Orioles vs Maple Leafs; Wednesday, Cogs vs Nationals; Thursday, Maple Leafs vs Orioles. Second-half standing to date:

Team	P.	W.	L.	P.C.
Maple Leafs	10	7	3	.700
Cogs	10	6	4	.600
Orioles	10	5	5	.500
Nationals	10	2	8	.200

With the Leafs and Orioles taking double victories from the Cogs and NAts respectively, the league standing has changed considerably. The Leafs have won five straight and are now in top place with the Cogs and Orioles fighting for the second playoff spot. This week's games wind up the schedule and good tilts are expected. A twin win for Nats and Orioles would give the Leafs and Orioles the nod.

LAD SERIOUSLY HURT

KITCHENER.—Six-year-old Ronald Schmidt of St. Jacob's is in the K-W hospital in a critical condition as a result of an accident near his home yesterday when he fell out of the cab of a truck. One of the double rear wheels struck him, breaking his pelvis in two places, puncturing his abdomen and injuring his kidney and bladder.

CUBS' DOUBLE WIN OVER THE PIRATES PUT THEM ON TOP

Charley Grimm's Champs Club To Beat For League Championship

GREAT PITCHING STAFF

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—It's the Cubs against the field again.

Charley Grimm's champs have regained their collective batting eye. They've taken over the National League lead once more. With their great pitching staff still the strongest in the loop, they are once again definitely the club to beat in the stretch drive.

The Giants and Cardinals can still do lots of damage before the pennant goes up on the winner's flagpole, but the Giants collapsed once before after making a pass at the lead and the Gas House gang still has just a one-man pitching staff.

Won Doubleheader

Cubs wound up their week-end bombardment yesterday with a 29-hit assault against the Pirates to take both ends of a double-header, 10-1 and 9-2, and move back into the first-place they gave up last week because of weak hitting.

The Cardinals were knocked out of the lead by a tremendous hitting attack on the part of the Cincinnati Reds, who fired 40 safe blows all over the lot to turn in a twin win, 10-2 and 12-5.

With the lead at stake, the Cubs and Cards clash to-day in the start of their second series in a week, but the Chicagoans are a considerably improved outfit at bat since they went down three out of four in the last meeting.

The only other outfit rated a chance, the fast-moving Giants, stretched their winning streak to seven yesterday by downing the Phillies 6-2, with Clyde Castleman starring in a three-hit eight-inning relief pitching trick.

Gehrig Hits 34th Homer

Maintaining their 12-game American League lead, the Yankees bowled over the Athletics twice, 7-6 in 10 innings and 3-0, with Lou Gehrig hitting his 34th homer in the opener and driving in all the runs in the nightcap with a triple with the bases loaded.

The Indians saved second place with a double-header triumph over the White Sox, 9-1, behind Johnny Allen's three-hit pitching and 5-2 with Oral Hildebrand stopping the Sox.

Russ Van Atta pitched the Browns to a 4-3 win over the Tigers, while the Red Sox took the only victory of their series with the Senators, winning 8-2 as Jimmy Foxx belted a double and triple to lead a nine-hit attack.

The surprising Brooklyn Dodgers climbed out of the National League cellar for the first time in two months by hitting timely behind the tight pitching of Max Butcher and Freddy Frankhouse for a twin victory over the Bees, 4-0 and 5-2.

DR. PHIL EDWARDS RUNS LAST RACE

Veteran Of Three Canadian Olympic Teams Will Retire

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—(CP). — Dr. Phil Edwards, veteran of three Canadian Olympic teams and 10 years on international tracks, was at the end of a brilliant foot-racing career to-day.

If the Great British Guianan middle distance runner holds to his retirement announcement made here before the Berlin games, he ran his last race yesterday when he carried the baton on one leg of the 1,600-metre relay.

At 28 a medical future stretches before the dusky doctor. And when he comes back to Montreal to begin his internship the spike shoes will be stored among the Edwards' trophies, perhaps to be taken out for pleasure running, but certainly not in competition.

Broke Olympic Record

Edwards finishes after what many regard as the greatest of all his record - smashing performances. Packed amongst the world's greatest milers at Berlin last week, "Old Phil" streaked into fifth place in the 1,500-metre final. He cracked the Olympic record in doing so. Earlier in the week he finished third in the 800-metre final.

At Amsterdam in 1928 and again at Los Angeles in 1932 he scored in both the metric half-mile and mile. Also at Los Angeles the rhythmic - running doctor had smashed an Olympic record—in the 800.

Beat Cow by 300 Yards

Necessity to run gave Edwards the running "bug." In a British Guiana cowpasture a cow took exception to Phil playing with her calf and gave chase. "It was 600 yards to my back door-step and I beat the cow by 300 yards," is Phil's account of the result of his first serious race.

Phil came to North America more than a decade ago after establishing a reputation in his native country. There he had beaten two minutes for the half mile and was schoolboy champion of the country. He entered New York University and was elected as track captain after his Amsterdam triumphs.

Phil set two Canadian records in 1926, running the 600 yards at Hamilton in one minute 13 seconds and the 1000 yards at Toronto in 2.12:8, bettering his own mark in the latter event by nearly two seconds.

Set Present Record.

In the summer of 1930, running for British Guiana at the British Empire games at Hamilton, he established the present Canadian record of 1.52 for the 800 metres. They've been hammering at that mark since without success.

During the winter previous to the Empire Games, he ran his last race under N.Y.U. colors, ending his United States college career with victory over the brilliant Ray Conger at 1,000 yards.

In 1931 Edwards entered McGill University in Montreal. Within a month after arrival he had smashed three long-standing marks—the university 440 and mile and the intercollegiate mile. Both mile records still stand and it was only last fall the 440 was beaten. Edwards did it.

He ran consistently for McGill from 1931 to 1935, leading the team to Canadian intercollegiate championships each year. Always popular with fellow track men, Phil captained the McGill team in 1933-34.

Set Own Training Rules

For the most part, Edwards set his own training rules. His admitted policy of drinking beer while in training has aroused comment. It helped him, Edwards claimed, and he continued to drink his beer and win races.

It was during his first Canadian intercollegiate track meet Phil went through what he calls his most embarrassing situation.

He anchored the one mile relay team and as he streaked around the final curve the elastic band in his track shorts broke. He ran the last 100 yards holding up the shorts but the team, nevertheless, had set a record that still stands.

In addition to the regular awards there will be five stakes for amateurs with dogs which must be owned in the four western provinces. The amateur derby stake is open to dogs born after Sept. 1, 1934; the amateur all-age stake to all Western Canadian-owned dogs; the Saskatchewan amateur champion stake and the Western Canada Ladies' shooting dog event.

CANADIAN TEAM IN SIXTH PLACE AMONG NATIONS

Track And Field Meet Winds Up In Blaze Of Glory At Berlin

RECORD BUSTING

United States Led In Men's Events And Germany In Women's

BERLIN, Aug. 10 (C.P. Cable). — The world's premier athletes moved into varied fronts today with the Olympic track and field titles stowed away, the men's by the United States and the women's by Germany.

Today the program of the 11th Olympiad turned to soccer, swimming, water-polo, basketball, boxing, field hockey, cycling, handball and fencing.

Track and field wound up in a blaze of glory with the Japanese marathon victor, Kitei son, acclaimed for the greatest distance running finish the games have ever witnessed.

What Coach Lawson Robertson described as the "best balanced, best conditioned team the United States has sent into the games since the war" rolled up 203 points in the men's events, 15 short of their total in Los Angeles, and figured in record-smashing performances in eight of the 16 track and fields events. Canada's team was sixth among the 23 nations that figured in the point scoring, while Canada's women placed eighth among the 13 nations that won places. The men scored 22 1-11 points and the women eight.

The climax to the track and field events came with the little Japanese victory. He clipped more than two minutes off Juan Carlos Zabala's Olympic record by covering the difficult marathon course of 26 miles 385 yards in 2 hours 29 19.2 seconds.

Bartlett Was 15th.

The first man from the new world to swing into the overflowing stadium at the end of the marathon was Jimmy Bartlett, Oshawa "knight of the road," who was added to the Canadian Olympic team at the last minute. Bartlett was 15th, while Percy Wyer, Toronto "greybeard" whose 115 pounds are practically all muscle, found kick enough in his 52-year-old legs to complete the heart-testing route of 26 miles 385 yards and he finished 27th.

Thus, on the day's performance, he was a better man than Zabala, the Argentine, who won the 1932 marathon. Complaining of sore feet, Zabala dropped out about the half-way mark after pacing the pack of 87 almost from the start.

Harold Webster, the "old ironsides" of Hamilton, who was rated Canada's No. 1 bid, was "dusted" by an automobile after he had run eight miles. He dropped out then, saying he was not injured but only dissatisfied with his form.

A bit of jostling and an accident marred Canada's chances in the men's relays, but another accident—the dropping of a baton—gave a boost to the Canadian girls in the women's relay.

Marshall Limon, stocky Vancouver racer, was elbowed by Bill O'Brien of the United States during the running of the third leg in the 1,600-metre event. Up to that point, the Maple Leaf team was in good position.

Bill Fritz of Toronto, the lead-off man, turned on a fine burst of speed to gain a three-metre lead. Dr. Phil Edwards, the 28-year-old veteran of Montreal and Hamilton, could not match his British opponent's speed and he fell a metre to the rear.

Thrown Off Stride.

It was on the first turn of the next leg that O'Brien elbowed Limon and threw the Canadian off his stride. The German, as well as the Briton and American, were in front before Johnny Loaring, Windsor stalwart, took up the chase. Loaring uncorked a 47 seconds performance, third fastest circuit of the track the relay produced. He cut down the Teuton's lead from four metres to a matter of inches, but was not quite able to gain third place.

In the 400-metre relay, Lee Orr did not place the baton squarely in the hands of Howie McPhee, his fellow townsman from Vancouver, and precious moments were lost in regaining the "stick."

The accident occurred at the end of the third leg. The other members of the Canadian team, which finished fifth, were Bruce Humber of Victory, and "Sleepy Sam" Richardson, Toronto negro.

The Dutch squad in this event also came a cropper, dropping the baton near the finishing wire. They were lifted from third place as a result and the German team moved into that position behind the Italians, who finished 15 metres behind the United States winners.

Jesse Owens, triple winner in the board jump, 100 and 200-metre sprints, sent the American team off with a two metre lead. Ralph Metcalfe added four more. Roy Draper safeguarded them and Frank Wykoff added another nine by running away from Tullio Gonelli of Italy.

Fumbled Baton.

The German girls' relay team, which lowered the record of 47 seconds to 46.1 in Saturday's trials, shocked the vast throng into silence when they fumbled the baton on the last exchange and put themselves out of the running with victory in their grasp.

The American team, anchored by Farmetette Helen Stephens, rushed on to victory, followed by the British and Canadian teams in that order. The Canadian girls were clocked in 47.8 seconds, compared with the victors' time of 46.9, which shaved 1/10th second from the listed record for the games.

The Canadian team was composed of Dot Brookshaw, Hilda Cameron and Jeannette Delean of Toronto, and Aileen Meagher of Halifax.

Owens, including his part in the sprint relay, became the first American to collect four gold medals since A. E. Kraenzlein did it in 1900.

Archie Williams, Oakland, Calif., 400 metres; John Woodruff, University of Pittsburgh freshman, 800 metres; and Cornelius Johnson, Los Angeles in the high jump rounded out the negroes biggest Olympic session in history, but the American Nordics were by no means completely overshadowed.

The southern athletes, Forrest Towns and Glenn Hardin, in the hurdles, three westerners, Glenn Morris, decathlon, Ken Carpenter, discus, and Earle Meadows, pole vault, achieved the triumphs that enabled the United States to share honors with New Zealand's brilliant miler, Jack Lovelock, Finland's distance runners, Germany's weight men and Japan's marathoner.

Olympic record busting went on at a wholesale pace throughout, with winners in the events generally doing so at the expense of the old mark. The broad jump standard which had stood since 1928 was bettered eight times, five by Owens. Five were under the former Olympic record both for the 1,500 metres and the 3,000 steeplechase, while the first six in the 50 kilometre walk were under the former record.

Number one upset of the games was the failure of England's Stan Wooderson to qualify for the 1,500 metres final in which Lovelock ended all doubt about who is the world's greatest miler in the metric system or otherwise.

Finland's Volmari Iso-Mollo emerged as the only successful defending champion. He retained the 3,000 metre steeplechase.

UNUSUAL MARTEN.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY
Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C J. P.)

AND THUS we go around the mulberry bush on an early August morning. Our senior Petes hit a winning streak, after taking a couple of terrific losses to start the C.O.B.L. schedule, and they cop 9 out of 11 games. But now, with the playoff dough on the shelf almost within reach, they hop on the greased skids and drop six so fast the drugstores can't keep up to the demand for headache pills! Six straight reverses, only four remaining games for the Petes, and Napanee crowding us hard for a third-place playoff berth just a tilt and a half behind. Is there no balm in Gilead, or have we been going around all summer in a wash tub? That, as Bill Shakespeare — a leading hitter in the old Elizabethian League—used to say, is the questionnaire.

• • • • • •

THE LOCALS' winning average against Oshawa this semester is the size of a bareheaded boy's hat—just nil. They lost five to 'em out of five. Saturday, they dropped a 7-5 one they had in the bag in the second stanza. It makes the fourth out of five that we should have won from the GM-men. But "shoulda" doesn't count in the standings. The men of McJohnston had a 5-0 lead to start the third heat, and they were getting excellent hurling. But they wobbled like an alcoholic at three a.m. to present Oshawa with five lovely markers wrapped in cellophane on a platter in the third. And then they were Biddled to death by Lefty Biddle the rest of the routine. As Oshawa collected two more via the miscue trail.

• • • • • •

BILL CALLADINE pitched his first full game and went good. He allowed but eight hits, four bunched in the third, struck out seven and walked two. Only two earned runs were gained off him and he went okay fielding too. That was the only bright spot of the affair—the discovery that Bill could take his regular turn the rest of the way on the slab with Scriver and Whitehill. But the Petes' hitting, or lack of it, before Biddle, and their erratic fielding—counting several scratchy pop hits—proved too much of a handicap for any hurler. Oshawa faltered afield, too, behind Wills but came to life when the Stratford Streak strolled to the mound. He pitched good ball.

• • • • • •

COVERT AND Burton were our only real hitters. The former was one of the few who did not pull away from the plate before Biddle's fast ball. He stepped in and took a hard cut at the apple, getting two safeties off the star import and one off Wills. Burton cracked his slump with a double and a single. Covert missed a couple, though, at third; Starr threw bad once and dropped a pop fly; and Whatley and Pat Calladine booted one each. A catch back of third was a fielding feature for Whatley. Rowden did enough with the willow to win for Oshawa alone, almost, scoring twice and driving in four with a triple and two singles. Quite a money player is Doc, expecially against our teams.

OVER AT Riverside Park on Saturday, a different tale was told when the local Rotarians 4-3'd Oshawa General Motors in the third game of the Junior Lakeshore Baseball League playoffs. It keeps the home kids in the running, Oshawa having won the first two, and if the young Fetes can cop the contest in the Motor City on Wednesday, a fifth fracas will be staged. Gee Clark chucked nice ball for Rotary, being tighter in the pinches than a pair of new shoes. McGarry also flung pretty fair ball and both teams had neat support for the most part. We heard the crowd was pretty good and was satisfied at the exciting junior squabble. We think the Ralph boys can still beat 'em to enter the O.B.A.A. junior playdowns.

• • • • • •

BERT BAILEY has been endeavoring to enter an intermediate team in O.B.A.A. playdowns from here, but says the best calibre he can plan on is an intermediate "C" squad. A week ago, Max Swanston received a letter on this from Secretary Bill Snyder of the Ontario Association, saying that—despite the late date—he might arrange for a Peterborough entry—only it would have to be a "B" team, seeing as how there would only be the one intermediate team from a city this size. Bert and his boys aren't fussy about going "B", owing to strength, lack of practise and a shortage of do-re-mi. So, they'll probably forget it all. It might be just as well, from a financial viewpoint.

WEATHER PERMITTING, Swartz Clothiers and Westclox tangle tonight (Monday) at 6.45 p.m. in Central in the first game of the men's city softball finals. It's four out of seven games, the winner copping the Taylor Trophy and representing Peterborough in O.A.S.A. intermediate "A" playdowns. This should be quite a serious series as there is much at stake and these squads like each other as much as two gees in a rumble seat with a chomming young heiress. On paper, Benny O'Swartz lads look best but paper profits are without honor in their own country. Should be a huge chunk of a crowd present.

• • • • • •

IF THE rain keeps up—that is, quits coming down—tonight at the Bowl, two femmes' softball teams will clash, also. It's Omemee vs. the Ballieboro belles at seven in an all-important number. A win for Omemee will send 'em into the second-half finals 'gainst Keene, but a loss for the O's will make a three-way tie, Westclox, C.G.E. and Omemee all having a piece of it. The game has no bearing on the Bees' standing but a lot of fans and players will be pulling mightily for them to put the clutch on the decision. Start of the playoffs depends on tonight's struggle.

17-INNING GAME WON BY ST. KITTS

St. Catharines And Chippawa Battle For Seventeen Innings

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—St. Catharines is leading the Niagara District Senior Baseball League, but it took them 17 innings to defeat Chippawa in a scheduled contest during the week-end.

Eddie Hales, St. Catharines manager, and Ziggy Kolachynski pitched the entire 3½-hour game before St. Catharines won out, 10-9.

Welland made sure of a playoff berth when Niagara Falls defaulted its scheduled game. Port Colborne improved its chances for a playoff berth late last week when it defeated Thorold 11-4.

Won 16 Out of 18 Games

Several teams in the Intercounty League ended their schedule, with London winding up the season with its 16th win in 18 games, this time a 6-1 victory. Fred Quick for London, struck out 10 and allowed but seven hits.

Galt won both games of a doubleheader from Guelph, 8-2 and 12-4. The victories ensured Galt's place on top of the East group ahead of Brantford, as that team lost its game.

Cunningham and Craig pitched four-hit ball and brought Stratford to a 7-1 victory over St. Thomas-Aylmer Combines. The victory broke the tie for second place in the West group which the two teams have been holding for some time.

Dundas defeated the Hamilton section leaders, Moodie Tigers, 19-7, in the last game of the regular schedule.

JUNIOR REGATTA HELD AT JUNIPER HAS LARGE ENTRY

MANY FINE PRIZES
Toronto Girl, Is Regatta Champion

Kay Action, 14 - Year - Old

(By Staff Reporter)

JUNIPER ISLAND, Aug. 10.—The tendency of older folk around Stoney Lake to take their regattas less seriously as the years go on is not shared by the younger generation. Boys and girls from 10 years of age up, gathered at Juniper Island Saturday afternoon from all points in the resort area to demonstrate this in the annual junior regatta.

Many hundreds with a good representation of adults among them were in the crowd which collected on the Juniper Island promontory for the occasion and more than a hundred of the youngsters came to participate rather than merely watch.

Regatta Champion.

Kay Action, 14-year-old Toronto girl won fresh laurels for her sex in the world of sport by triumphing as the general regatta champion with wins and showings in a half dozen events, she garnered a total of 19 championship points. Her nearest rival was Bob Jopling with 11 points, Rod Howson gained 10 points.

The events drew, almost without exception, the largest entries in years. Entries of eight and nine boats in a race were common. And the spirit in which the races were contested was never surpassed even at a senior regatta. Many finishes were close enough to bring the crowd to its toes with encouraging cheers for favorites.

Arrangements and direction of the regatta was in efficient hands. Jock Spragge and Bill Beatty, both of Toronto were the starters. Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Don Meyers of Toronto and Lyman Crawford-Brown of Toronto.

Many handsome prizes were in the selection which was distributed to winners in the Juniper Pavilion immediately following the last event. Mrs. Gordon Smith of Montreal officiated.

CALIFORNIANS WIN CANADIAN TITLES

Tennis Championships Go Across Border For Another Year

VANCOUVER, Aug. 10.—(CP).—A troupe of California racquet wielders headed homeward to-day and with them went Canada's tennis titles for another year's sojourn in the south.

Headed by Jack Tidball and Dr Ester Bartosh, both of Los Angeles, the Californians made practically a clean sweep of the Canadian lawn tennis championships which concluded Saturday.

Canada shared in only one title, the women's doubles, as the Dominion netters tried vainly to regain the titles annexed by Californians at Victoria last year.

Tidball picked off his first Canadian crown with a straight set victory over John Murio, of San Francisco, titleholder in 1933, in the men's singles final, winning 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Dr. Bartosh downed the top-seeded Jean Milne, of Vancouver, to capture the women's crown, 6-1, [illegible]

[illegible] joined with a fellow club-mate, Charlie Church, to take the men's doubles after a five-set marathon with Vern Hughes, of Long Beach, and Bob Kippenstein, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Golda Meyer Gross, of Berkley, and Miss Milne teamed up to defeat the favored Eleanor Young-Caroline Deacon pair, of North Vancouver, 1-6, 6-2, 6-3 in the women's doubles. The North Vancouver pair were Canadian titleholders in 1934.

Dr. Bartosh and Hughes downed Miss Young and John Hall, Los Angeles, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1 in the mixed doubles final.

Golf Notes

In the Kawartha Golf Club ladies' championship play over the week-end, Mrs. Inch beat Mrs. E. Riley to get a bye into the finals; and in the ladies' consolation championship, Miss Bertha Inch beat Mrs. O. M. Steer to go into the finals.

W. Brown defeated S. A. Archibald in the first round of the men's club championship; B. I. Burgess won from H. Mackenzie in the second round. In President's Cup play, S. Whitton beat P. A. Johnston in the second round and E. Miller defeated H. N. James in the third round. In the Kawartha Cup, H. J. Weir is in the finals and meets the winner of R. M. Glover and S. A. Archibald.

Playing the course yesterday, B. I. Burgess made the No. 3 hole in two and gets a case of coca-cola. J. Watson duplicated this yesterday, and also wins a case.

Results of the gentlemen's sweepstakes: P. Pickering, 31; B. I. Burgess, 33; J. Archibald, 33; S. A. Archibald, 33; N. A. Ruiter, 35; D. Glover, 35; E. Rigby, 35; G. Putnan, 36; R. E. Knox, 36; S. In an inter-club match over the week-end, William Fairweather of the Peterborough Club, had a 73, while Ben Kerr, of Kawartha Club, chalked up a 74—two fine scores by these pros.

WHITAKERS BEAT TOCH 88 TO 57 IN RETURN MATCH

Jones And Jefferson Do Some Fine Batting For The Peterborough Club

FIRST MATCH A DRAW

Whitaker's played a return match against Toc H., on the University of Toronto lawn on Saturday, and got a nice win by 31 runs. W.C.C., 88; Toc H. 57. The match here had ended in a draw.

Whitaker's batted first and useful scores by Jefferson (20), Jones (20), Colbran (14), Hamilton (11), and Roberts (11) provided a final total of 88. It was good to see another of the junior players coming off in T. Jones—he has always been keen and persevering, and his 20 on Saturday was most useful. When he went in, 8 wickets were down for 66, but with Lorne keeping up his end, he hit three 4's and two 3's, and was last out with the score 88.

Halford and Driver were the most successful bowlers, with 4 for 20 and 3 for 20 respectively.

On Toc H. going to bat, they, with one exception, found the bowling of Jefferson and Colbran too good for them. Warren, who went in second wicket down played good cricket for 34, more than half his side's total, but could get no one to stay at the other end—where wickets fell regularly, leaving Warren to carry his bat for 34. Jefferson increased his run of bowling successes by taking 6 wickets for 21, and Colbran ran back into form with 4 for 34.

A feature of the play was the success of both the wicket-keepers in the matter of catches. Butler made 4 and Mackay for Whitaker's 3. Butler allowed 3 byes and Mackay 1; two very good performances.

Next Saturday the two local teams are scheduled to meet at the Oval and it should produce a real game.

IN MEMORIAM

CHAPMAN. — In loving memory of Henry Chapman, who passed away on August 10, 1933.

With hearts both crushed and sore,
Till through the gloom the sweet words come:
Not lost, but gone before.
—Ever remembered by Wife and Family.

BROWN. — In loving memory of my dear husband, W. F. Brown, 191 Dublin Street, who passed away six years ago, August 10, 1930.

Never a day but I need you,
Never an hour but I see
The wonderful depth of your loving,
And what it has meant to me.
Never a day but I'm learning
How precious you were and how true
And how much of God went in making
The heart of a husband like you.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by his Wife Emma and Son Lynn.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Sadly missed by Wife and Family, Mrs. W. T. Wells, 277 Prince St.

The Countess achieved her world record for life time butterfat production in January, 1933, when she had a total of 7,547 pounds of butterfat to her credit. Bred and owned by Tom Dent, she has had many noted progeny and as a tribute to her great career, her grave at the front of the Dent farm will be properly marked and fenced off.

LINCOLN STEFFENS AUTHOR IS DEAD

Was Crusading Leader In So-Called "Muckraking" Era Of U.S. Journalism

CARMEL, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP)—Lincoln Steffens, crusading leader in the so-called "muckraking" era of United States journalism, is dead. The 70-year-old writer, lecturer and one-time newspaper and magazine editor, succumbed to a heart ailment at his Carmel home, pressing with his last, feeble strength the hand of his divorced wife, Ella Winter, radical author.

Their 10-year-old son, Peter, who friends said was the inspiration of one of Steffens' last works—his autobiography—also was at the bedside when death came late yesterday.

Educated in California and universities of Europe, Steffens, a native of San Francisco, entered the newspaper field in New York and in 1920 became managing editor of McClure's Magazine. In this position and later, as associate editor of The American and Everybody's Magazine, he encouraged the school of journalism to which President Theodore Roosevelt applied the term of "muckrake."

Steffens led the crusade, aimed at fraud, graft and social injustice in both public and private affairs, with his series of articles on "The Shame of The Cities,' "The Struggle for Self-Government" and others.

Truth As He Saw It

Steffens, also called an agitator, Socialist, and the like because of his journalistic efforts, claimed he presented the truth as he saw it. In his later years he became what friends described as a "philosophic Communist."

It was devotion to the same ideal, social reform, that brought Steffens and Miss Winter together and led to their marriage in Paris, France, in 1924, after the death of his first wife.

Miss Winter then was 25 years old, recognized in her own right as a writer. He was 58. They were divorced in California six years later, but continued close friends. Miss Winter had cared for Steffens since he was stricken two years ago with the ailment that ended in his death.

He had remained intensely interested in social and economic affairs to the last, and was editor of The Pacific Weekly, published at Carmel as a forum of fact and Left wing opinion on the West Coast.

CANADIAN BOXER SENT BACK HOME

Irving Pease Failed To Make His Class Weight At Olympics

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—(CP Cable).—Irving Pease, Toronto middleweight who was considered one of Canada's brightest prospects in the Olympic boxing championships, was sent home to-day because of failure to make his class weight.

P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic Committee, said he would suggest to President W. A. Fry of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, Pease be suspended pending official consideration of his case.

Mulqueen added: "It looks as though Pease simply came here on a joyride at the expense of some one else."

Love isn't Important

by LOUISE JERROLD

COPYRIGHT, 1936, BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION LTD.

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club, meets a number of social elite when she fills in at a dinner party at the request of Dr. Wilson, a club member. One of them is Breck Carter, who, a few evenings later, takes her to a speakeasy and gambling house. Breck becomes intoxicated and tries to force his affections on Gay. Trying to repulse him, her hand is badly burned by his cigarette and she leaves him hurriedly. After work, Dr. Wilson, noticing Gay's hand, takes her to his home to treat the burn. Gay and the doctor have a friendly visit and she prepares to go home. Tim Keenan and his fiancee, Marian Randolph, drop in just as Gay is leaving Dr. Wilson's.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 11

"WHY NOT marry the boy?" Doctor Wilson was asking Eleanor Randolph, meaning Tim Keenan. "That would tone him down."

Eleanor smiled. "I'm going to. Some day."

"Sure," Tim broke in, with bitter sarcasm in his heavy voice. "Some day. I've heard that before."

"You can't expect me to give up the shop, when it's just commencing to pay!" Eleanor turned toward Gay a trifle, including her in the conversation. "I love my little shop—and I love clothes. They fascinate me. I love to buy them, and have them round me, and then sell them to exactly the right person. I have a little Chanel gown in the store right—pure white, with tiny crystals—too adorable!" Her eyes narrowed: she studied Gay with an absorbed gaze. "But of course I've been hammering my brain to think who is was that dress reminded me of. It's you. You must have it!"

Gay was almost too astounded to speak. "I can't afford the sort of gowns you sell, Miss Randolph. Why, I don't earn enough in a month, to pay for that gown you're talking about."

"You should have it," declared Miss Randolph, crossly. "I can't bear it if the right people don't wear the right clothes. Why look, Tim," she swung about, "look at this girl, beautiful and smart in a blue wool that would simply kill the average woman—it's wrong in every line and every seam. Think what she'd be like in the right things. Oh Tim, wouldn't it be fun to dress her!"

"Yes, I think it would," agreed Mr. Keenan, with a wink toward Doctor Wilson. Both men seemed quite accustomed to Miss Randolph's oddity, and paid little attention. But Gay was half amused, half fascinated. What an unusual girl! Impossible to imagine what she might say next, in that cool, high-bred voice.

"You must have that white frock," Eleanor insisted. "I'll let you have it for whatever you can afford to pay. It's too youthful, anyway, for most of my dieting customers, and I've said right along that I won't sell it to the wrong person. Come in and see me tomorrow," she ordered, brusquely, "and try it on. What's your name again?" She flashed a delightful smile at Gay. "I can only think of you as Miss Smith."

She made a quick notation on a card, which she gave to Gay. "Now we really must go, Johnny darling. Thanks a lot for the drinks. Come along, Tim."

While they were saying good night, the taxi arrived to take Gay home. Doctor Wilson went outside to give the driver instructions, and pay him in advance for the trip.

Gay pulled her blue felt hat over the shimmering gold of her hair, and gathered up her bag and gloves. From where she stood, she could see Miss Randolph powdering before the mirror in the hallway. Then, before she could quite realize, Tim Keenan was whispering in her ear. "I've always admired the doctor's private stock. Tonight, more than ever. Any chance for me?"

Gay said, "I don't think I know what you mean, Mr. Keenan."

"Not too busy to make a little date, once in a while?"

"Why—no."

"Like swimming?"

"I'm keen about it," Gay assured him. "Though I don't swim well."

"We'll make up a party." Tim kept his voice discreetly lowered, as he helped Gay on with her coat. "I'll get in touch with you. Mum's the word." When Eleanor re-entered the room, he was standing some distance from Gay, examining a book of Japanese etchings. . . .

Yet oddly enough, when Gay rode home half asleep in the jolting taxi, she was not thinking of Tim's sudden interest and his whispered suggestion of a party; nor the heart-warming friendless of Doctor Wilson; but of Wayne Adams, with his cool indifference to her charm, which so piqued her pride.

That end-of-April morning, as Gay lingered near the side entrance of the Ponchartrain club for one last breath of the cool, clean air before she began her duties in the coat room, she was aware as never before the shimmering beauty of the early spring, in Detroit.

In the pale, dappled sunshine the sweep of the lawn before the club lay velvety green, and trees spread, great urns of young polished leaves. Already the double row of maples that lined the street on either side was a-burst with red fire. And the sky overhead had never been so blue!

Oh, it made you tingle with delight simply to be alive on such a morning. To be young, besides, was heaven. Anything could happen to you, on a spring day!

That tingling, joyous feeling lasted even while Gay, quietly expert, checked silk and satin party coats, hats, chiffon scarves: and answered again and again the thoughtless, unnecessary questions of the young matrons and girls gathering for a large bridge-luncheon.

"Yes, madam, the luncheon is one-thirty."

"The luncheon is one-thirty, madam."

"Yes, madam, the luncheon is ordered for—"

The same gay sense of expectancy held even through the impatient insolence of Peggy Pennell, who had dashed back to the check counter when the luncheon was in full swing, to demand excitedly. "Get my coat. I can't find my cigaret case anywhere. My rings are in it. Hurry, girl! Don't keep me waiting all afternoon." Her sulky crimsoned lips were working restlessly.

"Here it is," she thrilled, next moment tossing her coat at Gay "I must have stuck it in this inside pocket," and with a flutter of cherry-red chiffons—which shade Gay thought, accentuated the sallow tone of Peggy's skin—the darted away toward the elevators.

By the middle of the afernoon, Gay's gay excitement had slumped into a sagging sensation in the knees, and a tired back. She was wishing she could close her eyes and then open them to find that the clock-hands had raced ahead to seven-thirty, and the coming of Jean; when Jean herself made an unexpected appearance.

"Lo, kid. You look all in. I'd stay and help you till this bridge-riot is over, but good gosh, I left my girl friend's blouse in my locker. Forgot to drop it at the cleaner's, after I'd promised. That means I've got to fly back to the flat and clean it for her myself. She's working overtime, doing manicures and permanents for the grand opening of 'Rose Heath', tonight."

Gay listened with interest. Jean's girl friend was beauty operator in a smart shop in the David Whitney building. She always had to work overtime when there were big parties on.

"But say," Jean rattled on, "how come you're not invited tonight, by one of your swanky boy friends? How about Doctor Wilson—who hasn't come across yet with his little dinner-and-theater date? Or Tim Keenan? I thought you said he wanted to take you out, too?"

"Doctor Wilson was called down to Tryon," Gay explained. His wife's had a heart attack, or something. But anyway, I've turned down so many bids to this Rose Heath affair, I'm bored to tears." Then, curiosity getting the better of her, she stopped pretending and asked. No fooling, Jean. Just what and where is Rose Heath, anyhow?"

"Don't tell me you haven't heard of Rose Heath! It's that big, ritzy night club on Lake St. Claire. Grand eats, and dancing, and one of those sweet-jazz orchestras—everything costs like nobody's business—the boy friend has to be a millionaire to pay the cover charge alone."

THE TUTTS by Crawford Young

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SEA GULL.

The animal children were playing hop-scotch in front of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, while the old gentleman rabbit sat on the porch watching them. It was a lovely bright day, just the sort of day, as Baby Bunty said, for hop-scotch.

The rabbits had marked out the squares on the ground with a stick, and Jiggie Flatpaw, the honey-bear, was having his turn when along came Bully and Bawley No-Tail.

"May we play?" Bully asked. "I feel the need for exercise."

Jiggie stopped in one of the squares and said: "Ho — the frog boys! So you want to play hop-scotch? Now don't you think that would be taking unfair advantage?"

Bully and Bawly looked at each other. "Unfair advantage," Bawly murmured. "What a lot of big words. What do you mean by that, Jiggie?"

"Why, I mean that you hop all the time, don't you? And that you could beat us easily. That's what I mean by unfair advantage," Jiggie said proudly, and looked up to see if Uncle Wiggily had heard him — because Jiggie likely to show off every once in a while, you remember.

"I'm looking for the sea."

Bird Surprises.

"Oh, I don't think we're much better than the rabbits—they do quite a bit of hopping, too!" Bully declared. "We'll ask Uncle Wiggily. "Uncle Wiggily, will you please——" the frog boy started, but just then something happened to take the minds of the animal children off the game. A large bird, with wide, fluttering wings, settled down right in one of the hop-scotch square, and sat there panting and looking about curiously.

The animal children and Uncle Wiggily were curious, too, for they had never seen a bird quite like this one before. Uncle Wiggily came down from the porch and asked:

"I beg your pardon, but are you looking for something? And what sort of a bird are you, if I may inquire?"

The bird fluttered his wings again, and answered: "I am looking for something, indeed. I'm looking for the sea. I'm a sea gull."

"A sea gull!" Baby Bunty cried. "My goodness! How did you get so far from the ocean?"

"That's what I want to know," the gull said rather sadly. "All I know is that I was flying about, and I got caught in a storm, and the wind blew so hard it took me with it, and I got lost!"

"I'd say the sea was lost, not you," Uncle Wiggily chuckled. "You're here—and you don't know where the ocean is! But I have an idea, Bully No-Tail, you can talk fish language, can't you?"

Bully to the Rescue.

"Certainly I can," Bully replied, quickly. "Lots of times I go down to the bottom of a pond, or river, and talk to the fishes."

"Then," went on Uncle Wiggily, "we'll all go over to that deep river—the one that flows out to the sea—and you can ask the fishes just where the ocean is, Bully. For the fish come up that river to lay their eggs, and then they go back to the sea again. Come on—we'll soon find out how you can get back to the ocean, Mr. Gull!"

So they all ran and hopped toward the river, which was about a mile away, the gull flying after them. When they got there Bully and Bawly jumped in. They could stay under water a long time, you know, and it wasn't difficult at all for them to talk to the fishes.

"Do you really think they'll find out for me?" the gull asked anxiously.

"I'm sure of it!" Uncle Wiggily told him. "Don't worry, now — for here they come up! Here are Bully and Bawly! Did you ask the fishes?" Mr. Longears called to the frog boys.

"Yes — the ocean is that way!" Bully answered, pointing with one of his webbed feet. "Straight that way, over that tall pine. You keep going in that direction, Mr. Gull, and you'll soon find the ocean!"

How happy that gull was to learn this! His family of little gulls were waiting for him at the seashore, and he flew off screaming: "Thank you, thank you very much—all of you!" He was very grateful.

And tomorrow night, if the apple dumping doesn't dump over the appleoart, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the gentleman bug.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 10.—(CP)—With part of the evidence in the case heard in Belfast, Ireland, Judge Joseph Wearing dismissed a suit of Mat Doherty of Ireland, former district resident, who sued W. G. Brown, Westminster farmer, for $204 which he claimed was owing in wages.

Doherty worked on Brown's farm for about five years previous to moving to Ireland three years ago.

CROPS ARE FAIR MILLBROOK AREA SOME POOR ONES

Oats, Wheat And Barley Are All Yielding Fair Returns For Season

HAY WAS GOOD

MILLBROOK, August 10.—A fairly complete crop report for Millbrook and district, to date, includes the following returns.

Alfalfa: A fresh seeding, or a first year's cutting has given fair returns, possibly two tons to the acre, or a little more; it is stated, however, that there is practically no seed alfalfa this year.

Red Clover: This also has been a fair crop yielding one and one half tons to the acre, with the second cutting, which was left for seed, not doing well. The clover is short and is not heading well, though there is some seed in it.

Fall wheat has been good, on the whole, yielding from twenty-five to thirty bushels to the acre, according to the quality of the soil. The grain is not as large as in normal years, and some is a little shrunken. Fall wheat is, however, the best crop of this season.

Barley Fair

Barley varies greatly with some fields that have been threshed giving a return of good quality grain, while from the other fields the grain is said to be "like what would come out of the rear end of the fanning-mill." Altogether barley will not likely be more than half a crop.

Peas looked well up to the time of podding, and while there seldom have been more little pods seen on the vines, the unfortunate fact is that only a comparative few developed. About two to six bushels to the acre comprises the returns so far.

Oats, from some fields, have been giving satisfactory returns considering the season. The straw is not long, but heads are fairly well filled though there will be a lot of very light oats in all fields this year, while in some cases the grain is characterized as "very poor." Later oats seem to be filling pretty well, but taken altogether, the crop is not over half what is should be.

Root Crop

Corn in this section had a light planting. Some of it is good, some very short and giving little promise. Early potatoes gave a good yield, generally speaking, though some farmers report theirs as far from normal in quantity. Later potatoes are still quite green, and given a good rain in the immediate future will likely provide a good crop.

Mangels are reported as doing well with a good stand, and keeping their color satisfactorily, but turnips did not come up except in spots and are not actually a quarter of a crop. On account of the unusually dry weather, a second sowing has not been worthwhile.

The promise is, however, that if rain came soon and in sufficient quantity, greystones might do all right, providing a sowing in the very near future were made possible.

Hay, on the whole, was a good crop, but some farmers, who had a field of light oats, cut same and fed to the cattle.

DUMMER BUSH FIRE STILL SMOULDERING IN PEATY GROUND

Started August 1 But Was Checked Early Last Week By Farmers

RAIN GREATLY NEEDED

Fire in the bush west of Frank Harding's house in the Bethel church section of Dummer township was still burning in scattered places Sunday. It started during the afternoon of Saturday, August 1, and did considerable damage in swamp and wood lands from that outbreak until early in the week. Water from wells and larger quantities hauled by truck from Warsaw, combined with protective trenching, checked the fire, and by the middle of the week it seemed to have been conquered. But, later it kept breaking out in patches, and required constant watch by men who were finally employed to stay in the woods as temporary rangers.

Six or seven of them were on duty Sunday. Some smoke hung over the trees in the woods south of the Lakefield - McCracken's Landing road, but the Examiner was informed that the fire was completely under control and that the worst stage seemed to have been passed.

The fire has been smouldering in the ground, especially where layers of peaty humus was so dry and combustible that only a drenching rain would extinguish these smoking sectors. Wells are running dry in the Dummer district, it was reported, but farmers believed that rain would not be much longer delayed.

It was stated that the most damage had been done in woods owned by Frank Harding and Vincent Dunsford.

MISS M. ELIZABETH SWINTON

(Contributed)

At Nicholls Hospital on Monday, July 27, there passed away one of Smith Township's most highly-respected citizens in the person of Miss Medda Elizabeth Swinton. Miss Swinton was born and lived her life within a few miles of Peterborough, being the elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Swinton, who predeceased her some years ago. She is survived by an only sister, Mrs. Archie Ackison. Miss Swinton had not enjoyed the best of health for a long time, but only quite recently had her condition become serious and alarming to her friends; thus her unexpected passing was a great shock to a host of friends. She was an ardent Christian girl, keenly interested in her rural Sunday school. Lily Lake, all Red Cross work and also the many activities of her church. To relieve the needy help the poor and send rays of sunshine and love to her many sick or suffering friends and neighbors were always a source of great joy to her. Her darkest clouds in life were brightly tinged with silver, always her chief aim in life was to do all the good she could. Miss Swinton was a life-long member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Peterborough. Rev. Dr. Barr, who conducted her funeral services on Thursday afternoon, spoke feelingly of her passing and paid a high tribute to her memory, as did the large gathering of friends, neighbors and relatives from far and near. Many beautiful floral tributes were placed lovingly on her bier. Five cousins: Alex. Huston, Scott Huston, Roy Huston, all of Otonabee; E. G. Clifford of Peterborough, John Clifford of Warsaw, and a friend of the family, Fred L. Campbell of North Monaghan, were her bearers. The remains were laid to rest in Little Lake Cemetery.

SHORTAGE OF PORK THREATENING IN U.S

Pigs Rushed To Market Unfinished As Farmers Hold Corn For Fancy Prices

CHICAGO, August 10 (A.P.).— A pork shortage in the United States was threatened to-day as Western farmers held their corn for fancy prices.

Hogs have been hurried to market in "much larger" numbers than usual for the last month, shippers reported, and higher prices this winter or next year were foreseen as a result.

"Confident that prices will rise to fancy heights (September futures were quoted at $1.07¾ a bushel on Saturday), the farmers are holding back their corn to sell, rather than use it as feed, Edward Wynne, provision specialist, explained.

Pork prices were firm, Wynne continued, and in the rush to cash in on the drought from both ends hog growers were getting rid of sows which had not farrowed.

The specialist said this trend would create a pig shortage next year similar to the one the New Deal's crop control program brought in 1935. Five million pigs were killed then.

He pointed out the United States was already importing hams from Poland and beef from the Argentine.

WASHINGTON, August 10 (A.P.). A shift of millions of acres of land in the great plains from crop farming to stock ranching and other forms of grazing was termed "necessary to combat continued drought" to-day by the United States Resettlement Administration.

The report said that much of the area which had been designated as "official drought area" during the current arid season was "good farm land capable of producing profitable crops" with normal rainfall. The Administration said that emergency Federal measures would suffice in these, such as loans and relief jobs.

These three types of readjustment were suggested: Conversion of crop land to grazing range, increases in size of existing farm units, and small water reservoir projects to assure live stock feed.

NEGRO CONFESSES HE SHOT TO DEATH HELEN CLEVENGER

said finally, "but I didn't kill her. Roddy killed her."

He referred to L. D. Roddy, a negro bell boy who was held as a suspect for ten days.

The officers took Moore and the pistol to the court house and went for Roddy. The two negroes were locked in a room together for an hour.

Then Moore sent word that he would talk, and confessed that he alone murdered the petite blonde girl who came to the fashionable resort hotel for a vacation with an uncle.

"I slipped in a side door of the hotel about 9.30 at night," Moore said. "I had the pistol. I was after money. I hid in a storage room in the basement until about 12.45 a.m., then I crept up the stairs to the second floor. I tried the doors of 218 and 219 but they were locked.

Sees Pistol, Screams.

"Then I went to 224 (Miss Clevenger's room), and it was unlocked. I opened the door and went in. She was on the bed. The bed light was on.

"'What do you want?' she asked me.

"'I thought this room was unoccupied,' I told her.

"'If you don't leave I'll call the office,' she told me. She got up and started towards the door. When she got about 18 inches from me she saw the pistol. She screamed. I immediately shot her.

"She sank on the floor on her knees, and I hit her in the face with the pistol butt. I then went to the bed and unscrewed the bulb in the bed light. She screamed again. I hit her in the face again.

"She fell over backwards, with her legs doubled under her, just like she was found. I hit her two or three more times in the face and then started out.

"I did not attack her or even try to, No, sir.

"When I got to the door I saw Mr. Pittman (E. B. Pittman, guest at the hotel) in the hall, and he saw me, but the light was awful dim. He asked me did I hear that noise. I said yes. I was wondering about it, and then he went back in his room. I went down the stairs."

Might Have Shot Others.

"What would you have done if Pittman or anybody else had tried to stop you?" Sheriff Brown asked Moore.

"I would have shot them," Moore replied.

Elevator service in the courthouse was ordered stopped and all visitors were barred from the entire building as a precaution against possible mob violence. Sheriff Brown said, however, that the precautions was only routine and that there had been no mob threat.

Millmen Win Close Softball Fixture

CAMPBELLFORD, August 10. — Pal Peloquin's Mill team, front runners in the Town League, added another win to their long list of victories on Friday evening last when they defeated Bill Sarginson's Millionaires by a score of 8-3 in one of the most interesting games of the season. The Millmen were in luck right from the start, retiring the money men on a nice double play when Danny Flint banged one right into Don Holmes' mitt, who passed on to Montgomery, cutting off McKay at second, Montgomery in turn beating the runner to first. From then on the game was close and exciting and marked by brilliant fielding on both teams, but a five-run rally in the fifth settled the issue for the Clothmakers. Angus Robertson starred for the losers, smashing out a mammoth drive to deep centre in the second bringing Upton home ahead of him. Hugh Mind, Benny Morton, Frank O'Sullivan, and Bob Upton were the other heavy hitters of the evening who accounted for the scoring.

TWO WAR BUDDIES MEET IN HASTINGS

Spent Weeks Together Convalescing—First Re-union In 19 Years Later

HASTINGS, August 10.—Nineteen years ago local Lockmaster Claude Hoarde and Alexander McLaughlin, now of Cordova Mines, were wounded in France and admitted to the same hospital where they were placed in cots side by side. After some weeks in France they were taken to England, and there spent weeks together in the hospital. After leaving the English hospital these two veterans did not meet again until McLaughlin happened to be in Hastings the past week and met his old hospital "buddie." McLaughlin informed The Examiner that when he first saw Hoarde he never thought he would ever survive his injuries.

Thees two veterans had plenty to ask one another when they met after a separation of nineteen years.

room to see whether the contents of the lavender diary will be plastered on the court records.

The entire Astor-Thorpe feud probably will hinge on whether the 250 purple pagesof Miss Astor's memory book, in which she supposedly wrote revealing things about some of Hollywood's ranking Romeos, will be spread before the public.

If the diary goes into the record even the most sanguine observers are convinced it will precipitate a legal free-for-all that will make movie history, and probably jar the film world to its heels.

Settlement is Possible

If Miss Astor's attorney, moon-faced Roland Rich Woolley, succeeds in supressing the scented manuscript—now safely locked in the office safe of Joseph Anderson, Dr. Thorpe's attorney—there is better than an even chance the case will be settled out of court.

Meanwhile several film celebrities whose names have been mentioned in connection with the diary, faced anxious moments. Two noted film personalities — Playwright George Kaufman and Actor John Barrymore, "great lover" of the screen who is ill in a sanitarium —are expected to be called to testify.

Kaufman, the six-foot playwright with high forehead and horn-rimmed spectacles, has a deceivingly non-romantic appearance.

Miss Astor candidly admitted a love affair with the writer — who authored such notable successes as "As Thousands Cheer," "Dinner at Eight" and "Broadway"—but she insisted it was all over and "condoned" before Dr. Thorpe sued for divorce.

Judge Knight has indicated he will permit only passages in the gossipy memory book which bear on Miss Astor's fitness to have custody of Marylyn in the records.

The actress' attorneys are expected to demand the entire diary —which they claim consists only of "random thoughts, unformulated and unacted upon"—be admitted into evidence, or none of it be allowed.

The "whole hog or nothing" move is designed to serve the double purpose of scaring certain prominent persons who might be able to influence Dr. Thorpe into calling off his dogs; and also to inject into the record certain passages which Miss Astor hinted her ex-husband "might not like to have bruited about."

Pat Howard Turns Up In Port Arthur After Mission Plane Runs Out Of Gas

HASTINGS, August 10. — Hastings residents will be glad to know that the large Junkers seaplane piloted by Pat Howard, a native of Hastings, with Father Beaucago as a passenger on a flight from Montreal to Edmonton, arrived safely at Port Arthur on Saturday. The fliers had been missing for several days.

The plane arrived in Port Arthur after a forced landing en route from Sault Ste. Marie. It ran out of gasoline over Nipigon Bay, 70 miles east of here. Father Beaucage and Pilot Howard spent the night on the shore, and were then taken to Nipigon by forest fire fighters. There they obtained fuel to permit the journey to Port Arthur.

CROPS ARE FAIR MILLBROOK AREA SOME POOR ONES

Oats, Wheat And Barley Are All Yielding Fair Returns For Season

HAY WAS GOOD

MILLBROOK, August 10.—A fairly complete crop report for Millbrook and district, to date, includes the following returns.

Alfalfa: A fresh seeding, or a first year's cutting has given fair returns, possibly two tons to the acre, or a little more; it is stated, however, that there is practically no seed alfalfa this year.

Red Clover: This also has been a fair crop yielding one and one half tons to the acre, with the second cutting, which was left for seed, not doing well. The clover is short and is not heading well, though there is some seed in it.

Fall wheat has been good, on the whole, yielding from twenty-five to thirty bushels to the acre, according to the quality of the soil. The grain is not as large as in normal years, and some is a little shrunken. Fall wheat is, however, the best crop of this season.

Barley Fair

Barley varies greatly with some fields that have been threshed giving a return of good quality grain, while from the other fields the grain is said to be "like what would come out of the rear end of the fanning-mill." Altogether barley will not likely be more than half a crop.

Peas looked well up to the time of podding, and while there seldom have been more little pods seen on the vines, the unfortunate fact is that only a comparative few developed. About two to six bushels to the acre comprises the returns so far.

Oats, from some fields, have been giving satisfactory returns considering the season. The straw is not long, but heads are fairly well filled though there will be a lot of very light oats in all fields this year, while in some cases the grain is characterized as "very poor." Later oats seem to be filling pretty well, but taken altogether, the crop is not over half what is should be.

Root Crop

Corn in this section had a light planting. Some of it is good, some very short and giving little promise. Early potatoes gave a good yield, generally speaking, though some farmers report theirs as far from normal in quantity. Later potatoes are still quite green, and given a good rain in the immediate future will likely provide a good crop.

Mangels are reported as doing well with a good stand, and keeping their color satisfactorily, but turnips did not come up except in spots and are not actually a quarter of a crop. On account of the unusually dry weather, a second sowing has not been worthwhile.

The promise is, however, that if rain came soon and in sufficient quantity, greystones might do all right, providing a sowing in the very near future were made possible.

Hay, on the whole, was a good crop, but some farmers, who had a field of light oats, cut same and fed to the cattle.

DUMMER BUSH FIRE STILL SMOULDERING IN PEATY GROUND

Started August 1 But Was Checked Early Last Week By Farmers

RAIN GREATLY NEEDED

Fire in the bush west of Frank Harding's house in the Bethel church section of Dummer township was still burning in scattered places Sunday. It started during the afternoon of Saturday, August 1, and did considerable damage in swamp and wood lands from that outbreak until early in the week. Water from wells and larger quantities hauled by truck from Warsaw, combined with protective trenching, checked the fire, and by the middle of the week it seemed to have been conquered. But, later it kept breaking out in patches, and required constant watch by men who were finally employed to stay in the woods as temporary rangers.

Six or seven of them were on duty Sunday. Some smoke hung over the trees in the woods south of the Lakefield - McCracken's Landing road, but the Examiner was informed that the fire was completely under control and that the worst stage seemed to have been passed.

The fire has been smouldering in the ground, especially where layers of peaty humus was so dry and combustible that only a drenching rain would extinguish these smoking sectors. Wells are running dry in the Dummer district, it was reported, but farmers believed that rain would not be much longer delayed.

It was stated that the most damage had been done in woods owned by Frank Harding and Vincent Dunsford.

Mourners occupied about half of the regular seating accommodation of St. Paul's, and the large number of sympathizing friends present testified to the great respect in which the deceased was held.

The service was conducted by Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell. The hymns were, "Rock of Ages," "Cast Thy Care on Jesus" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." Rural Dean Caldwell's message of consolation was based on Rom. 6:22, "The gift of God is eternal life."

MISS M. ELIZABETH SWINTON

(Contributed)

At Nicholls Hospital on Monday, July 27, there passed away one of Smith Township's most highly-respected citizens in the person of Miss Medda Elizabeth Swinton. Miss Swinton was born and lived her life within a few miles of Peterborough, being the elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Swinton, who predeceased her some years ago. She is survived by an only sister, Mrs. Archie Ackison. Miss Swinton had not enjoyed the best of health for a long time, but only quite recently had her condition become serious and alarming to her friends; thus her unexpected passing was a great shock to a host of friends. She was an ardent Christian girl, keenly interested in her rural Sunday school, Lily Lake, all Red Cross work and also the many activities of her church. To relieve the needy, help the poor and send rays of sunshine and love to her many sick or suffering friends and neighbors were always a source of great joy to her. Her darkest clouds in life were brightly tinged with silver, always her chief aim in life was to do all the good she could. Miss Swinton was a life-long member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Peterborough. Rev. Dr. Barr, who conducted her funeral services on Thursday afternoon, spoke feelingly of her passing and paid a high tribute to her memory, as did the large gathering of friends, neighbors and relatives from far and near. Many beautiful floral tributes were placed lovingly on her bier. Five cousins: Alex. Huston, Scott Huston, Roy Spears, all of Otonabee, R. G. Clifford of Peterborough, John Clifford of Warsaw, and a friend of the family, Fred L. Campbell of North Monaghan, were her bearers. The remains were laid to rest in Little Lake Cemetery.

SHORTAGE OF PORK THREATENING IN U.S

Pigs Rushed To Market Unfinished As Farmers Hold Corn For Fancy Prices

CHICAGO, August 10 (A.P.).— A pork shortage in the United States was threatened to-day as Western farmers held their corn for fancy prices.

Hogs have been hurried to market in "much larger" numbers than usual for the last month, shippers reported, and higher prices this winter or next year were foreseen as a result.

"Confident that prices will rise to fancy heights (September futures were quoted at $1.07¾ a bushel on Saturday), the farmers are holding back their corn to sell, rather than use it as feed, Edward Wynne, provision specialist, explained.

Pork prices were firm, Wynne continued, and in the rush to cash in on the drought from both ends hog growers were getting rid of sows which had not farrowed.

The specialist said this trend would create a pig shortage next year similar to the one the New Deal's crop control program brought in 1935. Five million pigs were killed then.

He pointed out the United States was already importing hams from Poland and beef from the Argentine.

WASHINGTON, August 10 (A.P.). A shift of millions of acres of land in the great plains from crop farming to stock ranching and other forms of grazing was termed "necessary to combat continued drought" to-day by the United States Resettlement Administration.

The report said that much of the area which had been designated as "official drought area" during the current arid season was "good farm land capable of producing profitable crops" with normal rainfall. The Administration said that emergency Federal measures would suffice in these, such as loans and relief jobs.

These three types of readjustment were suggested: Conversion of crop land to grazing range, increases in size of existing farm units, and small water reservoir projects to assure live stock feed.

NEGRO CONFESSES HE SHOT TO DEATH HELEN CLEVENGER

said finally, "but I didn't kill her. Roddy killed her."

He referred to L. D. Roddy, a negro bell boy who was held as a suspect for ten days.

The officers took Moore and the pistol to the court house and went for Roddy. The two negroes were locked in a room together for an hour.

Then Moore sent word that he would talk, and confessed that he alone murdered the petite blonde girl who came to the fashionable resort hotel for a vacation with an uncle.

"I slipped in a side door of the hotel about 9.30 at night," Moore said. "I had the pistol. I was after money. I hid in a storage room in the basement until about 12.45 a.m., then I crept up the stairs to the second floor. I tried the doors of 218 and 219 but they were locked.

Sees Pistol, Screams.

"Then I went to 224 (Miss Clevenger's room), and it was unlocked. I opened the door and went in. She was on the bed. The bed light was on.

"'What do you want?' she asked me.

"'I thought this room was unoccupied,' I told her.

"'If you don't leave I'll call the office,' she told me. She got up and started towards the door. When she got about 18 inches from me she saw the pistol. She screamed. I immediately shot her.

"She sank on the floor on her knees, and I hit her in the face with the pistol butt. I then went to the bed and unscrewed the bulb in the bed light. She screamed again. I hit her in the face again.

"She fell over backwards, with her legs doubled under her, just like she was found. I hit her two or three more times in the face and then started out.

"'I did not attack her or even try to, No, sir.

"When I got to the door I saw Mr. Pittman (E. B. Pittman, guest at the hotel) in the hall, and he saw me, but the light was awful dim. He asked me did I hear that noise. I said yes, I was wondering about it, and then he went back in his room. I went down the stairs."

Might Have Shot Others.

"What would you have done if Pittman or anybody else had tried to stop you?" Sheriff Brown asked Moore.

"I would have shot them," Moore replied.

Elevator service in the courthouse was ordered stopped and all visitors were barred from the entire building as a precaution against possible mob violence. Sheriff Brown said, however, that the precautions was only routine and that there had been no mob threat.

Millmen Win Close Softball Fixture

CAMPBELLFORD, August 10. — Pal Peloquin's Mill team, front runners in the Town League, added another win to their long list of victories on Friday evening last when they defeated Bill Sarginson's Millionaires by a score of 8-3 in one of the most interesting games of the season. The Millmen were in luck right from the start, retiring the money men on a nice double play when Danny Flint banged one right into Don Holmes' mitt, who passed on to Montgomery, cutting off McKay at second, Montgomery in turn beating the runner to first. From then on the game was close and exciting and marked by brilliant fielding on both teams, but a five-run rally in the fifth settled the issue for the Clothmakers. Angus Robertson starred for the losers, smashing out a mammoth drive to deep centre in the second bringing Upton home ahead of him. Hugh Kind, Benny Morton, Frank O'Sullivan, and Bob Upton were the other heavy hitters of the evening who accounted for the scoring.

The next schedule game is billed for to-night (Monday) when Lee Stover's St. John's meet the "Mill" team at the High School grounds.

The line-ups:

Millionaires — Nind, cf; McKay, 2b; D. Flint, p; Upton, 3b; Robertson, 1b; Morton, ss; Paul O'Sullivan, rf; Frank O'Sullivan, c; Reddick, lf.

The game by innings:

TWO WAR BUDDIES MEET IN HASTINGS

Spent Weeks Together Convalescing—First Re-union In 19 Years Later

HASTINGS, August 10.—Nineteen years ago Local Lockmaster Claude Hoarde and Alexander McLaughlin, now of Cordova Mines, were wounded in France and admitted to the same hospital where they were placed in cots side by side. After some weeks in France they were taken to England, and there spent weeks together in the hospital. After leaving the English hospital these two veterans did not meet again until McLaughlin happened to be in Hastings the past week and met his old hospital "buddie." McLaughlin informed The Examiner that when he first saw Hoarde he never thought he would ever survive his injuries.

These two veterans had plenty to ask one another when they met after a separation of nineteen years.

Bush Fires Said To Be Of Incendiary Origin

Seventeen Small Fires Reported In One Day In The Trent District

Nine Fires Are Reported In Methuen Township On Monday

POLICE INVESTIGATE

Arrest Said To Have Been Made In Kaladar Township Fire

Incendiarism is ascribed by District Forester A. W. Crosbie of Tweed as the cause of nine of seventeen bush fires which fared-up in the Trent district of the Ontario Forestry Department on Monday. All fires in the district are stated to be under control.

"Nine fires in Methuen township yesterday were of incendiary origin, and Provincial Constable Kidd of Madoc assisted by Chief Fire Ranger Brough of Bancroft investigated, but unfortunately were unable to get enough evidence to secure a conviction," Forester Crosbie declared. He claimed that men from the look-out towers had kept observation on men in the bush and had strong reason to suspect that the fires had been deliberately started.

Asked why anyone should desire to deliberately start a bush fire, the District Forest said: "For the creation of blueberry patches and deer grazing." He explained that land which has been burned over usually produces fine crops of blueberries, while for the first two years following a bush fire the young undergrowth gets very lush and provides good pasturage for deer.

Two in Galway

In addition to the nine outbreaks of fire in Methuen township, there were two small bush fires caused by lightning in Galway township; a bush fire in Glamorgan township from an undetermined cause; one in Tudor township; one in Barrie, and one in Renfrew county.

Forester Crosbie, commenting on the fire situation in Kaladar township northeast of Tweed, which is outside his own district, said police were investigating there in the belief that recent fires have been of incendiary origin. Provincial Constable Barrett of Napanee is reported to have made an arrest in Kaladar township of an alleged incendiarist. "I sincerely hope they secure a conviction in that case," the Forester said.

He remarked that a number of fires in Kaladar district are still being fought by local settlers, and while the fires are not under control, they are not of such proportions that any undue alarm is being experienced.

Exceptional Condition

Asked if the rain experienced throughout the district had helped fire rangers in their battle against fire outbreaks in tinder-dry bushland, Mr. Crosbie said it had helped some, but he declared, "Less than half an inch of rain has fallen over a greater part of the district since June 28. To be exact the rainfall in Tweed has been only .49 inch in that period. It is an exceptional condition, and one that has given us much anxiety."

The District Forester said he has 85 permanent fire rangers under his jurisdiction and during the fire outbreaks of yesterday had an additional 107 extra helpers battling against the series of fires which were all got under control.

He said that the visibility over the district has greatly improved; smoke

THREE BADLY HURT AS AUTO STRIKES TROLLEY IN GUELPH

Machine So Badly Crumpled Difficulty Experienced In Removing Victims

ONE MAY NOT LIVE

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 11.—(CP)—Three persons are in St. Joseph's hospital believed seriously injured following a crash between a street-car and an automobile early to-day.

The injured are Andrew Morell, Fort Niagara, N.Y.; Tony Albanese, Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Rose Trembley, 27, Sudbury. The men are believed to be associated with a baseball team.

Earl Smith, driver of the street car, escaped injury. He jumped backward quickly when the coupe in which the three were riding collided almost head-on with the radial. The car was completely wrecked.

Motorman Jumps in Time

The street car was on its first trip of the day, and there was only one passenger aboard. Earl Smith, conductor, stopped the trolley when he observed the car coming towards him and he ran back from the front of the radial, avoiding a shower of glass from the front windok.

Morell, driver of the car, suffered a fractured skull, a fractured jaw and an eight-inch gash in his scalp which exposed the brain. Albanese and Miss Tremblay have severe head and face lacerations. Morell has little chance of surviving the accident.

The front part of the car was crurapied up like a concertina and difficulty was experienced in removing the victims from the wreckage.

The two men were members of Kennedy's baseball team of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and they had played against a House of David team in Owen Sound last night.

OTTAWA WOMAN 101

Credits Longevity to Comfortable Home, Little Worry, Being Good Christian.

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—(CP).—Mrs. Elizabeth Abbott to-day celebrated her 101st birthday anniversary in bed, without candles, a birthday cake or other fuss. She has been an invalid several years. The old woman said she attributed her longevity to a quiet existence in a comfortable home, little worry or hardship, and the fact she has been a "good Christian."

Where They Get 'Em.

TRENT RIVER, August 11.— The biggest muskinonge of the season was landed here on Monday morning by Mr. H. B. Cutlip of Youngstown, Ohio, while trolling from a motor boat with John Sedgwick. The fish tipped the scales at 18 pounds; length 45 inches, girth 17 inches, width across the mouth 6 inches. The bait used was a pikey minnow. Mr. Cutlip is a guest at the Sedgwick House.

ARTHUR Landstrim of Cleveland, Ohio, is one American visitor who will go home satisfied that there are plenty of fish to be caught in the Kawarthas. The other day he came home with a string of six bass and several fine pickerel after a day's fishing in Rice Lake. Two of the bass were over the four-pound mark. He had his best luck in Hatrick's Bay near Fairview, where he is vacationing.

ANGLING in a stream located near the village of Millbrook, Monday evening, H. Ross Edmunds caught a string of nine brook trout aggregating a weight of over thirteen pounds. The largest trout of the string tipped the balance at 3¼ pounds, with others weighing 2¾ pounds, 2¼ pounds, 1¼ pounds, and five which averaged ¾ pound each.

BUCKSAW CONTEST LIKELY BE SEEN IN THE NEWSREEL

Universal Newsreel Company Is Considering Sending Camera Man

IN EXHIBITION WEEK

The novelty of The Examiner's Bucksaw Contest is appealing to the Universal Newsreel Company, and the men who go after the championship and the prize money here next week are likely to find themselves in the movies.

An enquiry from Universal's field cameraman from Ottawa this morning asked for full details of this event with the comment that he believed it would be worth filming.

"Upon hearing from you with as much information as you can give, I shall get in touch with my editor in New York for his okay," George H. Valiquette announced, and the details are being forwarded to him.

This enquiry is an indication of the interest The Examiner's Bucksaw Contest is arousing generally, and the first entry has already been filed for this morning feature of Exhibition week.

McQUESTEN BLOCKS WELLAND TUNNEL

Wouldn't Be Warranted Minister Says Of St. Catharines Traffic Proposal

TORONTO, Aug. 11. — (CP). — Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Ontario Minister of Highways, said to-day the extra cost of building a tunnel under the Welland Canal, as proposed by St. Catharines City Council, to carry traffic on the projected Hamilton-Niagara Falls highway "wouldn't be warranted."

Council last night passed a resolution asking the Provincial and Dominion Governments to consider the proposal since increasing traffic on the Welland Canal would necessitate so much raising of bridges and delays would inconvenience motorists.

Describing the proposal as "a pretty expensive business," Mr. McQuesten said the Government was not considering it. There was another difficulty in the suggestion, he added, since construction of a tunnel would establish a water level in the canal, making future deepening impossible.

Motorists faced the same problem, he said, at the Burlington Canal where a bridge must be raised on the heavily-travelled Toronto-to-Niagara Falls highway to allow boats to enter Hamilton harbor.

ONTARIO FORESTS CONTINUE ABLAZE SCORE OF FRONTS

Smoke So Dense Plane Pilots Have Difficulty In Locating New Breaks

NEW BREAK BURKS FALLS

(By the Canadian Press.)

On a score of fire fronts from Lake Superior to the Muskoka district firefighters were battling new blazes eating through Ontario's timberlands to-day. Yesterday lightning started a dozen more fires in various parts of the province.

Fire started in inaccessible areas of the Sault Ste. Marie fire district, bringing the total in that area to 48, as 800 men fought to keep them in check.

Smoke is so heavy throughout the district airplane pilots are reporting difficulty in spotting fires. So strenuous has the work been during the last month that the Ontario Air Service's record for July doubled that of July last year, 2,364 hours compared to 1,058.

In the Sudbury district 55 fires were being fought and of that number 18 were reported yesterday.

About 500 men are fighting fires in the Sault district. More serious fires there are in the Webbwood division, near Shakespeare and near Collins Inlet. A transport plane is carrying men and supplies to the outlying districts.

Orillia Area Safe

Reports from Orillia said fires in that area, which at one time were in the vicinity of the village of Upthoff, had been brought under control.

In the same area a fire at Gloucester Pool, summer resort on Georgian Bay, near Coldwater, was brought under control after approaching to within half a mile of several cottages. About 400 acres of timber were destroyed.

Fire burning in a 100-acre tract near Welland was practically extinguished yesterday by rain, and for the first time in several days the city was free of smoke.

Smoke was hanging over Burks Falls, in the Parry Sound district, as bush fires were reported in that area. Forty men were fighting a fire in Golden Valley. Another bush fire is reported at Sand Lake, 10 miles east of Burks Falls.

Britain Finds Pledge to Aid Portugal with One Warship

Musty Document Guarantees Vessel To Carry At Least Ten Culverins

GIVE WORLD A LAUGH

By George Hambleton
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, August 11 (C.P. Cable) —The musty archives of Whitehall reveal the possibility of some strange developments in the Spanish Civil War.

Portugal has agreed to the French hands-off proposal in principle, but wants assurance of protection if uncontrolled Communism bursts across her frontiers. Now Britain has some old, almost forgotten treaties of guarantee with Portugal. To Britain the Portuguese demand is of particular point.

As a consequence there has been much examination of old documents. And it has been found one requires that Britain, if need be, go to the assistance of Portugal with a warship carrying at least 10 culverins.

Portugal has not so far called on Britain to implement this treaty.

Some legal pundits hold the dreary opinion it is inconsistent with the League of Nations Covenant and therefore invalid. Which is a pity. For the sight of a British naval crew demonstrating with 10 culverins from the decks of a 16th century windjammer would give joy to the worried world.

WITNESSES FAIL TO AGREE UPON ROAD'S SURFACE

Open Verdict Is Returned In The Death Of Mrs. Edith Sargent

MUCH DISAGREEMENT

Jury Finds Road Properly Marked While Under Construction

Returning an open verdict at the adjourned inquest held under Assistant Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young on Monday evening, the jury found that Mrs. Edith Sargent met her death on Highway 28 on August 3 by being thrown against the top of the car in which she was riding in the back seat, while the car was crossing a newly constructed culvert. They further decided that the woman died as the result of a contusion of the head and dislocation of her neck, and declared the road was properly marked while under construction.

Evidence Contradicted

The evidence of Hugh Robertson, 304 Frederick avenue, Department of Highways engineer who testified that the road at the scene of the accident, located two-and-a-half miles north of Young's Point, had an eight inch rise in eight feet was contradicted by the evidence of Constable William Piercy, Kenneth Sine, former employee of the Highways Department, and Miss Annie Howlett who was at the wheel of the car when the accident occurred.

Mr. Robertson described the road as being full of short hills that are at present being levelled out, and said that at the scene of the accident there is a 24-inch corrugated iron culvert covered with a filling of hard earth.

Asked his opinion of the cause of the accident, he told Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., "The car must have been going faster than it should have been".

He gave evidence that at 7.15 a.m. on the day following the accident he took measurements. There had been no changes made to the road at that time. He produced a plan he had prepared of the scene of the accident, based on the measurements he had taken.

Warning Signs.

Questioned as to why traffic could not have been detoured on an alternative route, Mr. Robertson declared the other suggested route would not have been safe. Two cars could not pass in safety on the other road, and in any event the policy of the Highways Department has been to keep roads open for traffic while work is going on. There were warning signs at different points on the road and one half mile north of the scene of the accident near the contractor's camp marked "Danger Go Slow".

Constable Piercy testified he measured sixteen inches of earth on top of the culvert and said that on the south side of the mound there was a drop of ten inches.

Asked if the sketch submitted by Mr. Robertson agreed with observations he had made the officer replied, "No sir". He stated that when he went to investigate on the

Girl Instantly Killed When Car Hits Truck On Watertrough Hill

American Tourists In Bad Crash With Asphalt-Laden Truck

TWO BADLY INJURED

Standing On Shoulder Of Road Truck Was Unoccupied

The life of Eva Ruska, pretty 20-year-old girl from Erie, Pennsylvania, was claimed in an automobile smash on Watertrough Hill, four miles west of the city, at noon to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Herschel H. Corn of Erie are in Nicholls Hospital with undetermined injuries.

The three were travelling toward Peterborough in a light sedan and were descending from the crest of the hill when they crashed almost head-in into the rear of a Department of Highways truck loaded with asphalt. Standing on the shoulder of the road, the truck was unoccupied. James C. Campbell of Bailieboro, in charge of the truck, and two fellow workmen were eating their lunch in the shade of a tree a few feet from the road and were eye-witnesses.

Travelled Down Shoulder

A defective steering gear or a blow-out is thought to have caused the Corn car to leave the asphalt and strike the truck. Tire marks commencing 80 feet from the point of collision indicated the passenger car travelled in a straight course down the shoulder. The right-hand side of the car tore into the left rear portion of the truck. The radiator portion of the passenger compartment were sheared off.

Mrs. Vernon Kennedy, resident in a farm nearby, heard the crash and ran with her son, Ross, to the scene. They found the three pinned in the wreckage which had slewed around and come to a stop in the centre of the road a few feet from the truck. Frantically they pried twisted metal loose and freed Mr. Corn from the driver's seat and lifted Miss Ruska from the right front seat. She was already dead, the crumpled steel roof and the shattered dashboard structure having crushed her skull. Mrs. Corn was removed from the rear seat.

Ambulances were summoned and Mr. and Mrs. Corn were rushed to Nicholls Hospital on the order of a doctor who reached the scene within a few minutes. First aid had been rendered by Mrs. Kennedy and others who gathered. Mrs. Corn

207 CANDIDATES NOMINATED FOR 90 SEATS IN QUEBEC

Duplessis Party Enters Man In Each Riding—Liberals In All But Two

MAJORITY 2-WAY FIGHTS

QUEBEC, Aug. 11.— (CP)—Beat of the political tom-toms quickened perceptibly to-day with only six days of Quebec's election campaign remaining. Strength of the field is known, too, for nominations for the election Aug. 17 closed yesterday and revealed 207 candidates in the field for the Legislative Assembly's 90 seats.

Union Nationale, headed by Maurice Duplessis, have placed a solid phalanx of 90 candidates in the field. Liberal supporters of Premier Adelard Godbout's government number 88, having failed to place candidates in two divisions against men known to be friendly to them. Candidates other than Union Nationale or Liberal totalled 29, including Cooperative Commonwealth Federation, Labor, Communists, Conservatives, a People's candidate, Independent Liberals, Independent Union Natoinale men and a few plain "Independents."

In 66 seats the struggle for the voters' favor resolved itself into a two-party fight between government supporters and their Union Nationale rivals. In Jacques Cartier, Fred Monk, an "Independent" with government leanings, opposed Anatole Carignan, Union Nationale, without a Liberal opponent. In the other 23 constituencies there were three or more candidates for each seat.

Two Leaders Opposed

Premier Godbout faced a lone Union Nationale candidate, Joseph Bilodeau, in his home riding of L'Islet. Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale chief, was opposed in Three Rivers by Philippe Bigue, Liberal candidate.

When Paul Gouin, leader of the Action Liberale Nationale group, allied with Duplessis and his Conservatives to form the opposition in the last House, broke with the Union Nationale leader after the last session, he declared the Action Liberale Nationale had withdrawn from Quebec's electoral battle.

Nominations yesterday, however, showed all 25 of his A.L.N. supporters of other days still in the thick of the fray, 22 of them under the Union Nationale banner, two as Independent Liberals and one as an Independent. Mr. Gouin himself is out of the campaign.

Fire Swings Away From King's Ranch

CALGARY, Aug. 11. — (CP). — Fire lines were drawn across the Castle River area in the foothills country of Southern Alberta to-day to check the spread of forest fires that have burned over 100 square miles of timber and brush.

Men were deployed into the Kananaskis valley, scene of another of the six major fires, where a 12-mile tract of timber set aside by the Dominion Government as a forestry experimental station, was still prey to a blaze beyond control.

Flames nearest the "R.P." ranch of King Edward, near Pekisko, were reported moved back a distance of six miles in the wake of an east wind. The property was in no immediate danger.

Sees Canada First-Class Power In Quarter Century

Yorkshire Post Comments On Bennett's Forthcoming Empire Tour

"WILL BENEFIT NATION"

By Thomas T. Champion
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Aug. 11.—"Nothing, it seems, can prevent Canada becoming a first-class power before the end of the next quarter-century," declares the Yorkshire Post to-day in commenting on the forthcoming Empire tour of former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

The Post recalls Disraeli's saying on the creation of Ottawa as the capital of Canada that one day it would be the capital of the British Empire. "That prophesy, however fantastic," the Post comments, "was remembered 70 years later when the Empire statesmen went to the Ottawa conference."

Alluding to crtain Empire divergencies in the outlook on external affairs, the Post remarks concerning Australia's attitude to Imperial defence that her situation in the Pacific raises certain problems which perhaps Ottawa has not yet fully appreciated.

"Australia, for instance," the Post adds, "knows that unless the Singapore base is completed the grand fleet cannot operate in the Pacific."

"Canada herself," the Post concludes, "is [illegible] Bennett's tour. Students of Imperial affairs can only regret his example is not more widely followed."

ONE MAY NOT LIVE

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 11.—(CP)—Three persons are in St. Joseph's hospital believed seriously injured following a crash between a street-car and an automobile early to-day.

The injured are Andrew Morell, Fort Niagara, N.Y.; Tony Albanese, Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Roee Trembley, 27, Sudbury. The men are believed to be associated with a baseball team.

Earl Smith, driver of the street car, escaped injury. He jumped backward quickly when the coupe in which the three were riding collided almost head-on with the radial. The car was completely wrecked.

Motorman Jumps in Time

The street car was on its first trip of the day, and there was only one passenger aboard. Earl Smith, conductor, stopped the trolley when he observed the car coming towards him and he ran back from the front of the radial, avoiding a shower of glass from the front windok.

Morell, driver of the car, suffered a fractured skull, a fractured jaw and an eight-inch gash in his scalp which exposed the brain. Albanese and Miss Tremblay have severe head and face lacerations. Morell has little chance of surviving the accident.

The front part of the car was crumpled up like a concertina and difficulty was experienced in removing the victims from the wreckage.

The two men were members of Kennedy's baseball team of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and they had played against a House of David team in Owen Sound last night.

The old woman said she attributed her longevity to a quiet existence in a comfortable home, little worry or hardship, and the fact she has been a "good Christian."

Strike Ties Up Montreal Taxi Service

Seeking reduction in rates paid the Diamond Taxicab Association for concession rights, 1,000 taxi-drivers went on strike in Montreal and paralyzed transportation. BUCKSAW CONTEST LIKELY BE SEEN IN THE NEWSREEL

Universal Newsreel Company Is Considering Sending Camera Man

IN EXHIBITION WEEK

The novelty of The Examiner's Bucksaw Contest is appealing to the Universal Newsreel Company, and the men who go after the championship and the prize money here next week are likely to find themselves in the movies.

An enquiry from Universal's field cameraman from Ottawa this morning asked for full details of this event with the comment that he believed it would be worth filming.

"Upon hearing from you with as much information as you can give, I shall get in touch with my editor in New York for his okay," George H. Valiquette announced, and the details are being forwarded to him.

This enquiry is an indication of the interest The Examiner's Bucksaw Contest is arousing generally, and the first entry has already been filed for this morning feature of Exhibition week.

McQUESTEN BLOCKS WELLAND TUNNEL

Wouldn't Be Warranted Minister Says Of St. Catharines Traffic Proposal

TORONTO, Aug. 11. — (CP). — Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Ontario Minister of Highways, said to-day the extra cost of building a tunnel under the Welland Canal, as proposed by St. Catharines City Council, to carry traffic on the projected Hamilton-Niagara Falls highway "wouldn't be warranted."

Council last night passed a resolution asking the Provincial and Dominion Governments to consider the proposal since increasing traffic on the Welland Canal would necessitate so much raising of bridges and delays would inconvenience motorists.

Describing the proposal as "a pretty expensive business," Mr. McQuesten said the Government was not considering it. There was another difficulty in the suggestion, he added, since construction of a tunnel would establish a water level in the canal, making future deepening impossible.

Motorists faced the same problem, he said, at the Burlington Canal where a bridge must be raised on the heavily-travelled Toronto-to-Niagara Falls highway to allow boats to enter Hamilton harbor.

ONTARIO FORESTS CONTINUE ABLAZE SCORE OF FRONTS

Smoke So Dense Plane Pilots Have Difficulty In Locating New Breaks

NEW BREAK BURKS FALLS

(By the Canadian Press.)

On a score of fire fronts from Lake Superior to the Muskoka district firefighters were battling new blazes eating through Ontario's timberlands to-day. Yesterday lightning started a dozen more fires in various parts of the province.

Fire started in inaccessible areas of the Sault Ste. Marie fire district, bringing the total in that area to 48, as 800 men fought to keep them in check.

Smoke is so heavy throughout the district airplane pilots are reporting difficulty in spotting fires. So strenuous has the work been during the last month that the Ontario Air Service's record for July doubled that of July last year, 2,364 hours compared to 1,058.

In the Sudbury district 55 fires were being fought and of that number 18 were reported yesterday.

About 500 men are fighting fires in the Sault district. More serious fires there are in the Webbwood division, near Shakespeare and near Collins Inlet. A transport plane is carrying men and supplies to the outlying districts.

Orillia Area Safe

Reports from Orillia said fires in that area, which at one time were in the vicinity of the village of Upthoff, had been brought under control.

In the same area a fire at Gloucester Pool, summer resort on Georgian Bay, near Coldwater, was brought under control after approaching to within half a mile of several cottages. About 600 acres of timber were destroyed.

Fire burning in a 100-acre tract near Welland was practically extinguished yesterday by rain, and for the first time in several days the city was free of smoke.

Smoke was hanging over Burks Falls, in the Parry Sound district, as bush fires were reported in that area. Forty men were fighting a fire in Golden Valley. Another bush fire is reported at Sand Lake, 10 miles east of Burks Falls.

WITNESSES FAIL TO AGREE UPON ROAD'S SURFACE

Open Verdict Is Returned In The Death Of Mrs. Edith Sargent

MUCH DISAGREEMENT

Jury Finds Road Properly Marked While Under Construction

Returning an open verdict at the adjourned inquest held under Assistant Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young on Monday evening, the jury found that Mrs. Edith Sargent met her death on Highway 28 on August 3 by being thrown against the top of the car in which she was riding in the back seat, while the car was crossing a newly constructed culvert. They further decided that the woman died as the result of a contusion of the head and dislocation of her neck, and declared the road was properly marked while under construction.

Evidence Contradicted

The evidence of Hugh Robertson, 304 Frederick avenue, Department of Highways engineer who testified that the road at the scene of the accident, located two-and-a-half miles north of Young's Point, had an eight inch rise in eight feet was contradicted by the evidence of Constable William Piercy, Kenneth Sine, former employee of the Highways Department, and Miss Annie Howlett who was at the wheel of the car when the accident occurred.

Mr. Robertson described the road as being full of short hills that are at present being levelled out, and said that at the scene of the accident there is a 24-inch corrugated iron culvert covered with a filling of hard earth.

Asked his opinion of the cause of the accident, he told Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., "The car must have been going faster than it should have been."

He gave evidence that at 7.15 a.m. on the day following the accident he took measurements. There had been no changes made to the road at that time. He produced a plan he had prepared of the scene of the accident, based on the measurements he had taken.

Warning Signs

Questioned as to why traffic could not have been detoured on an alternative route, Mr. Robertson declared the other suggested route would not have been safe. Two cars could not pass in safety on the other road, and in any event the policy of the Highways Department has been to keep roads open for traffic while work is going on. There were warning signs at different points on the road and one half mile north of the scene of the accident near the contractor's camp marked "Danger Go Slow".

Constable Piercy testified he measured sixteen inches of earth on top of the culvert and said that on the south side of the mound there was a drop of ten inches.

Asked if the sketch submitted by Mr. Robertson agreed with observations he had made the officer replied, "No sir". He stated that when he went to investigate on the

Girl Instantly Killed When Car Hits Truck On Watertrough Hill

American Tourists In Bad Crash With Asphalt-Laden Truck

TWO BADLY INJURED

Standing On Shoulder Of Road Truck Was Unoccupied

The life of Eva Ruska, pretty 20-year-old girl from Erie, Pennsylvania, was claimed in an automobile smash on Watertrough Hill, four miles west of the city, at noon to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Herschel H. Corn of Erie are in Nicholls Hospital with undetermined injuries.

The three were travelling toward Peterborough in a light sedan and were descending from the crest of the hill when they crashed almost head-in into the rear of a Department of Highways truck loaded with asphalt. Standing on the shoulder of the road, the truck was unoccupied. James C. Campbell of Bailieboro, in charge of the truck, and two fellow workmen were eating their lunch in the shade of a tree a few feet from the road and were eye-witnesses.

Travelled Down Shoulder

A defective steering gear or a blow-out is thought to have caused the Corn car to leave the asphalt and strike the truck. Tire marks commencing 80 feet from the point of collision indicated the passenger car travelled in a straight course down the shoulder. The right-hand side of the car tore into the left rear portion of the truck. The radiator portion of the passenger compartment were sheared off.

Mrs. Vernon Kennedy, resident in a farm nearby, heard the crash and ran with her son, Ross, to the scene. They found the three pinned in the wreckage which had slewed around and come to a stop in the centre of the road a few feet from the truck. Frantically they pried twisted metal loose and freed Mr. Corn from the driver's seat and lifted Miss Ruska from the right front seat. She was already dead, the crumpled steel roof and the shattered dashboard structure having crushed her skull. Mrs. Corn was removed from the rear seat.

Ambulances were summoned and Mr. and Mrs. Corn were rushed to Nicholls Hospital on the order of a doctor who reached the scene within a few minutes. First aid had been rendered by Mrs. Kennedy and others who gathered. Mrs. Corn

207 CANDIDATES NOMINATED FOR 90 SEATS IN QUEBEC

Duplessis Party Enters Man In Each Riding—Liberals In All But Two

MAJORITY 2-WAY FIGHTS

QUEBEC, Aug. 11.— (CP)—Beat of the political tom-toms quickened perceptibly to-day with only six days of Quebec's election campaign remaining. Strength of the field is known, too, for nominations for the election Aug. 17 closed yesterday and revealed 207 candidates in the field for the Legislative Assembly's 90 seats.

Union Nationale, headed by Maurice Duplessis, have placed a solid phalanx of 90 candidates in the field. Liberal supporters of Premier Adelard Godbout's government number 88, having failed to place candidates in two divisions against men known to be friendly to them. Candidates other than Union Nationale or Liberal totalled 29, including Cooperative Commonwealth Federation, Labor, Communists, Conservatives, a People's candidate, Independent Liberals, Independent Union Natoinale men and a few plain "Independents."

In 66 seats the struggle for the voters' favor resolved itself into a two-party fight between government supporters and their Union Nationale rivals. In Jacques Cartier, Fred Monk, an "Independent" with government leanings, opposed Anatole Carignan, Union Nationale, without a Liberal opponent. In the other 23 constituencies there were three or more candidates for each seat.

Two Leaders Opposed

Premier Godbout faced a lone Union Nationale candidate, Joseph Bilodeau, in his home riding of L'Islet. Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale chief, was opposed in Three Rivers by Philippe Bigue, Liberal candidate.

When Paul Gouin, leader of the Action Liberale Nationale group, allied with Duplessis and his Conservatives to form the opposition in the last House, broke with the Union Nationale leader after the last session, he declared the Action Liberale Nationale had withdrawn from Quebec's electoral battle.

Nominations yesterday, however, showed all 25 of his A.L.N. supporters of other days still in the thick of the fray, 22 of them under the Union Nationale banner, two as Independent Liberals and one as an Independent. Mr. Gouin himself is out of the campaign.

For the first time in 36 years the name of Taschereau is not before the electorate. When he handed over the premiership to Mr. God-

Fire Swings Away From King's Ranch

CALGARY, Aug. 11. — (CP). — Fire lines were drawn across the Castle River area in the foothills country of Southern Alberta to-day to check the spread of forest fires that have burned over 100 square miles of timber and brush.

Men were deployed into the Kananaskis valley, scene of another of the six major fires, where a 12-mile tract of timber set aside by the Dominion Government as a forestry experimental station, was still prey to a blaze beyond control.

Flames nearest the "E.P." ranch of King Edward, near Pekisko, were reported moved back a distance of six miles in the wake of an east wind. The property was in no immediate danger.

Britain Finds Pledge to Aid Portugal with One Warship

Musty Document Guarantees Vessel To Carry At Least Ten Culverins

GIVE WORLD A LAUGH

By George Hambleton
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, August 11 (C.P. Cable) —The musty archives of Whitehall reveal the possibility of some strange developments in the Spanish Civil War.

Portugal has agreed to the French hands-off proposal in principle, but wants assurance of protection if uncontrolled Communism bursts across her frontiers. Now Britain has some old, almost forgotten treaties of guarantee with Portugal. To Britain the Portuguese demand is of particular point.

As a consequence there has been much examination of old documents. And it has been found one requires that Britain, if need be, go to the assistance of Portugal with a warship carrying at least 10 culverins.

Portugal has not so far called on Britain to implement this treaty.

Some legal pundits hold the dreary opinion it is inconsistent with the League of Nations Covenant and therefore invalid. Which is a pity. For the sight of a British naval crew demonstrating with 10 culverins from the decks of a 18th century windjammer would give joy to the worried world.

"WILL BENEFIT NATION"

LONDON, Aug. 11.—"Nothing, it seems, can prevent Canada becoming a first-class power before the end of the next quarter-century," declares the Yorkshire Post to-day in commenting on the forthcoming Empire tour of former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

The Post recalls Disraeli's saying on the creation of Ottawa as the capital of Canada that one day it would be the capital of the British Empire. "That prophesy, however fantastic," the Post comments, "was remembered 70 years later when the Empire statesmen went to the Ottawa conference."

Alluding to certain Empire divergencies in the outlook on external affairs, the Post remarks concerning Australia's attitude to Imperial defence that her situation in the Pacific raises certain problems which perhaps Ottawa has not yet [illegible] adds, "knows that unless the Singapore base is completed the grand fleet cannot operate in the Pacific."

YORK TOWNSHIP'S RATEPAYERS LAY TAX STRIKE PLANS

Resent New Relief Levy — Failure To Pay May Mean Halting Salaries

CROLL WARNS

TORONTO, Aug. 11. — With the receipt of their special red-inked relief tax bills, issued by Queen's Park over the flat refusal of the township council, York Township ratepayers last night were discussing plans to fight the new levy with a tax strike.

In the neighboring municipality of East York the township council arranged to meet Hon. David Croll this morning to urge him to delay the imposition of a similar levy scheduled to go into effect at noon if council has not approved it by then.

York councillors' telephone rang incessantly during the day as many of the municipality's 16,000 taxpayers called to protest. Their comments showed a readiness to join the mooted tax strike despite the warning of the department of municipal affairs that such a move might necessitate delay in payment of municipal and school salaries and wages "until the taxpayers realize the gravity of the situation."

Payment of the tax is required by August 25, and usual penalties provided for delay. About 30 bills were paid yesterday. Whether the department would institute seizure of properties for non-payment is not known since a considerable number of the taxpayers are still trying to pay previous years' assessments.

Appeal to Minister.

East York council held a special private session and appealed to the Minister to withhold the imposition of the tax till Aug. 17, to enable the council to try to find a solution. It declared by resolution that Reeve Arthur Williams was expressing his personal opinion at a York township meeting last week when he advocated a tax strike if the levy were instituted.

"The Minister obviously bases his decision to disallow the appeal on behalf of the municipality because of the personal views expressed by the reeve," the resolution reads. Council's protest followed the issuance of the order for the new tax by Mr. Croll on Saturday in which he characterized Reeve Williams as a "rabble-rouser" attempting to capitalize politically on the situation.

Charging Mr. Croll with attempting to be a "little Caesar and a Hitler," Reeve Williams declared in a statement following the council meeting that "this is the most brazen exhibition of Fascism this country has yet witnessed.

Deputy Reeve Calver reported that fire insurance had been placed on buildings owned by the town.

MARY ASTOR DENIES HOLDING PARTIES IN HER BEDROOM

Warrant Issued For Playwright Kaufman As He Fails To Appear

NEW NAMES DRAGGED IN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—(UP)—Beautiful Mary Astor huddled wearily in one corner of a big witness box yesterday while her ex-husband's attorneys tore at her reputation.

She snapped denials that she entertained film colony celebrities in the bedroom of her Tower Road home.

For three hours, names that jarred the film world were fired at the slender, wan-faced film-mother, to support charges brought by her big-game hunting ex-mate, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, that Miss Astor's romantic meanderings led her to surrender custody of four-year-old Marylyn Thorpe in fear of exposure.

Finally, confronted with a direct insinuation that she entertained George Oppenheimer, screen writer, at her beautiful home overlooking the film colony, Miss Astor said in a hard, nerveless voice:

"I never took Mr. Oppenheimer, or any other gentleman, into Marylyn's bedroom at night; and I did not serve drinks to any man in my bedroom."

Film Folk Stay Away.

During a hot, stuffy day in a courtroom packed with newspapermen, curious onlookers and witnesses—but strangely lacking in film celebrities, who shied away from the Astor-Thorpe child custody row as if it were a plague—the actress heard names of filmland notables associated with her own.

She heard the name of John Barrymore, "great lover" of the screen, who called at her Tower Road home the day after he returned from his celebrated transcontinental "Love Derby" with Elaine Barrie, and "told his troubles" to Miss Astor.

She heard Lawyer Joseph Anderson, her ex-husband's tall, scholarly attorney, hint that Barrymore also drank in her home, and stumbled over little Marylyn, who was playing on the porch.

She heard her confessed love-affair with Playwright George S. Kaufman handled in the records, as a preliminary to introduction of the "Tell All" diary in which Miss Astor wrote in lavender ink how

Canadian Autos Yield $54,587,920 In Revenue

Ontario Heads The Parade With $24,405,547—Gas Tax Main Item

ALL TOTALS UP ON 1934

OTTAWA, August 11. — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics yesterday issued a preliminary report showing registration of motor vehicles, drivers' licenses, gasoline tax and the like in 1935 brought $54,587,920 into Canada's provincial treasuries. The figure compared with a total of $50,622,683 in 1934.

Total revenue from all taxable features of motorized traffic was largest in Ontario. The biggest factor in every province was the gasoline tax; second was registration of pleasure cars. The bureau gave preliminary figures for a year in all the provinces except Nova Scotia, where the total was for the 11 months ended November 9, 1935.

Provincial totals with 1934 figures in brackets:

Use Brush Brooms As Blaze Sweeps Over Fifty Acres On Sproule Farm

LINDSAY, Aug. 11.—(Special).—Fanned by a stiff breeze, a grass fire yesterday swept over nearly fifty acres of land on the farm of Roy Sproule, near Cannington, destroying fences, endangering crops and threatening farm buildings.

A force of more than fifty firefighters controlled the blaze before it reached the crops or buildings, battling it with brush brooms soaked in water which had been rushed from Cannington in a creamery truck.

The Cannington fire department responded to an appeal for help, but before the truck had reached the fire it had been controlled.

The fire started early in the afternoon and spread rapidly, sweeping down on stooks of grain and the outbuildings. Most of the damage was caused to fences.

CORN CROP IN U.S. LIGHTEST 55 YEARS EXPERTS FIGURE

Wheat, Oats, Barley, Other Feed Grains Estimated 42 P.C. Under Ten-Year Average

TARIFF MAY BE CUT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—A government estimate the 1936 corn crop will be the smallest in 55 years served as a guide to-day to relief moves in the United States drought area.

The yield of 1,439,135,000 bushels, estimated by the Crop Reporting Board late yesterday, is the lowest since 1881, when the population of the United States was only 50,155,000 compared with more than 127,000,000 at present.

There was some speculation as to wether President Roosevelt might use his powers under the Tariff Act to reduce the 25 cent per bushel tariff on corn imports or eliminate it on specific purchases for drought needs.

The Great Plains Drought committee of which Morris L. Cooke is chairman, will leave the capital this week-end to start a motor tour from Texas next Tuesday, visiting nine states.

A smaller decline in the production of all wheat was also forecast in the Broad report. Production this year was placed at 632,745,000 bushels compared to the July 1 estimate of 638,399,000 and the five-year average of 863,564,000.

Coupled with the corn shrinkage were declines in forecasted yields of oats, barley and grain sorghum and other feed grains, so the total for the four classifications rated 42 per cent below the 10 year avearage feed production from 1923 to 1932.

The Human Side of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Canadian)

Eamonn de Valera, born in New York City of an Irish mother and a Spanish father, proposes doing the Swedish-Norwegian act as between the Irish Free State and the Kingdom of England. He thinks the time is ripe for John to put down his walking stick and for Pat to lay aside his shillaleh. The battle is over, let us sit down like the Scandinavian and live in peace, so he says in effect.

A lot of Irishmen in Dublin and on this side of the big pond receive this statement of the dour, determined president of Ireland with mixed emotions. A certain Michael Collins thought that the time for peace had come 15 years ago. The same Collins, with others, like Dick Mulcahy, fought the British military to a standstill in the guerilla warfare after the world war.

For 300 years the Irish had been in rebellion. The straightforward George V decided to put an end to it; to pluck the thorn from the side of England. As he said himself, he was sick of the bloodshed. Parliaments and statesmen had failed to solve the Irish question. King George didn't bother about parliaments or statesmen. He asked Collins, Arthur Griffith and De Valera to come to England. He offered them peace, liberty and a full measure of self-government. Ulster was not included. Collins and Griffith accepted. But with De Valera it was whole hog or nothing. He was not satisfid with the spirit—he insisted on the letter.

Abolished Upper House

The Irish Free State was set up. De Valera broke with Collins and Griffith. Collins died by an assassin's bullet and Griffith died a disappointed man. De Valera, the champion of complete independence, came into power. He abolished the office of governor-general, which was unimportant. He engaged in a tariff war with England. He spoke loudly and often in the chambers of the League of Nations and finally he abolished the upper house of the Free State parliament.

There is a lot of doctrinaire about this president of the Irish Free State. He has the cut of the professor and the teacher, and it comes natural to him, for he was a professor of mathematics up to the time that he stood at the business end of a machine gun in the Easter rebellion of 1916.

Has the Strong Hand

De Valera wasn't satisfied with the practical peace of London. He insisted on the idealistic one. Ireland had a civil war and has had 15 years of intermittent turmoil ever since.

The extreme wing of the Irish Republicans which was with De Valera against Collins is now against De Valera, holding him up as a tyrant who will take his place with the English despots.

It is a question of force against force between De Valera and the Irish Republican army. Political murders are taking place again and De Valera has set up military tribunals, special police and has put a ban on the I.R.A. Recently Ireland had its biggest political sensation in years; namely, the arrest and imprisonment of Maurice Twomey, commander of the I.R.A. Twomey was taken as he was leaving church and after a peremptory trial under the Public Safety Act before a military court was sentenced to three years in prison. Perhaps as many as 100 more of the Republicans have suffered a like fate in the past few months.

The opinion in Ireland and England is that De Valera has the upper hand and will be able to take care of the extremists. The trouble is that it may involve bloodshed, perhaps plenty of it. The guns are being run into Ireland for the I.R.A. and an Irishman with a political wrong, real or fancied, in his heart is plenty quick on the trigger.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

"One can't really refuse to feel pain in the heart, any more than they can refuse to feel physical pain—but I can and do feel thankful that I was the victim—and not the one who inflicted the pain. I can forgive the ones who so cruelly wounded me, but I could never forgive myself if I had wounded another."—Pilgrim.

Dear Friends:

Don't you think that this is a lovely quotation from one of the neighbors? We can read and study all we like, but we still remain vulnerable to the mental pain that others inflict on us, the words that hurt at first, or the unkind action, and that returns again and again to stab and burn us.

I have written already about letting others see how much power they have to cause us pain, and I also gave you the antidote, which is indifference. You may say, "Oh but, Roberta, you have no idea how much I have done for that person, and then to have them do a thing like that, why it's simply unbearable. Why cannot they treat me like I have treated them?"

Well I myself have been a fool for endurance in that sort of thing, but NO MORE. If that is what they want to hand out, I can become completely indifferent to them as if they were a piece of furniture I did not particularly care for. It takes a little doing, but not so much as bearing these cuts and slights and criticisms.

Did I ever tell you about the minister who had practised this business of turning the other cheek? Well he had done it for quite a while, then one day he gave a man a sound beating, and when his parishioners asked him "how come" he said I have been hit on the cheek many times, and turned the other cheek, so that now both are calloused, but—THIS FELLOW HIT ME ON THE NOSE.

When the clouds are lowering, and the air is humid and lifeless, and the atmosphere seems to be bearing down on us so we are depressed past endurance, then a good sound thunderstorm clears the air. When conditions around you are lowering and there is the forked tongue of unjust criticism and unkind deeds, then the thunderstorm of righteous wrath will clear the air too.

You can do just as much harm by being too good to people and standing too much, as they do to you. You must set a value on your self, and if you would not hurt anyone else, you must see to it that they do not get the chance to hurt you.

Refuse to listen. Whistle, sing, hum, go away from there, anything to show complete indifference. But—get your thunderstorm over first. Do not give any kindness unasked. Our Lord showed us that. He went about doing good, but they had to ask first.

That is where the majority of us fall down, and I am the chief faller-downer in that respect. Easy come, easy go, is as true when we proffer good deeds unasked as it is in any thing else. We think the one we do these things for will appreciate it, and they very rarely do. Then when we get neglect or downright insolence, we are hurt and grieved.

If you win something, you are elated, but in a little while you don't care a great deal for it, but if you earn something, boy how you enjoy it. So it is with your kind deeds, if they are given freely they are not appreciated, but if they are earned they are valued.

I have been the greatest little bearer of other people's burdens all my life, agonized over them, sought a solution, and sent them on their way rejoicing. This is no exageration. Anyone will tell you, who knows me, that it is the truth. But I am trying to train myself out of it, because it is too painful to be left alone with MY burdens when my turn has come. So now, I bite back the words, I say silent, I become indifferent, and—I am more appreciated than when I so lavishly handed out good deeds unasked. Didn't someone once say that you can have too much of a good thing? Think it over, and send me YOUR opinion.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

General Rules For Canning Of Fruits And Vegetables

Should Be Canned As Soon As Possible After Picking

SAME DAY IS BEST

(By MARY MOORE)

WILL Cookery Page addicts kindly read the following three or four paragraphs attentively? They explain our reserval of opinion (following experiments) regarding canning vegetables in the oven.

In past years we recommanded canning vegetables in the oven because most vegetables belong to the non-acid class which makes it difficult to kill the bacteria on them at 212 degrees Fahr. (which is boiling point—the highest temperature water will reach them without steam pressure).

HOWEVER, some vegetables such as beans, peas, beets, carrots, parsnips, sweet potatoes, corn, pumpkin and squash have a high sugar content, rendering them capable of higher temperatures than boiling point. Hence any of these vegetables in jars in an oven temperature of 275 deg. Fahr. for example, do rise to higher temperatures than 212 deg. Fahr. because of their density and sugar content.

BUT this sugar content is variable and since it is highly impractical to keep housewives informed of the exact temperatures such vegetables can attain, it is wise to discard the method and for all of us to make an effort to buy a pressure cooker or stop canning non-acid vegetables until we can afford one.

OTHERWISE the doubtful process of canning non-acid vegetables becomes an expensive and laborious task when we find ANY portion of the pack spoiled.

It is without reservation that we state fruits and tomatoes can be canned successfully by water bath method—212 deg. Fahr.

With the same emphasis—non-acid vegetables (which constitutes the majority) should be sterilized in pressure cookers at 240 to 250 deg. Fahr. (10 to 15 lbs. pressure).

General Rules for Canning Vegetables

Vegetables should be canned as soon as possible after picking them—the same day is best—and early morning best time for picking.

Wash vegetables with great care, removing every particle of dirt, because the clinging soil may contain harmful bacteria. Prepare as for cooking.

Place in preserving kettle, add boiling water, let cook for five minutes—this process is called blanching. Pack as hot as possible in clean sterile hot jars, adding 1 teaspoon salt to each quart; to corn and peas also add 1 tablespoon sugar. Cover to overflowing with water in which vegetables were blanched which should be kept boiling hot, and if this is not enough make it up with boiling water. Against new sterilized rubber rings, put on sterile tops, seal and process at once in pressure cooker, containing boiling water, level with the rack at bottom. Cover canner, adjust clamps but not tightening them individually—rather screwing each one only two-thirds way down until all are done—then tightening each one after this—open petcock and bring pressure up to 10 lbs., (for corn 15 lbs.); hold it there for time indicated below for specific vegetables. Turn off heat. Let pressure run down to zero, wait 2 minutes, open petcock and gradually remove cover. Take out jars and invert to cool off.

CANNED GREENS (Spinach, Dandelions, Beet Tops).

Wash very thoroughly and rinse free of all sand in several waters, and remove wilted or dead leaves and coarse stems. Steam for 15 minutes, using only an inch of water in bottom of kettle. If you have no steamer put greens in colander and stand in large kettle that has tightly fitting cover. Water should not touch the greens. Pack hot but not too solidly in sterile hot jars, add salted boiling water to fill all crevices, adjust rubbers, tops and rings (as above), and sterilize 1 hour at 10 pounds pressure in pressure cooker.

CANNED STRING BEANS.

Wash stringless beans (yellow pencil or green snap being preferable), and cut in pieces lengthwise or crosswise or leave whole if quite young. Blanch for 1 minute, drain pack in sterile jars boiling hot, add 1 teaspoon salt. Seal tight. Process immediately at 10 pounds pressure for 50 minutes using quart jars.

CANNED BEETS.

Use beets no more than 2 inches in diameter only. Cut off tops one inch from beet, do not trim root—thus retaining color. Cook, starting in cold water, and boil until tender. Put in cold water and slip off skins with hands. Pack as hot as possible in clean sterile jars, add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart. Cover to overflowing with boiling water, seal tight. Process immediately at 10 pounds pressure for 40 minutes.

CANNED CARROTS.

Can same as beets, using only 30 minutes' time in pressure cooker.

CANNED CORN.

Use only tender young sweet corn. Husk and silk it by brushing. Cut from cob. Place cut corn in saucepan with boiling water to barely cover. Heat to boiling. Pack hot as possible in clean sterile jars to within ¼ inch of top. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon sugar to each quart. Cover tight, process immediately at 15 pounds pressure for 90 minutes.

CANNED PEAS.

Use only tender and young peas—shell and wash. Place in saucepan with boiling water to barely cover—heat to boiling. Pack as hot as possible in clean sterile jars, add 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon sugar, filling to overflowing with water in which they were blanched, cover tight and process immediately at 10 pounds pressure for 50 minutes.

CANNED PIMIENTOES.

Use whole, ripe Spanish peppers, that have thick flesh, tough smooth skins, and no ridges. Cut out stems and pith and seeds and pack dry in flattened layers in ½ pint sterile jars. No liquid is added. Add ½ teaspoon salt to each ½ pint. Adjust new rubbers, cover jars tightly. Process in pressure cooker 30 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

CANNED WHOLE TOMATOES (Cold Pack, Hot Water Bath Method.)

Select medium sized solid tomatoes. Wash and plunge in boiling water to loosen skins, and peel and core. Pack carefully in sterile jars, adding 1 teaspoon salt to each quart, fill to overflowing with boiling water or boiling hot strained tomato juice, and sterilize in either over or hot water bath—30 minutes at 215 degrees Fahrenheit and 30 minutes at 250 degrees if oven—or 25 minutes after boiling point is reached if hot water bath. Tomatoes may also be processed in pressure cooker 15 minutes at 5 pounds pressure.

If readers desire to can vegetables we have not mentioned please write us telling which ones and enclosing stamped addressed envelope.

Economy Notes On Using Fats

Tried-Out Cooking Fats May Be Used In Many Ways

Note 1 On Bacon Fat

One expert cook delights during July and August to have leftover bacon fat, for these being the new apple months make the combination of fried apples in bacon fat too delectable to miss. Slice but do not peel apples. To eight apples use one-third cup bacon fat, trying them gently—it is preferable to use apples that will not break up—season with salt and sugar using 1 teaspoon salt and about 3 tablespoons sugar.

Note 2 On Bacon Fat

In place of using butter in a cream sauce for carrots, melt 3 tablespoons bacon fat, to this add 3 tablespoons flour, blend together and add 1½ cups warm milk or evaporated milk which has been thinned with an equal amount of liquid in which carrots were cooked. It is not necessary but chopped parsley make a nice addition to the sauce.

No. 1 On Chicken Fat

In place of using butter in your favorite plain yellow cake substitute with chicken fat—the cake is equally tender and quite delicious.

Note 2 Chicken Fat

Very small new potatoes may be purchased cheaper than the larger sizes right now. Buy these and cook them with their skins on—one time serving them in a parsley and pimiento cream sauce; next time boil till tender, peel and fry in chicken fat until golden and crisp. Both ways are so superior save them for special occasions.

Tested Favorite Recipe

By MARY MOORE.

Whole Green Beans Au Gratin

Prepare whole well developed green beans by removing tips and blossom ends and wash well. Boil in salted water for one half-hour. Prepare cream sauce, by melting 4 tablespoons flour and blending then adding 3 cups hot milk and stirring until well blended and thick. Then add 1¼ cups grated old cheese and stir until blended. In bottom of buttered large casserole put thin layer of cream sauce, then layer of beans and repeat until all beans and cream sauce are used, having cream sauce on top. Sprinkle top with 1-3 cup of grapenuts to which has been added 1-3 cup of grated cheese and well mixed. Sprinkle top with paprika. Put in slow oven of 250 deg. Fahr. to heat through and brown and blend.

A delicious casserole for a company meal or for a vegetable plate. These may be served in individual ramekins.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Aug. 11—About seven o'clock last Thursday evening as Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Reynolds and family of Deloro were returning home in their car, they saw a fine deer cross No. 7 Highway about a hundred yards ahead of them. Taking a southerly direction it jumped the fence on Quinlan's and was soon lost to view among the trees on the property now rented by Thomas Paranuik.

Blueberries Can Be Grown At Home

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—(CP).—It has been demonstarted by the Massachusetts State College that blueberries can be grown at home. Its experiment has been conducted at East Wareham, where a large variety of vines are grown, with varying success, and a blueberry crop produced which finds a ready home market.

Being a new field for most garden owners, it should not be entered without consulting experts. An advantage of a blueberry patch at home is it most logically would be developed as a cultivated berry patch, and cultivated berries are two or three times larger than wild berries. When properly ripened they are fully as sweet.

Cutting Down the Season

The decision of the educational authorities that Ontario's schools must open this year on September 1st instead of on the Tuesday, after Labor Day, is causing plenty of grief these days and it is not all among the children or the teachers. There are two other classes who are protesting the early opening; one composed of the parents whose own vacation is thus being shortened and the second and more important group made up of the proprietors of summer resorts and summer stores who see the all too-short holiday season slashed by a full week as a result.

The complaint of these interests is a legitimate one. Their season, cut off at one end by the change in the fishing laws a few years ago that switched the start of the open season for bass and lunge from June 15th to July 1st is now threatened by the loss of another week's business by the early opening of school. The length of the family vacation is governed in the majority of cases by the date upon which the fall school term begins and if the September 1st date is adhered to this year, the exodus from the summer resorts, instead of holding back until Labor Day will be in full swing a week earlier. There is no denying the fact that this development will be a heavy blow to the summer resort industry which has experienced a number of fairly lean years and would have had a chance this year to get on its feet again if the gain registered over recent seasons were not jeopardized by the premature ending of the holiday period.

The Examiner has no desire to attempt to tell those in charge of education how they should do things but at the same time we do feel that the future of Ontario's school children would not be seriously menaced if the schools did not open until the day after Labor Day. We have an idea that the few days of school before that holiday is out of the way would be more or less waste motion anyway and that many pupils will not register until Labor Day is passed. It was a move in the wrong direction when the change in the date of opening was made and the Board of Education here would make a lot of friends for itself, and incidentally help many people who are trying to make a living out of the summer resort business if it were decided to postpone the school opening until September 8th.

Time To Stop It

The announcement by Hon. Edgar Rochette, Quebec Minister of Game and Fisheries that the Government of the province proposes to place fishing and hunting in Quebec under a special Government bureau to assure systematic conservation efforts may be only a campaign promise but it will appeal to everybody who realizes the sheer necessity of such a step as a progressive and businesslike move.

We have been fooling around too long with this matter, not only in Quebec but in our own province and while we have been doing so one of our greatest assets has been rapidly disappearing. The establishment of a special bureau such as has been promised in Quebec, if it is backed by the courts and the public, should be able to render very useful service in placing fish and game conservation on a business basis where up to the present it has not been. We say "backed by the courts" advisedly for in a good many cases all over the country there has been little enthusiasm shown by some of the judges and magistrates in efforts to prevent the extermination of our wild life.

The time has come, we believe, if anything really effective is to be done, to tighten up the administration of fish and game regulations and for the courts to make examples of the offenders. A contemporary says that the only thing that will save the fish and game in many districts and prevent the permanent loss of a fine revenue is a definite campaign that will teach the public that the game laws must be obeyed, that fish may not be netted or speared, or partridge snared or ducks shot at night or deer jacked and that these fish, birds and animals must not be put on the market or bought or sold. Most certainly there is need for education in that direction and our own district has by no means a clean bill of health.

It Is All Right Now

Here, in the birthplace of the Canadian canoe we are breathing easier again since the cables have brought the news that the single canoe event at the Olympic games has been won by Frank Amyot of Ottawa. We felt that a Canadian should win this race; in fact, we have had the opinion all along that we as citizens of the place where the Canadian canoe, as we know it, was first evolved would never be able to hold up our heads again if a paddler of some other nationality should happen to beat our representatives. In spite of our confidence, however, there were moments of misgiving. We had no way of telling whether or not Uncle Sam had been able to dig up a colored boy who could fairly lift a canoe out of the water; we could not have been sure that some husky Englishman had not been practicing to some purpose on the Thames or a Frenchman had not been spinning along on the Seine at unheard of speed or a Volga boatman had not dropped the oar for a paddle. And so there were times when we wondered and worried.

But it is all right now. Frank Amyot, almost a home towner for he lives only 185 miles down No. 7 highway from here, has saved the day by a clean cut win and the manner in which the Ottawan outclassed his field has maintained Canadian prestige and restored Peterborough morale. Banhuslav Karlik of Czecho-Slovakia was second and a German, Erich Koschik finished in third position and the very sound of those names suggested the disaster that might have been. Think of a Canadian paddler being beaten by a Karlik or a Koschik; shades of the Ridpaths and the Bloomfields and the Blackburns!

Youthful Criminals

In his annual report the other day, Chief Constable Draper, of Toronto, placed the blame for the increase in juvenile crime upon the fact that youngsters who are unable to find jobs drift off the straight and narrow path; in other words the head of Toronto's police department is convinced of the truth of the saying that Satan finds mischief for idle hands to do. However, close to or far off the mark that explanation may be, there is no blinking the fact that juvenile delinquency is on the increase. Figures recently published in regard to Ontario's reformatory population show that in the period covered there were 179 boys of between 15 and 19 in the reformatories and industrial farm and 284 more in the group between 20 and 24 or put it another way one-third of all the prisoners in these institutions are under 25 years of age which is a condition serious enough to cause concern.

It was complained by an educationist recently that we are training too many young people for white collar jobs and perhaps that is true but these figures indicate that we are also training too many youths for much more sinster occupations, giving them a primary education in the reformatories and a secondary course in the penitentiaries and paying a heavy bill for what follows when they put their training into practice in preying upon society.

It is discouraging to think that of the 464 boys under 25 who were in Ontario's reformatories in the five months covered by the report probably 60 per cent will serve repeat sentences and a large proportion will eventually find themselves in the college of the crooks, the penitentiary, from which many of them will emerge confirmed criminals, armed with information secured from contact with other law-breakers.

An Adequate Test

It seems to us that in our efforts to reduce the accident toll in Ontario we might be able to profit from some of the methods for traffic safety that have been put into force in Britain and that are apparently succeeding to a notable degree. In particular, the British stress upon the adequate testing of drivers might be a good field for examination. It is estimated that 400,000 new drivers come on the British roads every year and it is significant that as a result of the stiff tests made of these freshmen motorists, last year more than 14 per cent. failed to measure up to the test and were refused licenses. That means that some 56,000 persons, who were unfit for the responsibility of driving a car would have been on the highways had it not been for the efficacy of the testing system adopted by the British authorities.

It is true that we too have an inspection of drivers before they are granted permits but we doubt very much if anything like 14 per cent. of the applicants are rejected and it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that a good many folk manage to slip through the test who are not really capable of handling a powerful and fast-moving machine like the modern automobile, particularly when its death-dealing potentialities are taken into consideration. It has always seemed, from the actions of many motorists, that the inspection service in their case has completely failed in the object for which it was devised; that is to keep dangerous and unfit drivers off the highways.

British test is each year preventing 50,000 or 60,000 irresponsibles from climbing in behind the wheels of cars and we are very doubtful if our system is proving nearly so efficient proportionately.

Countryside Glimpses

August drowses in its persistent drought, and summer is beginning to look back over its parched months through fields of stunted and pallid grain mourning the fullness of the harvest which mid-June abundantly promised.

Horses that should be hitched to the plow nibble patches of unpalatable grass still faintly green beneath stray clumps of trees. Meadows have shaded off from the portentous brown of July to a weary and desolate yellow from which all life seems to have been burned. Cattle roam over accustomed pastures that are blighted and barren from the long weeks of searing sunshine, unrelieved by rain.

Buckwheat is in flower, expanses of white against the monotonous background of meretricious gold. The wild grape vines drape the old log fences with green bright as the holly of Christmas time. Fields of hardy corn protest the long deprivation of moisture, and the root crops are counting the hours that will bring them refreshment for growth to fill the empty bins in barns.

At seven o'clock in the country the crimson sun sank behind a dark cloud that might bring rain by the morrow. Chattering swifts swirled in their eveing flight and one by one fluttered down into the tall chimney and so to bed.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Another new political party, called the National Jeffersonian Democrats has been launched in the United States. The outfit is handicapped right at the start by the difficulty of getting a name like that on a banner.

A feature of the Labor Day sports in Vancouver this year is to be a rolling pin throwing contest for women. We would bet a book of tickets for last June's Rotary draw that the fellow who planned that event is a bachelor.

They call that funny money in Alberta velocity dollars now. The new name suggests that the Aberhart government may be putting over a fast one.

Canadian fencers were beaten at Berlin and the news of that disaster will be the first intimation a lot of folk in this country have had that we had any fencers over at the Olympics.

The difficulty about conducting a front porch campaign these days is that the wolf on the doorstep is likely to interfere with the success of the operations.

Judging by the political barbs that are being tossed around the United States Olympic committee overlooked some very promising javelin throwers.

Dr. Duncan McArthur says we are training too many for white-collared jobs. Probably, however, the young folk feel they might just as well be out of a white-collar job as out of any other kind.

Members of St. John's Ambulance Brigade are planning to be on hand with their first-aid corps at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. That, we presume is in case the attendance record should be broken.

Chief Constable Draper in his annual report says that the one purpose of the slot-machine racket is 'money-making." Surely no one had any idea the gadgets were operated as an educational medium.

Considering their own records and the keenness of the competition they are facing Canada's Olympic representatives at Berlin are doing very well; in fact much better than most of us expected.

A report from Rome says that Mussolini's personal fortune is in good shape. So far as we were concerned we always felt sure that Il Duce's financial position would at least be secure enough to keep the wolf out of the back yard.

We said the other day in regard to the rise in the price of wheat that bread was out on the end of the springboard read to jump. In some cases, notably at Winnipeg and Ottawa the staff of life has already made the leap.

The Cook County board of election commissioners has discharged 485 judges and clerks of election who officiated in the April primary in Chicago. Outside of that we understand the election was spotlessly clean.

The Federal Government will share jointly with the Quebec administration in meeting the cost of a $4,750,000 work relief program—and you can imagine how the Godbout government hated to give out that news right in the thick of an election campaign.

The president of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League says that the biggest obstacle in the way of tuberculosis prevention in the province is the presence of the disease in cattle. That is undoubtedly the case in all sections of the Dominion.

He thought himself a genius
Worthy to be revered,
And so he let his hair grow long
And nursed a shaggy beard.

He thought his words were precious
And so he let them fall
On thoughtful ears, or shrewdly
He spoke no word at all.

But folk he thought would hail him
All pursed their lips and smiled,
Seeing behind the careful pose
A laughing, wayward child.

Cheaper Power And the Farmer

(By Rusticus in the Stratford Beacon-Herald).

ON THE FARM:—A recent visitor on the farm put this question. "Why didn't you put in hydro?" That is a question we have often asked ourselves. Our old farm lighting plant can usually be coaxed or cussed into turning the old generator long enough to store sufficient juice in old batteries to supply light of varying degrees of brightness. The buildings are wired and with a little repairing and a few changes hydro might be installed. We are situated where the line could be brought to the farm without any trouble. Then why not put in hydro?

Ther is but one answer—COST. Many hundreds of farmers give the same answer. Four times each year rural hydro power consumers get their power bills. The average quarterly bill is somewhere in the neighborhood of twelve dollars, quite a sum of money in these days. Service charges account for six of these dollars every three months or a monthly service charge of two dollars. Frankly, we thing that that service charge is responsible for keeping hydro out of very many farm homes. Electric lights and electric power are wonderful conveniences in any farm home. Had not the depression hit the farm industry, electrically-equipped farm homes would have been as common by now as farm-owned motor cars, but the depression has caused many a well laid plan to go haywire.

Farmers want electricity. They want it just as badly as they want good roads. The question we would like an answer to is, would it not pay Hydro to lower the service charge, at least cut it in two, and seek to find some means whereby the farmer might be advanced the required funds on reasonable terms as to interest and repayment, so that he might install the necessary wires and appliances? What would that mean on the labor market? It would be interesting to have the labor costs on erecting a mile of power lines, including the labor involved in cutting poles, manufacturing wires, insulators, transportation and the actual erection of the line. Under present regulations three farmers would have to sign contracts on each mile of line built and once more it would be interesting to have the labor costs of manufacturing and installing the wires, bulbs and appliances.

Personally, we are opposed to direct relief. So are other farmers. The other day a farmer told us of attempting to hire a married relief recipient for the summer months at $25 per month and board. The relief man promptly refused. He claimed to ge getting along all right without work or at least with doing the small amount of work required by the city. We like to try to fool ourselves into believing that such are isolated cases, and that the majority of relief recipients are anxious for work, and we appreciate the fact that some of them are really anxious to earn their keep. But a vast army is growing up that never did work, and will dodge toil just so long as a government will continue to pass out direct relief. Would it not be better to compel these idle men to earn their bread? Would it not be more profitable for the government to make Hydro a substantial grant to offset any losses that might occur through the extension of rural power lines than to maintain these people in idleness?

Does Hydro pay on the farm or is it only another costly convenience? While we have not the right to speak from personal experience we have had farmers tell us that hydro paid handsomely. For instance, one farmer states that with a flock of several hundred hens he was able to pay his hydro bills through the increased profits brought about through the lengthening of the hens' working day, made possible by switching on the lights. Another farmer put in one of those small electric grain grinders. With a fairly large farm stock requiring chop he claims to have saved enough on his chopping mill bills to pay the entire hydro bill. Still another farmer claims that hydro pays for itself because a well lighted stable is a great asset in doing the chores. Profitable dairying makes it necessary that some of the chores be done in the hours of darkness, and most farmers would be inclined to do them a bit better if they had not the lantern to carry along. We are not trying to sell hydro to any man. We simply state facts as given to us by farmers who have electrically well equipped farms, and we feel that greater efforts should be made by the Hydro Commission to place hydro in more farm homes—and by the government to put more of the unemployed at constructive labor.

THEY MISSED TWO.

WE have been asleep in allowing this motorcade to pass through our city, just as we have been lax in getting our full share of the tourist traffic before. There is no use crying over spilt milk, however, as the old saw says. It behooves us now to see what can be done in connection with the motor caravans which are to follow.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics.

HE ASKS ONCE MORE.

Editor of Examiner:

Sir: Ratepayers are insistent on information regarding the Stuart Drive.

Is the Stuart Drive project a combination of politics and big business to unload vacant land upon the City at an enormous annual loss to the taxpayers?

Is it an apparent racket to hoodwink the taxpayer into a continuous annual loss under the guise of a small relief grant from the Government?

If the relief committee is soft enough to fall for a bait of this kind they had better resign, they would be of no service to the taxpayer.

It would surely be foolish finance to accept a mere $5000.00 that would entail a continuous yearly loss of between $2000.00 and $3000.00, a flat refusal is the only answer to such a proposition.

A week ago, on behalf of the taxpayers I asked through the Examiner for information on this matter.

Saturday's Examiner published the allotment of $5000.00 for this project without any change of the original terms of the granting of this right of way being mentioned.

Without information to the contrary, taxpayers can only conclude that the two questions at the beginning of this article actually express the real situation and they are certainly not going to "take it lying down."

Ratepayers have primary rights that must be respected.

Former councils have been known to play into the hands of big interests (by a majority of one) and we expect our present councillors who know the inside workings of this matter to see that the taxpayers get a square deal, and if there are members of the council who do not know they should enquire.

This is public business involving taxes and ratepayers are only exercising their right in requesting full information and these rights should be respected.

Yours truly,
TAXPAYER
Peterborough, Aug 10

AN OMINOUS OUTLOOK.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir: The attempt to deprive ministers of all denomination of their right to speak to and for the people will mean not only the loss of the liberty of the clergy but that of the people as well since ministers are the only body of a wholly disinterested character addressing the public whose utterances cannot be treated as the merely usual turbulence of politicians. The move to "nationalize our public schools by banishing all religion from them is following hard and fast upon the proposal to Coughlinize the clergy and since it is supported by a very large body of Catholics as well as Protestants there can be little doubt of the outcome unless the whole question of the educational treatment of religion and what it stands for in our lives be re-considered in a broader way.

J. H. BURNHAM.

FROM ONE OF THE PILGRIMS.

On Board the R. M. S. Montcalm July 28, 1936.

Dear Sir: We are just about at the end of a wonderful journey. We are at present at anchor waiting until the Montrose unloads and then we will fall in and disembark at the Tilbury docks to take the train to dear old London. We had a great trip across the Old Atlantic and we have just finished a wonderful three days' in France. The Vimy memorial is wonderful and no words of mine can describe it and no picture can do it justice. Canada may well be proud of the memorial she has erected to her fallen heroes. There is no finer monument in this world. I saw the Menin Gate at Ypres yesterday which contains the names of over 50,000 heroes missing in Belgium. I found the name of Harold S. Matthews on it; he was a brother of Gordon Matthews.

The horrors of war are still very plain around Vimy Ridge but the rest of the country was very hard to recognize. They have done a wonderful job of rebuilding.

Hoping that the ball team are winning lots of ball games and that I will be home in time to see them win the championship.

FRANK SMITH.

They Ought To Be Happy.

(From the Brockville Recorder and Times.)

ABOUT the happiest men in Canada to-day ought to be Director D. Leo Dolan and his staff of the Canadian Travel Bureau who are witnessing their campaign in behalf of the great tourist industry bearing what must be almost record-breaking fruit.

All of the thousands of automobile and other parties which are knocking at Canadian ports-of-entry daily and being given very cordial admittance may not have been attracted to this country by the advertising campaign prosecuted by the Travel Bureau. But there can be little doubt that its efforts have been of great influence in reviving the languishing tourist movement and in making these extremely busy days for the examining officers on duty at frontier points.

It is not more than two years since the Senate, acting upon representations made by Senator W. H. Dennis, of Halifax, carried out an enquiry into the tourist business and what might be done to bring it back to life. One of the recommendations of the special committee which investigated the matter was that there should be established a national tourist bureau which, armed with a sufficient supply of public funds, should set to work to see what could be done about regaining the ground that had been lost.

This advice was accepted by the Government of the day and by the opposition of that period with the result that the Canadian Travel Bureau was established and placed in the competent hands of Mr. Dolan, who has since worked night and day to carry out the responsibilities entrusted to him. A vigorous advertising campaign in United States periodicals and newspapers has been undertaken, numerous addresses and displays have been made, and other steps taken to bring the recreational and other advantages of this country before the people of the neighboring nation.

This capaign has cost the people of Canada a considerable amount of money, and yet surprisingly little in the aggregate. But the returns have fully justified the expenditure that has been made. The tourist busines began to revive last year and it has been reviving ever since, possibly in view of better economic conditions throughout the United States and undoubtedly aided by the publicity campaign of the Bureau. If the tourist business this year does not come within close range of the all-time high, something must be wrong with the eyes of people on the highways who cannot fail to perceive the exceptionally large volume of traffic of United States origin.

We say that Mr. Dolan and the members of his staff should be happy men and women, for they are seeing thousands of people admitted to this country, spending millions of dollars in the aggregate, partly in response to the campaign which they have undertaken. What has happened in regard to the tourist traffic is one more proof that it pays to advertise national attractions as well as ordinary day-by-day commodities, and that the returns from such an expenditure largely exceed the initial outlay.

JUST A PROFESSION.

(Vancouver Sun)

WE learn from the news columns that much-married Tommy Manville, Jr. has asked Nancy Carroll, the picture star, to become his fifth bride.

He has made his proposal, it seems in spite of the fact that he is still married to wife number four—although, as he has naively explained to Miss Carroll, the divorce is all arranged.

It is none of our business, of course, but if we were conducting an "Advice to the Lovelorn" column we would shrink out in our loudest type and beg miss Carroll to reject the flattering offer.

We can understand two people getting married and finding themselves so unsuitable and so incompatible in temperment that divorce would be the only sensible way out.

We can even understand that sort of thing happening a second time.

But when at the third and fourth tries a man or a woman has to be divorced, it is only fair to assume one of two things: either that the candidate for matrimony is so unfit for married life as to be compatible with nobody or that he or she is making marriage a career and should be ruled off the altar grounds as a professional.

USING THE LAKES.

(Cobourg World).

IT is one of the natural advantages of this province that large tracts of it are so liberally sprinkled with lakes and rivers. It is a sign of growing interest in natural, healthy, open-air living as the best holiday that the shores of the lake are becoming so thickly dotted with summer camps and cottages.

North of the Lindsay-Peterborough line, there are scores of beautiful lakes reasonably easy of access, and on every one of them you can find scores of cottages among the trees at the water's edge. There must be a good many thousands of the urban inhabitants of the province enjoying the sunshine and breezes, fishing swimming, canoeing, sitting watching the birds and beasts, or just sitting, in this region of delight. It is a good sign.

Most cheering is the presence here and there of campers who are obviously people of less leisure and money than those usually associated with the idea of a "summer place." At one camping site near here, I have noticed that there are generally three or four tents, old and battered, or trailers of early build accompanying cars of decrepit appearance. All are occupied by whole families, who cook and eat in the open, and somehow manage to find cover under the scanty canvas at night. It must take some courage on the part of the woman to embark on such a gypsy life, but how much greater is their enjoyment and gain in health after the week or fortnight in the open than if they had followed the crowd to the nearest resort of cheap lodgings and roller coasters.

WESTERN SOIL.

(Lethbridge Herald)

AGAIN this year one hears many farmers voicing their wonder over the fact that, though there has been no rain of any consequence for more than seven weeks, wheat crops on good summerfallow have stood up, are filling nicely, and fifteen bushel crops will not be uncommon. Again we must pay our tribute to the wonderful soil here in South Alberta.

We were reading in the Regina Leader-Post this week that the crops in that district are the best in Canada, and one field now being harvested, which will yield 18 bushels per acre was mentioned. There will be many 15-bushel crops in South Alberta, many more than the pessimists think. There will be crops which will touch 20, and some probably more than that, though they are in favored sections which got an extra shower or two.

Seventeen bushels is our average wheat crop over a 10-year period. It is the basing point upon which we estimate our yields. When, in a year of practically no rain since early June, with temperatures soaring into the nineties days on end, we can even approach that figure even on the best summerfallow, we must admit that Nature has been good to us in giving us such soil.

GIRL KILLED

was the more seriously injured of the two with severe facial injuries and cuts about the neck and body. It was feared both Mr. and Mrs. Corn suffered leg fractures.

Inquiries by Patrol Officer Lloyd McClure and Provincial Constable David Silvester indicated Mr. and Mrs. Corn were visiting Canada on vacation and had entered at Kingston. The dead girl was apparently a next door neighbor. Their respect-ive addresses are 1424 and 1422 11th Street in Erie.

Asphalt Hurled Off Truck.

Bradden Huggins of Bellieboro and Melville Wood of Fraserville were the Department of Highways workers who, in company with Campbell, witnessed the smash. It occurred at approximately 12.45 o'clock (E.D.T.). Despite the manner in which the passenger car was shattered, the truck sustained little damage. So terrific was the impact, however, that the heavy load of asphalt was hurled from the truck deck to the road.

Chief Coroner J. C. Smith of Lakefield viewed the body of Miss Rusks where it had been laid in the ditch by Mrs. Kennedy and the highway workers before ordering it removed to the morgue of D. Belleghem & Sons. Subsequently he ordered a post-mortem.

Mr. and Mrs. Corn were taken to the operating room of the hospital immediately upon admittance. At press time, reports on their condition were still unavailable.

Liquor Stocks Move Up In Day's Trading

TORONTO, Aug. 11. — (CP). — Several new highs were posted on the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange when the market was in its best fettle to-day, but the late afternoon tone was bit heavy and part of the gains were dropped. In the early trade Distillers-Seagrams and Brewers and Distillers and International were highlights of the trade, all selling well up for the day, and they retained part of their gains till the close. Walkers common lagged, dropping about a point net, and British American Oil was sold in volume on a report that the company's interests in Oklahoma had encountered legal difficulties. The price sagged to 22¼ before getting buying support and the closing price of 23¼ was off about a point net. Foods and constructions boarded more gains than losses.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, August 11.— Wheat futures prices fell 3¼ to 2⅝ cents in dull trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Lack of aggressive export or other support ruled chief factor in the decline.

Values at the close showed October at 1.01¼, December 99⅝ to 99¾, and May 1.02⅝ cents a bushel. It was the first time after eight consecutive sessions that all three positions did not show above the dollar mark.

Prices drifted lower from opening as light selling credited to southern houses fell on a thin market. Spreading operations played a major part, with sales at Winnipeg against purchases at Chicago and selling October against purchases of December and May futures reported.

Liverpool opened ⅛d to 1d higher, but reacted on the indifferent display at Winipeg to close 1¼d to 1⅝d lower. Broomhall mentioned private reports had been received, indicating yields in Western Canada were exceeding expectations.

'Velocity Dollar' May Cause Complications

OTTAWA, Aug. 11. — (CP). — While "velocity" may be all right as applied to the Alberta Government's prosperity certificates, "dollar' may cause complications if given provincial approval, it was suggested here to-day.

Finance department officials were reluctant to comment on the name "velocity dollar" which western despatches said had been approved by Provincial Secretary E. C. Manning, of Alberta, because the question of the province's right to issue prosperity certificates is now before the justice department.

25 BUOYS NEEDED TO MARK COURSE FROM STONEY LAKE

American Skipper Finds Difficulty In Finding Correct Course

LOST WAY TWICE

HASTINGS, August 11.—Twenty-five buoys placed in the "Hell's Gate" area of Stoney Lake would make it much easier for a stranger, was the opinion of Captain Holmes of the "Faustina," a cabin cruiser from Olcott, N.Y., that locked through the local locks on Monday afternoon.

Captain Holmes, with Mrs. Holmes and son and daughter and Miss Lattimer are on their maiden trip through the Trent Canal. Leaving Olcott on August 1 they had a wonderful trip as far as Stoney Lake where the "Cap" got lost for over three hours. After leaving Stoney Lake they went up as far as Beaverton. Before again entering Stoney Lake on their return trip Captain Holmes made a careful study of all his charts and thought he would get through all right, but again lost his way and required assistance to get out. Captain Holmes, although having made several trips on other waters with the "Faustina" in the past three years, considers himself a novice and feels that 25 buoys would be ample to guide strangers. The whole trip has been one of beauty from the time they left Trenton and was only marred by the Stoney Lake incident. He intends to return again but will secure a pilot at Lakefield the next time.

ALBERTA STARTS ITS REGISTRATION

League Of Freedom Founder Sends Protest Against Plan To King

EDMONTON, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Under different systems, registration of Alberta citizens for basic dividends was under way today in many provincial constituencies while little developed regarding prosperity certificates — another branch of the Social Credit Government's endeavors.

A letter to King Edward protesting against signing registration form and covenants was despatched last night by Fred R. Surry, founder of the "League of Freedom."

Mr. Surry also wrote Prime Minister Mackenzie King at Ottawa asking him to stop "illegal processes" of the government and to consider an appeal from the Edmonton chamber of commerce.

The government continued to urge citizens to co-operate in registration, supervised by the department of trade and industry. Premier Aberhart said if the majority fail to register the government may have to abandon the plan.

Workers in Beverly, Edmonton suburb, who received scrip as wages for July work, donated $22 in certificates to the Canadian League against war and Fascism, it was stated by John Egger, League treasurer.

Truck Firm, Driver, Owners Of Two Dogs Sued By Widow After Husband's Death

LONDON, Ont., August 11 (C.P.). —A London beverage firm, their truck driver and the owners of two dogs were named defendants to-day in a Supreme Court writ issued by Mrs. Marjorie Alma Neno, widow of Lloyd Neno, who died from injuries received last March when his bicycle was struck by a truck.

The writ contends the two dogs, barking at Neno, caused him to drive his bicycle into the path of a truck owned by the Consolidated Beverage Company and driven by John Buckle.

One dog, a collie, is alleged to have been owned by Stuart L. Gunn and the other, a fox terrier, by Frank Anderson.

The writ is for unstated damages. Mrs. Neno's claim is against the beverage company, John Buckle, Stuart L. Gunn, and Frank Anderson.

Lord Tweedsmuir in the eyes of Indians is looked upon as a personal representative of the Great White Father—King of the British Empire. When Prince of Wales, King Edward VIII was made Chief Morning Star of the Blackfeet band.

More than 2,500 Indians were expected to gather here for the jubilee.

The jubilee features a colorful pageant, enacting actual scenes from the treaty negotiations whereby 120,000 square miles of prairie soil was opened for colonization.

During the first day of the two-day program most of the time will be spent with Indian sports. Other highlights on the program include the marking of special anniversaries by the different tribes in attendance. The anniversary ceremonials take place with Indian warriors and squaws dressed in traditional style as they go through ancient dances. Some tribes will meet for the first time in years.

EAST YORK FAILS TO MOVE CROLL

Refuses To Alter Decision On Extra Relief Levy—Vetoes "Next Year" Idea

TORONTO, Aug. 11. — (CP). — East York Council failed to-day to persuade Hon. David Croll, Minister of Municipal Affairs, to delay imposition of an extra levy on the township's taxpayers for relief purposes.

The delegation from the township appealed to the Minister to allow the Council to increase next year's tax rate sufficiently to provide for the $100,000 required immediately for relief purposes. The delegation promised the extra tax would be collected next year if the Government would arrange an immediate credit at the bank to meet present relief requirements.

However, the Minister pointed out the township had only recently succeeded in wiping out a 1932 deficit.

"Now that you have a clean sheet, keep it clean," he advised as he refused to alter his earlier decision an extra levy must be imposed.

If at noon to-day the Council itself has not taken action to effect $6,000 worth of economies and impose an extra levy of 6.1 mills, the Department of Municipal Affairs will order a supplementary levy of 6.7 mills.

St. John's Easy For Slugging Mill Team

CAMPBELLFORD, August 11. — In a game that was too one-sided to be interesting the Mill team defeated St. John's by 15-2 at the school grounds last night. Peloquin's men were in great form both at bat and in the field. McComb pitched a grand game. The Bakery boys were out of luck and appear to lack practice. Jack Smith hurled good ball, but had poor support. Catcher Wilks did his part well and also had a circuit to his credit.

The Town League schedule will wind up on Friday evening next when Frank De Carrol's Electrics clash with Sargingon's Millionaires on the same battlefield.

The line-ups:

BAD STORM HITS SEYMOUR AREA

Telephones Are Pulled From Walls And Poles Are Splintered

LINE MEN ARE BUSY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 11. — Telephone linemen had a busy day on Monday repairing damage done by a severe electric storm which swept over this district shortly before 7 a.m.

In the Crow Bay section no less than nine line poles were shattered, and a bolt which struck the corner of an ice-house at Cole's summer resort scattered the timbers for a distance of twenty feet, but fortunately no fire ensued.

At Healey Falls the telephone in Lockmaster Clarence Long's cottage was ripped from the wall. At Albert Stephens' home in Seymour Township lightning struck the brick chimney, tore a hole in the roof, and entering the kitchen, knocked Mrs. Stephens from a chair. Aside from a severe shock, she fortunately escaped injury.

Eye witnesses at Crow Bay state that the lightning followed the wires like a ball of fire. While many fuse-plugs were burnt out in the summer cottages, no serious damage was reported from the power-houses. The heavy showers which followed were welcomed by the farmers whose pasture lands and crops are drying up for lack of moisture.

HAVELOCK W.I PLAN TO PURCHASE PIANO

Members Hear Peace Pact Explained And Interesting Travel Talk

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Aug. 11.—The regular meeting of Havelock Women's Institute was held in the council chamber Monday afternoon, Aug 10, with a larger than usual attendance of the members and a number of visitors. The president, Mrs. Armstrong, was in charge of the meeting.

The matter of the piano was again to the fore, and it was decided to forward a cheque to cover the cost of the same, and carrying charges. The organ will be sold to the highest bidder.

It was decided to leave the appointment of a delegate to the fall convention over until a later meeting, unless the branch is advised that this should be done at once. In this case the executive will be called together by the president and the delegate appointed.

Seven members turned in their fifty cents talent money and told how it had been earned. One had sold flowers from her garden; one sold home-made muffins; one typed recipes of a cake served at the last meeting and sold them at five cents each; one clerked in a store on July 12; one earned hers nursing, and so on. It is expected that all the members will have their talent money in by the September meeting.

The roll call was responded to by suggestions how to improve the Institute. Everyone responded with a helpful hint. Some suggestions were: Be on time; Bring a neighbor; Make strangers welcome; When the opinion of the members is asked, tell yours out aloud instead of whispering it to your nearest neighbor, etc.

Kellog Peace Pact

Miss Seeney gave a splendid paper on Peace Education, explaining the Kellog Peace Pact for the benefit of those who stated they did not know exactly just what the pact was. She stated that at the suggestion of a member of the district executive, she had written to an Institute branch at British East Africa, telling what the Havelock Branch is doing, and asking that a reply be on hand for the October meeting, letting the members here know what they are doing there.

Mrs. George Rigby was program convenor for the meeting, and a splendid program was enjoyed as follows. Travel talk by Miss Jean Thompson, who has just returned from a trip to England, and described her experiences, and what she found most interesting. Vocal solo, "She Me to Sleep," by Mrs. G. Giles; reading by Mrs. G. Giles.

At the conclusion of the program a dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, Mesdames H. Pollock, G. Iles, R. Jones and W. Johnstone.

WITNESSES FAIL TO AGREE UPON ROAD'S SURFACE

night of the accident he drove a half mile north of scene, and passed over three other culverts. The condition of the other culverts was not to be compared with the culvert where the accident took place.

Got Severe Jolt.

From experiments he made on the culvert where Mrs. Sargent was fatally injured the officer testified his car got a severe jolt when he drove it at 12-15 miles an hour. "The rear end of the car appeared to leave the ground".

Constable J. Wheeler who accompanied the previous witness described the surface of the road at that point as "rock, gravel and dirt". He agreed there was a ten inch drop on the south side of the culvert.

Burton Shultz, timekeeper for Johnston Brothers Company, Limited, contractors of Brantford said, "The road was no worse than any road generally under construction". He said there were several signs up and down the road warning of danger. Witness related that he had occasion to warn one driver who proceeded over the section under construction at 60 miles-an-hour and landed up in the ditch, and declared, "That is just about the way most drivers pay attention to warning signs".

Disagrees With Evidence

D. O. Johnston, Jr., of Johnston Brothers produced pictures he took at the scene of the accident the day following. Witness did not agree with Constable Piercy's testimony as to the condition of the road at the culvert. "To my knowledge", he told the Crown Attorney, "no change was made on the roadway where the accident occurred until the day before yesterday".

In answer to the jury foreman, witness said he had driven over that stretch of road prior to the accident at 15 miles an hour with safety.

Kenneth Sine, former employee of the Department of Highways who said he had been an inspector of concrete and grades on the construction job until recently testified, "I intimated to the engineer in charge that the road was in bad shape some time before the accident occurred. I said something ought to be done to the road, and he replied, 'It's good enough'".

"Why did you say that", Mr. McElderry asked.

"Because I did not feel it was safe for the public."

Nothing Done.

He declared that John S. Sears, resident engineer at Port Hope had notified Patrolman William T. Telford to tell Mr. Robertson to take stock from the stock piles and put the road back in shape, but witness claimed, nothing was done about it. "I was over the road morning, noon and night and there was nothing done", he said.

Shown the sketch prepared by Mr. Robertson and filed as an exhibit witness said he could not agree that it was correct. He said the culvert was of 30-inches diameter and the fill was a sandy loam with rocks in it. On the Thursday following the accident the witness declared he saw two loads of dirt dumped one on each side of the culvert. The dirt was levelled off and feathered out.

Miss Annie Howlett, driver of the car testified she was accompanied by Miss Bernice Cain of Toronto in the front seat and Mr. and Mrs. Sargent in the rear seat. She had the car in second gear most of the way over the section of the road under construction and was in second gear at the time the car jolted over the culvert and caused fatal injury to Mrs. Sargent. She estimated the speed at which she was driving at that time at 8-10 miles an hour.

Unaware of Accident.

"I was on the bump before I noticed the drop the other side. The car bumped heavily. I was thrown up slightly, but not much", Miss Howlett said. She declared that as she was going into the bump, "I hollered, here's a bad one. I looked in the mirror and saw Mr. Sargent and thought he was laughing. I could see his teeth. She continued to drive on until Miss Cain on looking to the rear of the car, said, 'You'd better stop, Mrs. Sargent is hurt'".

Miss Cain corroborated the testimony of the driver and related how the injured woman was lifted from the car to the side of the road and given attention. She placed the speed of the car at the time it hit the bump at 8 miles an hour.

Edward Martin of Lindsay who was driving his car 500-feet at the rear of the Howlett car when the accident occurred testified as to the bad condition of the road. He helped to lift Mrs. Sargent from the car to the side of the road. "She came to a little bit and all she said was 'I'm stunned'. She did not say anything else.

Fred Cripps, local photographer identified pictures he took of the roadway at the scene of the accident, while Provincial Constable David Silvester also testified.

Pitched to Floor.

William D. Sargent husband of the dead woman described how he was pitched to the floor of the car when it jolted over the culvert and spoke of efforts that had been made to revive the fatally injured woman.

Others who testified included: A Mr. Reynolds and his son Harold Reynolds both of Toronto who drove along shortly after the accident; Harry Wells and Otto Ladereah two other automobile drivers and passengers in the cars who all spoke of the bad condition of the section of road under construction and agreed there was a drop of ten inches on the south side of the culverts.

The jury was constituted as follows: J. E. Smith, foreman; Albert Weatherhead, James Tobin, James Brown, Joseph Jocque, William Collins, James Lundy, W. S. Merrill, John Young, P. J. Kenney, Joseph Bolton, Joseph Bell.

Few Taschereau Men Left

A few members of the Taschereau Cabinet retained in the Godbout administration remain, however. They are Hon. T. D. Bouchard, Minister of Lands, Forests and Municipal Affairs; Hon. P. E. Cote, Minister of Roads; Hon. Edgar Rochette, Minister of Labor, Fish and Game; and Hon. Cleophas Bastien, Minister without Portfolio.

One other prominent Taschereau Cabinet Minister is entered in the battle of votes, Hon. J. N. Francoeur, Minister of Public Works in the Taschereau Cabinet, now running as Liberal candidate in Lotbiniere.

Hon. Frank L. Connors, Minister without Portfolio in the Godbout Cabinet, was in the House last session, but many of his colleagues were not members of the Legislative when named to the Cabinet.

In this category fall Hon. E. Stuart McDougall, Provincial Treasurer; Hon. Wilfrid Gagnon, Minister of Commerce and Industry; Hon. C. A. Bertrand, Attorney-General; and Cesaire Gervais, Minister of Public Works and Mines.

Conservatives elected 30 members under leadership of Maurice Duplessis in the election of Nov. 25, 1935. In the current campaign there are two candidates running as Conservatives and one as an Independent Conservative.

Veteran Has 2 Opponents

C. E. Gault, veteran Conservative member for Montreal St. George, runs under the same ticket again. Because he voted with the Liberals last session he is unopposed by a Liberal candidate, but faces an Independent Liberal and a Union Nationale nominee.

Jack Cupello, lone C.C.F. candidate, is opposed in Montreal Verdun by a Union Nationale, Liberal and Independent Liberal. Three Communists are running in Montreal divisions, which also number a Labor candidate, and a "People's Candidate," Arthur Tremblay, in Montreal St. Henry.

Complicating the issue in many a seat, there are 23 Independent Liberals in the running, four Independent Union Nationale men and three "Independents" of no sworn allegiance.

The leaders have a busy few days ahead of them. Mr. Duplessis addressed a meeting here last night and will speak in Montreal tomorrow night. Premier Godbout made a quick swing through the farming area southwest of Montreal yesterday and addressed meetings at Ormstown, Valleyfield and Coteau Du Lac. To-night he will speak in Montreal.

Warrant Out for Kaufman.

Soon after yesterday's session opened, Anderson obtained a bench warrant for the arrest of Kaufman as Kaufman failed to appear for questioning in answer to a subpoena. Deputy sheriffs were sent to look for the playwright.

Miss Astor heard other names — Bennett Cerf, New York publisher; Dr. Mortimer Rodgers, physician who treated her in New York—as Dr. Thorpe treated her before he married her; and Danny Silberberg, mysterious "No. 1 man" in the diary "charm list."

Through blistering hours of questioning the actress sat like a wax image, answering in a low, throaty voice intimate questions about her travels to New York, Miami, Fla., and Havana, Cuba.

The name of Oppenheimer broke the actress' cool reserve, and leaning forward in her chair, she shot angry answers at Lawyer Anderson and his aides.

"Did anyone else ever visit your Tower Road home except Barrymore?" Anderson asked.

"I have a great many friends," she replied tersely.

"Innocent People Scandalized."

As Anderson mentioned Oppenheimer's name, Roland Rich Woolley, the actress' bushy-haired attorney, leaped to his feet and shouted that it was "a further attempt to scandalize innocent people not directly connected with this case."

Judge Goodwin Knight told Anderson he must show the pertinency of such questions, and Anderson waved a sheaf of papers—the lavender diary with which Dr. Thorpe allegedly threatened to "scandalize" his pretty wife before their divorce.

"We will show by means of the witness' answers, that an affidavit she filed at the time this proceeding was begun contains untrue statements," he said.

Anderson dipped into his file, hauled out another sheet of the dairy and asked Miss Astor if she had received in her home "a John Eldridge."

"Yes, Mr. Eldridge came to the house a couple of times when we were working together in a picture. He was never served drinks in my bedroom, either," the actress volunteered acidly.

Bedroom Behaviour Probed.

When Anderson wanted to know how close little Marylyn's bedroom was to Miss Astor's, she leaned forward and said in biting sentences:

"I never kept any man in my bedroom and nothing went on there detrimental for Marylyn to hear."

"Did you ever entertain men in your bedroom?"

"No, and I never will so long as that child's bedroom is next door."

Anderson switched to her charges Dr. Thorpe was "harsh in his treatment of Marylyn." The name of Ann Harding, blond actress who recently concluded a long-drawn fight with Harry Bannister, her ex-husband, for custody of their child, was brought into the case in this connection.

The actress said she told Miss Harding and her friends Dr. Thorpe abused the baby.

RAINMAKER TELLS OF HIS PROPOSAL TO BREAK CLOUDS

Unable To Get Plane For Demonstration—Wants Test In Canada

PATENTING FORMULA

HALIFAX, Aug. 11.—(CP)—John Lawson Greenham, Halifax chemist who promises rain to order, is tired waiting for an airplane to carry his equipment and has disclosed his formula for attacking the clouds "for the benefit of areas suffering from drought."

Believing he can produce a fall of 5,000 tons of water at a cost of between $20 and $50, the former professor of Queen's University, Belfast, declares there is no necessity for heavy drought losses as long as there is a cloud in sight to break up.

He has no intention of capitalizing on the scheme, he says, but has applied for patents to keep others from exploiting his findings.

After he announced about two years ago that he had perfected his formula, Mr. Greenham tried unsuccessfully to find a pilot to carry the necessary equipment into the clouds. All were interested, he says, but all turned him down because they lacked licenses for freighting.

"The theory of the invention is based on the well-known fact that water will condense on a surface colder than itself," he explains with the hope somebody else in Canada will have more luck with pilots.

"Natural rainfall is always formed around a nuclei-minute particle of dust. My proposal is to create conditions in a cloudy atmosphere somewhat similar to those that exist when rain falls naturally, by spraying into clouds artificial nuclei in very fine, dry and cold powder form.

"The result of this process is that each minute particle of powder will act as the nuclei for one rain drop which cannot help but form around it since the nuclei will be colder than the water vapor.

"Since there are billions of these minute particles to a few pounds of powder, there will be just that many raindrops, which will increase in size until their weight forces them to the earth.

"The method of distributing such powder is simple, too. It is proposed to use liquid carbonic acid or liquid air to scatter the powder. Such gases themselves would tend to cool both the artificial and natural nuclei in the air and bring the moisture globules together to automatically condense on the natural nuclei and on the fine particles of powder expelled with the gas."

The chemist believes an airplane could spray a vast area in a short time.

UNEMPLOYED BEES ARE SAID STARVING

Everything Depends On The Buckwheat Crop Honey Man Says

Bees are on strike in Victoria county, because of the lack of food. They are reported to be almost starving to the point where honey men will have to start feeding more sugar to keep the bees alive.

The continued dry spell has made it impossible for the bees to gather nectar from the fields. Millions of them had not worked at all since the first heat of a month ago. One honey man estimates he has close to 3,000,000 bees and that they have not worked for a month. Now practically all deadly on the buckwheat crop and on moisture.

SEVERAL ENTRIES BEEN REJECTED

Exhibition Board Required To Send All Entries To Federal Department

Some of the entries in the horse and cattle sections of the Peterborough Exhibition have been rejected by the federal department of Agriculture, it was reported here this morning.

Since the Exhibition became a Class A fair the directors have been required to submit all the entries in these two livestock classes to the department at Ottawa for verification of their pedigree registration.

This was done some weeks ago, and it was intimated to-day that certain entries have been returned to the Exhibition Board with rejection marks against animals which did not pass the scrutiny of department officials.

Tom Brown, president, was asked about this report this morning, but declined to discuss it for the present.

V. S. Milburn, managing director of the Exhibition, told the Examiner to-day that the restrictions regarding registration apply to all livestock, thereby including sheep and swine with horses and cattle.

Entries of some exhibitors who have been showing at Peterborough for years are included in the list of those which have been excluded because of some or other flaw in the records.

"In spite of the rejections we are going to have a rattling good Exhibition," Mr. Milburn said. "We became a Class A fair three years ago and the Department has been gradually tightening the regulations. It applies to Ottawa, Sherbrooke, Valleyfield and other Exhibitions. One guarantee that the livestock shown result of this ruling is an absolute in the ring are definitely identified. Such possibilities as one breeder showing animals belonging to another cannot occur under this system. The breeder who buys any livestock shown here has utmost confidence in their pedigree, including parentage and age."

Several other directors expressed the opinion that the Department's ruling was a final warrant of the standard of Peterboro's Exhibition.

FIRE MENACES HISTORIC FENELON FALLS CHURCH

LINDSAY, Aug. 11.—A serious grass fire broke out at noon yesterday at Fenelon Falls and for a time threatened to spread into the adjoining fields, menacing the historic old St. James Anglican Church.

Starting at the front of the big hill at the rear of Alex. Harvey's residence on Colborne street, the fire ran madly up the hill, fanned by a stiff wind. Fences quickly caught fire and only for the timely arrival of the fire engine on the scene the fire would have reached serious proportions. The fire was put out with branches of trees, with the assistance of water provided by the fire engine.

FARMHAND GIVEN MONTH IN JAIL

Pleaded Guilty To Charge Of Assault Upon Otonabee Man

When Max Fredenburg, 22, Lang farmhand had been sentenced to one month in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of aggravated assault on John Cook, aged Otonabee Township resident this (Tuesday) morning, the accused's father urged Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C., "Let him out on suspended sentence for his first offence".

"That is the best I'll do", His Worship decided after conferring with Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. The latter told the court he was instructed the assault arose over the attention of the accused to the complainant's wife. When Cook who is 62-years of age and partly paralyzed raised an objection, the Crown Attorney said Fredenburg struck the old man on the jaw, over the eye and on the cheek.

Declaring that he struck only one blow, the accused asked His Worship if he would take into consideration the time he had spent in gaol on remand. The magistrate dated the sentence from August 4.

Hastings District Is Short Of Water

HASTINGS, August 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—The drought situation in this district was relieved early Monday by a heavy shower of rain, which was of particular benefit to late crops. While early potatoes are scarce at $1.60 a bushel, the late crop may be considerably improved by more rain.

Harvesting of most crops is well advanced. Fall wheat yields are reported good in some districts. A. Dugan, Warkworth, threshed 325 bushels from 11 acres. Spring grains are below average yield, being small and shrunken so badly that many farmers will not have sufficient seed suitable for sowing next year.

A water shortage is reported from many farms. In some cases water is being hauled for miles. Springs of the farm of Thomas Williamson and R. McGuire and others are supplying unusual quantities of water, despite the drought.

NOT TAKE LONG TO DRAW CARS

First Car Be-Claimed In Less Than Fifteen Minutes, Manager Predicts

TO POST NUMBERS

The first Chevrolet will be claimed within fifteen minutes on the opening night of the Peterborough Exhibition, Wednesday, August 19, W. H. Marriott, manager of the car drawing, predicted to-day.

"The first number drawn by President Brown may not produce the winner, but the second or third will end it," Mr. Marriott said. "Some people think that it will take hours to get a winner, but I haven't fear about that. I don't think it will take any more than fifteen minutes. The numbers as drawn will be posted in three places on the grounds, one of them in front of the grandstand.

People don't have to be in the grandstand, and they have just as good a chance as any one else. When the numbers have been posted in the three places, that fact will be telephoned to the central place at the grandstand, and it is then that the five-minute count begins. And five minutes is quite a long time when you begin to tick it off. Any way, it will be long enough for everybody to look over their tickets or lists of numbers to see if they get the cars."

BRIGADIER BUNTON TO LEAVE TORONTO LOSS KEENLY FELT

Former Peterborough Officer To Command London-Windsor Division

FRIEND OF FRIENDLESS

TORONTO, Aug. 11.—"Brigadier Bunton is to go."

Word that Centre Island had sunk in the night, leaving no trace, could have provoked no greater amazement and utter unbelief than did these words whispered through the corridors that led to the police courts. Magistrates, lawyers, police officers, and plain shabby little men passed the word along.

Brigadier Bunton of the Salvation Army, and formerly of Peterborough, still "Captain Bunton" to all the officials and officers of the four courts—the "friend of the friendless," the "pal of the under-dog," the "hand in need" to thousands of defeated men who have passed through the criminal courts of this city this last quarter century, is to be moved to London, Ont., to command the London-Windsor division, according to word from the Army headquarters today.

"The word has come to me only as a rumor," said Magistrate Browne when told of the change. "Believe me, I hope it is not true."

"He is one of the most efficient—if not the most efficient—Salvation Army men that we have had in the courts in 25 years," continued the magistrate. "It is like throwing a monkey wrench into the machinery of the courts to remove him. He has been a great help to the underdog. He has helped the magistrates solve many of their problems. I will find my work made harder by his absence. I know the other magistrates will, too. I can't believe that the Army is thinking of transferring him."

Sets Men On Feet

"I have been much impressed with the interest he has always taken in the individual—in the individual man as he appeared in court," said Crown Attorney Cecil Snyder when informed of the projected transfer. "I have several cases in mind—cases where he has followed up police court cases and made a fine citizen out of a man who might otherwise have become nothing but an expense and threat to society. One case in particular I have in mind—that of a man who appeared in one of our courts charged with a serious criminal offense. Thanks largely to the work of Brigadier Bunton, he was set on his feet again and is now a store official holding a reasonable position. I think he does such good work among the down-and-outs, the unfortunates that fill our courts, that I very much hope the Salvation Army will seriously reconsider any plan to move Brigadier Bunton."

Those who sit in Men's Police Court know that the rescue work of Brigadier Bunton is a work repeated a dozen times daily. It begins with the Early Court when drunks and vagrants face the magistrate. Time after time he steps forward to tell some little thing, the fruit of his own investigations, that saves a man from prison. Time after time he steps forward with an offer of food, or shelter, or even of work. It was only this morning that he saved youthful George McCallum from jail when that lad, after the death of his brother, appeared charged with trespassing on C.N.R. property—the train that killed his brother.

Snatching Anchor Away

"It's like snatching an anchor from drowning men," a well known lawyer stated. "Why, bang it all, there is not a dozen of the men that I know of who could, or would, do the work about those courts that Bunton does. I've bumped into him at midnight, still working, still saving where he could."

"These courts will never be the same again if Bunton goes," a police officer stated. "There are hundreds of poor beggars will feel they have lost their last friend."

But Brigadier Bunton goes, says the Army, on Sept. 3.

Asks Reconsideration.

Mayor Samuel McBride wrote Commissioner John McMillan, territorial commander of the Salvation Army, asking for reconsideration of the transfer.

"I do not wish to interfere with the administration of the Salvation Army," Mayor McBride said, "but this is such an important matter to the City of Toronto that I consider it my duty to ask the responsible officers of the Army to reconsider his transfer. Brigadier Bunton's work among the unfortunates of this city is so effective and important that it would be a calamity to remove him."

Infantile Paralysis Strikes Small Girl

Another case of Poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) is reported by Dr. G. Murray Fraser to have broken out on Park street in the vicinity of the C.G.E. factory, the patient being a girl of 4½ years.

The latest outbreak brings the total number of proven cases up to four during the past five weeks period, three of which have been in the city and one in North Monaghan Township.

A 5-year-old boy in the south-end of the city whose case was reported early in July, is said to be on the high road to recovery, while the three other children whose cases have more recently occurred are being given serum injections and every precaution has been taken by Dr. Fraser and Dr. J. A. Morgan, the two medical health officers concerned.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

For Wednesday, August 12.

This may prove to be a day of fair fortune for those in the employment of others, but for others there are signs of tenacious obstacles, delays, postponements and disappointments There may be a bereavment or illness at the root of these impediments. It would be wise to accept these with calm philosophy and not let the mind be excited or distressed.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is, if in employment, may have a year of rather favorable conditions, with favors or tokens of appreciation from superiors. Otherwise, there are omens of obstacles, postponements, and sorrows, possibly through illness or bereavement. But the mind should be held from undue distress or melancholy by a philosophical attitude.

A child born on this day may be alert and clever, but prone to depressions and introspection. He should make his best success in employment.

Swartz Beat Westclox In First Of Playoffs

TAKE A 5-1 NOD IN SMART GAME UP AT CENTRAL

Bunch Hits With Westclox Errors To Gain All Their Runs In Sixth

NICE HURLING

Swartz Clothiers battled their way to a 5-1 win over Westclox last night at Central in the first game of the city league play-offs. A five-run splurge in the sixth inning accounted for all the Clothiers' runs and with Naish hurling fine ball they were unbeatable. T. Parsons pitched nice ball for the losers but loose fielding by his team allowed several unearned runs to score, and this contributed largely to the defeat. The Swartz men played fine ball behind Naish and hit well in the pinches to take the series' opener.

The Alarm Men went out in front in the third inning by scoring their single tally on a hit, a long fly, and an error. They held their lead till the sixth inning. In the sixth, three errors, two hits, and a pair of walks, gave the winners their five runs and they maintained this margin through to the end of the game.

Naish Goes Good

Naish went the distance for the Tailors and turned in a swell performance. He kept eight hits well scattered and bore down all the way to narrowly miss notching himself a shut-out. His control was good throughout and with men on bases he was invincible. T. Parsons, on the losers' slab, also twirled excellent ball. He allowed fewer hits than his opponent but his control wavered in the pinches and erratic fielding led to his absorbing the loss.

Covert and Weir featured the Clothiers' batting attack with a couple of solid bingles each. W. Calladine supplied the winning margin in the sixth when he slammed out a lusty double with the bases filled to capacity, and the score tied at that point. Curry was the only loser to fathom Naish's stanis successfully and he connected for three hits out of four times at the plate. The Clock Men outhit their rivals but were unable to hit in the pinches with men on the base-paths and many times left runners stranded in a scoring position.

Foley, for the Beckerman crew, pulled the fielding gem of the night in the second inning when he took a line drive from the bat of P. Calladine over his head to rob the latter of a sure double. The Swartz outfield played great ball in the field all during the game accepting several hard chances easily.

BREADON THANKS CHARLIE GRIMM

Showed Fine Sportsmanship President Of St. Louis Cubs Writes

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11 (AP).—President Sam Breadon of St. Louis Cardinals, in a letter to-day, thanked Manager Charlie Grimm of Chicago Cubs for requesting that Dizzy Dean be kept in the game after his fist fight yesterday with Pitcher Tex Carleton.

"I want to thank you for the fine sportsmanship you showed," Breadon wrote. "When you waived your right and agreed to allow Dizzy to continue in the game, you showed a fine spirit and consideration for the people of St. Louis who support baseball."

"The umpires told me they would have to expel Dizzy from the game had you not done the fine thing you did. You are a credit to baseball, you, club, and your home town of St. Louis."

Omemee Girls Trim Lindsay Squad 23-10

OMEMEE, Aug 11.—The Omemee girls' softball team journeyed to Lindsay Friday evening to play a friendly game of softball in the rink with the Knitters. The game was an abbreviated 1-innings affair with the visitors copping the big end of a 23-19 score.

Marjorie Hannah pitched a nice game of ball for the winners, with Evelyn Bigelow leading the hitters with a timely trimple and a brace of singles. M. Copping was on the mound for the Knitters and was batted quite freely, but numerous errors helped to run up such a large score. Line-up:

Omemee.—McQuade, ss; Page, rf; P. Bigelow, 1b; Fisher, 2b; E. Bigelow, c; Fee, lf; Sisson, 3b; Hannah, p; Magee, cf.

LEAFS DROP GAME AND FOURTH PLACE TO THE ORIOLES

Buffalo Defeats Newark 11-0 In Drive For First Place

MONTREAL BEATS ALBANY

TORONTO, Aug. 11. — (AP).—It may have been the slump of Baltimore Orioles and the weakness of Albany Senators that started Buffalo off on its current winning streak, but the Bisons have made it clear they aren't merely picking on crippies.

Newark Bears, third in the standing and revently rivals of the Bisons for second place, became the herd's 11th victim in a game last night by 11 to 0. Meanwhile, Baltimore, ousted from the fourth playoff post by Toronto, bounced right back into a tie last night by trimming Maple Leafs, 5-3.

Truett Sewell continued to give the Bisons the same pitching they had in three previous games, holding the Bears to five hits, and he got the paving of 17 solid blows to win 11-0.

As Rochester's afternoon game with Syracuse was rained out, the triumph puts the Bisons only two games behind the league leaders.

Montreal Royals hit almost as hard as the Bisons, collecting 16 blows to trounce Albany 14-5. The Senators made 14 hits themselves off Lauri Myllykangas, but couldn't punch them as effectively as Montreal did in an eight-run fifth inning.

Baltimore's triumph didn't come until the ninth inning of a game marked by much ineffective swinging which included a flurry of fists between Ab Wright and Hank Ericson during the Orioles' two-run rally in the ninth. Three singles and a double produced the winning runs.

ROGER HORNSBY IS DUE FOR AXE END OF SEASON

Hornsby In Driving Poorly Paid Browns Has Become Unpopular

OTHER CHANGES COMING

NEW YORK, August 11. It is being whispered that Rogers Hornsby will be dismissed as manager of the St. Louis Browns at the close of the current campaign.

Oscar Melillo, now with the Boston Red Sox, and Jim Bottomley are prominently mentioned as the Bajan's successor.

Something simply has to be done about the Browns, and with nothing else to turn to, the front office is reported ready to resort to the oldest expedient in baseball—firing the manager.

The Browns' financial situation has reached the point of desperation.

The Phil Ball estate is far from being broke, but Lewis B. Von Weise and L. Carle McEvoy, the men in charge of the club can't get money for players through a probate court and probably would not want to if they could. The Browns have played to more empty seats this year than ever before and a new low has been set with each succeeding season.

Hornsby kept the Browns out of red ink in 1935 by driving hard bargains in sales and engineering shrewd trades. He wound up with a $100,000 profit and what was believed to be a more formidable aggregation than that with which he started.

Bottomley Reconsidering.

The Browns won as many games as the champion Detroit Tigers during the closing weeks of last season, for which reason considerable hope was entertained for them this trip.

It goes without saying that their fight to keep out of the American league cellar is a bitter disappointment to all concerned.

Hornsby found it impossible to lash the comparatively poorly paid Browns as he did the more financially secure, capable, and ambitious Cardinals, Giants and Cubs. There is no question but that his attempt to do so resulted in his becoming extremely unpopular with a majority of his men.

Hornsby's removal probably would mean the passing from a responsible baseball position of one of the greatest and most colorful players and strategists of all time.

American League customers of St. Louis, what few there are left, hold both Melillo and Bottomley spent the best years of illustrious careers on the bank of the Mississippi.

It may be significant that Bottomley recently reconsidered after practically announcing his retirement, effective at once. Sunny Jim complained about his back and legs at the time, but it now develops that the Bourbon farmer had a tiff with his old sidekick, Hornsby.

Another argument strengthening the belief that a change is imminent is that either Melillo or Bottomely would be happy to run the works and play as well for considerably less pay than Hornsby is drawing.

Open Season on Managers.

The year 1937 is expected to have its full share of managerial changes.

It still is suspected that Casey Stengel will be paid off in Brooklyn this fall. One report has Jimmy Wilson moving in from Philadelphia, which would leave the Philly headaches open.

Pie Traynor is considered too easy going and too reluctant to give orders to change style of play in Pittsburg.

Joe Cronin's $30,000 a year contract is the only one in the game which does not contain a 10-day clause, still has three years to run, but its is hinted that the San Francisco Irisamman may finish it as a player unless the costly Red Sox snap out of the lethargic state in which they have been a good share of the time.

The rival Bees played to 41,506 cash customers the other Sunday and a good part of them must have been converted Red Sox followers.

It has been suggested that Bill Terry step into the business office of the Giants and turn the command of the field over to Babe Ruth. New York sports writers haven't altogether forgiven Terry for his autocractic attitude during his early success as leader of the Polo Grounders and the New York trade never did go into ecstacies over the rather cold Memphis Bill.

Any move on Terry's part is likely to be postponed another year, however, and then the new diamond director isn't likely to be Ruth. It just seems that the Bam never was meant to fit into the baseball scheme as a pilot.

It won't be surprising if the incapacitated Mickey Cochrane puts his coach, Del Baker, in charge of the Tigers and devotes all of his attention to the business end.

Meanwhile, Frank Frisch is breaking the all-time record for length of service as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, who used to change field marshals with every pennant.

Omemee grabbed a second-half playoff berth at the Bowl last night by knocking off Bailieboro, 20 to 10, in the final schedule game of the season. A large crowd saw a loose, ragged affair with the O's taking an early lead and being never seriously threatened. They enter the playoffs for the league championship against Keene on the latter's diamond Wednesday, second game being at the Bowl Friday, both at 6.45 p.m., daylight saving time.

J. Hickson started for Omemee but gave way in the fifth to M. Hannah after allowing eight hits and a walk and fanning one. M. Hannah was nicked for but three hits the rest of the route as she fanned three and walked none. B. McDowell on the losers' mound was hit hard and had poor support. She allowed 13 safeties while fanning five and walking four. Catches by R. Wood and M. Whittington with a B. McDowell-to-M. McDowell double play were fielding features.

A. Barnard led the losers at bat with three, M. McDowell and M. Wood getting a homer and singles each, and B. McDowell two singles. For Omemee, R. McQuade had four singles, P. Bigelow a homer, double and single, I. Sisson a double and three singles, and J. Fee a double and single. The teams:

CHARLIE GRIMM'S SPORTSMANSHIP COSTS CUBS GAME

Requests That Dean Be Left In Game After Banished By Umpires

ALSO LOST LEADERSHIP

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(AP).—Should the baseball gates be so unkind as to give St. Louis Cardinals the 1936 National League pennant by one game or less over Chicago's Cubs, Charles Grimm probably would go down into the frayed record books as the "Good Time Charlie" who gave the prized flag away.

The Cub pilot made the magnaminous, sportsmanlike gesture yesterday of allowing Dizzy Dean to remain in the first game of the all-important Cub-Cardinal series after the pitcher was about to be chased out by umpires for fighting Tex Carleton. Grimm talked the umps into letting Dizzy stay, and the Red Bird star proved his gratitude by handing the Cubs 7-3 and dropping them to second place.

Left the Mound

Stung by the quips flung at him by Carleton, who celebrated an off day by doing a lot of shouting, Dizzy suddenly left the pitching mound in the first inning and raved toward the Cub dugout. The fiery Carleton leaped out, met him near the first base line and they clinched and scuffled until players separated them. To the amazement of 3,000 fans, Dean resumed the mound, and it was explained Grimm had successfully pleaded against the expulsion of Dean.

Brooklyn Beats Giants

Brooklyn, a thorn in the side of Bill Terry since his unforgettable "Are they still in the league?" crack two years ago, waited until the ninth inning and then shellacked the Giants 6-5. Three hits and an error turned the trick for the Stengel crowd, which has won seven out of 9 games against the Giants this season.

The defeat dropped the Giants 4½ games behind the Cardinals.

New York's Yankees, riding along the high road of contentment with a seemingly invincible margin in the American League lead, absorbed one of their neatest livings of the year yesterday as Washington pounded three pitchers for 18 hits and a 13-4 victory. The defeat trimmed the Yankee lead over Cleveland's idle Indians to "only" 11½ games with 48 to play.

The toboggan that is carrying Philadelphia's Phillies deeper and deeper into the National League cellar gave no sign of stopping. Boston Bees rallied sharply in the closing innings to hand the Phils their eighth straight setback, 9-7. The Phils led 7-3 through five innings, but kicked and threw the game away.

Sets Olympic Marathon Record

Here is Japan's Kitei Son galloping into the Olympic Stadium at Berlin, first in the field of 56 Olympic Marathon starters. He won in the record time of 2 hours 29 minutes 19.2 seconds, more than 2 minutes faster than the old Olympic mark. After finishing the 26-mile 385-yard run, Son was fresh enough to dash the length of the field to the dressingroom. The first North American to finish was Jimmy Bartlett of Oshawa, Ont., who was fifteenth.

TENNIS DOIN'S
By JACK COWLING

Four of the scheduled matches were played in the men's singles last night. A strong sun had dried the courts and put them in fine playing condition.

Max Cotton advanced into the second round through a defaulted game. Art Jones won from Dave MacKenzie in straight sets 6-3, 10-8. Both men played good tennis with Jones a little the steadier of the two. Jones consistently played from the back line while MacKenzie frequently rushed the net and won points from that position.

Roy Tranter defeated Bob Mayhe in straight sets 6-3, 6-0. Osmond Benson likewise won from Jack Locke 6-1, 6-2.

The real game of the evening was provided by Bill McPherson and Rolly Hull. It was a dine-dong affair that lasted the full three sets. Both boys played good tennis, keeping their shots deep and well placed. Bill McPherson came from behind in the third set to win 1-6, 6-2, 11-9.

The remaining singles matches will be played tonight at 6.30 p.m. Two at the Peterborough Club and one at Kawartha.

In the Kawartha League Peterborough Club split with Kawartha 3-all in their match played on Friday night. Peterborough B won from Quaker 4-3 and Peterborough A dropped their match to Port Hope 5-1.

TORONTO SWIMMER FINISHES SIXTH 400-METRE SWIM

Japanese Swimmer Leaves Pack Well Behind In Race

ENTERS 1,500-METRE GRIND

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—(CP Cable.)—Four Japanese who churned through the waters of the Olympic pool as though they had fins for feet today won the 800 metre men's relay championship with the United States second and Canada seventh and second last.

The world and Olympic record of eight minutes, 56.1 seconds was submerged as the stream-lined sons of Nippon stroked to a soft victory in 8:51.5. The displayed mark was set by this same quartet—Masanori Yusa, Shigeo Sugiura, Shoji Taguchi and Shigeo Arai—in yesterday's trials.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—(C PCable)—Bob Pirie, young Toronto veteran, went out of the Olympic 400-metre free style swimming race this morning when he finished sixth in a semi-final won by Shumpei Tou Japan's new holder of the Olympic record for the distance.

The muscular little Nipponese set the water boiling in the last 100 metres to leave the pack well behind although his time of four minutes, 48.4 seconds did not approach the new standard of 4:45.5 he set up yesterday.

The 19-year-old Pirie tried valiantly but did not have the sprint speed to keep pace with the fast company. He was clocked in 4:58.7. He is expected to make a better showing in the 1,500-metre grind.

Canada's two bidders for the women's 100-metre backstroke championship, also were eliminated, failing to thrash their way through the preliminary trials.

Noel Oxenbury of Vancouver finished seventh in a field that was outclassed by a member of Holland's five star team, Miss Senff, as she back-pedalled the sprint course in 1:16.6, shearing 1.7 seconds from the listed record for the games.

Miss Oxenbury was in good position for the first half of the race but she turned badly and fell rapidly behind in the second leg. An English girl, Miss Frampton, qualified for the semi-finals by taking third place.

Mary McConkey, slim little Edmonton mermaid, failed by inches to get through another trial, won by Edith M. Segal of the United States in 1.21.0. The Canadian girl was fifth, barely missing fourth and a qualifying berth when the Danish Miss Nielsen came strong at the end to take that place.

Rita Mastenbroek of Holland, winner of the 100-metre free style final Monday, was runnerup in this heat, an even second behind the winner.

First Three Places.

Dick Degener of Detroit paced the United States to a sweep of the first three places in the springboard diving championship with Marshall Wayne of Miami, second and Al Greene, Chicago, third.

Degener, third in a similar American sweep of this event in the 1932 Olympics when Mickey Galitzen and Harold Smith took the first two places, scored 163.57 points in the two-day program of five compulsory and five optional dives. Wayne wound up with 159.56 points and Green with 146.26.

Bar of the three Americans trailed Nibsharp, Japan, 145.38 and Weiss, Germany, 141.24.

Young Gorge Athans of Vancouver was forced out of this event by an infected ear but it is believed he will be well enough to compete in the high-board competition later in the week.

Dead Heat.

Jack Medica, Seattle star, raced to a dead heat with the Japanese, Shozo Makino, in a 400-metre semi-final. Officials deliberated five minutes trying to decide upon a winner but gave it up. Both Medica and Makino were clocked in 4:48.2.

Makino, a full head shorter than Medica, had to work much harder than the Seattle ace but got remarkable speed out of his short arms.

Jean Taris of France was third in 4:45.6 and Leivers of Great Britain fourth. Leivers qualified for the final since his fourth place time of 4:55.7 bettered that of the fourth man in the first semi-final.

Eleanor Holm Jarrett, who lost her place on the American aquatic team for alleged drinking and late hours, was an interested holder of a press seat during the 100-yard backstroke competition. She was the 1932 champion and it was her record that was sent overboard by the flailing arms of Miss Senff.

Cobourg Road Team Beaten By Outlaws

HASTINGS, August 11. — "Dit" Clapper's Outlaws got away to a flying start in the semi-finals of the local Softball League on Monday night before a big crowd, and took the Cobourg Road into camp 14 to 2. Gordon Gibson, the losers' ace twirler, was off color, and his support was worse, balls going for hits that should have ordinarily been fielded. The big crowd was treated to some nice pitching in the last two innings when Gib Herrington, manager of the Roaders, and a veteran hardball pitcher, held the winners hitless. The thirty-nine-year-old veteran got a big hand from the crowd.

Cobourg Road— Faux, 3b; G. Gibson, p; Herrington, rf; Downs, ss; McCoy, cf; L. Gibson, lf; B. Coveney, 1b; T. Gibson, c; P. Coveney, 2b.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY
Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C J. P.)

THERE WAS only one gals' softball game last evening at the Bowl but three teams lost—Bailieboro, Westclox and C.G.E. That 20-10 win for Omemee over Bailieboro knocked those three squads out of competition until 1937 or so. It sent the O's into the playoffs against Keene. Not the second-half playoffs, as was announced during the game last night. No, after the tilt, the two managers (Keene and Omemee) agreed to waive the sectional playoffs and go right into the league finals. You see, Keene won the first half and would be in the second-half series, too. But they will take a chance on winning this one serial, thereby saving their pitcher for the P.W.S.U. playdowns, if they win. Naturally, Omemee had nothing to lose so they agreed to it. The firstof the five-game finals will be in Keene at 6.45, daylight saving time, Wednesday eve. Next one here at the Bowl on Friday.

* * * * * * *

THE TILT last twilight was pretty bad. Bailieboro kept trying, but they kept booting them. Their pitching was only fair but the fielding didn't help the mound lass any, either. Omemee, with the crowd against them, played pretty fair ball, looking snappy in the field and walloping the melon all over the patch. Their pitchers both went good—though J. Hickson ran into trouble in the fifth and betook herself to right field in favor of M. Hannah. On their play all summer, Keene should beat the O's in the playoffs, but one never knows what will happen when the chips are down.

UP AT Central last gloaming, the men's softball finals got under way with the Swartz Clothiers notching a 5-1 win over Westclox. It's a best four out of seven (believe it or not) serious and the next game is tonight at 6.45 in Central. They'll likely play again Thursday and Friday—as they want to get it over before the Exhibition commences a week from tomorrow. The winner of this series cops the Taylor Trophy, emblematic of the city championship, and goes into the O.A.S.A. intermediate "A" playdowns, meeting Oshawa first. It's beginning to look like Swartz should mop up.

* * * * * * *

LAST NIGHT'S game was a good one with the winners bunching hits and walks with a couple of miscues in the sixth to tally five. Both heavers twirled in smart style but the Clockmakers weren't wound up in the field and booted some expensive ones. Naish and Parsons did the chucking, while Covert, Weir, Calladine and Curry wielded potent wagon-tongues at the platter. As usual, these squads pepped things up with plenty of personal cracks tossed about with the abandon of a moneyed sailor on shore leave, and the crowd joined in—mostly on Westclox side, it seemed. Don't miss it this evening.

DAVE LEETHER of the O.A.S.A. informs us that the local men's winner must play in Oshawa on August 21st, return game here the 25th, and third, if necessary, on the 28th. Local juniors play Oshawa here Aug. 18th, go back there the 20th and third, maybe, the 22nd. Our juveniles don't get going for a couple of weeks yet. The only intermediate "C" team of the district is Norwood and they'll have to wait for the Napanee-Deseronto-Sunbury winner, probably early in September. Cy Collison received his transfer from here to Toronto. The O.A.S.A. is prepared to aid minors if needed. Dave voted to have the O.A.S.A. sanction games between pros and amateurs for charity—it being okayed—hoping local organizations might get busy.

* * * * * * *

THE UP-AND-DOWN Petes go down the line to Napanee tomorrow after luncheon for their final loop appearance in the Furniture Town this semester. They expect to notch this one and had better if they hope to beat the Naps to the wire for a piece of the playoffs. They entertain Kingston here on Saturday, and then have a game here with Oshawa and one in Kingston to end their schedule. The locals are a game back of the Ponies at present and only one and a half up on Walt Gerow's hustlers. By the way, the Grafton's Knot-Hole Gang bicycle will be drawn for at three bells this Saturday afternoon in Riverside Park just before the Petes and Ponies clash. Kids are warned to be registered with Grafton's and have their buttons or they stand no chance of winning the coveted bike. Mayor Macdonald will draw the ticket.

* * * * * * *

OUR JUNIOR Rotarians have their fourth Lakeshore Loop playoff game tomorrow afternoon in Oshawa and they need a win to stave off elimination. They'll insist upon police protection this time or, by golly, they won't take the field. No more mob scenes for them—let the Oshawa kids win if they can but without benefit of mob intimidation by violent fans. In fact, the Rotary boys hope a flock of local rooters will accompany them and slip 'em a ton or two of vocal support. A number of cars will journey Motor City-ward and folks wishing to go along should call up Dr. Clark at 119. It's a case tomorrow of hanging one on the cocky GM-lads or hanging up the spikes and reading about the junior O.B.A.A. playdowns in the newspapers.

* * * * * * *

YE SCULPTORS of L'Ecole de Gutted Stick—lacrossers, he means—take up their tools again and go to work this week. Auburns go to Millbrook this Tuesday eve for a Tri-County League contest and, on Saturday aft at four bells in Auburn Field, the Norwood nomads tackle the Auburns. The lads have a couple of weeks to go before playoff time and they're hitting right into the sort of weather they like. Millbrook draws pretty fair crowds for these tilts this season but you have to look carefully at Norwood or Auburn home games to spot a few lurking fans. However, there should be an increase from here in.

Cogs Defeat Nats

Cogs defeated Nationals, 7-3, in a Southend Softball League tilt last evening, outhitting them by 11 to 6. B. Leggitt's homer with one on in the ninth made it sure for the Cogs after they had been nursing a narrow lead most of the way. Fleming for the winners, and Wedlock of the Nats both went good. They walked 4 and 3 respectively. The win gives Cogs a chance for first place in the second half, provided the Leafs drop a game to the Orioles this week. The teams:

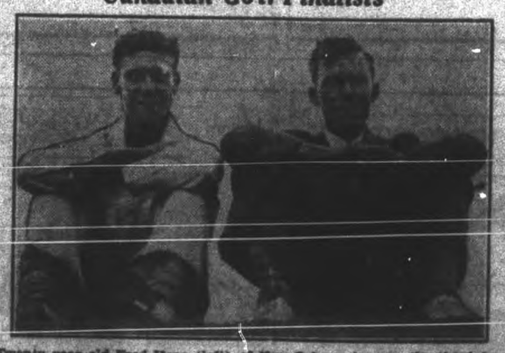
Cogs—A. Heal, 2b; Todd, c; B. Leggitt, cf; Meredith, lf; Pearson, ss; S. Leggitt, rf; McGovern, 1b; Fleming, p; C. Heal, 3b.

Nats— Parsons, ss; Pearson, c; Rennie, 2b; Kitchen, cf; Adamson, 3b; Conlin, rf; Copping, 1b; Scott, lf; Wedlock, p.

Score by innings:

Cogs . . . . . 001 020 112—7
Nats . . . . . 000 200 000—2

Canadian Golf Finalists



Twenty-year-old Fred Haas (left) of New Orleans became the third American to win the Canadian amateur golf championship when he defeated Bobby Reith (right) of Winnipeg 3 and 7 in the final. Eddie Held of New York and Scotty Campbell of Seattle were the other two holders of the national amateur title. Haas and Reith are pictured at the St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, before they went to the tee for the final battle.

GERMAN SCULLER WINS FIRST HEAT CAMPBELL THIRD

Twenty-Six-Year-Old Canadian Has Still a Chance To Get Into Finals

AUSTRIAN IS SECOND

GRUNAU, Germany, Aug. 11.—(CP Cable.)—Gustav Schaefer, of Germany scored a surprise victory to-day in the first heat of the Olympic singles sculls, leaving in his wake a starry aggregation that included "Chuck" Campbell of Toronto, in third place.

Still Can Qualify.

The 26 year old Canadian still can qualify for the finals of the classic, in which he ranked among the favorites, by taking a first place in the consolation heats Friday when to-day's losers will be drawn against each other.

The expected battle between the sculling aces drawn in the initial trial did not materialize, Schaefer taking command at the start, outrowing his four rivals and beating the Austrian, Hasenoehl, by four decisive lengths. The winner's time under the best rowing conditions of the afternoon, was seven minutes, 17.1 seconds.

Had Slow Start.

After a slow start, Campbell came with a rush at the end to take third place over Cecil Pearce, Australian nephew of the great Bobby Pearce. Daniel Barrow of Philadelphia, the United States' champion, was an outclassed fifth.

Hasenoehl's time was 7:24; Campbell's 7:25.7; Pearce's 7:27 and Barrow's 7:30.5.

Poland easily won its heat of the pair-oared trials in 7:29.9 with the wind kicking up the course and handicapping performances. The Swiss pair, the only challengers among the five starters finished two lengths beind in 7:33.7.

Soccer Notes

Canada Packers drew with Oshawa Hungarians on Saturday last, by the score of 5-all. They were entertained by the club after the game.

There has been no official communication received from Toronto Kinmberleys in regard to the return game in Toronto.

Saturday's bill is Canada Packers versus Canadian General in a league game. Kick off at three o'clock.

The five-a-side competition final date has not been settled by the soccer executive.

TWO POWER BOATS MISSING ON LAKES

One Is Known To Have Twenty Aboard—Other At Least Two —Search Ordered

GREEN BAY, Wis., Aug. 11 (AP) —Two large power cruisers with at least 22 persons aboard were hunted in Lakes Superior and Michigan today by coastguard vessels and volunteer private craft.

The missing boats were the 35-foot "Faith," which left Portage, Mich., last Saturday night with 20 persons, and the 42-foot "Betty Jean," which set out from Sturgeon Bay, Wis., last Sunday with Harry C. Kettelson, a Milwaukee salesman, his wife, Maude, and possibly other passengers.

S. B. Johnson, Commander of the 11th District Coastguard here, ordered a motor lifeboat from the Eagle Harbor, Mich., station to search for the "Faith."

Commander Johnson said he was inclined to believe the "Faith" lost her course in the heavy smoke blowing from the island, where forest fires have been burning.

Dogfish Provide Fishing Harvest

HAWK POINT, N.S., Aug. 11.—(CP)—If you ever want to hear fancy "cussin" you want to hear a hardened Nova Scotia fisherman let loose his opinion on the dogfish family in general and, in particular, the special branch of it that has just eaten his netful of fish.

But Harold Nickerson and Robert Brannen will tell you even dogfish have their points. They found thousands of herring on the beach here and schools of bigger fish driven into shallow water close to shore by a squad of dogfish.

Running home, they grabbed a couple of hay forks and pitched 600 pounds of large fish and a barrel of herring on their truck.

RIGHT TIP, WRONG PAIR

Newsmen Find Pair at Airport Are Another Jack Dempsey and Mayor Jacobs

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—(CP). — Newspaper reporters and photographers rushed to Cleveland airport last night after attaches tipped them off that Jack Dempsey and Mr. Jacobs were flying from Chicago to New York.

On schedule the liner roared in. "Wasn't Dempsey on this plane?" a reporter asked.

"Sure," a passenger replied. "I'm Dempsey—Jack Dempsey of Chicago. Handle nothing but the best cigars."

"But—but? I'm Jack ——" a man with Dempsey said. "Harry Jacobs of Chicago—liquor dealer."

We would like to be able to figure out the standing of the groups in the schedule games, but as we see it there are too many "ifs." Maybe after to-night we may have something more definite.

But there is one thing we do know, and that is in Group No. 3 Bill Zelhr and Al. Heckman are tied up for the honors and what a swell game that will be when they are ordered to break the tie. We don't know what the "taps" will be selling for—but we'll be there.

In Group No. 2 T. McMillan is high just now, but L. Loftus has a chance to tie it up providing he beats Dr. Allan to-night. That is "if." Louis lost his chance to be ahead last night.

And in Group No. 1. Well, it would take a college professor to figure it out, and then he would be good to do it. Maybe after to-night's games the air will be clearer. Anyway, no matter which way you look at it the schedule has been one good race—and it's not all over yet.

Now don't forget the tournament to-morrow, commencing at 1.30 p.m.

TOO MUCH GOLFING

Parole Board Head Claims Fathers Spend Too Little Time With Children.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 11.—(CP). —Fathers to-day spend too much time in bunkers hitting at little white pills with nibicks and not enough time with their children, says Judge John F. McKinley, of Ottawa, chairman of the Ontario Parole Board and authority on domestic relations.

Judge McKinley said of the golfing parents:

"They would get more happiness at home with their children than they do losing their temper trying to get out of a bunker."

A MURDER MYSTERY AND AN ENGLISH SONGBIRD

This double bill provides the extreme'y entertaining program which is so often met with in these outsize menus served up on the movie bill of fare. Half American, half English, it gives you a taste of entirely different methods and entirely different pictures.

"Murder by an Aristocrat" is an unwieldly title for a murder mystery that centers about the doing away with of a blackmailer who has something on each member of an old and proud family, the Thatchers, in a small American town. Lyle Talbot, Claire Dodd and Marguerite Churchill (the last two are seldom met with these days, but in other times they were screen favorites), are in the lineup and the story revolves itself entertaingly around the parlous events of a day and night, in a picture that has one murder (and almost two) and a suicide, in its unfolding.

The British picture (they get better and better as time goes on) is called "Two Hearts in Harmony." It has a real blonde songbird (Bernice Claire) in a blithe and carefree tale of a pretty cabaret performer and a romantic-minded marquis, with another charmer (also a blonde) thrown in for good measure, and thrown out later on, to the satisfaction of those who watch the two-timing lady's methods. There is an excellent cast, with a charming small boy, a really autocratic butler and a hero who, while not at all good-looking, has a charm of manner and thought that makes him outstandingly good. The songs of the pretty heroine are lovely interludes in a gay and entertaining musical comedy romance.—C. L. M.

EDWARD ENJOYING VAGABOND CRUISE

Yugoslavs Light Beacon Fires Of Welcome Along Dalmatian Coast

SIBENIK, Yugoslavia, Aug. 11 (AP)—King Edward turned his nautical vacation into a vagabond cruise to-day.

The only persons who knew the royal orders were the captain of the yacht Nahlin, aboard which the King and his guests steamed away along the Dalmatian coast yesterday, and a few officials ashore and at London.

But the general impression was: the orders do not mean a great deal and the King changes them from day to day as his fancy pleases.

The yacht was anchored last night in the harbor of Tajer, fishing port on Dugi. The day had been spent cruising among the islands.

Towns along the coast were thronged with tourists hoping to get a glimpse of the King.

While the Nahlin lay at Tajer, Yugoslavian civil and military officials established guards to allow privacy for the King. Two seaplanes forced private planes to stay away in an effort to prevent pictures from being taken.

It was believed the royal party might remain some time in the vicinity of Tajer, about 20 nautical miles west of Sibenik.

Fishermen and peasants on the hundreds of nearby islands were preparing to light welcome fires according to an old custom.

TORONTO SLASHER CUTS 2ND WOMAN

Victim Taken to Hospital From Theatre With Punctures, Scratch On Hip

TORONTO, August 11 (C.P.) — Police to-day intensified their search for a mysterious slasher after receiving the second report in three days of a woman being cut about the hips.

Mrs. A. Marshall, 35, Granby avenue, near the downtown district, was taken to hospital with three puncture wounds and scratches on the hip.

Mildred Fisher of New York City was slashed in a downtown store Saturday.

Last night's victim of the slasher received her wounds in a theatre. Doctors said they could have been inflicted by the same instrument responsible for the cutting of Miss Fisher.

LOYALIST FORCES CAPTURE ADAMUZ

Government Forces Begin Shelling Historic Old Granada And Famous Moorish Palace

By Ramon Blardony

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

MADRID, Aug. 11.—Loyal troops penetrated southern rebel lines, the government reported to-day, capturing the strategic town of Adamuz, 21 miles north-east of Cordoba.

The war ministry denied reports rebels had seized the cities of Santander, on the northern coast, and Badajos, near the Portuguese frontier in Southern Spain.

Government bombardment of Granada, the historic old capital already has begun, reports from southern rebel headquarters declared.

Shells from Leftist artillery were reported to have fallen on the Alhambra, famous 14th century palace of Moorish kings. The Alhambra stands on a hill overlooking Granada.

"War zones" were declared by the war ministry to include Huelva in extreme south-western Spain; Cadiz, the southern tip of the peninsula; the Balearic Islands; and three provinces in the extreme north-western corner—Coruna, Lugo and Pontevedra.

WIND FANS FLAMES IN PELEE MARSH

Over 50 Men Battle Blaze All Night Using Portable Pump On Three-Mile Front

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Aug. 11 (CP). — A strong east wind swept the marsh fire on Point Pelee, eight miles from this Essex county town, into activity again early to-day and revived the threat to property in the National Park. Pheasant eggs and young birds have been destroyed in large numbers by the first which started a week ago.

All night the 12 park employees and another 40 volunteer fire fighters remained on the job and were unable to cease work to-day. They keep shifting the sole remaining pump along a three-mile front whenever a report is received the fire has flared up or is particularly bad at a given point. Additional equipment is expected to-day.

Owners of onion farms fear the destruction by fire of the dyke erected at a cost of several thousand of dollars to protect their lands from high waters in the spring. Property of nearly 400 campers in the park also is threatened.

OUT OF BOUNDS

Idaho Candidate Finds He's Campaigning in Utah.

BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Virgil Goodwin, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State in Idaho, described himself to-day as "very burned up" over the finish of his campaign.

Checking up on a half a day of speech-making and passing out cards, he found he had wandered seven miles into Utah.

Love isn't Important

by LOUISE JERROLD

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club, meets a number of social elite when she fills in at a dinner party at the request of Dr. Wilson, a club member. One of them is Breck Carter, who, a few evenings later, takes her to a speakeasy and gambling house. Breck becomes intoxicated and tries to force his affections on Gay. Trying to repulse him, her hand is badly burned by his cigarette and she leaves him hurriedly. After work, Dr. Wilson, noticing Gay's hand, takes her to his home to treat the burn. Gay and the doctor have a friendly visit and she prepares to go home. Tim Keenan and his fiancee, Marian Randolph, drop in just as Gay is leaving Dr. Wilson's. Gay and Jean Briggs, her roommate, discuss the opening of Rose Heath, an expensive night club.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 12

"SPEAKING of boy friends—" Jean remarked to Gay, "isn't it just my rotten luck that my friend from back home writes me he'll be in town Thursday evening and wants to take me stepping, and me on night shift this week?"

"Go ahead and meet him. I'll ask Mr. Carberry to let me take your place for Thursday night."

Jean gave a suppressed squeal of gratitude. "Would you, Gay? But you can't work all day and all night, too."

"Dont be foolish. If I can't do that much for my pal—"

"I'll return the favor some day. See if I don't! Hey there Jimmy!" Jean high-signed the lanky youth in the club uniform of bell-boy, who was coming toward the coat-room.

"I do wish," she addressed him in a clever imitation of a bored society voice, "you wouldn't page me everywhere I go! I told Henry Ford not to 'phone me here again today—"

"Quite," interrupted Jimmy dryly, then cocked an eye in Gay's direction. "You're wanted on the telephone, in the ladies' lounge."

At her expression of surprised disbelief, he added, "Better snap to it. Your gentleman friend ain't in any too good a temper. The switchboard girl said he had to do quite some talking, before Carberry'd let you answer the 'phone in wolking hours. I'm to tend bar while you're gone—so cut it short!"

Returning presently, Gay busied herself with the unnecessary rehanging of several coats. She said nothing, but her eyes were a sparkling blue brilliance, and an irrepressible smile curved her lips. Jean bore the tantalizing reticence as long as she humanly could. Then, "Don't be a little meanie, kid! Who was it? Spill the news, before I die of curiosity!"

"Another bid to Rose Heath," Gay began, fashionably languid, but her excited laughter broke through. "I'm really invited! Christian Scott's just back from Cuba, and he's going to pick me up at seven-thirty sharp. Isn't that great?"

Jean made a wry face. "Great—Scott, you mean! Almost old enough to be your grandfather. Two wives under the grass, and the second one, they say, drowned herself in the bath tub. Christian Scott!" Jean went on, sputtering. "Nearly sixty, and playing around with young girls! Has he done his cat's cradle trick for you, Gay?—But say, kid," Jean, interested in spite of herself broke off to demand, "how'll you dress?"

"I was just wondering—"

"It's all set. I'm tearing back to the flat anyhow, so I'll grab your duds and be here in time—"

Jean, you precious lamb! Will you do that? And what a lucky break Miss Randolph sold me that adorable white evening gown! And my new silver slippers! You know where my evening coat is. But hurry, Jean," she implored. "I daren't be late. Mr. Scott said he hates to be kept waiting!"

"Seven-thirty!" Jean, half-across the lobby called back. "If I have to lose a leg, you'll be ready!"

Gay was. At precisely seven-thirty, her hair smooth, rippling gold, demurely parted, her eyes a mingling of excitement and pride, the slim grace of her body concealed yet revealed by fragile drifts of white tulle, dotted with tiny crystals, she walked with the poise of a professional model past the check counter.

Involuntarily, Jean caught her breath.

"Good gosh, Gay! You're a knock-out!"

Gay laughed like a pleased child, and draping her evening wrap about her shoulders, sped across the lobby and out to the porte cochere where waited a long, custom built limousine of shining maroon. Its owner, Christian Scott, spare, tall, steely-eyed and tight-lipped, stood directing a few polite remarks about the weather to the liveried club car-starter.

"What a vision of youth and loveliness!" smiled Mr. Scott, handing Gay formally into the limousine and seating himself beside her. "Bright idea of mine, this party to celebrate my home-coming. I had rather a tiresome business trip—we have been concerned about our Havana branch office. But it takes a beautiful girl like you, to erase business vexations from a man's mind, Miss—Have I your permission to call you Gay?"

He pressed her fingers between his thin, rathercold hands, significantly. "I trust I am to have the pleasure of your company quite often from now on, Gay!"

She laughed, and tried to with draw her hand, but Mr. Scott gripped it firmly and began to braid and unbraid her fingers, while the car sped grandly on, as though aware of its superlative power and elegance.

"You made a great impression upon me, Gay, at the Wilson dinner. have thought of you often since that evening, and I hope—" He interrupted himself to direct the chauffeur, "Stop at the next corner. We are to meet another guest there."

Gay had a moment to gaze about. The car had swung onto Jefferson avenue, and there under an arc-light she saw a man—lean, taller than Christian Scott, on the curb ready to enter the car.

As she recognized Wayne Adams, she felt her heart miss a beat, then race. . . .

"I told you that you would be surprised when you saw the young lady I had selected for tonight's party," Mr Scott remarked, with his dry laugh.

"You kept your word," Wayne said, and greeting Gay politely, hild into the seat the footman had drawn forward. Sitting sidewise, Wayne gased for a long second at Gay; appraisal, then tribute, in his eyes.

For a few moments, the two men were absorbed in rationalizing the sudden upward curve of the stock market, and Gay was left free to revel in the ease and luxuriousness of the high-powered limousine, which was shooting them now past massive buildings with their formidable batteries of smoke stacks; now past splendid old homes and towering apartment houses. Once and again, she caught a brief glimpse of the Detroit river, at the foot of an intersecting street.

Presently the car came to a halt before the imposing facade of a swagger hotel-apartment building. Wayne Adams slipped out, to re-appear in a short time with Mrs. Larrimore, who in daffodil yellow, represented Poiret, Cartier's and Elisabeth Arden, from the crown of her beautifully coiffed head to the tips of her gold slippers.

Mrs. Larimore sank gracefully into the seat beside Gay, while the two men occupied the pull-chairs.

"Oh, er, yes, Miss Elwell!" Grace Larrimore's smooth response to her host's inquiry hid her moment of surprised recognition. "Of course I remember her, Chris." She gave Gay a dim smile. "You're that kind young person who saved me from having to run away from the Wilson dinner. Stupid of me to be so superstitious, but a leopard can't change his spots, can he, Miss Elwell?

"And speaking of spots, Chris, is Havana the same old wet spot? And is American thirst as noticeable as ever, down there?"

With that, the conversation became general, though for the most part Gay was a contented listener. She knew nothing of Cuba—could scarcely enter into this talk of popular cafes and hotels.

She was beginning to appreciate the power of beautiful possessions. It gave her a sense of personal value and importance, to ride in this gorgeous car, to be one of a party where the men wore their evening clothes with nice unconsciousness, and Mrs. Larrimore was at home in her imported gown and jewels as she, Gay, was by now in her club-uniform.

THE TUTTS by Crawford Young

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE GENTLEMAN BUG.

Sometimes children do things that are unkind without really knowing that they are unkind. That's the way it is with the animal children who live in the woods. And this story is about two squirrel boys who were teasing a cute little lady bug and how they were taught a lesson.

The squirrel boys were named Nip and Nap and they were cousins to Johnnie and Billie Bushy-tail. Uncle Wiggily, while walking through the woods one day, heard them talking, although they didn't know he was there because he was behind a bush.

"Let's scare her," Nip was saying.

"How?" Nap wanted to know.

"Don't you know how to scare lady bugs? It's easy. You tell them their house is on fire. I'll show you"

Uncle Wiggily moved up closer to see what was going on. The two squirrels were standing in front of a lady bug who was resting on a fallen leaf. And suddenly Nip exclaimed: "Lady bug, lady bug, fly away home—your house is onfire and your children will burn!"

"Oh!" the lady bug squeaked. "Oh, dear me! How terrible!"

"See?" Nip cried. "See how scared she is? Now you say it!"

So Nap repeated: "Lady bug, lady bug, fly away home—your house is on fire and your children will burn!"

Cruel Squirrels.

"Now, that isn't nice of them at all," Uncle Wiggily murmured. "I suppose they don't mean to be cruel, but they are just the same! And I'd like to teach them a lesson!"

By this time the poor lady bug was in an awful state. She hopped up and down and was so excited she almost forgot how to fly.

"I've got to do something quick," Uncle Wiggily thought. "That little lady bug is very frightened. I wonder—"

Just then he felt a stinging blow right on the end of his nose. It was so unexpected that Mr. Longears nearly fell over backward.

"Oh, pardon me!" a voice exclaimed "I'm so sorry! Did I hurt you?"

It was a large June bug, which, as you know, sometimes flies around not only in June but all Summer. The bug had flown against Uncle Wiggily's nose.

"No, I guess you didn't hurt me," replied the bunny. "I was surprised, that was all. And you are a gentleman bug to apologise so nicely."

"Of course," the June bug laughed. "At least I always try to be a gentleman."

"Then you can do something for me," Uncle Wiggily said quickly. "Will you fly around the bush and strike the noses of those two squirrel boys? They are teasing a lady bug. I want them to stop."

Smacked on Nose.

"Certainly I will!" said the gentleman bug promptly. So he made his wings go very fast and zipped around the bush. Just as Nip was saying again: "Lady bug, lady bug, fly away home—" the gentlemanly June bug smacked him right on the nose!

"Ouch!" Nip yelled. 'Oh, my nose! Nap, you tease the lady bug now!"

"Lady bug, lady bug—" Nap started, when bingo! He was hit on the nose!

"Gracious—let's get out of here!" Nap shouted. "Some one doesn't want us to tease this lady bug! And I guess it wasn't very nice—"

He didn't get a chance to say much more, for the June bug flew at him once more. And those two squirrel boys scampered away as fast as they could, thinking a friend of the lady bug was angry at them. And they never teased any one again.

Then the gentlemanly June bug told the lady bug her house wasn't on fire at all and that she needn't worry any longer. She was happy at that news, you may be sure!

And tomorrow night, if the lobster salad dressing is wearing a new pink ribbon, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the new cook.

No Bail Option For Man Accused By Chairman Of Police Committee

PORT HOPE COURT CASE

PORT HOPE, Aug. 11.—A drunk driving charge against John Armstrong, of Hope township, was dismissed here Saturday afternoon, when the case was heard by Magistrate W. A. P. Campbell. Armstrong was arrested here a week ago Saturday on information laid by Councillor H. M. VanAlstine, chairman of the police committee, following an accident on Cavan St. in which an automobile driven by Armstrong collided with Van Alstine's car. The accused appeared Tuesday and was remanded until Saturday without the option of bail.

Armstrong claimed that he hadn't had a drink and five witnesses also declared that he was sober. Chief of Police Murphy testified that the accused seemed to be in a staggery condition while Van Alstine claimed that Armstrong had used abusive language. The magistrate held that the evidence did not warrant a conviction. F. C. Richardson represented Armstrong, while Crown Attorney Boggs, of Cobourg, conducted the prosecution.

NEW ROAD SCHEME WARMLY RECEIVED

Government To Look After 4,500 Miles Of British Trunk Roads

LONDON, Aug. 11 (CP).—The announcement by Rt. Hon. Leslie Hore-Belisha, Minister of Transport, that the government proposes to take over he administration of 4,500 miles of the trunk roads, which has up to now lain with different County Councils, is warmly welcomed on every hand.

At present trunk roads are broken into sections at county boundaries, each section being controlled by a different county. This naturally leads to variations in the nature of the road surface and in the matter of traffic signals.

The 316 miles of the Great North Road from London to the Scottish border is an example of an unsatisfactory condition of a through route. There still remain 190 miles or nearly two-thirds of its total length where the road cannot safely and conveniently accommodate more than one line of traffic in each direction.

A stationary vehicle, therefore, reduces the road to a single track and footpaths and adequate visibility at corners cannot be secured.

Mrs. Maud Menzies and her husband, both doctors, descended into a mine at Tougrave, England, to attend the injured in a fatal accident.

SIMPSON FAMILY HONORS MEMORY FIRST SETTLERS

Descendants Meet at Presqu'ile Point For Service

SETTLED IN 1755

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BRIGHTON, Aug. 11.—Descendants of Obadiah Simpson and his wife, Mary Lord, assembled at Presqu'Ile Point yesterday, in Brighton Township, to pay their tribute to the original white settlers of this district. The ceremony was conducted at the beautiful cairn erected in 1931 on the shores of Lake Ontario.

Obadiah Simpson, who was born in North Carolina in 1755, and his wife, born in Westchester County, now Brighton Township, in 1796 after having landed with the United Empire Loyalists. Hewing a home from the virgin forest, they were the first white people in this part of the country. They established the original Simpson farm now occupied by Bert Maybee and their name has been synonymous with the history of Northumberland County. In 1931, largely through the efforts of Dr. R. A. Wade, of Alberta, and Albert A. Wade, a cairn was built. The family members gathered at the cairn annually to pay honor to their ancestors.

Harry B. Phillips, one-time Warden of Northumberland County, was chairman of the proceedings. In his brief remarks, he traced the history of these sturdy pioneers, the eighth generation of whom are carrying on the traditions established by their forefathers.

"If the people today were as hard-working, honest and industrious as the early members of the Simpson family, there would be no relief rolls in this province," Mr. Phillips declared.

R. J. Ross, Brighton, and Neale Morison, Campbellford, spoke briefly and Mrs. Alonzo Thorne, a member of the Simpson family, this year celebrating her 80th birthday, drew attention to the fact that members of the clan have continued to be good and progressive citizens of this community, following the example set by their forefathers.

At the conclusion of the affair, flowers were placed around the cairn, following which the customary family reunion was held.

MILLBROOK HALL BEING PAINTED

Repairs Are Also Being Made To Upper Balcony Of Town Hall

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Aug. 11.—The Town Hall is "having its face lifted" with a new coat of paint, and much-needed repairs to the upper balcony, the improvements including a new wrought-iron fence making a background for the shrubbery, planted in front of the Hall by the Horticultural Society, organized in the community this season. New steps also add much to the appearance of the public building on which the old faded and cracked paint and the dilapidated state of the balcony railing and steps, have been an eyesore for a long time past.

The work of renovation is in the hands of T. A. Campbell. A further improvement, which is likewise a decided need, is the thorough renovating of the "opera house" upstairs in the Town Hall, with new seating to be included in the scheme of renewal.

Lack of funds and a hesitancy in adding to the tax burden of the community apparently ties the Council's hands in proceeding with this matter. However the suggestion has been repeatedly advanced that if some local organization, possibly the Women's Institute, would give leadership in undertaking this important and worthwhile task, the need being so evident, the necessary assistance and support, financial and otherwise, would be forthcoming.

The demolishing of the old Dominion Hotel on the corner opposite the Town Hall, with the promised erection of a modern building by the Jeffrey Brothers including a creamery and residence, will greatly improve that entire section of King street.

MODEL AIRCRAFT HAS TINY MOTOR

Baby Cabin Job Flies 2,500 Feet Up In Ten Minutes

MOOSE JAW, August 11 (CP).—Foster Stone, 19, of this city, believed to be one of the first in Canada to build a model aircraft powered with a tiny motor, has four machines of the self-flying type and hopes to gain the world's title for flying such craft.

Stone has built nine machines since 1930. The first five cracked up, but he was not discouraged and continued his experiments. One of his four models, a cabin type, has flown 2,500 feet into the air. The engine uses only one-eighth of an ounce of gasoline, sufficient to keep the machine up 10 minutes.

His tiniest model has a wing span of 35 inches and the motor is .035 horsepower, with a half-inch piston and stroke of nine-sixteenths of an inch. The other planes have a one-fifth horsepower motor which turns a 14-inch propeller at 6,0000 revolutions a minute. The engine is called "The Elf" and was made by hand in Portland, Ore.

INQUIRY OPENED INTO THE DEATH OF MISS RUSKA

Doctor Describes Terrible Injuries Suffered By Victim

INQUEST IS ADJOURNED

Jury Views Scene Of Accident And Also The Wrecked Vehicles

While the preliminary inquiry into death of Eva Ruska, pretty 28-year-year-old visitor from Erie, Pennsylvania, was in progress Tuesday evening, Chief Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith was notified that Mrs. Herschel H. Corn, also of Erie, had died at Nicholls Hospital.

Her death occurred less than nine hours, after the car in which she and Miss Ruska were riding, along with Mr. Corn who is alleged to have been driving, crashed into the rear of a parked highways department truck on Water Trough Hill, four miles west of the city.

Adjourned Sine Die

The inquest into the death of Miss Ruska was adjourned sine die, pending appearance of Mr. Corn who is in the hospital with severe injuries from which it is expected he will recover.

Coroner Smith ordered a post mortem examination of the remains of Mrs. Corn, which was performed at Belleghem's Funeral Home by Dr. C. M. Scott and Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick, while a second jury is being summoned to open preliminary inquiry into the circumstances under which she met her death. It is to be held this (Wednesday) evening. The woman suffered severe injuries, including a punctured lung, ruptured liver and partial fracture of her jaw.

Before the inquiry into Miss Ruska's death was adjourned the jury was taken to the scene of the accident, where the locations of the two vehicles following the impact, was pointed out to them by Provincial Constable David Silvester and Motorcycle Patrol Constable Lloyd McClure who investigated immediately following the collision.

The jury also went to Duffus garage, where the wrecked vehicles were surrounded by a curious throng of sightseers. They examined the battered remains of the light coach in which the three American visitors were driving, and closely inspected

RELATIVES CLAIM BODIES OF WOMEN IN HIGHWAY CRASH

Trio Of Tourists Intended To Spend Holiday At Clear Lake

ONE DIES IN HOSPITAL

Relatives from Erie, Pennsylvania, arrived in Peterborough early Wednesday morning to identify remains of the two victims of the Watering Trough Hill automobile-truck collision, as those of Miss Eva Ruska, 28-year-old stenographer of the Reliable Furniture Company, Erie, and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Corn, 43, of the same city, whose husband, Herschel H. Corn, driver of the death car, lies in Nicholls Hospital with undetermined injuries.

Those of the party who made the sad mission here from across the border accompanied by a motor hearse in which the remains of the girl were taken home to-day, were Everett Ruska, Jr., and Theodore Ruska, her only brothers, and Forest H. Corn, whose mother's broken body lies in the morgue pending opening of the preliminary inquest.

Mrs. Corn's remains are to be conveyed from Belleghem's Funeral Home to Erie on Thursday, where the double funeral of the two unfortunate victims is to take place the day following.

Spend Vacation at Clear Lake

The three young men whose families live side by side on West 11th Street, Erie, bowed down with grief by the terrible tragedy that has robbed them of their loved ones, related to a reporter how the trio had happily set out from home at four o'clock a.m. on the day of the accident, for a vacation they intended spending at Clear Lake. They crossed the border at Peace Bridge and all went well until they hurtled into the rear of a parked highways department truck on Watering Trough Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Corn and their young neighbor were travelling to-

Campbell Wins Consolation Heat at Olympics

Hamilton Rowing Crew Placed Third In Race With Hungary Winning

Charlie Campbell Of Toronto Has Tough Race With Cecil Pearce

ENTERS SEMI-FINALS

Italy Is Second In Eight-Oared Event—Australian Police Crew

GRUNAU, Germany, Aug. 12. — (CP Cable)—Charlie Campbell of Toronto pulled his slim shell into the semi-finals of the Olympic single sculls competition by winning a consolation heat today after a titanic battle with Cecil Pearce of Australia.

Splashed Referee.

The 26-year-old Canadian, centre of an international incident yesterday when he splashed water in the face of the regatta referee after finishing a disappointing third in the opening trials, swept back into the championship picture by defeating the nephew of the great Bobby Pearce in one of the day's most thrilling races.

Stroking steadily and powerfully in the face of the determined challenge of young Pearce, "Chuck" won in the time of seven minutes 31 seconds flat. Pearce was caught in 7:33.2.

Campbell kept alive Canada's hopes for a rowing title to place alongside the championship Frank Amyot of Ottawa won in the singles canoes final last Saturday. The Toronto sweep-swinger's triumph came after Hamilton Leanders, the Dominion's challengers for the eight-oared title, had finished third in their initial test.

The Hungarian and Italian boatloads led home the burly Hamilton crew but they have a chance to get into the finals in consolation races tomorrow among today's losing crews.

The Hungarian crew swept up the 1,000-metre course in six minutes 7.6 seconds after Washington huskies, seeking to defend the championship the United States won in 1932, had won a previous trial in the new course record time of six minutes 8-10ths second.

The Italian boat, which with the Hungarians hit up a clip in the final 500 metres that was too much for the rest of the field, was clocked in 6:09.1.

The Canadian boatload was more than a length to the rear, timed in 6:14.3.

Trailing Bob Hunter's broad-shouldered Leanders was the Australian boatload of towering policemen—all six feet or better—and a Brazilian crew. The Australians were 7.6 second behind the Canadian shell while the South Americans were another 11.3 seconds in the deep-furrowed wake.

The second heat did not produce the exciting finish that marked the first one as the crack American boat scored a split-second victory over a strong British crew.

Trailing by a few feet entering the final 100 metres, the Huskies overhauled the British boat in the last two strokes. The British boat, caught in 6:02.1, also was under the old course standard of 6:09 flat. So were the Hungarian victors of the second heat.

A new "midget" automobile in Italy is to sell at $700.

Cow Likes Honey But Not the Stings

DEBT INCREASING $147,000 EACH DAY SO ROWE INSISTS

Claims Hepburn Never Told He Proposed Taking $19,000,000 From Hydro

ON REPAYMENT LOANS

KINGSTON, Ont., August 12 (C.P.). — Speaking at the Conservative rally here to-day, Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative Leader, criticized Premier Hepburn for his statements on the Ontario gross debt. The Conservative Leader said the debt was increasing $147,000 a day, and any other statement to the contrary was misleading.

Referring to the cancelling of Premier Hepburn's birthday party, scheduled for to-day, Hon. Mr. Rowe said, "Even Mr. Hepburn was forced to admit that the arrangements had fallen into the hands of racketeers."

"Mr. Hepburn evidently realized what the reaction of the province would be to such an affair," stated Mr. Rowe. "Here we were going to have a big picnic featuring clowns, amusements and novelties and Premier Hepburn and his entire Cabinet according to Liberal advertisements.

"There would be fireworks, too, but Mr. Hepburn has turned the whole thing into a damp squib. Just imagine the Premier of Ontario charged with enforcement of the Liquor Control Act being the guest of honor at a picnic for which brewers and distillers had been requested to supply refreshments."

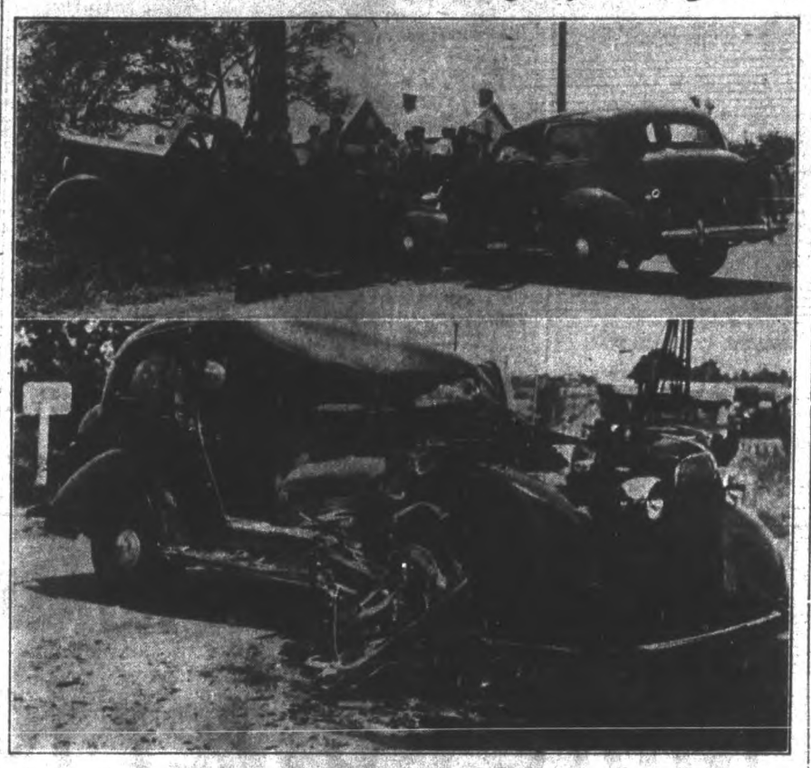
A Question.

"Mr. Hepburn says the gross debt is $17,000,000 less now than for the last fiscal year. If true, how was this arrived at? Mr. Hepburn has not told the people that this year he proposed to take $19,000,000 from Hydro on repayment loans. One does not have to be a wizard of finance to reduce the debt by such means.

"Mr. Hepburn appointed Chester Walter, a friend and confidant, as controller of revenue. Mr. Walters was to be the watch-dog of the treasury. If Mr. Walters has served his purpose, Mr. Hepburn must know the gross debt of the province. If Mr. Hepburn does not know, Mr. Walters should be removed from the office."

An extensive program was being carried out at the picnic with baseball games, tug-of-war, horse races, and boxing bouts scheduled for the day. It was expected several thousand would be in the grounds during the day.

Scene Where Death Stalked The Highway Claiming Two



Miss Eva Ruska, pretty 28-year-old Erie, Pennsylvania, stenographer, was instantly killed in the crash pictured above, while Mrs. Mary Evelyn Corn, 43, of the same city died less than nine hours later and her husband, Herschel H. Corn, driver of the car, is in Nicholls Hospital with serious injuries. The light coach in which the three American visitors were riding, is shown in the lower picture with the right side almost completely shorn away in its collision with a parked Highways Department 3-ton truck. Miss Ruska was seated next the driver, while the other victim of the fatality was in the rear seat. The top picture looking south-west on Highway 28 is a general view of the scene of the accident, showing the position of the two vehicles immediately following the impact. Although laden with macadam and standing with brakes applied and gears engaged, the front wheels of the truck were forced up a three-foot embankment at the side of the road, and the chassis was bent and buckled.

THREE IN HOSPITAL AS SUDBURY FIRE RAZES LARGE HOME

Dozen Occupants Lose All Possessions In Spectacular Blaze

MANY NARROW ESCAPES

SUDBURY, August 12 (C.P.). — Three persons are in St. Joseph's Hospital with shock and burns as a result of a spectacular blaze which gutted a house here early to-day.

The twelve people in the house lost everything they owned. Nine of them were in the house at the time of the fire.

John J. McCulloch, crippled resident of the house, escaped from his attic window by jumping into the arms of Bruce Atchison, boarder, who stood on the porch. Bobby McCulloch, his son, 14, jumped down to the porch.

At a side window, 20 feet above the ground, Hertford Cook jumped on to the steel top of a parked car in the alleyway, and then caught his wife and daughter, seven-year-old Mary Lou.

Mrs. McCulloch and her two daughters, Dorothy 15 and Muriel, who marks her 12th birthday tomorrow, ran down the blazing stairway to the front of the house from the second floor.

Muriel, who fainted through the heat and smoke while on the stairway, is the most seriously burned. The mother and two daughters are all in hospital.

Cause of the fire has not been determined, but it is thought to have started in the kitchen stove.

Keeps Gas Mask On 19 Days as Test

KHABAROVSK, U.S.S.R., Aug. 12.—(AP).—A Soviet soldier had lived for 19 days in a gas mask to-day and had not yet completed an experiment to see how long he could keep the apparatus on without bad effects. Three times a day the soldier, Gregory Danchenko, removes the mask to eat. Otherwise it is on 24 hours a day while he sleeps and works, plays volley ball and attends the movies. He told doctors watching his reactions that he had become so accustomed to the thing he hardly noticed it any more.

BUCKSAW CONTEST LEADING EVENT EXHIBITION WEEK

Peterborough Will Present To The World The Bucksaw Champion

PLATFORM 20' X 12'

Des Moines, Iowa, has its corn husking champion; Akron, Ohio, its soap box derby; California, its bull frog jumping contest; Toronto, its horseshoe champion, and New Jersey its marble title-holder.

And next week Peterborough will present to the world its bucksaw champion. None of these other contests will exceed in interest this battle of brawn and ability to make a steel saw sing through resisting wood.

This is a clash of he-men with $25 going to the winner, and a lot of attractive prizes for the runners-up. The contract for the erection of the bucksaw arena was let by The Examiner to-day to T. A. Brown. The elevated platform, five feet high, will be erected on Simcoe street, east of George street. It will be 20 feet by 12 feet, and the only doubtful feature about the contest is whether there will be room for the crowds of spectators.

Entries have already been received by The Examiner, and some of them are citizens of Peterborough, who evidently have no respect for the husky woodsmen who will make a bid for the title of bucksaw champion and the $25 that goes with the honors.

The contest will be staged on Thursday and Friday mornings of Exhibition week beginning at 9.30 o'clock on Simcoe street.

STIRLING FACTORY DESTROYED BY FIRE LOSS IS $15,000

Cottagers Aid In Fighting Fire In Cheese Box Factory

OWNERS TO REBUILD

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 12. — (CP).—Fire of unknown origin early to-day destroyed the Stirling cheese box and basket factory and expensive machinery. The fire was discovered by J. E. Munro and his son, John, owners of the plant.

They were unable to control the flames, fanned by a fair wind. The fire brigade was helpless.

Loss is estimated at $15,000 and partially covered by insurance. The owners will rebuild immediately. The blaze could be seen for miles and cottagers at Oak Lake, attracted to the scene, assisted in confining the blaze to the one building.

Ex-King Calls 2 Sons Into Family Council To Decide On Course

Worried As Plane On Way To Him With British Pilot Is Held At Innsbruck

RECALL GYPSY PROPHECY

Desperate Battle Rages At Seacoast As Loyalists Falter At San Sebastian

DELLACH, Austria, Aug. 12. — Former King Alfonso may try to fly back to war-torn Spain.

He called his two sons, Jaime and Juan, into family council to-day to decide their course.

What the three agreed to do, the exiled monarch would not say.

The King seemed perturbed when told that an airplane flown to him in Czechoslovakia by a British pilot had been confiscated at Innsburck yesterday.

It was rumored the machine, nevertheless, would be taken to Venice to fly Alfonso to Spain at the moment such a move appeared to be propitious.

So important was the conference of the former monarch and his sons, that a scheduled memorial service for a late third son, Ganzales, was postponed until tomorrow.

Gonzales died a couple of years ago of injuries received in an automobile accident.

Gypsy Prophecy Remembered

Gossip in this lake area says two years ago to-morrow when Gonzales' body lay in state, a gypsy fortune-teller tried to comfort Alfonso by saying:

"Thirteen will be your lucky day after all. In two years your star will rise again on the 13th after great bloodshed and Spains fate will be definitely decided in your favor."

(The airplane confiscated yesterday was piloted by Owen Cathcart Jones, an Englishman. It carried two Spanish couriers to Alfonso.

(Austrian authorities said Jones' permit to fly had expired. The pilot left Innsbruck saying he was going by train to Cannes, France. He declined to disclose the name of the machine's owner except to say, "He is a friend of Spain from St. Louis)."

Canadian Motorcades Will Tour Britain

OTTAWA, Aug. 12. — (CP). — Hector K. Carruthers, secretary of the Ottawa Board of Trade, disclosed yesterday preparations are under way for two Canadian motorcades to tour the United Kingdom next year, one starting from London at the time of King Edward's coronation. Mr. Carruthers said it was planned to limit each tour to 25 cars. Canadian motorists will return visits paid to Canada this year by three British motorcades, of which one has completed its itinerary.

PACKED MEETING FAVORS HIGHWAY VIA PONTYPOOL

Unanimous Decision Is Not Reached On Proposed Durham Highway

OSHAWA, LINDSAY VOTED

(By a Staff Reporter)

PONTYPOOL, Aug. 12.—By a vote of 57-48, representatives of 21 municipalities in the counties of Durham, Victoria, Peterborough and Ontario decided here Tuesday afternoon to petition the Department of Highways to designate the route of a proposed provincial highway from Peterborough to Brooklin through Tyrone, Leskard, Pontypool, Bethany and Cavan instead of through Port Perry, Nestleton, Bethany and Cavan.

The division expressed a preference for a so-called middle route through Durham by a narrow majority over the group who advocated the Bethany-Port Perry line through the northern section of the county. A Peterborough deputation, headed by Alderman James Dutton and Fred J. Overend, president of the Chamber of Commerce, proposed the Port Perry road for the consideration of the meeting, and in a spirit of loyalty to their associates in this agitation of the last three years they refused to transfer their allegiance when William Newman, M.L.A. for Victoria county, chairman, appealed for unanimity as the only sanction of a petition which would receive the approval of the Hon. T. B. McQuesten.

Newman Resigns

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Newman said that it was useless to present to the Minister of Highways a petition weakened by such a division of opinion. He declared that he was resigning from the committee which had previously

HEPBURN SPENDING BIRTHDAY WORKING

At Office All Day, After Cancelling Picnic To Block Racketeers

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—(CP).—In good health, Premier Hepburn of Ontario to-day celebrated his 40th birthday by attending to his duties in his office at Queen's Park.

"I'm working all day," Mr. Hepburn replied when asked if any celebration was planned.

The Premier's adopted son, Peter, is in hospital here recovering from a tonsilitis operation performed yesterday. His condition is good and now he wants to get his clothes on, Mr. Hepburn said.

A huge birthday party originally planned for Port Stanley on Lake Erie was cancelled last week by the Premier, who declared certain unnamed individuals were making it an "absolute racket."

Suggest Dominions Devise Symbolic Coronation Act

Be Privilege In Perpetuity To Some Public Office Likely To Endure Through Ages

PLEASANT MEMORY

By Thomas T. Champion
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP Cable). —Discussing the coronation arrangements, the Times in an editorial to-day suggested the Dominions "might think it seemly to devise and offer to His Majesty some symbolic service analogous to those rendered on coronation day by the ancient officers of state."

"The crown, which is the sole fountain of honor, but which would act on the advice of the Dominion Government concerned, might be pleased to create some titular dignity to be borne for the occasion by the person rendering such service.

"It would be in the historic spirit of the coronation if any service the Dominions may render His Majesty were attached as a privilege in perpetuity to some public office likely to endure through the ages, so that in a time when men speak of Anzac and Vimy as they now speak of Crecy, it may be possible for the officers of the Dominions to say as they come to Westminster Abbey that this service which now I perform has been rendered on this spot by all my predecessors since Edward VIII was crowned here a thousand years ago."

Some Examples

The services rendered the King by the high officers of state on coronation day include the carrying of the various symbols of state and assisting the King in performing the ceremonial required of him. The Imperial crown, the orb and sceptre, and the various swords of state, all have a place in the ceremony, and each is carried by a high dignitary.

Some of the ancient services rendered His Majesty are more picturesque than practical. For instance, there is the office of Champion of England, with the privilege of challenging to mortal combat any "sorry knave" who dares to say the King is not the rightful King.

A Court of Claims hears the claims of those wishing to attend the King on the grounds of family right. At the last coronation the Duke of Newcastle and the Earl of Shrewsbury both claimed the hereditary right to "provide a glove for His Majesty's right hand and support His Majesty's right arm while he is holding the sceptre."

Both submitted involved genealogical proof and argument, but the Earl lost his case.

Blast Burns Postmaster As He Stamps Envelope

Twelve-Inch Flame Shoots Out Of Innocent Looking Letter To a Girl

MAILED IN TORONTO

ROSSEAU, Ont., Aug. 12.—(CP) —Postmaster H. F. C. Jones at Rosseau, in the Muskoka Lakes district, had a mild burn on his right arm today following the explosion of an innocent-looking business envelope mailed here from Toronto. As the letter was being stamped yesterday it exploded and shot a 12-inch flame into Jones' face. He was blinded momentarily.

A deafening report was heard some distance from the frame post office building and Jones said there was a strong smell of gunpowder for several minutes afterwards.

It was learned the letter was addressed to a young woman whose name was not disclosed. Jones, inclined to treat the matter lightly, said the envelope might have contained toy caps.

Investigation will be in the hands of the district inspectors office at North Bay.

Mrs. Abbott has been to the movies only once in her life, 15 years ago. "I didn't like it; I was ashamed to be here," she said.

Where They Get 'Em.

FISHING in Crowe Lake on Tuesday evening with Mr. Herbert English, Miss Kate Gaffney of Deloro secured a five-pound pickerel. It is not often that catches of pickerel are reported from Crowe Lake, though The Examiner learned that Forrest Dennis caught three nice specimens earlier in the season.

Another fish story comes from Percy Boom. This time the luck fell to an American tourist, Stanley Mayes, of Charleston, West Virginia, who hooked and landed a 22-pound lunge opposite Boyce's summer resort on Monday evening. The bait used was a No. 7 Buffalo spinner. Clarence Johnson, of Campbellford, assisted in the capture. The battle lasted thirty minutes.

Province Is Through Says Premier Hepburn With 1932 Henry Deal

Points To Clause Stipulating Agreement Must Be Sanctioned By Legislature

OPPOSE ACTION NOW

Any Move In Future To Be Based On Fresh Dominion-Ontario Pact

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—(CP).—Advocates of the St. Lawrence waterways plan turned eyes toward Ottawa to-day following Premier Mitchell Hepburn's announcement last night a new plan would be asked by the Ontario government.

Ontario, the Premier said, was "through" with the former pact.

"A new agreement—if at all," he said last night. The old agreement was signed by former Premier George S. Henry July 11, 1932. It was one of the documents forming the Ontario-New York-Canada-United States partnership to construc the waterway project, culminating in a treaty later rejected by the United States' senate.

The last clause of the agreement gave the province the right to disagree with its terms after three years. The same clause stipulated the agreement must be sanctioned by the Ontario Legislature, and this was not done, Premier Hepburn said.

"We are not in favor of the St. Lawrence development at this time, but if any action is taken in the future it will have to be done on the basis of a new Dominion-Ontario agreement," said the Premier.

TEACHER'S BODY FOUND AT MINDEN

Discovered 200 Yards From Falls After Three Days Of Dragging

MINDEN, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Efforts of a life-saving squad that has been at work since Saturday were rewarded yesterday in the recovery of the body of Miss Mabel K. Ray, 50-year-old Detroit school teacher, drowned when a skiff capsized on Moore's Lake, south of this Haliburton County town.

Miss Ray was one of six in the craft when it capsized, but the others made shore. They were holidaying on Gull Lake, which is connected with Moore's Lake by a channel about 50 yards long.

Samuel Bryant, Norland undertaker, recovered her body in 35 feet of water about 300 yards from the falls in the channel where the fatality occurred.

Provincial Constable Taylor of Minden, who was in charge of dragging operations, said the 16-foot skiff, powered by an outboard motor, was piloted by Chester K. Hardy of New Jersey. Other occupants were Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCrimmon of 50 Triller Avenue, Toronto; a Mrs. Marshall of California, Miss Edith Brown of Detroit and Miss Ray.

Over the Falls.

Constable Taylor said the boat was sucked into the swift water above the falls when the party was attempting to land. It was carried down the channel and swept over the shallow falls into swirling rapids below.

Thomas Irvine of 34 Victoria Park Avenue, Toronto; Kenneth Pritchard of Minden, and John Leslie of Wellesley, Mass., who were fishing near the falls, saw the accident and rushed to the rescue of those in the boat.

"Had these men not been present, other members of the party undoubtedly would have met the same fate as Miss Ray," said Constable Taylor.

None of those in the boat could swim. Mrs. McCrimmon and Miss Brown were dragged from the water by their hair just as they were going under the surface.

BROTHERS AVENGE SISTER'S MURDER

Shoot Accused Brother-In-Law As He Is Being Taken To Courthouse

DALLAS, Ga., Aug. 12.—(AP).—An accused wife killer being transferred from the jail to the courthouse was shot to death on the public square here yesterday, throwing into momentary panic a crowd gathered for his trial.

The handcuffed prisoner, Harry P. Howe, 49-year-old Atlantian, fell mortally wounded at the feet of a quartet of escorting officers who arrested two men booked as Worth and Pinson Brown, brothers-in-law of Howe.

Sheriff J. P. Cough said the brothers stepped from behind shrubbery at the rear courthouse entrance and opened fire without uttering a word.

Howe wheeled ran a few paces and dropped. Six pistol bullets struck him, three of them entering his back.

The sheriff said the brothers, both middle-aged farmers with families, told him:

"This thing has been pressing on our minds until we couldn't stand it."

They surrendered quietly and were held without charge. The sheriff indicated their case would be put before the grand jury now in session.

Mrs. Hettie Brown Howe, younger sister of the brothers, was found dead in the woods near Dallas last April 26.

Lad Runs Off 20 Years Ago Returns With Own Vessel

Plans To Give Boys Who Love Sailing Chance To Learn Game

GRACEFUL 3-MASTER

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 12.—(CP).—Twenty years ago or more Grant H. Piggot, then 19, ran away from home and got a job on a sailing vessel which plied the Great Lakes.

It "made a man of him," he says.

To-day a graceful three-masted windjammer lies in harbor across the Detroit River from here and Piggot is part owner of it with J. T. Wing, Jr., Detroit manufacturer. Piggot, who lives in Windsor, is general manager of the J. T. Wing Company.

During the summer months they plan to make the ship pay for its upkeep by carrying wood and other cargo to ports on the Great Lakes. During the winter, they expect to keep the ship in Detroit for the use of boys living in the district who are interested in sailing.

"I ran away when I was 19 years old to cruise the lakes in sailing boats," Piggot said. "Then I tried steamships for a while, but I didn't like them. Since that time I have fostered an ambition to own a full-rigged schooner of my own so that boys who love sailing as I did could learn the game first-hand."

FALL OFF STEAMER COSTS GIRL'S LIFE

Brother Sees Arm In Water, Dives In But Is Too Late To Save Her

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., August 12 (C.P.). — Police dragged Lake Ontario to-day for the body of Doris Wenham, 27, of 6 Cross Sareet, St. Catharines, the second woman in three days to drown after a fall from a steamer out of Port Dalhousie Harbor.

The freighter Starwell was two miles out of Port Dalhousie last night when the accident occurred. Miss Wenham had been alone on the deck and no one saw her fall. Her brother, John Wenham, a deck hand on the ship, was the first to miss her and sighted her arm waving 300 yards behind the boat. He dived into the water, but could not reach her in time.

Three days ago, an unidentified woman, believed to be from Montreal, died after falling from the deck of a passenger steamer bound from Port Dalhousie to Toronto.

The Starwell, under the command of Captain J. A. Dennis, Montreal, had been in dry dock and was out on a trial run to test the compass.

A lifeboat was lowered and cruised about for an hour and a half, but found no sign of the woman. Later, police took up the search with dragging equipment.

ABERHART PLANS SESSION ON AUG. 25

Disapproval Of Plan To Utilize Credit To Benefit People Adds Worries

EDMONTON, August 12 (C.P.).—Disapproval of a plan to utilize Alberta's credit to the benefit of the people added to the worries of Provincial Government leaders here to-day as Premier Aberhart laid plans for a special session of the Legislature.

Definite date for the session was decided upon at a meeting of Cabinet members last night.

At the session, starting on August 25, the Government planned to deal with measures for inaugurating Social Credit and to discuss the drought situation in Southern Alberta, the announcement said, and was expected to last three or four days.

First stamps were due to-day on $1.00 prosperity certificates issued by the Government on August 5 to workers engaged on highway construction relief projects. The deadline drew from the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce a protest against what it termed the Government's "vague and indefinite use of terms."

"Stamped scrip was merely an entry into a heavy and discriminatory taxation scheme," it would not be made legal tender and its issue appeared to be contrary to the Bank Act and other statutes, the organization charged.

Distribution of Social Credit covenants and forms in Edmonton began to speed up to-day. W. Bullock, in charge of organization estimated between 20,000 and 25,000 had been picked up by citizens.

Mr. Bullock stated six girls were kept busy in the central office only answering questions.

Registration continued in many constituencies, but the extent of signing by citizens was unknown.

It moulds the figure beautifully through the bodice and the hips. Its unbroken line makes it perfect for evening frocks and particularly sheer frocks.

Only two major parts to the slip! The pantie cuts all in one-piece. It's child's play! Isn't it?

You'll want to make several crepe silk sets in street length, after you've finished the satin crepe ankle length ensemble.

And while you're about it, make a few cotton panties to wear 'neath your shorts, slacks or culottes.

Style No. 2916 is designed for sizes 11. 13. 15 and 17 years. Size 15 requires 2⅝ yards of 35-inch material for full-length slip, with 1¼ yards of 35-inch material for panties.

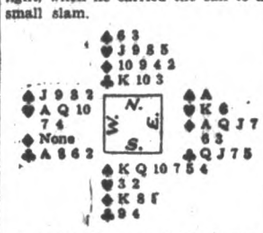
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard

"Teacher to Teachers"

VERY WELL PLAYED

WITHOUT question West was an excellent player. Certainly he both bid and played a difficult hand with remarkable foresight, as shown today. Probably his partner had no idea that West's second suit was so light, when he carried the call to a small slam.



Over South's pass, bidding went as follows: West, 1-Heart; East, 2-Diamonds; South, 2-Spades; West, 3-Clubs, which certainly was a bold call; East, 4-Clubs; South dropped out; West, 4-Hearts, thinking perhaps 4-odd at the major suit might be simpler than 5-odd at a minor call; East, 6-Clubs, that certainly surprised partner; South doubled, hoping to win a spade and a diamond trick.

The opening lead was the 6 of spades. Dummy's Ace won. The way declarer pored over the joint holdings of his side made it appear as if he could not decide how to play the cards to best advantage.

With the K-10-9- of trumps against him the declarer could not figure any strategy which would cost him less than one, perhaps two trump tricks. He knew that one defender held at least three trumps, at best. That meant that no side trick could be lost if the small slam were to be made. It was a tough problem. Dummy's lowest diamond was led and ruffed by declarer. He had to ruff twice to even hope that dummy's diamonds could be established. Dummy's K of hearts took the next trick. Declarer ruffed another low lead of dummy's long suit. The question was, "How many more diamonds has the doubler?"

It was time to lead trumps. The Ace of clubs was led, followed by declarers last trump. North's K won, leaving dummy with the Q-J and North with the lone 10. That left North in a hole. He dared not lead hearts up to the bidder of that suit. As yet declarer had not obtained a count on the way diamonds were divided. Perhaps a diamond might be the best return lead. It seemed useless to lead either a spade or a trump, as then declarer's only possible procedure was to lead off dummy's Ace of diamonds, which would pick up South's K, and leave only a spread for declarer. North knew all this, but West did not. West did know, however, that if North held the K-X of diamonds he would not lead that suit. North also knew that West was wise enough to realize this. And more North thought, the more undecided he grew. At last North led a diamond, but he had pondered too long. Dummy's Ace captured the bare K. A trump was led, leaving every other card in dummy good and the contract assured.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

THE Past! The true past departs not. Nothing that was worthy in the past departs—no truth or goodness realized by man ever dies or can die. —Carlyle.

And this about Work: No work truly done, no word earnestly spoken, no sacrifice freely made, was ever in vain.

—F. W. Robertson.

Dear Friends:

Sometimes when we hear people speak of the past, we are inclined to scoff, but if there had been no past, there would be no present. If for years people had not gone on building up civilization, making laws, standing up for the things they thought were right, building for the generations that were to come after them, we would be in a sorry mess.

But where we do fall down is in thinking that all the best things were done in the past, and that none are being done now. It is a curious thing that when you are really living a thing, it does not seem as important as it does when it is retold.

But, again, you may think wherein is the work you do important either for this generation or for the ones to come? You tend a machine, or plant a field, or sit in an office, drive a truck, or do the woman's work in the home, so how can these things be important unless to get you your bread and butter.

How Far-Reaching?

We do someone a kindness, but we never know how far-reaching it may be. We sacrifice ourselves, but can see no result, yet it is there, nothing is wasted. If a farmer or a gardener kept digging the earth up to see how the seeds they planted were getting on, there would be no harvest nor any flowers or vegetables.

So it is with us. We must have faith that what we do will come to fruition, just as flowers and plants and seeds do.

No man or woman is a hero all by themselves; everything the rest of us do contributes towards it. Many times after an operation, it is the skilled care of the nurse which pulled the patient through, combined with the food the cook sends up, the cleanliness of the laundry women and all the hundred and one things which go to make up successful nursing. Each had their part, no matter how small it was, and each part was important.

But sometimes we think that because we ourselves did not perform the operation, what we do is of small account. What our forefathers did has its effect on our lives, and what we do or leave undone will have its effect on those who come after.

So if you have been doing your bit in the life you have to live and have been thinking that your part is unimportant, never forget that if you are doing it right and not lying down on the job, that nothing you do will go to waste.

Load Be Too Heavy

We cannot see very far ahead, and it is well for us, because we would be carrying next year's load right now, and that would be too much. When you keep house, sweep and dust and bake and wash, you think, "Here I am doing the same thing day after day, year after year, and it is not important."

But if you are sick and see the state everything gets into, then you begin to realize how important for everyone's happiness is this same work you thought so little of. If you work at a machine and do the work carelessly because you think it doesn't matter, see what a lot of trouble you give to yourself and others.

Every little wheel in a machine is just as important as the large flywheel, so if you feel that you are only a little wheel in life, remember that you are just as necessary as the big ones, and that nothing good you do will ever go to waste, and DO YOUR PART, leaving the rest to God.

Your friend,
ROBERTA.

Ex-Woman Athlete's Bride, Old Clubmate

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Aug. 12. —(CP Cable).—Mr. and Mrs. Mark Weston, now occupying a neat bridal cottage at Oreston Quay, were for years clubmates in a women's athletic organization.

Mark, as "Edith Weston," was an internationally known woman athlete. A close friend was Alberta Matilda Bray. Then Weston discovered the practicability of a sex-changing operation.

About three months ago the change was completed.

They were married in July at Plympton registary office. The bridegroom there described himself as a bachelor, gave his profession as "masseur," and his age as 31. Weston formerly worked as a "masseuse." The bride is 10 years younger.

TIBBETT'S VOICE FORCES WELL SECLUDED HOME

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 12.—(AP).—Lawrence Tibbett has introduced the film colony to a new kind of house-hunting.

The view, the location and the size of the yard didn't mean much to the noted baritone.

What he took into consideration was—neighbors.

Although several million people have paid to hear Tibbett sing, those who live around him sometimes acquire a different opinion, the husky artist feared.

"I practice from six to seven hours at a stretch,' Tibbett explained. "If neighbors feel like I do, they probably get tired of it all."

So he sought a house as secluded as possible.

Weddings

BREDIN—GRAY.

WINDSOR, Aug. 12.—The wedding of Miss Helen Marguerite Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Thorndyke of Hall Avenue, Windsor, and Mark Bredin, Junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bredin of Toronto (formerly of Peterborough), was solemnized at Lincoln Road United Church on Monday afternoon at five o'clock. The Rev. Alfred Brown officiated.

The bride wore a gown of embroidered white silk organdie made with high neckline, fitted bodice and floor-length skirt. Her hat and veil were of white tulle and she carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and lily of the valley.

Milton Beatty of Peterborough was best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home, where assistants were Mrs. Orville McDonald and Mrs. C. Sharpe of Detroit. Mr. Bredin and his bride left later for a wedding trip to the Kawartha Lakes, after which they will live in Toronto.

SPENCER—DECKER.

The Edmonton Journal contains the following account of the wedding of one of the native-born citizens of Peterborough who is well known to many people in the city and district.

"Charming in its setting of summer flowers was the wedding of Miss Donna Decker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Decker, and Arnold Spencer of London, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Spencer of Peterborough, Ontario, on Wednesday afternoon at Robertson United Church.

"Rev. C. G. Stone of First Baptist Church, a school friend of the bride's father, officiated at the ceremony.

"The bride, who was given way by her father, was lovely in a gown of white satin fashioned on simple lines and worn slightly en train. Her veil, which fell in filmy folds over the dress and train, was held in place about her head with a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and lily of the valley.

"The bridesmaid, Miss Norma Ross, was frocked in peach georgette. She wore a blue hat and carried an armful of pink sweet peas.

"Dr. George Decker of Lloydminster, a cousin of the bride, was the best man. Stewart Douglas and Donald McIntyre were the ushers.

"The wedding marches were played by Peter J. Delicate, organist.

"A reception at the west end home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. In the rooms the floral decorations were carried out in a color scheme of blue and pink.

"To receive with the wedding party, Mrs. Decker, the bride's mother, was very smart in a gown of rose lace made on slender lines. Her hat, an imported model, was of the same becoming shade. She carried a sheaf of yellow roses.

"The bride's table, laid in lace and silver, was in charge of Mrs. A. P. Anderson.

"Those assisting included Miss Beth and Miss Gladys Decker of Manitoba, cousins of the bride, Miss Edith Wilson, Miss Jeanne McIntyre, Miss Doris Thomlinson, Miss Marion Glenwright, Miss Betty Brown and Miss Joyce Craig.

"For their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer left by motor for Jasper Park and are later to be at home in London, Ont.

"For traveing, the bride was in navy blue and fuchsia figured crepe worn with a wide-brimmed blue hat and a blue coat with modish sleeves."

(Mr. Spencer is a member of the teaching staff of the Technical and Commercial Collegiate Institute at London, Ontario.
